Taxi Driver Killed, Found In Cab

Believe Cabbie Killed As Soon As Car Parked In Clearing

HAMILTON (CP)—A young Hamilton taxi driver was shot in his cab on a lonely mountain road Sunday and police are checking on the possibility he may have been the victim of a revenge killing.

Anthony Codispodi, 23, was found slumped behind the wheel of his car with two bullets in his head. They were fired from close quarters, possibly by someone in the back seat.

Police found $28 in his pockets and ruled out a robbery motive.

They started checking on the Saturday night movements of Codispodi, who was last reported to have checked with a taxi radio dispatcher shortly after midnight on a city call.

Provincial police constable Douglas Duff of the Dundas detachment found the body as he made a routine check of the lonely road on top of Hamilton mountain between highways 2 and 5, about 10 miles northeast of here.

FOUND IN CLEARING

The car was pulled off the road and into a clearing in the woods. Police believed Codispodi was shot as soon as he parked.

Investigating police today ventured two guesses as to why Codispodi was slain. They say he may have been the victim of underworld vengeance, or that he may have been involved with a woman.

Chief Fred Gaylard, and two other members of the township police force, working on the latter theory, questioned several girl friends and acquaintances of the dead man Sunday afternoon, but had no statement to make.

NOT A WEAPON FROM MARS—Just the vital parts of a U.S. Army Signals Corps balloon that automatically transmits meteorological data. The box-like contraption with a radio transmitting set inside (and with a bedraggled balloon and parachute attached) was found Sunday in a hayfield by John Omerod of Indian River. A tag on the contraption indicates that it was released from the airbase at Niagara Falls, N.Y., on the sixth of April. It asks the finder to return it to the Signals Dept. at Lexington, Kentucky. A number of these transmitters have been reported found in the district. They can go as high as 14 miles and send out weather information. Apparently this one drifted across the lake from Niagara Falls.

Baby Tornado Batters Large Area

$20,000 Damage To Ontario Centres In Freak Storm

STAYNER (CP)— A baby tornado ripped through the Stayner-New Lowell-Brentwood area, about 38 miles southeast of Owen Sound Saturday, smacking down dozens of trees, hydro and telephone poles and deluging the southern Georgian Bay district with rain and hail.

The twister, which district residents described as a "leap-frogger" because of its jumping action, caused an estimated $20,000 damage. No one was injured.

The big wind ripped roofs off at least three barns, tossed a car with two men in it into a river and bowled a six-year-old girl along the ground for 20 feet before she was picked up by her father.

BLACK CONE

Tom Dumond of Fairport Beach, father of the little girl, said he saw "a great black cone almost pick up the road" and roar across a field toward a house.

Snapped-off trees and poles kept hydro and telephone crews busy repairing line breaks.

In nearby Barrie, fallen trees and branches littered the streets. At one point the town was virtually isolated as large trees, some of them almost three feet thick, clogged highways leading into the community.

FLEE IN TIME

TRENTON, Neb. (AP) — Black clouds in the sky sent an estimated 1,000 persons to shelter minutes before a baby twister shattered the roof of the Trenton Pow-Wow grounds grandstand late Sunday. No one was hurt.

The crowd had packed the stands for stock car races, but when black clouds appeared in the sky to the southwest, the racing fans fled to their homes and nearby shelters.

The twister ripped off the grandstand roof, uprooted several trees and damaged three cars.

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — South African Prime Minister Daniel Malan failed by nine votes today to get the necessary two-thirds majority of both houses to amend the constitution and provide separate representation of colored voters in Parliament.

Wildcat Strike Ended On Waterfront

TORONTO (CP) — A wildcat waterfront strike ended today with reinstatement of 33 men dismissed by Eastern Canada Stevedoring Co. Ltd., over a sympathy walkout. The men went back to work immediately.

H. F. Mead of Montreal, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC), presented to a meeting of about 70 strikers on pier 4 the company offer to take back the men involved in the strikes that started Friday.

"Take it or leave it," he told them. "You must return to your jobs before we can even go to a conciliation board to review any of our differences."

TWO NOT REHIRED

The agreement provides that union stewards Lou Larkin and Jas. Steeves, whose dismissal after a brawl Friday touched off the wave of walkouts, will not be rehired. Their dismissal will be discussed by union and company representatives tomorrow.

The company fired the 33 men who staged unauthorized walkouts Friday and Saturday in sympathy with Larkin and Steeves.

Union members listed today as dismissed claimed their troubles started April 22 when two gangs of men from Saint John, N.B., arrived on the Toronto waterfront as stevedores. Although members of the same union, the newcomers were resented by some of the other stevedores who claimed there was not enough work to around, union members said.

Decide To Send Strike Ballots Despite Parley

OTTAWA (CP)—The railways and their non-operating unions have agreed to resume contract negotiations at the federal government's request, Labor Minister Gregg announced today.

Mr. Gregg told the Commons he expected the first meeting will be held at Montreal this week.

The companies and a group of unions representing about 145,000 persons have been deadlocked for months over employee demands for fringe benefits.

The unions recently ordered a strike vote of their memberships, and returns from the vote were expected by about mid-August.

The unions involved are basically the same as those which called the crippling rail strike in August, 1950. They consist of workers who do not actually run the trains, such as station, yard and right-of-way employees.

SAME UNIONS

Mr. Gregg said the disputants had been asked to get together "with a view to reaching agreement by the process of collective bargaining."

MORE

TO MEET THURSDAY

In Montreal, Frank Hall, chairman of the unions' negotiating committee, said the first meeting with the railways is scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

He said resumption of negotiations will not mean a delay in getting the strike vote underway.

"The ballots are scheduled to be distributed June 21," he said. "There's plenty of time for a settlement before that. There will be no postponement of plans for the vote."

Members of the unions' negotiating committee are on their way to Montreal for the meeting Thursday, he said.

30 Cottagers Evacuated As Fire Spreads

TIMMINS (CP) — Smoke of forest fires raging through slash, mixed timber and old burn covered this northern Ontario mining community today.

A 2,200-acre blaze at Star Lake, 30 miles southwest of here, threatened a 50-cottage area. About 30 cottagers were ordered out of the area for their own safety last night by Ontario provincial police.

Lands and forests department officials said men are being poured into the area as fast as they can be recruited. Six bulldozers and tons of other equipment were taken to the area during the night.

Added to the smoke from this fire is that from a 4,000-acre blaze in the Kenogaming and Pharand areas in the Gogama district about 15 miles to the west of the Star Lake township fire.

ROAD THREATENED

Firefighters also watched several small blazes in the same general area.

All the fires were believed to have been started in tinder-dry bush by lightning during a brief storm Sunday.

The Warren Lake road development, planned to connect Timmins to Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury, runs through the fire area.

Churchill Invested In Order

WINDSOR, England (Reuters)—The Queen today invested Sir Winston Churchill with the insignia of Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter—Europe's oldest chivalric order—in the throne room of Windsor Castle.

The Duke of Edinburgh and Queen Mother Elizabeth, also members of the order, were present at the ceremony.

Queen Elizabeth, sovereign of the order, gave the command summoning the "new knight elect."

The doors of the hall swept open and the prime minister was ushered into the royal presence. The jewelled garter of the order was buckled around his left knee, as the Bishop of Winchester, prelate of the order, pronounced the admonition:

"To the honor of God omnipotent and in memorial of the blessed martyr St. George, tie about the leg for thy renown this most noble garter . . . never to be forgotten or laid aside. . . ."

AFFIXED STAR

The Queen next placed the blue riband of the order over Churchill's left shoulder and affixed the star of the order, helped by his attendants for the occasion, the Marquis of Salisbury and Field Marshal Earl Alexander.

To the accompaniment of further admonitions, the blue mantle and gold collar of the order were draped over the prime minister's shoulders.

Churchill bowed to the Queen, and was then conducted to his seat where the ancient oath of the order was administered by the Dean of Windsor.

After the investiture service, the Queen entertained the knights and their ladies at lunch at Windsor Casle.

Churchill, the 913th knight of the 600-year-old order, follows in the footsteps of his illustrious ancestor, the Duke of Marlborough, who was Britain's leading general in the first half of the 18th century.

Remark Annoys London Mayor

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Allan Rush of London today took exception to a remark by Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa that the Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association put "pleasure before business" at its annual meeting in Windsor last week.

The lady mayor claimed she was refused an opportunity to present a resolution "because the buses were waiting to take the delegates on a pleasure jaunt." This was denied by Mayor Rush, new president of the association, who said Chairman Oliver Crockford had told Mayor Whitton that her resolution would be heard immediately after a short address by George Burt of the UAW, who had been waiting for an hour.

"At this point, Mayor Whitton said she did not have time to present her resolution later as she had to catch a plane for Chicago. A member of the executive offered to present it later on her behalf. This offer was refused by her and she walked out. . . . However, after the close of the conference, Dr. Whitton was still standing talking in the lobby of the hotel."

As for the "pleasure jaunt", Mayor Rush said one of the main purposes of the bus tour was to see Windsor's low-rental housing project for pensioners.

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today no special instructions have been given the Canadian wheat board, which will represent Canada at the International Wheat Council meetings in London, England, this week.

Officials of 40 countries will meet Wednesday to discuss world wheat surpluses and the fall in prices caused by the recent Canadian and United States decisions to cut 10 cents a bushel off export prices.

MONTREAL (CP) — Police shot three youths attempting to elude arrest to climax a crime - packed week-end that netted thieves almost $10,000 in cash and loot.

Suburban Ville St. Michel patrolmen shot and wounded Gerard Lavoie, 19, and his 17-year-old companion following a chase after a stolen car.

Police said the younger lad, shot in the small of the back, was seriously injured while Lavoie, hit in the right arm and leg, managed to get away. He was later arrested following a telephone call to police by his brother-in-law.

According to police the youths and a third, who gave himself up when the shooting began, stole a car early Sunday from a parking lot and were spotted driving "at 95 miles an hour."

Plane Crashes During Storm

KINGSTON (CP) — Dragging operations continued today for the body of one of two airmen aboard a plane which nose-dived into Lake Ontario off this city during a rainstorm just before dusk Saturday.

The body of James Patterson, 32-year-old Second World War pilot with the RCAF, was found in the wreckage of the plane off Wolfe island near here.

His companion, Sinclair Sweet, 22, is missing and presumed dead in the crash.

The pair, both experienced pilots, had taken off from Kingston airport on a pleasure flight in the single-engined plane. Shortly after takeoff the aircraft was seen in a dive, headed for the water about a mile off shore.

The wreckage was located several hours later and towed to shore and the body of Patterson was found in the wreck.

Department of transport officials are due to conduct an investigation into the crash.

HAMILTON (CP)—Mrs. Violet Balogh never had a chance to search for money in the chair she bought from Hamilton's "hidden fortune house." A thief beat her to it.

The chair was one of seven sold at auction from the home of Harry Teeter, where $200,000 was found stuffed in shoe boxes and cupboards recently. Mrs. Balogh told police the chair was stolen from her basement.

Wilson, Sandys Hold Talks On Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States defence department today announced the conclusion of four days of talks between secretary Charles E. Wilson and Duncan Sandys, British minister of supply, covering "a number of matters of mutual interest in connection with the development and production of weapons."

A cryptic announcement issued simultaneously in Washington and London said Sandys and other British officials also met with U. S. army, navy, and air force representatives.

"Particular attention was paid to problems relating to the development of guided missiles, and arrangements were considered with the object of securing more active co-operation in this field," it said.

"This should enable both countries to make the most productive use of their available scientific and technical resources and should help to speed up the development and introduction of guided missiles for use in the common defence."

TORONTO (CP)—Capt. Harry Angenendt of the United States Air Force flew an F-86D Sabre jet interceptor at 708 miles an hour at the National Air Show held Saturday over the Canadian National Exhibition waterfront.

His speed was one of the fastest flights recorded by an aircraft over Canadian territory.

More than 100,000 persons jammed the waterfront area for the special air force day show.

Capt. Angenendt, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., is attached to the 47th Fighter - Interceptor Squadron at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The annual Governor-General's Cup air race, held in conjunction with the air show, was won by Arthur Webster of the Toronto Flying Club in a light Ercoupe-type plane. The contest emphasized pilot skill and navigation, rather than speed.

3,000 Londoners See Graham Off

LONDON (Reuters)—Three thousand Londoners jammed St. Pancras railroad station and sang hymns Saturday as Billy Graham left Britain for a three-week tour of the continent.

As the boat train pulled out, the crowds sang "God Be with You till We Meet Again," led by a clergyman wielding an umbrella as a baton.

The American evangelist will preach in Stockholm, Sweden; Helsinki, Finland; Copenhagen, Denmark; Frankfurt and Berlin, Germany; and Paris. He, his wife and his party are sailing tonight.

Lifting his hand for silence, Graham told the crowd: "I should like to say that this great scene is a touching one to us. I have come to love the British people and we are going to carry away with us cherished memories in our hearts of the days we have spent here."

Stunt Man Swims 10 Miles To Get Help For Friends

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A Hollywood stunt man swam 10 gruelling miles through the choppy Catalina channel Saturday to get help for two friends after their boat sank, but an air and sea search failed to find them.

With Paul Stader, 43, a former lifeguard when the 18-foot power boat sank were Hugo Walters, 31, also a stunt man, and Don McGuire, 27, both of the Los Angeles area.

Stader said the first hint of trouble came when "I opened the hatch and saw about 20 gallons of water sloshing around the engine."

DESCRIBES LONG SWIM

The three tried to remain together but finally decided that Stader, the best swimmer, should strike out alone.

"I was tired, but I knew I could make it," he said. "The water was choppy and I kept swallowing big mouthfuls. It made me violently ill. My legs kept cramping, but I just kept plowing along. I didn't see any sharks at all, and about 9 p.m. I hit the beach."

Search by a coast guard plane and two cutters found only a pair of water skis and a cushion from the boat.

Niagara Project Unnecessary Meddling

NEW YORK (AP)—Gwilym A. Price, president of Westinghouse Electric, told a federal investigating body today that the Niagara Falls power project "is the clearest possible case of unnecessary government intrusion into areas best served by the investor-owned utilities."

Price, declaring that he was neutral in the controversy over public versus private ownership, outlined his views at a public hearing held by the Hoover commission's task force on water resources and power.

Mock Invasion By Bombers

Giant Test Of Canada's Civil Defence

ARNPRIOR (CP) — Exercise Alert, a giant test of Canada's civil defences, opened today with mock fleets of enemy bombers moving south from the Canadian polar regions.

The first message received at the Canadian control centre at the Civil Defence College here said large numbers of "enemy" aircraft were being engaged by air defence command 50 miles west of Regina.

Another simulated enemy attack was gathering force over Great Bear and Great Slave lakes.

As the yellow warning for impending mock attack was flashed across the country, the RCMP sent out messages warning of possible fifth column activity and sabotage at all industrial and transportation centres.

The fourth message, received at 10:07 a. m. EDT, said an imaginary flight of unidentified aircraft was spotted over the James Bay area.

Some messages relating to enemy bombers did not give the direction in which they were travelling but it was presumed to be south.

Soon after the first warning, theoretically putting the whole country on the alert, there was a supposed meeting of the cabinet in Ottawa. Prime Minister St. Laurent was informed of the situation by his personal representative here, A. A. Beveridge.

About 10:15 a.m. many workers took time out in the hangar to get coffee. Guards also left some posts so that anybody could walk into supposedly restricted rooms and read messages and pick up other information.

Maj.-Gen. Frank Worthington, civil defence director, gave an interview as if a real attack was approaching. He urged the populace not to panic and to pay attention to local civil defence organizations. He said civil defence forces are being organized to meet any attack.

Gen. Worthington told newspaperme nthat, if the attack were a real one their reports would be censored. This would include the exact dropping point of atomic bombs in cities or the numbers of people affected.

"ENEMY" SPLITS UP

The presumably attacking force in the James bay area was later identified as hostile.

This foce broke into two flights one heading for Arvida, Que., and the other for Quebec City.

At 11:23 a.m. EDT., Quebec City reported it was supposedly hit by high explosive — not atomic — bombs.

This was the first mock attack reported in the exercise.

More than two hours after the first word of imaginary planes near Regina, there was no further report. It was not known whether any enemy planes had been supposedly shot down or the direction the presumable attackers had taken.

Bumper Catches Tree Two Men Saved

BARRIE (CP) — A tree which caught the rear bumper of a car while the automobile was plunging 15 feet toward the Nottawasaga river saved two Toronto men from possible drowning Saturday.

Police said the automobile failed to take a curve 10 miles west of here, ripped out three guard rails on a bridge and somersaulted 15 feet below towards the river. As it was falling end over end the rear bumper hooked on to a tree, leaving the front end submerged in the river.

William Breeden, 25, the driver, and his uncle Enos Breeden, 35, climbed through the rear door of the automobile.

Carr Names Stevens In Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis P. Carr testified today army officials repeatedly linked talk of special army treatment for Pte. G. David Schine with efforts to stop Senator Joseph McCarthy's investigation of Reds in the army.

The chubby chief of staff for McCarthy's investigations sub-committee named army secretary Robert Stevens as having engaged in talk of preferential treatment for Schine.

But he said only army counsellor John G. Adams, to his knowledge, spoke of Schine as a "hostage."

DENIES ARMY CHARGES

Carr disputed much testimony given earlier in the McCarthy-army hearings by Adams and by Stevens.

He said it was not true, as Adams charged, that Roy M. Cohn once threatened to "wreck the army" and to see to it that Stevens was "through" if Schine were sent overseas.

Adams had testified that when he told Cohn Jan. 14 that Schine, a former sub-committee consultant, might face overseas duty, Cohn exploded with the threats.

Carr, who said he was in the room at the time, swore that "Mr. Cohn did not make these statements."

"I don't recall him saying anything like that," Carr said.

Carr took the witness chair at the outset of the 33rd day of the McCarthy-army hearing, and recounted his experiences as chief investigator for Senator McCarthy.

The senator himself had been scheduled to continue under cross examination today, but chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.), explained that McCarthy, who was out of town over the week-end on a speaking trip, was "catching up on his sleep."

Planning "Baby" Roundup To Honor Country Doctor

FRONTIER, Sask. (CP)—A "baby" roundup is planned in this town 200 miles southwest of Regina for July 9.

The occasion is a celebration in honor of Dr. Murrough O'Brien of Qu'Appelle who at 86 is the oldest practising country doctor in Saskatchewan.

The committee in charge of the celebration wants as many as possible of the 9,000 babies that Dr. O'Brien has delivered during his 57 years of Prairie practice.

The celebration is to honor Dr. O'Brien in "recognition of a life of service that earned few comforts and no wealth."

Dr. O'Brien delivered his first baby in England in 1888. Before the turn of the century he emigrated to Canada and set up practice in a lean-to behind a laundry in Dominion City, Man.

This summer Dr. O'Brien's life and work will appear in book form under the title "Saddlebag Surgeon." The 80,000-word biography, by Robert Tyre, a Regina newspaper man, will be issued by the Toronto publishing house of J. M. Dent. Half of the royalties from Canadian and other sales will go to Dr. O'Brien.

SPONSORED BY FARMERS

The Saskatchewan sale of the book will be sponsored by the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, by way of recognition for the doctor's long service to farm populations.

"Dr. O'Brien was a farmers' doctor and it is rather fitting that an organization of farmers should undertake to sponsor his published life story and this way materially increase the royalties to be received by the doctor," said J. L. Phelps, SFU president.

Pushing Legislation To Aid Pipe Line

OTTAWA (CP) — The government introduced legislation today in the Commons to facilitate the financing of the proposed $300,000,000 gas pipe line from Alberta to eastern Canada.

Transport Minister Chevrier said there is some doubt that the Pipe Lines Act stipulates clearly that trustees of bondholders may be authorized to build pipe lines. The legislation would amend the act to make that clear.

Informants said financial firms who will be handling the securities of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., felt such a provision would help the big job of financing.

Says Soviet Ahead In Race For Long-Range Missiles

TORONTO (CP)—The leader of the first U.S. wartime bomber strike on Tokyo says Russia is probably running ahead in the race to develop devastating long-range missiles.

Gen. James H. Doolittle, now a vice-president of the Shell Oil Co., told the national air show banquet here Saturday that the West cannot afford to let Russia beat her to "this so-called ultimate weapon."

"This is a deadly serious race in which tragic consequences await us if we come out second."

OFFENCE BEST

Gen. Doolittle said the best defence of the free world lies in offence—the offensive of better technology, of more and better weapons than the potential aggressor.

The advent of polar flights had changed the aviation picture from commercial and military points of view.

"An entire continent can now be considered a target area. . . We cannot escape the fact that for the foreseeable future, our chief concern in continental defence will be with the possibility of air attack from the north."

Coty Chooses Moderate As Premier

Asks Mendes-France To Form Gov't; Favors End of War

PARIS (AP)— Pierre Mendes-France, who wants to negotiate with rebel leader Ho Chi Minh to end the war in Indo-China agreed today to try to form France's 20th post-war cabinet.

Many political figures doubt that the 47-year-old economic and financial expert can get a majority in the divided National Assembly to go along with his policy, which calls for cutting down expenditures in Indo-China and concentrating on France's military participation in European defence.

Mendes - France was nominated Sunday night by President Rene Coty to succeed retiring premier Joseph Laniel, defeated Saturday in a confidence vote. The president also accepted Laniel's resignation.

NORMAL PROCEDURE

Mendes - France is a leader of the assembly's Radial Socialist (moderate) bloc which was credited with bringing down the Laniel government. Following normal procedure, he was the first person called on to try to form a replacement.

Coty delayed accepting Laniel's resignation for a day. It was believed he did not want France to be without a government during the week-end in case important decisions were needed concerning Indo-China.

Mendes - France's acceptance was announced a few minutes after he called on the president today at the Elysee Palace. He had conferred with Coty at length Sunday night on the political situation.

The new premier - designate now must consult various party leaders in an attempt to rally sufficient support to ensure his confirmation by the assembly. He failed by 13 votes to gain confirmation as premier during last summer's 7-day government crisis. That crisis was finally resolved by the selection of Laniel, who served just two weeks short of a year.

Mendes - France has been a staunch advocate of cuts in military spending and government economy as a way to get France back on her financial feet. He insists that only after France has a healthy economy can she make her full contribution to Western defence.

SUPPORTS EDC

In seeking assembly confirmation as premier last year, he said he would support the European Defence Community treaty. French ratification of the pact, which would rearm West Germans in a six-country army, has been stymied by heavy opposition from many quarters in the assembly.

Until confirmation of a new government, Laniel and his ministers run their departments on a caretaker basis.

Foreign Minister Bidault plans to return to Geneva to carry on negotiations for peace in Indo-China, even though he has no backing from the assembly.

The task of forming a new cabinet which could win assembly approval appears formidable. Any such government would have to be a coalition, like all others since the war. Support would be needed from at least six parties, none of whom see eye to eye.

Ready To Take Indo-China Issue Before UN

GENEVA (Reuters)—The French-associated states of Laos and Cambodia have decided to take the Indo-China issue before the United Nations if the East-West conference here fails to produce a settlement, diplomatic sources said today.

The report came as Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden was said to have told Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov that the conference must be suspended until France gets a new government.

Eden and Molotov, meeting privately at Eden's lakeside villa, agreed that a session of the deadlocked nine-power Indo-China peace group should be held this afternoon at 10 a.m. EDT. Conference sources said it would be a restricted meeting.

The two foreign ministers also scheduled a plenary session of the 19-country Korean conference for Tuesday, the sources said.

LIKELY LAST MEETINGS

These are likely to be wind-up meetings for the long and stalemated conference. Delegates today said that French President Rene Coty's acceptance of the Laniel government's resignation means that no decisions can be taken at Geneva, no matter what the chances might be of an East-West compromise.

If Laos and Cambodia present their complaints against Communist aggression to the UN, it will be the first time the Indo-China war will have been brought formally before the international body.

Thailand last week took a preliminary step by asking the UN for a team of neutral observers to be sent to her border with Indo-China to study the threat posed by armed Communists to Southeast Asia.

Laos and Cambodia, smaller sister states of war-ravaged Viet Nam, are backed by the Western powers in their insistence that the only rebel forces within their borders are Vietminh invaders. They insist that these troops must be withdrawn before any settlement can be reached.

DISCUSS BREAK-OFF

As Molotov visited Eden, leading delegates of the 16 anti-Communist UN partners in Korea gathered at the Palace of Nations for a crucial meeting on their tactics for breaking off the seven-week abortive negotiations to try to unite Korea. Absence of all but a caretaker government in Paris now makes it problematical whether even these talks can be broken off formally.

Delegates said that technically this part of the conference might have to go into "cold storage" with the Indo-China talks.

The general expectation on the non-Communist side is that the military representatives of the opposing high commands in Indo-China will continue their direct talks about possible cease-fire arrangements and the regrouping of forces in Viet Nam.

Political experts may also be appointed to carry on the effort to reach an understanding, it is believed.

Exactly how the conference will be wound up remained uncertain.

V. Krishna Menon, India's United Nations envoy who has been trying to save the conference from collapse, today made a round of farewell calls on leaders of both sides before returning to London.

Jail 'President' 2½ Years On Fraud Count

MAASTRICHT, The Netherlands (Reuters) — Robert Lombert, 31-year-old Dutch tailor who called himself "President Robert" and offered to save people in Europe from a Russian invasion, today was sentenced to 2½ years for fraud.

On release from prison, he will be placed "at the disposal of the government," the court said.

The 500,000 - guilder ($140,000) fraud case dates back to the Berlin blockade. Lombert began to play on the fears of his relatives and friends, offering to save them from the horrors of a third world war.

He claimed he was president of a world - wide secret society, the "Diplomatic Consular Council," which included Sir Winston Churchill and other prominent figures in its ranks.

SALVATION PROMISED

This organiation, which stood above and outside world politics, had arranged with the Russians that South Africa should be safeguarded as the council's sanctuary in the coming conflict, he said.

Lombert said he could save his friends but they must sell all their goods, give up all their money to the "council exchequer" and sail with him in a luxury yacht to Capetown.

The yacht, which was promptly dubbed the "President Robert" was in fact bought in England for 225,000 guilders.

In 1951 the fantastic voyage began, with 18 persons aboard and large stocks of brandy, cigarets and other luxuries. Lombert ruled with an iron hand, insisting on strict protocol. He even issued his own currency, bearing his image.

RETURN TO HOLLAND

The ship called at many ports but never neared South Africa. After a time the passengers and crew began to get suspicious, and one by one demanded their money back and returned to Holland.

When the yacht eventually came to England, there were only Robert, his parents, his brothers and sisters aboard. They sold the yacht and returned to Holland.

Elderly Man Struck By Car Crossing Road In Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO (Staff)—David Lunn, 69, of Millbrook, was rushed to Civic hospital at 8 p.m. Sunday after he was struck by a Peterborough-bound car and thrown heavily to the road on Highway 28 in Bailieboro. His condition was described today as good.

Mr. Lunn, with his wife, and Ed Larmer, also of Millbrook had just parked his car and was crossing the road from west to east, when he was hit. The car was driven by Gerald William Willis of 400 Wolsely St., Peterborough.

Willis told police that the two men were crossing the road, Larmer leading, when Lunn hesitated, apparently to see if his wife were following. He said he sounded his horn, slowed down and would have avoided an accident if Mr. Lunn had stayed in the centre of the road where he had momentarily stopped.

Apparently confused, Mr. Lunn stepped further to the east, directly into the path of the Willis car. The car was travelling slowly, police say, but hit Mr. Lunn in such a way that a door handle ripped open his cheek.

THROWN INTO AIR

The impact threw Mr. Lunn into the air, and landed him heavily on some rough pieces of rock near the side of the road.

Dr. A. L. Russell, whose home is 100 yards south of the accident site, diagnosed Mr. Lunn's injuries as severe facial cuts and abrasions, possible fracture to the nose, and possible internal injuries. Mr. Lunn is also suffering from shock.

The injured man was taken to the Civic Hospital by a Nesbitt ambulance where his injuries were treated by Dr. S. L. Rutledge.

Const. S. W. Judson of the provincial police detachment in Cobourg was on hand before the accident occurred, directing a heavy flow of traffic around an Orangemen's parade in Bailieboro.

Decide Inquest To Be Held In Boy's Death

COBOURG (ENS)—An inquest will be held into the death last week of seven-year-old Roy Halligan, of Cobourg, who was killed on his way to school around 8.40 Wednesday morning.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said that the date of the inquest would depend on when Dr. Ward Smith of the attorney-general's department could attend. Dr. Smith made certain tests of scrapings from a truck known to have been at the scene around the time the boy was killed and he will give the result of his findings when the inquest is held.

Police have made a thorough investigation of the fatality but have found nobody who saw it or who can throw definite light on just what happened.

A local truck driver, who said he had been driving out of a lane near where the boy was struck that morning, told police that he didn't see anyone and knew nothing about the fatal accident until he heard about it some time later, at which time he came into the police office and reported that he had been near where the lifeless body of the boy was found by two passers-by.

Police did not detain the truck driver and no charge has been laid. However, in order to check every detail concerning the accident, the services of Dr. Ward Smith were secured to make certain tests on the truck.

Young Officially Certified As Winner

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Financier Robert R. Young was officially certified today as the winner of the bitter war for control of the New York Central Railroad.

The election inspectors announced that the 15-member slate of directors put up by the Young forces had won by a margin of 1,067,188 over the Central management's present board, headed by President William White.

The Young group received a total of 3,406,987 as against 2,339,799 for the management candidates.

White, who presided at the reconvened session of the annual meeting of the stockholders, announced: "I will not remain as president of New York Central. I will nevertheless co-operate with the new group in effecting an orderly transition."

Injured In Dive

PICKERING (CP)—Charles Aldrich, 20, of Toronto, who weighs 240 pounds, suffered a broken neck Saturday when he dived into three feet of water in the Rouge river near this town about 10 miles west of Oshawa. Hospital authorities said Sunday night his condition is fair but he is paralyzed from the waist down.

TLC President Warns QFL Against Alliance

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — Percy Bengough of Vancouver, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, Saturday warned the Quebec Federation of Labor against joining a political alliance.

The 71-year-old union leader, attending the QFL convention here said the group should not give outward support to any political party.

He was referring to a telegram sent to the convention by Romeo Mathieu, secretary of the Quebec Federation of Industrial Unions (CIO-CCL), inviting the QHL to join in a political action committee. The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, Quebec's other major labor body, has signified it will join the committee.

"Don't hitch your group to the tail of some political kite," Mr. Benough told delegates.

The convention adopted a resolution giving its executive committee full authority to rule on whether it will accept offers to join a union front with the other labor groups.

The resolution made it clear however that the QFL would only take part in joint action "in cases where the specific interests of the labor movement are involved."

Spends 90% Of Working Day Figuring How To Give Money

DETROIT (AP) — A slight, friendly business man here spends 90 per cent of each working day figuring out how to give money away.

He's pretty good at it. So far he's given away at least $10,000,000.

Nathan S. Shapero, now president and chairman of the board of the 175-store Cunningham drugstore chain, devotes his time to charity because "the break a man gave me is still fresh in my mind."

That was 35 years ago. Shapero, just out of the navy, wanted a $1,000 bank loan to clinch the purchase of a bankrupt basement drugstore.

"A friend had given me $1,000. My mother had scraped up every spare cent to give me another $1,000. My last chance to get the store depended on the banker."

The banker sized him up and decided he was a good risk. The deal was closed.

In the depression '30s, the banker who had started him toward success went broke. Shapero repaid his faith yg gvnh iblim ero repaid his faith by giving him a good job.

Today Shapero's Cunningham Drugstores Inc. is a $50,000,000-a-year business operating in Detroit, Ohio, Pennsylvania and California.

At present Shapero is wading through 8,000 personal appeals for help received from all parts of the world. If the request is genuine, chance are the philantropist-druggist—who 35 years ago had barely enough money to pay street-car fare to his first store—will take a personal interest.

Keep an eye on your secretary!

...she's thinking of leaving you—for a SONOGRAPH

It's hard to be a good sport when the boss dictates until twenty to six . . . she knows how different it could be with a SONOGRAPH dictating machine!

She could be working while you dictate — instead of waiting — transcribing even the most complicated dictation correctly the first time — and every time. And what's more, she — and your work — would be out every night at 5.

She's sure that you, too, would enjoy SONOGRAPH, with it's "Miracle Microphone", which lets you dictate, stop, listen back and make changes, without ever touching the machine. And she also knows how clear and natural your voice would sound on the ultra-sensitive magnetic tape — which can be used repeatedly — no messy shaving or costly reprocessing.

She really doesn't want to leave you because she is proud that you're "going places" but she wishes that you would make it easier for yourself and for her with a SONOGRAPH.

What To Do When The Bombs Fall

We recently offered some comment in these columns on the subject of civil defence for Peterborough—a subject in which there appears to be little public interest. This is understandable, of course. Mankind is apt to be optimistic about wars, and does not trouble about them much until they come; this is not simply apathy, but rather a kind of self-protective mechanism; if we concerned ourselves about all the dreadful things which are apt to happen to us, we should soon be a race of madmen. But still, the possibility of hydrogen-bomb warfare raises some problems which we leave untouched at our peril.

* * *

First of all, of course, we want some accurate information about the kind of damage such warfare might cause, and its probable extent. There has been some partial, and possibly exaggerated, guessing on this subject, but we cannot do much until we know what we are likely to be up against.

* * *

Second, we have to consider what the tactics of any enemy might conceivably be. Bomb warfare on the most destructive level is very costly and would not be wasted on minor targets. Can we convince ourselves that Peterborough would be a major target? Places like Peterborough could be effectively disrupted by attack on larger cities. Frankly, is anybody likely to use a hydrogen bomb on us, unless it is also going to knock out other cities of our size? Let us be reasonable and not allow civic pride to lure us into absurdities.

* * *

Are we not likely to suffer, as much as anything, from vast mobs of refugees from larger places? We live in a comparatively little settled part of Ontario. We would very probably be a centre of resort for people who wanted to get away from Toronto, or Western Ontario. What could we do about feeding and caring for such people?

* * *

We are quite certain that those few Peterborough citizens who have concerned themselves with problems of civil defence have thought of these things and may have plans for meeting such emergencies. But we doubt if most of us have done any coherent thinking about them.

* * *

Sweden has made a novel form of preparation against attack of this sort, by arranging for the evacuation of virtually all its urban populations into vast caverns blasted out of mountains. It is a sad comment on our civilization that we fear a form of war which would drive a whole nation into caves, but there it is. We have no mountains hereabout, but we have woodland in plenty, and nobody has enough bombs to attack hundreds of miles of forest wilderness. But people in a wilderness must eat, must communicate with each other, and must have some form of discipline. Perhaps it is along these lines that our thoughts should turn.

A Large Parting In The Iron Curtain

The Canadian artists and writers who visited the U.S.S.R., at the expense of the Russian government and at the recommendation of a Soviet friendship league, have now returned to Canada. They saw much, when they were in Russia, which interested them; sometimes they were impressed, sometimes they formed unfavourable impressions. When asked the usual question—Did they let you do as you pleased, and go where you wanted to go?—their answers were interesting; apparently they enjoyed the same amount of freedom that is allowed to distinguished visitors to Canada, which meant that they were never alone and that their day was fully occupied with sight-seeing and a heavy official program. They met many people whose artistic interests were similar to their own, and with these people they talked as freely as the barrier of language would permit.

But what interested these Canadian visitors was that they were only seven among two thousand similar visitors to the U.S.S.R. The Russian government foots the bill for every one of these visitors, inviting them to Russia to see what is being done there.

Now, in the face of such a movement, are we justified in talking about an Iron Curtain between Russia and the Western World. Two thousand official guests, in the realm of the arts alone, every year, does not suggest that Russia is inaccessible, or that it wants to hide everything that it is doing.

Consider this in the light of the statement made in Montreal last Monday by a distinguished American scientist, Dr. E. C. Tolman, that in the past two years five important international scientific conferences could not be held in the U.S.A. because American immigration regulations made anything of the kind an impossibility.

Russia is not ready to admit anybody, or to show all her secrets to visitors. But neither is any other country in the world, and the U.S.A. is the most exclusive of all. There is not one Iron Curtain, in the world, but scores of Iron Curtains, and that around the U.S. is as thick as any other.

Change At Stratford

Many Peterborough people, who have become acquainted with the work of William Needles as an actor at the Summer Theatre, will be happy to hear that he is to play a leading role—that of Petruchio in The Taming of the Shrew—in the Stratford Festival this summer. The part comes to him unexpectedly, owing to the sudden indisposition of Mayor Moore, who was to have played it; we may be truly sorry for Mr. Moore's accident without feeling any the less glad that an actor who has so many friends in Peterborough is to succeed him.

The criticism is occasionally made of last year's Stratford Festival that it did not permit Canadian actors to play leading parts; we may say that we have never heard any such complaint from the actors themselves. Nor was the criticism strictly true; a 'leading role' in the eyes of a professional actor, does not mean simply the title role, or even the longest and most important part.

But this year Canadians are to be seen in several parts which are 'leading' even by the exacting standards of the most watchful Canadian nationalist. Mr. Moore is a Canadian; so is Mr. Needles. Miss Hyland, Miss Chilcott, Miss Stewart and Donald Davis are all Canadians and all are to play leading roles in a company which is almost entirely Canadian. What more can we ask, in the name of national pride?

Who Speaks For Indo-China?

Asia for the Asians. It sounds like good slogan. The trouble which Europeans powers, and even Russia and China have, is to know to what Asians Asia should be turned over. Take Indo-China, for instance. Who there is the representative Asian—Emperor Bao Dai, taking his ease at Cannes, on the French Riviera? Prince Buu Loc, Prime Minister of the Indo-Chinese State of Vietnam, who is now arguing in Geneva for one section of the populace, but claiming to be representative of all of it that matters? Ho Chi-minh, fanatical nationalist, Communist, who after Japan's surrender in 1945, took over the provisional Government of Bao Dai, when the latter abdicated for the first time?

The question is important, and it is the basis of much of the difficulty a Geneva, for, as we said above, even the U.S.S.R. and China have not been sure of the horse they should bet on, if they place any bets at all. The French found Bao Dai and Ho Chi-minh joining forces against them just after the war. And the two of them were prepared to see help from China — Communist or Kuomintang, so long as their nationalistic aspirations to get home rule from France were advanced.

Later, when Ho Chi-minh went to negotiate in Paris, Moscow became alarmed, because it did not want a colonial row with France, since there were Communists in the French Government. The Communist Vietminh delegates (contrasted with the Vietnam, headed by the Communist Ho Chi-Minh) departed in anger. It is now the Vietminh forces which are attacking the French and driving them back; and yet there remains the Communist Vietnam, and wily Ho, who came to power in 1945 without the support of the Communist great powers. What identification do the Russians and Red Chinese make of Vietminh Communists and communistic nationalist Vietnam? Are they one and the same thing under Ho Chi-minh?

Asia for the Asians—but what Asians?

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Hard work won't kill a person," says a physician. Perhaps not, but at times it makes him wish he were dead.

Scientists are now pretty well in agreement that the earth is 3.3 billion years old, give or take a few months or so.

You might use this bit of information to end an embarrassing lull in the conversation: "No one has ever been able to raise sea-otters in captivity."

No charge is made for this prescription: Schedule all your worrying for a specific half-hour about the middle of the day—and take a nap during this period.

The kitchen appliances people are making excellent progress. They have produced a kitchen cabinet the doors of which open and close with the wave of the hand, and before long, no doubt, the homemaker will be able to sit in the living room and do her kitchen work by pointing at pushbuttons.

50 YEARS AN ACTRESS

A Profile Of Sybil Thorndike

TODAY Dame Sybil Thorndike is fifty years an actress; and before that she was a trained pianiste, having studied at the Guildhall School of Music. We have no player of a wider range, for she has taken every kind of role from the saint to the harpy, from the she-demons of Grand Guignol to the model wives and mothers of domestic comedy.

During the 1914-18 war, when the "Old Vic" was short of men, she even became, to oblige Miss Baylis and her public, a male impersonator and essayed Prince Hal. So we have had to amend Dryden's famous couplet and acclaim.

A lass so various that she seemed to be
Not one, but womankind's epitome.

And, in that eager, "Old Vic" youth mankind's too!

NOW, with her two latest parts in Mr. N. C. Hunter's plays of middle-class realism, and with performances that have helped to keep the Haymarket Theatre the headquarters of British acting at its best, she had swept her career full circle. For though she started her work with Ben Greet and the classics she began to make a name in the natural acting of the Manchester School, with Miss Horniman as manager and with Iden Payne and later Lewis Casson, whom she married, as producer.

The Gaiety, Manchester, so often accused of being far from gay, was a workshop of innovation. Harley Granville-Barker had already raised the standard of actuality in acting in a corner of the London stage, but Manchester did not merely follow; it found its own dramatists, as well as its players, to swing the drama away from trivial comedy and lush romanticism to the problems of the ordinary home, to social criticism, and to the Shavian usage of the theatre as a lay-preacher's pulpit. To our younger playgoers that drive at reality must seem as far-off and dusty as a history-book on a neglected shelf. But then it was urgent fresh, and exciting.

THERE WAS a political side to it, for the writers and players thus engaged were mostly Radicals or Socialists. Shaw and Granville-Baker had linked the Thespians and Fabians, the stage and the platform, the play and the pamphlet. Of course, not all of the New Drama was didactic, but it attracted a public, small but devoted, eager to hear what the dramatist had to tell them, as well as to see what the actor had to show them. That suited Lewis Casson, who was inclined to Socialism, as well as Sybil Thorndike, who has always been ardent for Good Causes. Daughter of a Canon of the Church of England, she had been brought up in Rochester to a happy belief in the importance of being earnest, to which she has added a radiant disbelief in the necessity of being glum.

In Manchester, audiences and rewards might be small, but enthusiasm was unquenchable. The constant preparation of new plays meant a ceaseless routine of rehearsal and performance; but it was possible to have a little private life, and even to squeeze in matrimony. With wedding-clothes said to have been borrowed from the theatre wardrobe, Lewis Casson found time for marriage; and so to work. And also to felicity. No stage marriage has been happier, or a fitter union of true minds, tastes, and temperaments.

THE THORNDIKE way of life would have been impossible without a natural gift of almost supernatural energy. The bearing and rearing of a family made temporary calls upon the assiduity of the actress, but her career continued. In 1919 London itself was conquered, and Sybil Thorndike whom Manchester had so well known in Candida's Shavian parsonage and as St. John Ervine's enduring Jane Clegg, found herself playing a lead in resplendent melodrama at Drury Lane. Yet she then found time to soar from genial tosh to highest tragedy, with special matinees of "The Trojan Women," in which her playing of Hecuba drove into the very heart of eloquent compassion.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO LOOK at Sybil Thorndike's list of parts, filling column after column in the theatrical "Who's Who," is to realise that she must have memorised "lines" by the million. There seems to be scarcely a classic role which she has not played. She was chosen to be the first of Shaw's Saint Joans for excellent reasons. She has always been able to combine the gritty good sense of comedy with the emotional impact of tragedy: she established at once the peasant girl of Lorraine before she became the conquering hero of the English wars: she could turn easily from that into the bewildered but resolute martyr of the trial, and so on to the disillusion of the Maid Canonised, crying "Woe unto me when all men praise me," and knowing that when a teacher, once spurned, is accepted, the lesson is lost. Other actresses have had more of this quality and of that; none a firmer grip on all-in-all.

✧ ✧ ✧

SO IT has gone on. Work, work, work, with readiness to go anywhere if occasion called, with comforts and stardom all forgotten. In 1940-42, Dame Sybil (accompanied by Sir Lewis) toured mining areas as Lady Macbeth, Medea, and Candida! The honours, D.B.E. and LL.D., were merited, not only by the artist but by the citizen. Sybil Thorndike's career makes one think of Chettle's defence of the young Shakespeare under attack. "My selfe have seen his demeanour no less civil than he excellent in the qualitie he professes: besides, divers of worship have reported his uprightness of dealing, which argues his honesty . . ." Turn the he's into she's—there is our actress, who has no enemies.

THERE HAVE BEEN down the centuries, and will be again, many aspects of the great actress, tigress, dealer in thunder and lightning, vampire, jealous prima donna, paragon of sensuous beauty, mordant dealer in disparagement of rivals. Sybil Thorndike has been none of these. She has never had the voice of gold, the Cleopatra flame, the flamboyant egotism, the gift of a personal magic. She has been the daughter of the Church Militant and citizen of the State, with a generous, uncautious willingness to back any cause or appeal with a "progressive" sound to it. With a night's work done or ahead, she has always found time and vigor to speak, to act or recite for charity, to serve, to be the good friend, almost the Universal Aunt.

Now, in her maturity, all this bounty of goodwill shines out in her acting. It is far harder to make virtue more effective than vice on the stage, where so often the Devil has all the good lines. But Sybil Thorndike —remember her schoolma'am in "The Corn is Green"—can make righteousness not only tolerable, but adorable. In her warmly human performances the decent humdrum of our lives, so difficult to make appealing on the stage, has acquired the radiance of romance and the emotional pressure of a great adventure. The speech of common use becomes as moving on her lips as any poetry or rhetoric. The girl who was to be a pianiste has, by changing her profession and essaying the famous heroines of the stage, given us instead "the still, sad music of humanity." But not that only. Laughter continually breaks in.

Letter To The Editor

LAKEFIELD WATERWORKS

Sir: We property owners are asked to vote for another waterworks scheme. A pumping station and a filtration plant at a cost of thirty-five thousand dollars. Have these promotors no brains? This amount will not give the thing a good start, much less complete it. Has any contractor offered to take the job at these figures? I understand that we had a ninety-three hundred dollar debenture added to our taxes to pay for a waterworks survey some years ago, and what did we get out of that? The same that we will get out of this—more taxes. Much more could be said on this subject but I will refrain.

I am yours tuly,

A TAX PAYER

THANKS FOR HELP

Sir: We wish to thank the Rev. Henry Cotton, the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell, the many friends and the members of the various organizations who have expressed to us their sympathy in our time of distress. The loss of our boys has been hard and grievous, but you have helped as far as possible to strengthen us in our time of need.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kennedy and Joan and Grandfather, Thos. W. Ellis.
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Petrie, Sheila, Nancy, and Billy, Mr. Earl Petrie, and Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tedford.

STRICTER SUPERVISION WANTED

Sir: There has been another accident on Lansdowne St. I think a little more official supervision is needed especially at rush hours. Boys coming from school who are old enough to know better actually play ball, from one side of the street to the other, with cars and trucks passing continuously. The smaller fry see and in some cases imitate the older boys. This is a bad pastime especially at the corner of Lock and Lansdowne where traffic is so heavy. If handled officially I think this practice could be stopped.

OBSERVER.

SOUTH END STENCH

Sir: Tis Wednesday night in the Claraday Ward (South End) of this fine city, but alas something permeates the air. Shall we don the gas masks for the remainder of the summer season or live in hope that some great scientist will find a reason for the aroma of foul air hanging heavily over our district?

If a solution is not found immediately I am afraid that we will have to deluge the City Engineer for permits to dig shelters undergound in a last ditch effort to escape this very nauseating smell.

It sems a shame that we have only two choices, either stay outside and fight to breathe or nearly smother behind closed doors and windows.

I see by the front page of your Tuesday's issue that the city officials have all the answers as to where the odor is NOT coming from, but that we can rest assured that this disturbing situation will not exist much longer as the blood hounds from the City Sanitation Department are on the case.

Don't send the blood hounds down between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. as I am afraid they will never reach the Sewage Disposal plant.

Kremlin Who's Who

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE issue of "collective leadership" seems once again to be agitating the rulers in Kremlin. Marshall Voroshilov made this a major theme of his recent Budapest speech; Pravda has again begun stressing this concept and attacking the "cult of personality"; and, perhaps most impressive, Pravda's latest front-page picture of the Kremlin's masters shows both Malenkov and Khrushchev waving their hats at the crowd. A month ago Mr. Khrushchev alone was permitted that liberty. The Soviet censor has permitted this newspaper's Moscow correspondent to report the impression there that Mr. Khrushchev is not now the ruler of Russia, despite recent evidence of his rise, but is still subservient to some collective group.

Sceptics will recall that a year ago, when the internecine fight over Beria's grab for power was nearing its climax, the Soviet cries for "unity" and "collective leadership" also were heard long and loud. Perhaps this present renewed stress on collective leadership indicates that another hierarch is about to join Beria in Communist outer darkness. We do not know. But one has only to read Pravda and Izvestia day after day to be sure that there is elbowing and rivalry at the top of the Soviet pyramid of power.

It can hardly be accidental that Mr. Khrushchev has twice been singled out alone for praise by the Communist boss in the Ukraine, or that Mr. Kaganovich felt it wise to name Khrushchev ahead of Malenkov in a recent reference. By such slight signs do members of a "collective leadership" show their increasing stature as they struggle toward their ultimate objective, complete personal power such as was Stalin's a little more than a year ago.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said . . . Shall mortal man be more just than God? shall a man be more pure than his maker? Behold, he put no trust in his servants; and his angels he charged with folly: how much less in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which are crushed before the moth? (Job 4:1, 17-19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Although affliction cometh not forth of the dust, neither doth trouble spring out of the ground; yet man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward. I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause: which doeth great things and unsearchable; marvellous things without number. (Job 5:6-9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else. (Isa 45:22.)

✧ ✧ ✧

My righteousness is near: my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people; the isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust. Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. (Isa. 51-5, 6.)

The Brighter Side

(Fort William Times-Journal)

An immigrant to Canada from Europe, a young lad of 22 years, broke the plate glass window of a Fort William bank in order that he might be arrested. In custody of the police he would be assured of a roof over his head and three meals a day. Otherwise he remained without money for lodging and food. Apparently he had no friends.

While society may lament the need of an immigrant to go to such an extreme and indeed there should be some agency to assist a new Canadian reduced to such circumstances, the incident serves another purpose. It is a reminder that tens of thousands of other newcomers to Canada in the last two or three years have been able to hold their own.

Where Not When

(Montreal Star)

The ornithologists, we understand, have a notion that bird business is regulated by a sort of light meter, that the urge to migrate has some close connection with hours of daylight. It seems so, in many instances. The famous swallows of San Capistrano, for example, apparently watch the calendar pretty faithfully, and the other sorts of birds seem to put in an appearance in their summer homes just about the same time every year, as if they were going by the date.

But a hole big enough, if not to back a truck through, at any rate for flocks of ducks and geese to fly through, has been torn in that theory in the last few days. Going by the book, flocks of ducks a week or so back appeared on the Prairies. After a good look at the ground, they took the migration chapter out, tore it into small bits and went back south under full power. Geese, smart enough to let the ducks go first, are reported to be doing the same thing.

The calendar theory looks good, but not good enough to a hungry duck or goose when it is not only a question of "When do we eat?" but "Where?"

U.K. Publisher Awarded Degree At Que.

LENNOXVILLE, Que. (CP)—A leading British newspaper publisher and four distinguished Canadians Saturday were awarded honorary degrees in recognition of service at Bishop's University convocation here.

The honorary degrees — doctorates of civil law—were conferred on: Viscount Rothermere, publisher of the London Daily Mail and chancellor of Memorial University, St. John's Nfld.; Rt. Rev. F. P. Clark, Anglican Bishop of Kootenay, B.C.; Hon. J. M. Antonio Barrette, Quebec minister of labor, B. Wynne Roberts, vice-president of Canadian Pacific Railway, and F. Cleveland Morgan, president of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

OUR OWN UN

Lord Rothermere, in a brief address, said the British Commonwealth must remain a tightly knit force to safeguard the future of the free world.

Although the United National had not completely fulfilled the hopes of its founders, the Commonwealth is "a United Nations of our own" and its unity is necessary "if our children are to look to the future without fear."

Viscount Rothermere, first chancellor of the Newfoundland university, said the island's decision to join in confederation with Canada had been "an act of faith" in the future of the country.

Newfoundland now was "receiving more than she is giving" but the time would come when all Canadians would be "proud and glad" to have her as part of their country.

CEMENTING GOOD RELATIONS WITH PAKISTAN — A disassembled cement plant, manufactured in Canada through the facilities of Canadian Overseas Projects Limited, a unique company formed by five manufacturers, is moved aboard the British freighter City of Shrewsbury in Montreal. The plant is clearly marked in Urdu, the most widely used language in Pakistan, where the project is bound for. The parts shipped will form the main ten sections of the cement kiln when reassembled in the wilds of the Thai area of the Punjab, in northern Pakistan.

Commonwealth Business Men Have 'Family Party' Discussions

By FORBES RHUDE

MONTREAL (CP) — Commonwealth and Empire business men met today in a "family party" to discuss common problems.

The gathering is the 18th congress of the Federation of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, which meets every three years and which held its last meeting in London in 1951.

The "family party" tag was put on it by the federation's president, Lord Burghley, in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session, following a welcome to delegates, numbering about 150, by Governor General Vincent Massey.

The governor-general in a brief speech, called the congress an event of great significance. The federation is a voluntary body, he noted, and the voluntary principle was characteristic of the British tradition. Governments needed the co-operation of such organizations in making available "the practical experience of individuals engaged in the promotion of trade."

INTERESTED IN EMPIRE

He said he was struck, in reading the federation's constitution, by its consideration of commerce "in its wider context." The federation, though its primary interest was Commonwealth trade, was interested in any subject affecting the Empire as a whole.

He said it would be difficult "to consider our commerce adequately without some knowledge of the history of the Commonwealth and its meaning in the world of today."

Lord Burghley, Olympic 400-metres hurdles champion in 1928, and now a London financier, said delegates to federation congresses had never judged their success on ability to foist particular views on others; rather, they had traditionally tried to arrive at conclusions which would be the most helpful to the Empire and Commonwealth family as a whole.

Since the war, he stated, there had been a "misguided cry" from some quarters for greater interference in trade by government.

SAYS PRIVATE TRADE BEST

There were certain activities which it was to the national advantage for the government to undertake, but, as far as the great general range of industry and trade were concerned, the system which would produce the best results, and the highest standard of living for the people, was to leave trade, as far as possible, in the hands of expert private traders.

It was not enough, said Lord Burghley, to play for material success alone.

"Men have a re... hunger for something better and higher. Never has the world needed leadership more, to bring out all that is finest in their hearts. Such outstanding leadership we have lately seen in the unselfish devotion of her majesty the queen on her commonwealth and empire tour."

Experience Of Prohibition Discouraging In India

By V. M. NAIR

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prohibition, which began in India as a gesture to a Gandhian ideal, is proving an expensive and far from successful experiment.

Apart from the dissatisfaction aroused among those who like a drink, unemployment has risen, taxes have gone up to offset heavy losses of excisé revenue, and the prohibition laws themselves have largely failed to achieve their objective.

For in both Madras and Bombay, India's only two completely dry states, people still drink.

Illicit distilling is flourishing in almost all places where prohibition is in force.

COSTLY LAW

The revenue sacrificed is considerable. In Bombay, the government's excise revenue has dropped to 10,700,000 rupees ($2,247,000) from its pre-prohibition figure of 97,400,000 rupees ($20,454,00) a year. To make up for this substantial loss of revenue, the authorities have imposed new taxes.

Aware of the commitment of the Congress Party, India's ruling party, to a policy of making all India dry, several other Indian states have taken preliminary steps by introducing some liquor restrictions.

Almost all Indian states observe one "dry" day each week while some have already introduced prohibition in a few districts.

But the discouraging experience of prohibition in Bombay and Madras has dampened their enthusiasm and even the Indian prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, has stated that with so many other higher priorities such as housing, irrigation, land reclamation and hydro-electric schemes, prohibition must take second place in India's development plans.

Nevertheless, there are those who are fanatically opposed to any deviation from the policy of total prohibition despite the discouraging experiences of Madras and Bombay.

In Bombay, the state's chief minister, Morarji Desai, recently said that in spite of an increasing demand for the abolition of prohibition his government is determined to stick to its policy.

Others cite the good effects of prohibition already apparent among the rural Indian community.

A Madras village school teacher said: "Prohibition has restored social peace and stimulated a sense of responsibility among the people here . . . the parents evince keener interest in the education of their children . . . the parent now have more time, money and inclination to look after their children's education and needs."

But to many Indians and particularly to Europeans, prohibition has become almost a symbol of interference with personal liberty.

A foreigner residing in Bombay who wants his occasional beer or whisky must first apply for a permit. To obtain the permit, he has to have a certificate from a doctor stating that drink has become necessary for the applicant's health.

STAPLE AS HEALTH

For foreigners, especially Europeans, permits are not difficult to come by, as they claim that liquor makes it easier for them to withstand the Indian climate. But the fact that they have to obain the sanction of the government before they can enjoy a drink is regarded as an annoying nuisance.

Despite the enforcement staff's vigilance, smugglers in foreign liquor are reaping rich harvests, sometimes using unique methods. Recently three women near Madras were caught attempting to smuggle liquor in bottles strapped to babies.

In Malabar, coolies were found to be carrying bottles of liquor concealed in the tail-end of their lighted palm-lead torches. In Bombay, a pedestrian who smelled of liquor but talked soberly, was found to be carrying two gallons of liquor strapped around his body in sealed bicycle tubes.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Provided they don't slip in Hamilton tonight or against Mimico here Friday, the local Trailermen are sitting pretty this week atop the senior OLA heap. The pressure is now on St. Kitts to try to catch the champs again in what looks at present to be a two-team race. But Hamilton might pull a few upsets yet, and the Mounties have a lot of good players on paper, though paper profits don't always pay off. Bob Thorpe's team turned in a solid effort here Friday in dumping the A's by 11-5. Bobby Allan was in on four goals, Russ Slater and Fitz three each, and Thorpe and Harry Wipper two apiece. The Moon again proved better in goal than Favelle. Bob Curtis' sprained hand is on the mend and he's about ready for action once more.

* * * * * *

Efforts should be made at once to re-organize the local junior OLA setup and have the team's suspension lifted. Not enough of the players showed up for a fixture in Newmarket last week and the OLA quite properly suspended the squad—although Mimico seniors arrived here one game with but nine players. The point is that it is the beginning of the end for senior lacrosse locally if the juniors aren't brought along. The Petes have cashed in before on such juniors as Nickle, Burns, the Robinsons, Smith, Powell, Bailey, Allan and Curtis, and the present juniors have some good players coming along. This is no time to fold up the Young Petes, no sir!

Baseball Rally at PCVS

Bill Sisler is getting all set for his big rally for minor baseballers in the Collegiate auditorium this Wednesday night. Three diamond movies will be shown, and prominent guest speakers will be on hand, including representatives of Toronto Leafs. It's all free. The minor ball school setup will be explained to the gathering, all boys of the city being invited, as well as adults. In recent addresses at various public and separate schools here, Bill received a hefty response and hundreds of boys indicated they'd attend the open rally and later be on hand for field training in Riverside when schools are out. The outdoor training will run from eight to 10 weeks this summer.

Rain Saturday washed out the VOBL tilt at Riverside with two out in the top of the second inning. Petes were leading Toronto Hoskings by 2-0 at the time, and 'twas a tough break. Big Mike Harrison was hurling dandy ball for the Lowrey squad, fanning three in less than two full frames and allowing no hits. Petes reached Lefty Johnson in first for two markers on a hit by Fred Garvey and three walks, a wild pitch, a double steal by Garvey and Bill Huntley, and a sacrifice fly by Tony Kotowski. No crowd to speak of at all, owing to a drizzle ere game time. Local club is off to Oakville on Wednesday for a loop joust.

Upset in Queen's Plate

Before some 18,000 race goers at Woodbine on Saturday, Collisteo of Hamilton romped home on top of the field of nine for an upset victory. Queen's Own was second in the Queen's Plate ahead of the favorite King Maple. The Plate was run in 1:52 to equal the mark for the mile and a furlong set back in 1948. The 95th running of this historical Canadian race was the richest yet with a gross purse of $29,680, net share for the winner being $22,305 plus the usual 40 guineas. The crowd wagere dover a half a million on the day, with $103,552 bet on the Plate. Collisteo paid $24.50, $5.40 and $2.20. Ideal weather and gay dressed - up crowd at the track for this big one.

A warmish race going now in the men's City Softball League in twin bills twice weekly at the Bowl d'Ashburnham. Rained ruined two postponed tilts planned for there Saturday. Jousts on tap tomorrow: TPT Petes vs. Marines, and Seabrooke's vs. Lakefield. Schedule has just a month left to go, and then it's playoff time again, followed by OASA senior "B" and intermediate "A" playdowns. Bill Leggitt's umpiring staff has been augumented this week with the arrival on a job transfer from Windsor of Joe McLean, a member of the umpires association in the Border Cities' area. With an automatic three-game suspension facing players pushing umps around this season, order reigns at the Bowl.

DUKE'S YACHT WINS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Dragon class royal yacht Bluebottle Sunday won the first annual Lieutenant-Governor's Cup race sponsored by the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club at nearby Lake St. Louis.

The Bluebottle, a wedding present to the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh from the Island Sailing Club of Cowes, Isle of Wight, placed second in the first two legs of the race Saturday and Sunday won the third leg to finish with 34¼ points for her first Canadian victory. She will take part in other races here and in Toronto during her Canadian tour.

WINS RIVER RACE

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) Gene Hawthorne of Detroit Sunday won the first annual $5,000 Thousand Island outboard marathon over the grueling 60-mile St. Lawrence river course.

Driving a class B racer, he averaged 43.9 miles an hour to gain the Thousand Island Bridge Trophy.

About 20,000 spectators saw 62 starters roar along the 30-mile stretch and return to complete the marathon.

KNEW THE SCORE

MILWAUKEE (AP)—There's not a thing to the old story that no-hit baseball pitchers don't know what's going on.

"Sure, I knew it all the time," big Jim Wilson said in the sweltering Milwaukee Braves clubhouse aturday after turning in the National League's first no-hitter in two years, a 2-0 victory over Philadelphia Phils.

"You can't help but know it," said the blonde right hander who faced only 28 men in disposing of the Phillies.

"You can sense it from the fans, that something big is going on. Those guys (the Phillies) kept yelling at me all the time, too, so I couldn't forget it if I wanted to."

Catcher Smokey Burgess was the only Phil to get on base in the one hour, 40-minute game, fastest league this season.

Burgess walked in the second inning with two out and died when Johnny Wyrostek struck out.

WINNING BY A NOSE—Collisteo won the 95th running of the Queen's Plate, North America's oldest turf classic, when he crossed the finish line leading Queen's Own by a nose. In almost perfect symmetry, the two horses flash under the wire with Collisteo (No. 2) leading.—(Fednews).

Collisteo Wins Queen's Plate

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—Chris Rogers made his move in the far turn—too soon, some thought. But Collisteo proved him right in a gallant, driving finish, with the favorites on his heels.

Jockey Rogers said he rode to victory in the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest stake with a pace that fooled everybody.

Chris and Collisteo surprised 18,000 fans at Woodbine race track Saturday by whipping the favorites, Queen's Own and King Maple for a record $22,305 purse and the Queen's 50 guineas. Collisteo won by a neck over the Queen and ran the nine-furlong classic in 1:52, equalling the plate record set by Last Mark in 1948.

The brown son of Filisteo and Colleen, who shook a bad case of "bucked shins" last year, was urged on as he headed into the stretch and responded to hold off the fast-closing Queen's own at the wire.

Collisteo, from Hamilton's Bur-Fit stables, returned $24.20, $5.40 and $2.20. Queen's Own was second and King Maple, backed to odds of 1 to 4, came third. The payoff on Queen's Own: $3.70, $2.10; King Maple $2.10.

Rogers, a 28-year-old native of Hamilton, said he knew he was aboard the winner at the eighth pole.

"When Queen's Own drew alongside, Collisteo was not giving up. I gave the colt a breather and was sure Queen's Own was under a hard drive to get close. And, as I always told the boys, you can win far more races in the final 20 yards than at the eighth pole."

Many railbirds said King Maple a brown colt owned by Mrs. Gordon McMacken of Toronto, and Queen's Own, from the stables of Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, were thrown off stride when they got boxed in as the field of nine three-year-olds charged around the first turn.

Collisteo's owners, Pete Burton and Walter Fitzgerald, and his trainer, Dick Townrow, thought Rogers made the move a bit too soon.

"Collisteo likes to run at something," Townrow said. "I didn't know whether he could hold on in the stretch."

Fitzgerald and Burton received the plate from Governor-General Massey during ceremonies in the infield. It was Rogers' third plate win.

Pancho, an entry with Collisteo, was fourth. The others finished in this order: Hi Laude, owned by Dr. L. H. Appleby of Vancouver; Staff Reporter, an entry with Queen's Own; Heptad, owned by the Armstrong brothers of Brampton, Ont.; Three Striper, owned by J. Frowde Seagram of Waterloo, Ont.; and Welcome Home, owned and trained by Miss Olive Armstrong.

Louis Thinks Charles Trains Wrong Way

By JACK HAND

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Joe Louis thinks Ezzard Charles is training for the wrong kind of fight in his bid to win back the heavyweight title in his bout with Rocky Marciano Thursday night at Yankee Stadium.

The Bomber watched Ezzy go five rounds Sunday, pressing the attack as though he meant to carry the fight to Rocky.

"You don't go in there and mix with Marciano," said the former champ, who Saturday called Marciano "stale."

"The way to beat Marciano should be to stick with your left and then throw the right when he missed. If Charles fights Rocky like he fought against me, he could beat Marciano. But he doesn't seem to be training for that kind of fight."

Tom Tannas, one of Charles' co-managers, said the 32-year-old Cincinnati Negro is perfectly tuned for his best fight.

HEAVY WORK OVER

Charles plans one more workout, and possibly two, before he breaks camp Wednesday afternoon. His five-round drill Sunday boosted his training total to 143 rounds.

Marciano finished the heavy work Sunday, going two rounds with Keene Simmons for a total of 183 since April 2. He will loosen up with a little shadow-boxing to hold the edge.

"I'm in the best physical shape of my career," he said. "I'm certain in my own mind that I'm a much better fighter than I've ever been."

There is great difference of opinion among those who have watched Marciano. Some think he is too fine. Others believe he is just approaching the edge. He has been hit easily by his sparring partners and has missed wildly.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

To all those who are playing in this competition: The club's annual singles, first round, gets under way this evening at seven o'clock.

The Family Hour tournament was rained out Saturday evening. One week ago Saturday evening it was just too cold to bowl—but we'll hit a fine Saturday night yet.

There is room for more rinks, Wednesday. It's the open trebles tournament for the O'Keefe Trophy.

This is just by memory — we believe that these three rinks are leading in the men's schedule: A. Black won 4, lost 1; W. Jones won 4, lost 1; P. Johnson won 4, lost 1.

We picked this piece of spiced tongue out of a scrapbook: "She worships her husband — places burnt offerings before him three times a day."

Ladies' scores:

Mrs. L. Bearne 16, Mrs. G. Gimblett 7; Mrs. A. Jackson 7, Mrs. L. Potes 12; Mrs. N. Killingbeck 14, Mrs. C. Renaud 8; Mrs. W. Hepburn 9, Mrs. A. McWilliams 10; Mrs. H. Northrop 13, Mrs. C. Wilson 7, Mrs. J. Smith 12; Mrs. F. Staunton 13, Mrs. [illegible]ston 7; Mrs. S. Zakos 7, Mrs. H. Beatty 15.

U.S. Golf Team Swamps Canadians In Tournament

By GERRY LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—You can stem a flood only so long with your finger in the dike.

Canada's professional golf team found that out during the Hopkins Trophy matches against the United States.

The Canadians held off the American pressure as the three-day match play tournament got under way Thursday with a 9-9 split in points from the six singles matches.

Friday the long-driving U. S. team picked up another 8½ points in best-ball foursome play. The Canadians, even with South Africa's great Bobby Locke on their side, salvaged only a half-point.

SWAMP CANADA

By the time it was over Saturday the United States had swamped Canada 42½ points to 20½.

The tournament is conducted under the Nassau system which gives a point to the winner of each nine holes and another point for the match. Canada has yet to win the event.

Little Jerry Barber of LeCanada, Calif., the tournament's most consistent winner, blanked Jules Huot of Montreal in one morning round match and Ted Kroll downed Edmonton's Henry Martell, the Canadian captain, in a similar fashion in another.

In the afternoon, Barber defeated the formidable Locke. Huot again lost three points, this time to Marty Furgol. Martell met a similar fate against Dave Douglas.

RESULTS OF MATCHES

Results of the day's other matches:

Morning:

Locke defeated Chandler Harper 5 up on first nine and 2 up on second; Canada 3 points, U.S. 0.

Douglas was even with Bill Kerr, Montreal, after nine holes and 1 up after 18; U.S. 2½ points, Canada ½.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver, 1 up on Ed (Porky) Oliver after nine holes, second nine halves; Canada 2½, U.S. ½.

Pat Fletcher, Saskatoon, halved both nines with Walt Burkemo; Canada 1½, U.S. 1½.

Afternoon:

Kerr defeated Burkemo 1 up on first nine, second nine halved; Canada 2½, U.S. ½.

Kroll defeated Gordie Brydson, Toronto, 1 up on first nine, second nine halved; U.S. 2½, Canada ½.

Harper defeated Leonard 2 up on first nine, second halved; U.S. 2½ points, Canada ½.

PRIZE MONEY

Locke was Canada's biggest point-getter with six.

The other Canadian points were amassed this way: Kerr 4, Brydson 3½, Leonard 3¼, Martell 1¾, Fletcher 1½, and Huot ½.

The Canadians did better than their opponents in the prize money awarded for eagles and birdies. Leonard picked up $225, Locke and Kerr $100, Fletcher $75 and Martell, Brydson and Huot $50 apiece.

Tooth Leading Blind Golfers

HAMILTON (CP)—Charles Tooth Canada's blind golf champion, took the lead in the third inter-club blind golfers' tournament here Sunday.

But the Ancaster golfer won't know until the middle of the week whether his nine-hole 55 is best score. Two other golfers, Phil Lederhouse of Prince Albert, Sask., and Jack McPherson of Regina, are participating in the tournament and will mail their card to the match chairman.

Top golfers in the inter-club tournament and the Ontario blind golfers tournament, which will be played June 19 at Niagara-On-The-Lake, will make up a six-man team representing Canada in the American national blind golfers tournament July 16 at Worcester, Mass.

Other results of Sunday's match included: Harold Mitchell, Hamilton, 57; Claude Pattermore, Hamilton, 59; Roy Meehan, Burlington, 66; Nick Genovese, Dundas, 66 and Robert Paddon, Kingston, 67.

Local "A" Cricketers Draw With Toronto In Rainy Go

Peterborough "A" and Toronto "B" cricketers clashed at the Oval on Saturday but the game ended in a draw when it had to be called because of rain before competition. Toronto had 135 runs for seven wickets declared, and Peterborough 52 runs for 0 wickets. Next weekend, the local "A" team plays North Toronto in Toronto in league competition.

W. K. Smith and J. Bates of Toronto began batting against T. Clarke and F. Booth. They were slow off the mark, the five overs yielding but one run, and with only seven on the board, they lost the wicket of Bates, who was run out trying to make a sharp single. They added one more and lost two wickets in two balls, Smith and V. Taylor being caught by G. Smith off Booth.

RAIN STOPS IT

They then had but eight on the board for the loss of three wickets. Rain then interrupted for 25 minutes and Peterborough, on resuming, seemed to have lost its drive. F. Cayley and L. Maile took the score to 39 before Maile was out LBW to E. Cotton for 15. D. Judd joined Cayley. They pushed it to 79 before Cayley was bowled by Booth for 25. A later stand by Judd and A. Lowe made it 114 before Lowe was bowled by G. Smith for 17. Eventually, with the fall of C. Backhouse's wicket, he was run out for seven. Cayley declared the Toronto inning closed at 135 for seven wickets, leaving Peterboroug an hour and a half to score 136 runs, Toronto batting for almost three hours.

B. Roberts and E. Bedford started against M. Snively and D. Brandon. The local pair started quickly and the first six overs yielded 42 runs. But the light began failing and Peterborough's opening pair had 52 runs in 30 minutes to be ahead of the clock when the storm broke to wash out the rest of the game. Bedford was 32 not out and Roberts 20 not out at the close.

Stole Plate By Faking Pace In Race

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP) — Collisteo "stole" the Queen's Plate with a fake pace.

"We were faking all the way," said jockey Chris Rogers after he urged the big brown colt to a head victory over Queen's Own Saturday.

"I had this one figured right down the line. They all thought we were dead. But the colt had plenty of steam."

Rogers smiled broadly in the tack room as he chatted about his "perfect setup" when Collisteo and Queen's Own fought it out in a dramatic stretch drive at Woodbine track in Canada's richest stake.

"It couldn't have been better," he said. "I knew everybody thought we would fold up when we took the lead at the three-quarter pole. That's when I eased him up slightly and faked a pace.

MADE HIS MOVE

"Albert (jockey Bert Albert aboard Queen's Own) made his move as we hit the stretch. He thought he had us. I just told this baby to get moving and he did.

"The Queen was coming strong. They say he might have won if Albert had moved earlier. That's bunk. Queen's Own didn't have it. We were holding that lead in the last 50 yards. I knew it was a cinch then."

Chris, 28, said King Maple, the hot favorite who went to the post at 1 to 4, was never in the race. King Maple, owned by Mrs. Gordon McMacken of Toronto, finished third, 3¾ lengths off the pace.

Gordon McMacken, husband of the owner of King Maple, made no excuses for the colt.

"He was well beaten," he said. "Collisteo and Queen's Own ran beautiful races. King Maple picked the biggest day of all to be off."

THE DUKE—At bat, in center field and on the bases, Duke Snider of the Dodgers is one of the great players of the game.

Cardinals Grab Doubleheader From Pittsburgh

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Imagine where the St. Louis Cardinals would be today without the man and the kitten? Redbird skipper Eddie Stanky must shudder whenever this thought occurs to him.

The man, of course, is Stan Musial, the greatest hitter in the National League. The kitten is Harvey Haddix, the winningest pitcher in the senior circuit.

The man and the kitten combined their talents Sunday to give the Cardinals their first double-header victory of the season. Haddix hurled his second straight shutout and his 10th victory as the Cards defeated Pittsburgh 5-0 in the first game. Musial, who drove in two runs in the opener with a pair of singles, snapped a 3-3 tie in the second game with his 21st home run. The Cards went on to win 5-3.

FIRST-PLACE TIE

Scoring all their runs in the seventh inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers overcame a 4-0 deficit to edge out Cincinnati 6-5 in the opener and came back to run over the Redlegs 14-2 in the nightcap.

The New York Giants thrashed the Cubs 9-3 and 9-4, breaking through for six runs in the 11th to snap a 3-3 tie in the first game.

The twin triumphs enabled the deadlocked Dodgers and Giants to open up a 4½ game first-place bulge on their nearest pursuers—Milwaukee and Philadelphia. The Braves tied the Phils for third place, defeating them 9-5 for Warren Spahn's seventh victory.

Cleveland used the lowly Boston Red Sox to boost its American League lead to 1½ games over the Chicago White Sox and 3½ over the New York Yankees. The Indians' 4-1 and 9-1 triumphs ran their latest victory string to four in a row and slipped Boston into last place.

After dropping their sixth straight decision to the Yankees, 4-2 in the opener of a doubleheader, the White Sox thrashed the world champions 8-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics, who had been fighting among themselves, decided to carry some of it to the opposition and as a result captured two come-from-behind victories from the Detroit Tigers 4-3 and 6-4. The double win moved the Athletics out of the cellar, only a half game behind the sixth place Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Porterfield shut out Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had clubbed five Washington pitchers for 14 hits to take the opener 6-4.

Zernial Ready To Continue Joost Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Big Gus Zernial of Philadelphia Athletics hints that he hasn't spoken his last word in the bitter verbal battle with manager Eddie Joost.

The home-run slugger was quoted Sunday by a sports telecaster as saying: "The fact that Joost isn't playing me every day is only half the story. What the other half is I won't say now, but I'll speak my piece before this is over."

Meanwhile, the reaction of the club to the Friday night dugout clash of Joost and Zernial, and the slugger's subsequent $250 fine, has people wondering if more fights shouldn't be sponsored. The A's have won four straight and bounced out of the American League cellar.

HOPES THEY'LL FORGET

Earl Mack says he hopes the two men will shake hands and forget the whole thing. "Making a choice between them imposes a terrible responsibility — both men are too valuable to lose," the club general manager said.

From his conversation with reporters Saturday, one got the impression that Mack isn't anxious to dispose of Zernial, who has been a big attraction at the gate.

Western Hockey Loop Plans 2 Divisions

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Sun said in a sportspage story Saturday the Western Hockey League will probably operate two divisions of five teams each in the 1955-56 season.

The newspaper said it learned this following a statement by Regina interests Friday that the Saskatchewan capital is interested in entering the professional circuit this season.

However, the Sun said Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks, announced Saturday that Regina is "out" for this season. "We are all set to operate with six teams—Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon."

Max Baer won the world heavyweight boxing title in a sensational victory over champion Primo Carnera 20 years ago tonight at New York. Golfers Try To Beat Hogan Mark

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian golfers by the thousands again went out during the week-end to see if they could gain an "I Beat Ben Hogan" badge. It was part of National Golf Day in Canada and the United States.

Hogan, who will defend his U.S. open championship this week, set the mark the golfers had to shoot at when he fired a record-tying, eight-under-par 64 over the Baltusrol course at Springfield, N.J.

Badges go to the golfers who pay $1 to enter the country-wide competition and who with their handicaps are able to beat Hogan's score. The event is sponsored by the United States Professional Golfers' Association and Life magazine and the thousands of dollars collected go to the United Service Organization and the National Golf Fund.

HAD 20 POSTPONE

Hogan was scheduled to match his shots against those of some 125,000 other golfers a week ago Saturday but had to postpone the round until this week-end because of a virus infection.

In the Ottawa-Hull area 318 competed and only one entry was able to post a net score that was better than Hogan's there was one i.e. Six London, Ont., golfers beat the "Mighty Mite."

Heavy Rain Ends Collingwood Races

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Heavy rain Saturday ended the season's first meet staged by Collingwood Harness Racing Association with five horses out of a carded field of eight thundering through a deluge of mud and water to finish the second heat of the 2:22 class after spectators had fled for shelter.

Allan Walker's Nancy Patch of Owen Sound romped over the mile in 2:11 minutes, the best time of the day, in the first heat of the $250 free-for-all. Rain held this feature event to the one heat.

Bitterness Cools Against CCF Government In Saskatchewan

By WILF CHISLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—A decade in office has cooled antagonism toward Saskatchewan's CCF government and the brand of socialism it has implemented.

Once a target from all sides, the provincial administration in a period of relative political calm observes its 10th anniversary as North America's only socialist government.

There still are major differences. But much of the bitterness that characterized Saskatchewan policies after the CCF victory in the provincial election, June 15, 1944, has disappeared.

OPPONENTS CRITICAL

Before and immediately after its election, opponents of the CCF charged it would socialize everything in sight, including the land. Critics said the party would drive industry out of the province. Business men were worried.

The CCF, although it maintains it still holds to the Regina Manifesto which advocates public ownership and state development of natural resources, has a long way to go in both fields.

The 18 government-owned enterprises it has established di d$45,000,000 worth of business last year. By way of comparison, Saskatchewan's share in Canada's gross national product for 1953 is estimated at $1,200,000,000.

Except for minor development by government enterprises, the CCF has left exploitation of the province's rapidly developing oil and mineral wealth largely to private enterprise.

WIN THREE ELECTIONS

Electors have given the CCF a mandate in three provincial elections in which public ownership was a major issue.

Asmundur Lopston, Liberal leader in the legislature and a main critic of the CCF, while contending the government enterprises have failed in every undertaking where they had to meet privat competition, said in an interview it would be "only fair to retain any enterprise which tends to give service at a fair rate."

Private capital, which Premier T. C. Douglas says is Saskatchewan's prime need, has been flowing into the province in greater amounts each year—$458,000,000 last year compared with $243,000,000 in 1948.

The premier, a spark plug in the socialist movement since it assumed the name of Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in 1932, said in an interview the change in attitude towards his government has come from within and without the party. He said while opponents' attacks have cooled in the last 10 years, party members who at times have plugged for more extensive socialism have been sobered by experience.

IMPLEMENTED PROMISES

Another reason for the change was that the government had done only what it said it would do—not what critics claimed it would.

Mr. Lopston said the CCF government has forgotten its socialist theories, but only for the time being. He said the government finds it profitable to have a "capitalistic front" now. But he contends as long as it retains the Regina Manifesto, the CCF framework of socialism, it will be only a matter of time before it ha sto adopt its principles.

Premier Douglas disagrees. He contended the manifesto does not call for complete socialism but establishment of a co-operative economy.

The premier has reassured private companies that oil and mineral deposits will not be expropriated. He says there is room in Saskatchewan for government, private and co-operative business.

Mr. Douglas said capitalism has nothing to fear from the CCF, providing it considers the interests of Saskatchewan citizens. Only one industry, a small box factory at Prince Albert, had been expropriated under the Crown Corporations Act.

To promote the idea of co-operation, a co-operative development department was set up by the government with the premier as its head.

A contract with Consumers' Co-operative Refineries Ltd., put the government in hot water with oil companies three months ago. The government granted development rights in two sections of Crown land in the Smiley field of west-central Saskatchewan to the refinery on a farm-out basis with profits, if any, to be shared. Oil companies which will spend an estimated $68,000,000 in Saskatchewan searching for oil this year condemned the agreement.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

The move was interpreted by Liberal party officials as a step to socialize the oil industry.

George Urwin, head of Saskatchewan Federated Co - operatives, parent body of the refinery, said the agreement was made to appease farmers who plug for state development of oil resources without forcing the government to enter the oil business.

Te Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, formed in 1932 from the old Independent Labor party of Saskatchewan and the United Farmers of Canada, always has had some difficulty with the word "socialism," confused at times with "communism." Students of government say socialist ideals have been toned down in the intervening years. The CCF platform for the 1938 provincial election contained no mention of socialism.

The future of the CCF in Saskatchewan, Mr. Douglas says, is secure.

Liberals say they may be able to defeat the CCF in the next provincial election, which may be held in 1956. Progressive Conservatives say they expect to make gains in the next election, but name 1960 as the year for their big bid.

Social Credit, which has been able to elect only two members to date to the legislature, is an unknown quantity in future political wars. Social Credit won two seats in 1938 and lost them in 1944.

Present standing in the 53-seat Saskatchewan legislature is CCF 42, Liberals 10 and Progressive Conservatives 1.

Kingdon Family Once Owned Temple Corner

The house at the Salvation Army corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets, now being demolished, was for many years a property of the Kingdon family.

More than a century ago, William Kingdon came to Peterborough from England and went into the cooperage business at what is now 775 Monaghan road. The house is on the west side of that road now occupied by George R. Martin, south of Dinsdale's wood yard.

The official record indicates that William Kingdon secured the property at Simcoe St. from the Crown in 1851. He is described as a farmer. In a sense he was because all that part of the township was then farm land, and the outskirts of the city beyond its original boundary were mostly used as grazing areas.

The cooperage business which was set up by Mr. Kingdon was carried on here until two years ago at their plant on Barnardo Ave., in the north end of the city.

It is not clear now whether the Simcoe St. corner house was built by the Kingdon family, although that is the probability. Transfers of property perhaps were not registered as promptly as they are now. At any rate, the Sandford Fleming survey of the city indicates a building at that corner in 1846.

Mr. Kingdon sold the property to his son, George Samuel Kingdon in 1887, and in that year he turned it over to the Toronto Real Estate Investment Co. afterwards the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. They divided the property into two parts, one of which was purchased in 1898 by Robert W. Reid, gentleman, Ashburnham.

Finally in 1919 he sold his part to the Salvation Army, and in 1922 Toronto Savings and Loan sold the other part at the corner to the Army authorities.

Major H. G. Roberts said today the intention is simply to dismantle the old house, clear the land and eventually to extend the Young People's section of the Temple along Aylmer St.

The sixth generation of the Kingdon family is now represented by George Samuel Kingdon, grandson of Mrs. George Stanley Kingdon, Barnardo Ave. Apparently the vanishing house was built in the early days of the expansion of the central area of Peterborough by one of the Kingdon men, and it is a fact that George Samuel Kingdon once lived there and incidentally has a grocery side line, for the rounded corner of the building was for years the entrance to that store.

MORE THAN A HUNDRED YEARS OLD, this old house, believed built originally on the south-east corner of Simcoe and Aylmer Sts. by the Kingdon family, probably in 1846, has outlived its usefulness.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Leafs Upset Buffalo In 4-3 Decision

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League still has a six-club pennant scrap, but it won't for long unless somebody does something about the Toronto Maple Leafs and Rochester Red Wings.

As things stand today, Toronto is one game in front of Rochester. They've been jockeying back and forth for some two weeks. Montreal is four games off the pace, Havana five, Richmond six and Syracuse 6½.

Syracuse helped some to tighten up the race Sunday by swepping a pair of 2-1 decisions with the Red Wings, but the Leafs picked up half a game by striking from behind for a 4-3 decision over Buffalo Bisons in the first game of a doubleheader and then earned a 4-4 tie in the nightcap before it was called in the sixth because of Toronto's curfew.

FIRST HOMER

Montreal gained on the leaders by taking two from the cellar-dwelling Ottawa Athletics 4-2 and 4-3. Richmond and Havana were rained out of a single game and will make it up in a doubleheader tonight.

Rochester beat Syracuse in the opener on the three-hit pitching of Jack Fr...olz, but couldn't complete the sweep as veteran Kent Peterson and Lynn Lovenguth checked the Wings with six hits in the nightcap.

Shortstop Hector Rodriquez hit his first homer of the season with one on in the 7th to climax Toronto's uphill climb in the opening game against Buffalo.

Nick Weslock Wins Lambton Amateur

TORONTO (CP)—Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., won the annual Lambton amateur invitation tournament Sunday, defeating Bob Spence of Montreal Kanawaki 4 and 3 in the final.

The Lambton invitation was started in 1902 and was held annually until the outbreak of the First World War. It was not revived until 1952.

Four Canadian Records Set

MONTREAL (CP)—Four Canadian records were established Saturday at the Quebec provincial swimming championships and Quebec division Empire Games trials.

Two of the Canadian records were set by Beth Whitthall, Montreal, who clocked 5:0.1 in the senior women's 400 yards freestyle to knock 6-10ths of a second off the record set in June 1952 by Vancouver's Kay McNamee. She also chalked up a new mark in the 100-yards butterfly senior event with a time of 1:11.3.

Gladys Priestley, Montreal, beat her Canadian record of 2:18.7 in the junior 200-yards freestyle with a time of 2:14.6.

Later in the junior 100-yards freestyle Virginia Grant, Toronto, set a new Canadian mark of 1:0.3 bettering her record of 1:1.7.

Asphodel Ratepayers Ask To Have Dump

Two petitions from ratepayers were received by Asphodel township council last week.

Residents of Westwood requested the council to acquire a suitable place for a township dump. The other petition was from Asphodel residents living along No. 45 highway adjacent to Hastings village, asking that a footwalk be built along that road.

Council decided to advertise for a dump site, and to build the sidewalk out of Hastings subject to the approval of the Department of Highways.

Tenders were received for the supply of 3,000 cu. yds. of crushed gravel for delivery on township roads. The tender of Thompson's Stone and Crushed Gravel Co., Lakefield, was accepted at 72 cents a cu. yd., work to be completed before Sept. 15.

Council directed payment of accounts amounting to $1,869.66.

Now They Know

KINGSTON (CP)—The mysteries of the machine age never fail to intrigue the youngsters. A group of boys stumbled onto a big power shovel at a playground where a new swimming pool is being built. They tried a shiny chrome button. Luckily, a passer-by reached the spark plug wires before the mechanical monster reached the living room of a nearby house.

High Gun Enters Title Picture After Victory

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If it is going to take races in the Chicago area to settle the three-year-old turf championship, then High Gun might as well be counted out. The distances of the Arlington classic and American Derby don't seem great enough for the King Ranch's Belmont stakes winner.

High Gun, a son of Heliopolis, entered the title picture Saturday with his neck victory over the front-running Fisherman in the mile and a half of the $125,100 Belmont Stakes. And the Texas-owned colt of Robert J. Kleberg needed all of the Belmont's distance to get up in time for the victory.

The King Ranch colt is eligible for the $100,000-added Arlington and the equally endowed American derby at Washington Park. Hasty Road, winner of the Preakness and second to Determine in the Kentucky Derby, already is on the grounds awaiting these two rich races. And there have been reports that Andy Crevolin will ship Determine from California for the two rich stakes.

The Arlington is a mile, a distance that is right down Hasty Road's alley. The American Derby's distance of a mile and one-eighth also appears more to the liking of Hasty Road and Determine than to the plodding High Gun.

Outside of showing that High Gun will be tough to handle in the really long races, the Belmont proved Correlation is out of championship consideration and that Porterhouse, 1953 two-year-old champion, is little more than a top-notch sprinter.

Former Teacher Dies

KITCHENER (CP)—Mrs. Donald Davidson, 80, wife of Dr. Donald Davidson, died at her home here Saturday. She had been active in educational and civic affairs in Woodstock before moving here two years ago. She was born in Kingsville, and taught high school at Leamington, Essex, Orillia, Renfrew, Woodstock and at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, before her marriage.

Spoiled Honeymoon

MANCHESTER, Ont. (CP) — A bee spoiled a honeymoon for a Montreal couple. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Bonney were driving along near here Sunday when the bee flew into the car and hit Mr. Bonney in the face. The groom, paying most of his attention to the insect, forgot about his driving. Mrs. Bonney is in hospital with cuts, Mr. Bonney is recuperating in a hotel.

The Busy Browns

TORONTO (CP)—It was a big day for the Browns. Brownie, a spaniel, was marooned on a narrow ledge of a 70-foot cliff for several hours Saturday. A policeman—constable Sydney Brown—was summoned and with the help of a nearby resident, John Brown, rescued Brownie.

50,000 Rounds of Small Arms Fire Needed To Kill 1 Man In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took 50,000 rounds of small arms fire to kill one Red Chinese soldier in the Korean war.

Lt.-Col. Walter J. Fellenz, chairman of the small arms committee at the U.S. Army's infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., considers this something of a U.S. national disgrace.

With other members of an army-civilian research team, he helped figure out the firing effectiveness in Korea. In contrast, he points out a Confederate (Southerner) rifleman at the U.S. civil war battle of Chicamauga averaged only about 208 rounds to knock off a Yankee (Northerner).

Obviously, says Fellenz, "something is wrong, for the weapons we have today are far superior to the musket."

One of the reasons Fellenz believes so much ammunition was wasted in Korea was the character of the fighting—much of it at night.

TEACH NIGHT SHOOTING

He is convinced that the oriental can see much better at night than the occidental, who long has been accustomed to artificial light.

Fellenz says that while Americans learned a lot about night fighting in the Pacific during the Second World War, they didn't bother to get it down on paper for future reference. The troops in Korea, he says, had to learn it all over again.

Fellenz is engaged at Ft. Benning in teaching soldiers how to shoot at night. It's quite a trick.

Vision experts long have known that at night you do not see in a straight line. Objects appear to the right or left of where they really are. A target will fade away completely if you close one eye and try to aim.

One trick is to keep both eyes open and the head high so that you can see the muzzle of your rifle and the apparent target in line.

Shah's Favorite Dwarf Has Pension Renewed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Ramazan Ali Hamadani, favorite dwarf of the Shah three quarters of a century ago, Sunday won a year-long fight for a government pension.

Ramazan, who is 32 inches high, 90 years old and the father of five sons and four daughters — all dwarfs—will get 1,500 rials ($18.80) a month as an ex-court retainer.

When his pension was suddenly halted in 1942, Ramazan Ali—bent by age to a mere 24 inches—fought a successful battle for its resumption. However, the money-pinched Iranian government halted payments again last year.

Makes Montreal In 15-Minute Flight

OTTAWA (CP)—Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Christie of Vancouver and Ottawa crossed Rockcliffe airport in his Sabre jet fighter at about 730 miles an hour.

The man on the loudspeaker said "He's going to Montreal. He'll be back in around 15 minutes."

Christie, 30-year-old RCAF test pilot, was a few seconds late. He covered the 184-mile round-trip in 15 minutes and 4 1-10 seconds, which mathematically inclined persons may transpose to an average speed of 732.5 miles an hour. He was going so fast he had to allow 12 miles to make his turn-around at Montreal, but it was not an attempt at any speed record.

Christie's flight was part of the stunning display of flying put on by the boys in blue Saturday to mark air force day.

The RCAF doesn't try for speed records. The displays here and at other air force bases across the country were designed to show Canadians what they're getting for the $990,000,000 being spent on the RCAF this year.

Christie wound up the show by cracking the sound barrier at 42,000 feet. Though the speed of sound is 760 miles an hour at sea level, it decreases with height and lower temperatures. It was 65 degrees below zero at 42,000 feet so that Christie went through the barrier at about 690 miles an hour.

Vaudeville Dying In Toronto Theatres

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Vaudeville in Canada is breathing its last in Toronto.

And Murray Little, manager of the Casino theatre here, says he expects to hear the death rattle at any time.

The closing of the Seville theatre in Montreal two months ago left the Casino as the only vaudeville house in Canada; one of five left on the North American continent.

It's been death by slow strangulation. The talking pictures started it, television hastened it and now lack of talent is swinging the fatal blow.

TALENT GETS SCARCE

"Show business is like hockey; you can't have a big-league team unless you have farm clubs," says Mr. Little. "The better talent is dying out and we are left with no talent at all."

Vaudeville is fed into Canada through United States booking agencies, but Mr. Little says the U.S. "hasn't produced one good vaudeville act in the last 10 years."

The majority of jugglers, tumblers, magicians and the like that make up the four-a-day bill come from Europe, where the variety show still breathes a fairly lively existence.

"Nowadays the show has to star a headliner but you can't get very many good headliners any more."

A good headliner costs the vaudeville operator a big chunk from the box-office receipts. The Casino paid $10,000 for a week's work from some of the current crop—Eartha Kitt, Johnnie Ray, Billy Daniels and Jane Powell.

"That's 10 times as much as they used to pay for the headliners back in the 20s when vaudeville was at its greatest."

"GOOD OLD DAYS"

At one time during the early '20s, five vaudeville houses were operating in Toronto. Trixie Friganza, Fanny Brice, Weber and Fields and Nora Bayes used to pack them in and asked the top price of $1,000-$1,250 a week.

But when Al Jolson cried "mammy" on the motion picture sound track in 1927, vaudeville operators yelled "uncle" and turned their theatres into movie houses. From 1930 to 1933, during the depression, vaudeville suffered a relapse.

Then Sally Rand began waving her fan and the breeze she stirred up revived the business and vaudeville sailed back on a wave of sex.

Burlesque at its rowdiest heralded the opening of the Casino in 1936 and the bump-and-grind gals trod the Toronto boards until 1948, when even the bald-headed row lost interest.

The strip was replaced with the son, and top recording stars lured the crowds back. Johnny Ray's tears set the Casino house record in 1952 with a $22,000 gross for one week.

TV PROVED BLOW

That was the year television established itself in Canada. That was the year vaudeville in Canada started on the skids again

Today, the Casino is scraping the barrel for talent. The "gimmick gals" with their bubble baths, swimming tanks and trick horses display their physical charms between the appearances of the headliner.

"As far as our theatre goes we're still making some money, but I'm not very happy about the future," says Mr. Little.

Thorald Girl Now Extra In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Promptly at 4 p. m., the lovely Canadian brunette slipped into a telephone booth, deposited a dime and dialed Hollywood 1-9711, as she had thousands of times before.

"Central casting," answered a crisp, metallic voice.

"Mary Ellen Batten," said the girl.

"Try later."

Mary Ellen hung up the phone. Forty-five minutes and several dimes later, she got the answer she was hoping for: "Paramount, 8 a. m. Summer clothes, hat or coat. Technicolor make-up. Wear nothing brigat or shiny. Director: Mann." She had a job for the following day.

FILLS THE SPACES

Mary Ellen Batten is an extra, a unique and storied breed in Hollywood. Fame begins and ends in the extra ranks. Stars like Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Marilyn Monroe and Lucille Ball started as atmosphere players in films. And other stars, whose fame and fortune filtered through their fingers, now work as extras in movies staring current favorites.

You've never noticed Mary Ellen, although she has appeared in scores of films. She's the girl whose back you might see in a night club scene. She might be a harem girl one day, a pioneer woman the next. Always she supplies a needed anonymity—a live but unidentified figure to fill out the empty spaces on a movie set.

"Oh, I get a line now and then in pictures," she told me. "I had one with Jane Russell recently. But it ended on the cutting room floor, like most of my big scenes."

NATIVE OF THOROLD

Mary Ellen says she is 23. She is five feet nine, and has the build of a statuesque Ziegfeld showgirl. She has a straight nose, a cover girl complexion and a pleasant, musical voice. She was born at Thorold, Ont., where her father was a hardware merchant.

She studied at the Ontario Conservatory of Music in Toronto for three years, and five years ago a local MGM official heard her voice. He recommended her to his studio.

She and her mother—her father died when she was young—packed up and came to the land of hopes, Hollywood. Mary Ellen was not placed under contract, but for a year the studio treated her to vocal lessons and a drama course.

"But the talent scouts never saw me in the right role in the right play," she sighed. "Or maybe I just wasn't ready."

HAD TO EAT

Her mother footed the bills out of savings in their first year here. When MGM dropped her, Mary Ellen decided she would have to be the breadwinner. She got jobs in light operas and night clubs, but that wasn't enough to meet expenses. Two years ago she decided to become an extra.

"I went to the screen extras guild and they tried to discourage me," she recalled. "They said it was harder to get a break when you're an extra. Agents and producers look down their noses at extras, thinking they have no ambition. But I had to eat.

"At first the work was slow," she said. "But the calls began coming in more often once I had worked around at the studios."

SHUNNED WOLVES

She added that she got the jobs on her ability alone. She shunned the wolves who advised they could get her in the movies. "I suppose there are girls who try to get ahead that way," she said, "but I don't think it's a good idea."

Like most extras, Mary Ellen has a hard time living on her movie pay. As a plain extra, she draws $19.43 for a day's work. On calls termed "weather permitting," the studio can dismiss her when she reports for work — if the weather is bad. She gets half-pay for that.

Occasionally she gets a "stunt cheque." That is special pay for hazardous or physical work. One day she earned $92 for being one of the ornaments in a human chandelier for Marilyn Monroe's "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend" number in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Soviet Zone Troops Braced To Crush Any New Riot

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—An air of quiet hangs over the Soviet zone of Germany. It is as though everyone were listening for the tick of a time bomb.

In just five days, the calendar will flip over to June 17. On this day one year ago 2,000,000 East German workers rebelled. They rioted, they burned, they challenged Soviet tanks with sticks and stones, they slew.

The spirit that moved the German to defy Kremlin power is quiescent now. But—is it dead?

DEDICATED TO TRY AGAIN

The Russian isn't sure. The East German Communist boss isn't sure. They know the German has been dedicated for centuries to the principle that one more attempt might work.

And so, on the other side of the Brandenburg gate and in the industrial centres of the Soviet zone, June 17 is not just another day.

Every Red organizer, every Communist "people's policeman," every SSD (secret police) agent is braced. Leaves have been cancelled. Divisions of the 300,000-man Soviet army not yet on manoeuvres have orders to stand by on alert next Thursday.

DOUSE ANY "PUTSCH"

The Red regime likes to believe the spark of revolt has been doused. Deputy premier Heinrich Rau told a party rally last month:

"Our republic has been strengthened to such an extent that today no enemy forces are able to launch even the mere attempt of a putsch."

What he means is this: There is no plant of any size, no mine, no mill in the entire Russian zone today that is not liberally sprinkled with agents in over-alls. They work at lathes, with band saws, with drills, but their real job is to report to the police any worker who opens his mouth against the regime. The luckless one is snatched immediately and from that time on he does his daily chore in a labor camp.

This system works. It got its major test during the Berlin conference of the big four foreign ministers. Britain's Anthony Eden proposed free elections for all Germany and a wave of unrest spread through the east zone. SSD agents grabbed an estimated 500 malcontents and jailed them, making sure the word got around. The unrest died, stillborn.

BEST LIVING STANDARD

But the basic ingredient, the hard-headed stubbornness of the German worker, has not been eradicated, nor can it be. The Reds know it. They have been smart enough to rely on something more than mere police whips.

With Russian aid and increased trade inside the satellite ring, East Germany has provided the worker in the last year with the best standard of living he has had since the war. Food supplies are adequate, public housing in the major industrial centres has been pushed, clinics and rest homes for workers are rising. There is an occasional shortage of meat, sometimes of potatoes, but never the two together, as in the past.

Have Booklet On Translation

MONTREAL (CP)—A 62-page booklet of notes on translation was distributed Saturday to representatives of 11 newspapers supplied with news in French by the Canadian Press.

It made its appearance at CP's annual Quebec regional meeting attended by 22 newspaper men from seven cities in Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick. A copy was presented to CP president R. J. Rankin of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald.

"Notes de Traduction" carries a forewood by Herve Major of Montreal La Presse, honorary president of CP, explaining the booklet is a preliminary collection of translation reminders intended to be revised and expanded by French-language editors who helped prepare it.

The first draft was the work of Jean Saint-Georges, CBC director of sound broadcasting for Quebec, while on loan to CP when the national news co-operative set up its service in French in 1951.

Rev. K. Crawford Speaker At Church Parade

MARMORA (ENS) — Marmora Chapter No. 267 Order of the Eastern Star paraded to St. Andrew's United Church for the morning service on Sunday.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. J. Crawford, pastor of the church who welcomed the members of the Order on behalf of himself and the Official Board.

Mr. Crawford's subject was "The faith of Timothy." He pointed out that St. Paul's young convert was the son of a mixed marriage, being Jewish on the maternal side and Greek on the paternal side of the family. Yet the young disciple who received his Christian teaching from his mother Lois and grandmother Eunice so gripped it as to stand firm in the face of all opposition.

"Who can measure," the preacher asked "the influence of a Christian home?" There are some things we can pass on to our children but not all. We can pass on a Christian influence and that was what Timothy received and he was "steadfastly true to the Christian faith."

He was established in his faith said Mr. Crawford, because he held on to the sound doctrine. Sound doctrine strengthens faith. Timothy's strength further lay in the recognition that there cannot be a distinction between the faith we profess and the life we live and so he fought the good fight of faith.

Picket Lines To Be Augmented

OSHAWA (CP)—Street railway picket lines here will be augmented today by eight carloads of members of the Toronto local of the Street Railway Union (AFL).

The union members are holding out for eight paid statutory holidays and other fringe benefits recommended by a federal conciliation board.

Sale Of Cars Shows Drop Of 15% From Last Year

By JIM PEACHELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The automobile salesman is on the offensive. Urgency is in his voice.

Sales of new and used cars so far in 1954 are down from the volume of 1953—15 per cent, says a leading maker. "Layoff" is the ominous word around the auto plants.

Whatever the reason for hesitancy shown by the buying public—cold, wet weather is the announced cause in Winnipeg; just plain "hard to sell" is Toronto's admission—it is clear that the lush early post-war years are gone. Then, almost anything on wheels that ran found a ready buyer.

Prices have been cut, particularly in Toronto where new cars of the leading popular makes can be obtained for as much as $300 under list price. Reductions on higher-priced cars are greater.

Used-car lots are jammed. Prices are down from this time last year—$200 on the average, a cross country survey shows. "Name your own down payment" is the slogan running through advertisements. A Regina dealer offers a set of golf clubs with every car.

GIMMICKS VARIED

Gimmicks employed by the dealers in a buyer's market are many and varied. "Up to $695 worth of accessories free with every brand new 1954 car," announces a Toronto firm. Free radios, 100 gallons of gasoline or free seat covers are other inducements in this and other cities.

A total of 6,500 workers has been laid off by Ford Motor Company of Canada for varying periods. Of 2,500 laid off at Ford's Oakville, Ont., plant, 850 have been told that the layoff is indefinite.

Other companies have announced correspondingly severe layoffs and General Motors at Oshawa, Ont., while not yet ordering a shutdown, warns: "No company is entirely immune to industry-wide trends."

In a letter to employees, Ford president Rhys M. Sale said: "This shrinkage of the over-all market now has caught up with us, as it had already with some other companies, and we do not have enough orders ahead of us to support our present production schedules."

Labor leaders are angry. Charles McDonald, president of Ford Local 200 of the United Auto Workers of America (CIO-CCL) termed the Ford layoffs "more proof that the dog-eat-dog production race in the Canadian automobile industry has caught up with passenger car sales."

1,500 Doctors Attending Vancouver Meet

By KEN METHERAL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's medical profession launched an action-packed convention program today designed to protect and benefit the health of Canadians.

About 1,500 doctors, including some of the world's leading specialists were in attendance for opening sessions of the five-day 87th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

Major convention business today was proceeding behind closed doors at a meeting of the 150-member CMA general council.

In day-long sessions today and Tuesday, the council will consider reports of 16 special committees. The reports include such controversial subjects as fee splitting and fluoridation of drinking water.

DISCUSS INTERNES

Other reports will deal with the possibility of raising and broadening the standard of internship instruction for newly-graduated doctors; accreditation of hospitals; suitability of aluminum for cooking utensils and the possibility of making certain painkilling drugs available without prescription.

The reports, together with the CMA's stand on the questions, will be made public before the convention ends Friday. The first general association session will be held Wednesday under the chairmanship of CMA president C. W. Burns of Winnipeg.

While the council was considering the reports behind closed doors, rank and file association members launched an exhaustive clinical refresher program that includes more than 115 papers and panel discussions during the five days.

SPECIAL GROUPS MEET

Four specialist groups met today. Members of the Canadian Anaesthetists Society heard technical papers and talks from Dr. Alan B. Noble of Kingston, Ont., and Drs. Donalda M. H. Higgins and Lionel F. G. Cruikshank of Winnipeg. Addressing the Canadian Association of Pathologists were Dr. J. W. Macgregor of Edmonton, Dr. J. E. Pritchard of Montreal and Dr. John Hamilton, Toronto. The Canadian Psychiatric Association and the Canadian Rheumatism Association also held clinical discussions.

A feature of the clinical program was a colored television broadcast.

The broadcasts, which will continue Tuesday and Wednesday, allow doctors on the convention floor to watch operations at the Willow chest centre of Vancouver General Hospital two miles away.

5-Year Plan For South Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The UN Sunday night published a new five-year plan designed to make South Korea self-supporting by 1958 at a cost of $1,930,000,000, including $1,240,000,000 in UN and U.S. aid.

The plan covers the period between April 1, 1953 and March 31, 1958 and calls for sharp increases in agricultural output; mining, manufacturing and construction; 14-per-cent increase in food consumption with more barley, sweet potatoes and less rice in the diet; construction of 300,000 homes; 300-per-cent increase in electric power; encouragement of private enterprise, an increase of 800 per cent in exports, including more trade with Japan, and a "single realistic" exchange rate for the Korean won.

Writing Letters To Editors Popular Sport Among Britons

LONDON (Reuters)—A retired army colonel wakes one morning in a crabby mood and hears a butcher's boy whistling as he delivers the sausages.

"Why do errand boys have to make that ghastly noise?" he grouses to his wife. "I've a good mind to write to the Times about it."

A gentle spinster looks into her garden and sees an unusual species of bird.

"Oh, I must write to the Times about that," she says.

Throughout Britain today thousands of people have pen and ink out and are busy scribbling letters to the editor of the Times, or any other newspaper that publishes a column on correspondence from its readers.

EVERYBODY WRITES

The "letter-to-the-editor" habit has been an institution for many years. The correspondence column of the Times is undoubtedly the most famous of all. For nearly 180 years the humble and the great have been contributing to it whenever they felt they had something they wanted to say.

The first letter to the editor was published in the Times in its second issue in 1785. It was from Billy Bumper, who expressed his views on the drinking of toasts as "an easy and pleasant method of educating young men of fortune."

A few years ago someone signing himself "a Victorian" wrote to the Times to say: "To have a letter in your columns is felt to be the duty of the distinguished."

Certainly many of the great names of history and literature have felt that way about it.

FAMED CORRESPONDENTS

Charles Dickens, the author, wrote a fervent letter in 1849 against public executions.

In 1925 Benito Mussolini wrote to the Times: "It is not true that patriots are discontented," and "please note that Fascism counts 3,000,000 adherents."

Queen Victoria used the correspondence column for a personal message—as near an apology as a Queen can go—to her people.

The sovereign had gone into retirement, desolate at the death of her consort, Prince Albert. The people were complaining they wanted to see her more, and the Times gave them some support in an editorial.

Five days later, in 1864, a 400-word royal message was published. "The queen will do what she can in the manner least trying to her health, strength and spirits," it said.

NEW SONG-BIRD

In the midst of the Munich crisis in 1938, a letter appeared in the Times telling gently of the appearance of a new song-bird in the garden of 10 Downing street. It was signed "N. Chamberlain."

One of the most startling subjects for the dignified Times was bathing costumes.

A. P. Herbert (now Sir Alan Herbert), the author and humorist, asked: "Should men wear bathing trunks, or should they cover their manly chests?"

One reply, from authoress Rose MacAuley, was: "If men show their chests, then so must women."

To some people writing letters to the editors of newspapers is a lifelong hobby.

MOST PROLIFIC

Henry Bosworth, a 76-year-old Nottingham decorator wrote 6,234 letters to editors. When he died last year a letter from him appeared coincidentally in one newspaper alongside the announcement of his death.

A clergyman, Rev. J. B. Bacon-Phimmy, left all others in the shade. He had written more than 60,000 letters to editors when he died in 1938. More than 9,000 of them were published, mainly in the London News Chronicle.

His subjects ranged from his own moustache, which he suggested acted as a germ filter, to an agitation which resulted in the reprieve of a Swiss workman sentenced to death on a murder charge.

Another of his letters was partly responsible for the now-existing legislation which makes it illegal for children to be taken into public houses. His advice to letter writers was: "Hit the subject while it is hot, cut out padding."

Land Charge Said Ridiculous

SARNIA (CP)—D. J. Stonehouse said Sunday that a statement made Friday in the House of Commons by J. W. Murphy, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Lambton West, was "absolutely ridiculous."

Mr. Murphy said he thinks "there was something wrong somewhere" in land deals made by D. J. Stonehouse and Mayor W. C. Nelson of Sarnia.

He said Mr. Stonehouse bought Canadian National Railways property in nearby Point Edward "for $1 and other considerations" and recently sold it for $50,000 for a motel.

Mr. Stonehouse said he did buy property from the CNR but "I paid a lot more than $1 for it."

He declined to comment further on the statement.

Mayor Nelson said Saturday he made the highest bid for property at Point Edward and bought it for $10,500.

1,000 Students Staging Strike

SINGAPORE (AP)—A thousand students, staging the second sit-down strike at the Chung Cheng Chinese High School here in less than a month to protest compulsory military service, Sunday defied their parents and advisers.

The students clenched their fists and sang [illegible] songs when their parents and other Chinese leaders pleaded with them through loudspeakers to leave the barricaded school.

Student spokesmen said they would send the British colonial government a new demand for exemption from conscription. If it is not granted by Tuesday, they added, "We shall ask the government to jail 130 of us who are liable for national service."

TCS Students Get Message From Ghost

PORT HOPE, (CP) — Trinity College school students at their annual speech day exercises Saturday got a message of hope in the atomic age from the ghost of Sir William Osler.

It was relayed by Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, who said he had a chat with the ghost in the McGill University library where Osler's ashes are kept.

Standing before a panel concealing the urn, Dr. Penfield said, he asked:

"Willie Osler, will you not come back."

Dr. Penfield said there was a crash in the silent room and he picked up a book, opened at a page where Osler was describing himself to students at Yale University: "Mine are the most mediocre brains."

QUOTES VOICE

Later, Dr. Penfield said, the voice said:

"I don't know why there's so much fear of the A-bomb. It's kind of fun to be extinct."

"Have you a word for the boys" Dr. Penfield addressed the panel.

The voice, he said, seemed to come again:

"Don't let them be discouraged when they look at life. All things work together for good to them that love God. The right door will open for every young man."

Osler, famed Canadian physician and humanist scholar, died in 1919.

Baby 4, Suffers Extreme Heat Stroke

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A four-month-old baby girl was placed in an oxygen tent in hospital here Sunday because of an extreme heat stroke. Her condition was described as critical.

Police said the child, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman of Toronto, was left for about an hour in its bassinet in a parked car under a tree while its parents viewed the falls. They returned to discover the sun had shifted its position and was beating in on the infant.

Literary Style

LONDON (CP)—Paul Brickhill, author of "The Dam Busters" and "Reach for the Sky," wrote to friends about the birth of his son, Timothy: "He seems a pretty good first edition, very bold-face type, requiring extra end papers, well received by critics. No cereal rights yet."

Judge John de N. Kennedy dismissed the jury panel today, ending the general sessions of the peace and the jury sittings. Remaining cases, all civil, were either traversed or were given specific dates for trial.

LAST Y MEETING

The last meeting of the YMCA board of directors before the summer recess will be held tonight with president Stanley Payne in the chair. The board will discuss tentative plans for the fall, current activities, and camps Kawartha and Pow-Wow. Kawartha camp director Bill McFarlane reports only 20 vacancies for this camp, all in the first week before school closes. Other weeks are "booked solid."

More than 500 people saw the stage and screen show which was provided free by the entertainers. There were also donations of candy, soft drinks and other products.

Feeley Jailed Two Months, May Appeal

Geoffrey (Gyp) Feeley, taxi owner of 1035 Western Ave, today received a two-months prison sentence after being convicted on a bootlegging charge.

Feeley pleaded not guilty to the charge when evidence was heard last week. His counsel today intimated that the sentence would be appealed. Meanwhile Feeley also faces a charge of dangerous driving, which has been adjourned until next Monday.

The charge followed charges of theft made against a hotel clerk on April 16, sequel to about $400 being taken from the Empress hotel. Wilfred Phillips, a taxi driver had taken the alleged thief and a woman to Oshawa April 15. On the way a bottle of whisky had been purchased, allegedly from Feeley.

Main witnesses for the Crown in the case against Feeley were the taxi driver and the woman, Rose McGuirk.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in delivering judgement today, said that he placed more weight on the testimony of Phillips, who stated that Feeley had sold the bottle of whisky to the occupants in the cab. Mrs. McGuirk said that she had been unable to identify the man who had produced the bottle.

The magistrate added that he felt sure the bottle of whisky was purchased pursuant to arrangements made at Feeley's house.

Aircraft Takes Cover From Storm

2 Occupants Safe; Companion Plans Return To Toronto

A violent electrical storm Saturday forced a light seaplane with two Peterborough men aboard to take shelter at Frenchman's Bay, about 20 miles east of Toronto.

Gordon Griffin, the pilot, and a friend, Gordon Colmer, were returning to Peterborough accompanied by another aircraft, flown by Harry Oakman, when it made the forced landing. They had been to the national air show in Toronto.

"It was the worst storm I was ever out in," said Griffin today when he explained that they dropped down for "safety's sake."

"We didn't want to attempt going back and the bay's a pretty good place to go into," he added.

Meanwhile Oakman turned back for Toronto and managed to reach there safely. The flight was a bumpy one. Throughout the 20-mile trip, he had to keep his hand above his head to keep from being jolted up against the ceiling and knocked out.

When Oakman reached Toronto, he believed Griffin and Colmer were in trouble because they did not arrive back with him. He had thought they had also turned back.

But Griffin had dropped down "on a puddle about the size of the one at Skyboro" which turned out to be the mouth of a small river.

"We tied up there near a 30-foot wall, out of the wind and storm."

When the lightning and wind let up, the two flew through the rain for another five miles to Frenchman's bay where they reported home that they were safe. They spent the night there with people and then came home Sunday.

Collide On Cottage Rd. Woman Slightly Hurt

Mrs. W. Charlton McBride, 56, of 16 Manning Ave., had her left arm slightly injured Sunday night when the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a collision on the Fife's Bay road at Lake Chemong.

With her husband, Mrs. McBride was driving east when they were in collision with a car pulling out of a side road. This car, a 1938 model, was driven by Thaddeus Kock, 78 Sophia St.

Kock told police he could not see the McBride car because of trees which densely cover the side of the road. The cars collided in the centre of the road.

The Kock car was damaged on the right front fender and grill, the McBride car on the left front fender and hood. Total damages were $200.

The accident, which took place at 6:15 Sunday night, was investigated by OPP Const. T. H. Armstrong.

Summer Cottage Destroyed When Lightning Strikes

A summer cottage on Chandos lake was struck by lightning during a thunderstorm Saturday night and burned to the ground.

The cottage, seven miles northeast of Apsley, was on the south side of Chandos lake. It was owned by Mrs. J. Smith, of Drummond Ave., Niagara Falls, but was unoccupied at the time.

Two boats were among the few things saved.

The storm, early Saturday night, knocked out the hydro power in the district for a time.

Hard Cash Payment

Harry Goodman, who has a garage and used car business on Highway 7, East, found he had his hands full on Saturday when a customer paid off. The buyer in part payment, gave him $400 in 50-cent pieces. The money was in a white sack and weighed about 20 pounds. It wasn't just a gag. The buye of the 49-model Chevrolet has a hobby of collecting 50-cent pieces and Harry proved to be the beneficiary of his savings.

Plan Spending $143,000 Forestry Areas

Funds authorized for expenditure by the department of lands and forests in Lindsay and Tweed forestry districts total $143,000 for 1954. This will make possible the starting of several new projects as well as the completion of numerous carry-over programs from the 1953 season.

Plans have been submitted to Queen's Park by regional forester W. B. Greenwood. He is awaiting final sanction and expects to receive it this week.

TWO JUNIOR CAMPS

In the Lindsay forestry district there will be two junior ranger camps for 14 boys each. Permanent camp sites are being established at Apsley and Mississauga dam at the outlet at Gull lake.

Besides being engaged in the clearing of bush telephone lines and erection of these communication systems the boys will work at improving two public parking lots at the east and west ends of Kosh lake. They will spend $1,000 on these projects. The boys will also work on a parking lot and camping site at the Mississauga dam where $2,000 is to be spent.

Some other projects will be: improving the grounds and moving buildings at the Codrington trout hatchery and pheasant-rearing farm; the erection of three steel fire towers at a total cost of $7,000 in Hindon township, Victoria county, in Ayre township in Haliburton and in Haldimand township in Northumberland county.

NEW HEADQUARTERS

Some $5,000 will be spent on new department headquarters at Haliburton village and $7,000 on a new addition to the chief ranger's headquarters building at Gooderham. Two new docks are to be built at Eel's lake and will cost about $300. Improvements to the water system and storage buildings at Minden will cost approximately $2,000.

Two junior ranger camps will be located in the Tweed forestry district at Plevna and at Mazinaw lake where, in addition to the cutting of communication lines, improvements will be made to public campsites at Mazinaw, Papineau and Loughborough lakes; $700 will be spent on the three projects. A garage and storage shed to cost $5,000 will be erected at Tweed forestry headquarters.

Tough Youngster

BALDOCK, England (CP)—Children halted the playground merry-go-round in this Hertfordshire town by stealing its ball-bearings to use as ammunition in catapults.

Demonstration Boat Stolen From Wharf

Grand weather and the lure of boating proved too much for someone Saturday. Some time in the early hours of the morning he helped himself to a $150 craft from the George St. wharf.

Dit Clapper, who owns a sports shop in the city, had been giving boat demonstrations Friday afternoon, and one of his 12-foot boats was left at the wharf overnight. Saturday morning he discovered that it had not been left overnight . . . it was gone.

So far police have not been able to locate the craft.

BACKED UP AGAINST a back porch, these two cars met in a near head-on collision at Bolivar and Park streets Saturday evening. The car on the left was driven by Don Farren, 18, of 511 Cross St., who was cut about the elbow and George C. Wilson, 26, of 523 Bolivar St., who had been about to make a left turn into Bolivar St. He was unhurt. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Cyclist, Two Men Injured In Weekend City Accidents

Three men were injured, one fairly seriously, in two major traffic collisions in the city over the weekend. Three other vehicle collisions caused a total of about $650 damage, but no persons were injured.

An elderly cyclist, 67-year-old Nick DeCarlo, 583 Downie St., suffered quite serious head injuries and concussion when he was involved in a collision with a car at McDonnel and Stewart streets about 8:45 p.m. Saturday. DeCarlo was struck by the front of the car, and then catapulted onto the pavement at the rear.

The car, driven by Harold Nicholls, 48, of 402 McDonnel St., sustained a smashed windshield.

It is understood that the car was proceeding west on McDonnel St. when the accident occurred. The cyclist was travelling in the opposite direction. At the time of the smash it was raining heavily. The injured man was taken to the nearby home of W. Armstrong, 517 Stewart, to await the arrival of City ambulance.

De Carlo was then taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition today was reported as being satisfactory.

Constable H. Andrew investigated.

TWO CAR CRASH

Two youths suffered injuries in a two-car smash at Bolivar and Park streets about 7.10 p.m. Saturday. They were Ken Asling, 17, of 246 Antrim St., and Don Farren, 18, of 511 Cross St. Asling suffered injuries to his right shoulder and shock. Farren received cuts on his elbow. They were admitted to St. Joseph's hospital, but were released on Sunday.

The cars involved were being driven by George C. Wilson, 26, of 523 Bolivar St., and Don Farren.

Police report that Wilson was about to make a left turn when the Farren car met in collision with it, driving the two of them against a rear porch. No damage was done to the porch. Constables Harold Andrew and J. Hayes investigated.

The other collision which occurred Saturday was at Aylmer and Simcoe streets. Cars driven by Miss G. Hogan, 420 Rubidge St., and James A. Barcroft, of Lakehurst, collided, causing only minor damage.

Constable L. Rodreque investigated.

On Sunday, William Brealy, 487 Chamberlain St., and Matt Berg, R.R. 1, Peterborough, were driving cars which collided at Simcoe and Aylmer streets.

Constables Edward Patterson and Edward Niziol investigated.

Later the same day a car driven by John Daly, 207 Stewart St., left the pavement at Rubidge and Townsend streets and smashed into a steel pole. Daly escaped unharmed, but the car sustained fairly severe damage.

Not Prizes Won But Knowledge Gained Counts

Success is not a matter of prizes won but knowledge gained, Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, told the graduating class of the Lakefield Preparatory school Saturday afternoon.

Mankind is split between "life-enhancing" and "life-diminishing" people, said Mr. Davies. The former are those who realize that self-realization and the pursuit of happiness are not selfish goals, but are of primary importance to civilization.

Boarding-school life gives students a chance to learn through mingling with others. This, he said, is an advantage not so easily attained by those who live at home.

The year's activities at the school were reviewed by the headmaster, G. Winder Smith. Among the guests were R. J. C. Pringle of Toronto, chairman of the board of governors.

Because of the rain, the closing exercises were held in the assembly hall instead of out-of-doors.

PRESENTED PRIZES

Mrs. Robertson Davies presented the proficiency prizes to the following boys:

Red Patch Club Entertains Originals Club Of Toronto

Members of the Red Patch Club were hosts Sunday to the Originals Club of Toronto at the Red Patch's convalescent camp on Eel's creek, Burleigh township.

A roast beef dinner was served to an all-male group of 200. Among them were 46 members of the Originals Club who came by bus from Toronto for the annual get together.

An afternon of entertainment followed. A number of the visitors took advantage of the warm sunny day to go swimimng in the creek.

Storm Routs Campers From Their Beds

A brief, violent electrical storm lashed the Peterborough district early Saturday evening, but caused little damage except to the spirits of some hopeful citizens camping out-of-doors near Lakefield.

The campers bedded down for the night, were soon washed away and sloshed into Peterborough to stay with relatives.

A chimney at 535 Patterson St. will have to be rebuilt as a result of the storm. Firemen responded to a call at 7:05 p.m. when lightning struck Mrs. M. L. Scott's chimney, but there was no fire.

"We are doing a lot of running, but there was nothing serious," says Robert Aspinall of the rural transformers, and there was "the Hydro. Lightning struck two usual crop of scattered trouble calls." Most of the calls were for individual fuses blown.

The city fared better. Utilities Commission manager Howard Powell reports no trouble. Power was off for a while while switches were being changed at the Aylmer St. substation, but this was not a result of the storm.

Hanes Folk Cleans Up With Monster Pickerel

The Irwin Hanes family of 784½ George St., N., tangled with a lot of grandaddy pickerel on the Madawaska river, east of Bancroft, on Friday evening.

Irwin got three that scaled 11 pounds, 11 ounces; 10 pounds, 9 ounces, and seven pounds even. His son, Glenn, who accompanied him, had to be satisfied with a 6-pound, 8-ouncer. They had the fish frozen and brought them back to the city to show friends (a) what real fishermen could produce; (b) that the Combermere country, as far as fishing is concerned, is second to none.

Jailed Five Months For Novel Scheme Of Express Thefts

A former assistant CNR agent at Lakefield, 23-year-old Harvey Maynard Schutt, of Detlor township, was today sentenced to five months definite and four indefinite imprisonment in an Ontario reformatory.

On June 3 Schutt pleaded guilty to the theft of about $3,000 worth of goods from the CNR yards at Lakefield. The thefts were made during the latter part of 1953 and early in 1954. His alleged system, described by Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, as "unique and very nearly successful," was to order goods from outside firms and remove them from the trucks. Sometimes the shipping dockets would be placed in the files and the goods later reported lost in transit.

The goods, which included a tractor, were then taken by Schutt to his father's farm at Detlor.

After Schutt was convicted, his counsel, K. G. M. Ross, of Belleville, entered a strong plea, supported by numerous character witnesses, for probation instead of a prison sentence.

CONSIDERED CAREFULLY

Magistrate Philp said today that he had given the matter considerable thought, but had reached the conclusion that punishment must be in the form of imprisonment.

He said that probation was given in cases with a hope for reformation.

"There is no doubt that this man has a good past record and is held in high regard in his own district," said Mr. Philp. "I can assure you that the possibility of probation has been seriously considered.

"At the same time probation is not a matter of mathematical determination. It is a move that should be given consideration in these cases, but it should not be granted without some basis in theory and thought. Otherwise, it would kill itself and be a failure."

The magistrate also quoted from an official pamphlet dealing with probation, which had regard to persons placed in positions of trust, such as policemen, postmen and railway employees. In cases of theft from an employer, the public was peculiarly helpless.

WOULD FAVOR WEALTHY

"In the case of Schutt, full restitution has been made," continued Mr. Philp. However, we cannot place consideration of probation on restitution only, because the scales would be tipped in favor of the wealthy persons, who perhaps would not find it difficult to pay back what they had stolen."

Under the circumstances the magistrate said he could not grant probation.

Warsaw Church Marks Its Centennial

Centennial service of St. Mark's church (Anglican) Warsaw, Saturday was attended by a large congregation, who included many people from the city and surrounding district.

The historic note was dominant not only at the service but in the discussion afterward as the members of the congregation were entertained at tea by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Cobb, who recently acquired a home in Warsaw.

The service was conducted by the rector, the Rev. Lloyd J. Delaney of Lakefield, with an interesting sermon by the special preacher, Rev. J. L. Hughes of Toronto, a former incumbent at Warsaw.

Mr. Hughes recounted experiences of his earlier days, about the time when the horse and buggy was being pushed off the map by the motor-driven "speed monster".

Surpliced members of the Lakefield choir lent their voices pleasingly.

Preponderant in the congregation of course, were Dummer people, most of them being descendants of pioneer settlers in the township. Among those present were Miss Florence M. Burnham and Mrs. A. S. Nickles of Peterborough. Reference was made by the rector to the presence of these granddaughters of the Rev. Mark Burnham, who was the first incumbent of St. Marks'. Their great grandfather, the Hon. Baccheus Burnham, was donor of the church and cemetery sites.

Appreciative reference was made also by the rector to the special article and photograph in The Examiner of Saturday, throwing light on some phases of the history of St. Mark's.

Visitors manifested interest in the hilltop cemetery. A cemetery decoration day will be held Sunday, June 27, 3 p.m.

Rochester Has James Address Graduates

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP)—Rochester University's new program designed to strengthen the ties of understanding between Canada and the United States had an official launching Sunday with Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, addressing the annual commencement here.

The Montreal educationist was the first Canadian visitor since Rochester's special courses on Canadian-American relations were announced this year. The program, designed to make Rochester an American centre on the economic and cultural development of Canada, has been placed under a full-time director, Dr. Ronald W. Gilbert.

Dr. Gilbert, formerly vice-president of the university, will conduct, in addition to his administrative duties, a new undergraduate course on Canadian business and economics. The program calls for prominent teachers and scholars from Canadian universities to be invited to act for limited periods as visiting professors.

Dr. James was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws. He said the main challenge confronting their generation today is "that of securing for mankind . . . some parts of the 'inalienable rights': Life and liberty."

Communism could never be stopped by "police investigations."

JACKIE KIRKLAND, his arms and legs paralyzed at birth, mastered penmanship with a pencil in his mouth. He writes school themes, letters and maintains a full course of study.

SEESAWING on the school playground is good sport for Jackie Kirkland — with just a wee bit of ever-present help from his pal, Howard Edgar.

Handicapped? — Not Me Says Lad Paralyzed In Legs, Arms Since Birth

Behind the wheel chair bearing Jackie Kirkland raced four shouting, laughing youngsters. It was time for afterschool fun. Jackie laughed, too, as they sped his chair across the school ground, plunged it into a ravine, then up the sharp slope to the road. To Jackie, it was just like riding a steer in a rodeo. And for a cowboy whose arms and legs have been paralyzed since birth, it took real riding skill. But Jackie is no ordinary cowboy. A blithe, confident 13-year-old, he's the favorite of rural Tripp Long Creek School, near Mesquite, a Dallas, Tex., suburb. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkland. Not for a minute has he ever weighed his handicaps against the demands of the world. Head-on and smiling, he has met every challenge. Unable to use his fingers or arms, he became an expert penman by wielding a pencil with his teeth. Also with his teeth he turns the pages of his school books. He even takes a turn in the school-yard marble game by propelling an agate from his mouth. He's so popular with his seventh-grade schoolmates that they compete for chances to help him. It got so that his teacher had to rule that only boys who kept their work up could have the privilege. Mrs. Kirkland says: "Jackie does most anything anybody else does—nearly. My husband and I have never helped him—made him do for himself."

SPEEDING across the school ground with a favorite mate Jackie Kirkland is just after-school fun for Richard Kirkland, behind wheel chair; Randy Stiager, Howard Edgar and Jerry Hammond.

Fatally Injured

OTTAWA (CP) — Thomas N. Flannery, 70, of Ottawa was fatally injured Sunday night when struck by a small truck while crossing a street.

Needing More Town Planners

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian centres, especially the smaller ones, need more town planners, the Community Planning Association said today in opening Community Planning Week.

Between now and the end of the week local branches of the association across the country will sponsor planning institutes, group discussions, public lectures and other activities in what it frankly admits is an effort "to attract converts to the cause of community planning."

Jacques Simard, executive director of the association, said in a statement that a national survey by the association, which was formed in 1947 to foster public interest and participation in community planning, showed that only one-third of Canadian communities with a population over 5,000 have taken any steps toward planning their own development.

Has Discomforting Memories Of Canada

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Richard Burton, the young Welshman who said no to a $1,000,000 Hollywood movie contract, has three distinct and discomforting memories of Canada.

Relaxing in a pub across from the famed Old Vic theatre, where he stars in five Shakespeare plays for £45 a week, the brilliant, 28-year-old actor recounted his Canadian recollections:

1. A broken nose suffered in Portage la Prairie, Man., at the hands of an unknown soldier.

2. "The terrible, terrible heat and the miles on miles of brown dirt."

3. The lack of legitimate theatres.

POPULAR ACTOR

Burton, hailed as the best young romantic actor since Sir Laurence Olivier and veteran of a string of successful plays and films, picked up his painful Canadian impressions nine years ago during a summer's training as an RAF navigator at Portage la Prairie.

He grinned broadly recalling the incident which left him with the second smashed nose of his career.

"I was eating in a restaurant and I happened to complain about my steak. A Canadian soldier heard me and said, 'You're lucky to have steak at all, you limey blankety-blank.' That started it off.

"He caught me a 'beaut,' a real cracker, and my nose was around here." He pointed to a spot on his right cheek.

"They managed to straighten it out all right though, and I only have a small bump on the bridge."

The heat, the dirt and scarcity of theatres showed up when Burton, on leave, hitch-hiked from Winnipeg to New York, landing back in Moncton, N.B., two weeks late.

As the second youngest in a family of 11 in the south Wales village of Pontrhydyfen, he made up his mind not to follow his six brothers into the coal mines. He turned to boxing.

For his first fight, at 17, he earned 10s 6d. In his second, his nose was broken for the first time and he quit the ring for good.

Born Richard Walter Jenkins, he changed his name on the advice of a teacher who suggested the Jenkins name would type the youth for Welsh roles only.

In 1949, Burton married a young Welsh actress, Sybil Williams, and went into Christopher Fry's "The Lady's not for Burning" in London. In 1950 he joined Sir John Gielgud to take "The Lady's not for Burning" to New York.

Hollywood was the next stop, to play opposite Olivia de Havilland in "My Cousin Rachel."

"In Hollywood they called me 'hot,'" Burton said. "I was offered more money than at one time I knew existed. They couldn't understand why I turned it down."

But he did reject the offers, including one of a $1,000,000 10-year contract. He made several films in America ending with "The Robe," but returned overseas to play Hamlet at the 1953 Edinburgh Festival.

Since last September, he has been working some 14 hours a day rehearsing and playing in Shakespearian plays at the Old Vic. The run ended May 29.

After a holiday Burton will go to Hollywood for another year's filming and then return to Britain to make more movies one of which will probably be "Reach for the Sky," the story of Douglas Bader, legless air ace of the Second World War.

Plan Fast Move on Nature To Save Rare Cahow Bird

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Ornithologists are plotting a fast one on Mother Nature in order to save for posterity the remnants of the rare cahow bird.

Believed practically extinct for 300 years because, for one thing, it flies only at night and thus escapes observation, the cahow was rediscovered in the islands only three years ago. It is grey and white, is a cousin of the petrel, nests in burrows and makes a noise like "cahow."

With the bird probably reduced in numbers to a few dozen, it seemed likely that rats were feasting on eggs or young. But this spring a young American conservationist, Richard Thorsell, working with Louis Mowbray, curator of the government acquarium and zoo in Bermuda, put his finger on the long-tailed tropic bird as the villain in the case.

Tropic birds come here to nest in April, well after the cahows have laid their single eggs. Following the dictates of nature in seeking nesting sites themselves, the tropic birds invade the cahow burrows, find unprotected young, do away with them and take over the nests. Three of four cahow chicks hatched this year on the small island where Thorsell kept vigil were destroyed in this way.

The tropic bird is slightly larger than the cahow. Thorsell figures that by installing wooden baffles two inches high and five inches wide at the burrow mouths he can set aside the law of beak and claw by keeping the tropic birds out while letting the cahows in.

There's a possibility, of course, that the cahows will be baffled too.

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Percy Campbell with a good attendance of members and visitors.

The president Mrs. C. E. Meiklejohn presided over the meeting.

The highlight of the meeting was the report of the pre-assembly congress held in Toronto last week in St. Andrew's Presbytery church there.

Mrs. Meiklejohn reported on the missionary outlook of the church as the delegate from this congregation.

She said there were speakers there from various countries, two from Scotland, one from the United States, one from India and speakers from various parts of Canada.

She stated that the Rev. Massih from India made the plain statement in India church denomination must unite in order to be effective.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostess.

Exiles Believe Guatemala To Oust Reds

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Guatemalan exiles, eager for their country to throw off its leftist government, say 1954 is "the year of independence from Russian imperialism."

Their leader is a 40-year-old, slender, soft-spoken former lieutenant-colonel in the Guatemalan army, Carlos Castillo Armas. He calls his resistance movement the Anti-Communist Front of Guatemalans in Exile.

Castillo Armas keeps silent on any plans he may have to end the regime of Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. But he said in an interview that a "tiny spark" of uprising within the country could trigger a revolt ofthe entire resistance organization, both inside and outside Guatemala.

ENEMY NO. 1

"I am certain that 90 per cent of the people in Guatemala are thoroughly ready to rise up and fight against the government," Guatemalan officials say they attack no importance to Castillo Armas. But the colonel's followers call him the Red-tinged government's No. 1 enemy in exile.

In November, 1950, he led a revolt against the government. His meager forces attacked the military garrison at the airport near the capital. They seized the guard and planned to capture the garrison commanders. But an officer working with Castillo Armas failed to bring up his troops in time, and the garrison forces riddled the attackers. Twelve men were killed and 10 captured, including Castillo Armas.

After more than seven months in prison, he tunnelled his way out and escaped to Honduras.

SIAMESE TWINS—Siamese twin boys sleep in a transparent incubator at St. Boniface, Man., hospital. They were born to Mrs. Yvonne Mousseau, 29, as part of a triple birth. The third boy, normal and healthy, is held by a nurse, Mrs. Lenore Pendergast, of Winnipeg.—(CP Photo).

Dutch Twins Separated By Operation

LEEUWARDEN, Netherlands (CP)—Folkje de Vries, one of the Dutch Siamese twins separated in an operation here Saturday, smiled at her nurses today.

She and her sister Tsjitske were both reported "reasonably well" after a quiet night. Folkje and Tsjitske, seven-month-old daughters of a Frisian island laborer and his wife, are being fed on milk and water.

After the operation they missed each other so much that they had to be put in the same cot. Then they were much calmer, doctors said.

The twin girls were separated in a 70-minute operation. The seven-month-old babies were joined at the abdomen for a distance of 3½ inches but had completely separate sets of organs. Their surgeon said the operation had proved the girls could live separately.

CANADIAN TWINS DEAD

They were operated on a day before Siamese twin boys, born to the wife of a Winnipeg railway man Thursday as part of a triple birth, died. The Canadian infants had a common pelvis and shared a number of vital organs.

The third baby, also a boy, was normal and healthy at birth and now is reported in "very good condition."

Mousseau, 29, She and her husband have two other children.

STOCKPORT, England (CP)—The engineering firm of Thomas Storey Ltd., manufacturers of the pre-fabricated Bailey bridge which was used extensively in the Second World War, has received a £168,000 order for pontoons from the Canadian government.

Canada Will Transfer 110 Jets To Middle East

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is going to transfer 110 more Sabre jet fighters to Greece and Turkey, the RCAF announced today.

This country already has agreed to send 54 Sabres to Greece and Turkey this summer and fall as mutual aid under the North Atlantic Treaty. When all the planes have been transferred each country will have 82 of the Canadian aircraft.

The planes will be equipped with a spare engine each and, the RCAF said, another 195 spare engines will be included in the transfer to each country.

The jet fighters, scheduled to be transferred from among those used by Canada's 12 squadrons stationed in Europe to make way for a newer version of the Sabre, will be reconditioned in the United Kingdom before delivery to Greece and Turkey.

Democrats Policy Stalls Move To Strip McCarthy Of Chairmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hands-off policy adopted by the United States Senate Democratic leadership has apparently all but doomed a move by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep. Vt.) to strip Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin of his investigating chairmanships.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has already made it abundantly clear that, as a representative of the administration, he does not want to move against the Wisconsin Republican in the way Flanders suggested on the floor of the Senate Friday.

However, a remaining key factor, in a Senate where Democrats outnumber Republicans 48 to 47, was the attitude to be taken by the other Republicans.

While Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, would make no public statement on the issue, he was reliably reported today to have told party colleagues he regards McCarthy as a "Republican problem."

Apparently Johnson is advising Democrats not to give any encouragement to Flanders, who has said he will move by mid-July for action on a motion to strip McCarthy of his chairmanship unless the Wisconsin senator answers questions raised in 1952 by a Senate elections sub-committee about his financial affairs.

SAID RARE STEP

The Flanders motion, which could be called up by any senator at any time, would remove McCarthy as chairman of the government operations committee, as well as head of its investigations sub-committee. Such a step is rare in Senate history.

McCarthy termed Flanders' criticism of him a "smear," and said the Vermont senator may be senile.

So far only one senator, John S. Cooper of Kentucky, a Republican, has publicly lined up behind Flanders' move.

Democratic leaders are said to feel that any time the Republican leadership wants to try to chastise McCarthy it can have Democratic help. But many Senate precedents and customs are involved which the Democrats don't want to upset for fear that if or when they return to control of the Senate they might face a challenge to their own organization control.

Gen. Nogues Gives Self Up

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Auguste Nogues, sentenced in his absence in 1947 to 20 years hard labor for wartime collaboration with the Germans, arrived here today under guard after giving himself up to French authorities.

Nogues, 77, who had been in exile in Portugal since 1943, crossed the Franco-Spanish frontier Sunday night. His return means that he will automatically face a new trial.

The general was surrounded by six police inspectors when he arrived in Paris by train this morning. His aged wife and his lawyers were on the platform. He went immediately to the high court offices to give himself up.

Nogues was appointed resident-general in Morocco in 1936 and continued to hold the post under the Vichy government after the 1940 armistice.

After taking command of the French forces in Morocco during the Allied landings in 1942, he joined the Imperial French committee set up by Admiral Joseph Darlan.

Waterfront Quiet In Stevedore Row

TORONTO (CP)—All was quiet today on the Toronto waterfront where a week-end dispute over stevedoring raised a threat of violence.

A special police guard was on hand when cargo-handlers reported for work.

Two groups of stevedores, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC), refused Friday and Saturday to unload the Canuck Line package freighter Falco. They said they took the action, without authority of their union, because two union stewards were dismissed over a brawl.

Edwin B. Reid Trucker Dies In Hospital

A lifetime resident of Peterborough who built up the Reid's Transfer business, 58-year-old Edwin Burton Reid, of 709 George St. N., died in hospital here today. He had been ill for the last three months.

He became konwn to many local people through his mail contract. For 19 years he had the exclusive contract for Peterborough, meeting all mail-carrying trains.

The business, now known as Reid's Transfer, was originally Reid's Baggage Transfer; later "Baggage" was dropped from the name.

It was started by his father, the late Alexander Reid, and they first operated with horses and wagons. The business eventually expanded so that at present they have nine trucks and tractors.

Mr. Reid was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Reid. He was born in Peterborough and lived his life here apart from service overseas with the mechanical transport division of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

He was educated at the north ward school and was a member of Murray Street Baptist church.

Besides his widow, the former Cleta May Long, he leaves four sons—Donald, Maxwell, Howard and Teddy, of Peterborough; three daughters, Mrs. E. Gibson (Helen) of Montreal, Mrs. L. Spinks (Jean), and Mrs. J. Rollins (Betty) of Peterborough; a brother, Ernest Reid, of Peterborough; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Lockington (Hattie), and Mrs. Bert Lockington (Annie),, both of Peterborough; and 11 grandchildren.

The funeral will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday, at the Kaye funeral home, the Rev. C. G. Boyd, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, officiating in the absence of the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray Street Baptist church. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Half-Cent Gas Reduction

TORONTO (CP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. announced today a one-half-cent reduction in the wholesale price of its regular grade of gasoline, Esso, effective immediately across Canada.

Esso Extra, the company's premium gasoline, remains unchanged in price.

The company said whether the cut will be passed on to consumers is up to individual retail dealers who set their own prices. Average retail price in Toronto was 41.5 cents before the reduction.

The price cut was a reflection of a more highly competitive market, a company spokesman said.

Swamp Cattail Has Many Scientific Uses

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A Syracuse University research team says the common cattail that grows in swampy areas "is a potential gold mine" of raw material for industrial and scientific uses.

The scientists say its many possible uses range from tasty cookies to "cattail likker."

Dr. Ernest Reed, chairman of the university's plant sciences department, and Leland C. Marsh, primary investigator in the department's cattail research centre, say they have turned up nearly a dozen uses for the weed.

They say the root or rhizome can be eaten like a potato or ground into a flour. They did this and baked cookies. The flour also could be used as a substitute for corn starch, fermented to produce ethyl alcohol or used for growing molds from which antibiotics are produced, the scientists report.

FOR WAX AND WHISKEY

They say the steam has long been used to caulk the ends of barrels. The leaves have been used in making rush furniture.

Marsh says he has extracted soft fibres from the stems and leaves by treating them chemically and that the fibres could be used for string and webbing, as jute is used.

The flower or fluff can be used to stuff lifejackets, baseballs and mattresses and was used this way during the war.

The drying oil like linseed can be drawn from the seeds and Marsh thinks it could be refined for cooking. A wax can be made from the seeds and the meal remaining could be used for cattle or chicken feed.

Marsh says the uses he cites are not all new. In his research he has turned up information that: Russia has been using the cattail as a source of food. The French made ethyl alcohol from the stems. And the Romanians have used the cattail to refine a "people's whisky."

Strain Of Home Decorating Drives Some Women Crazy

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—The strain of decorating the home can make some women neurotic or, more plainly, balmy, says Dr. Milton B. Sapirstein, New York psychiatrist.

"The job seems in many ways to be as tough on some women's nerves as war is on men's, and it's a rare woman who has no minor crisis from it, he says.

Decoration of the home seems to be one of the great challenges to a woman's feminity, he told the American Psychoanalytic Association.

It can involve many conflicts and aspects of her personality. The stresses and strains may revive old neurotic conflicts and trigger off upsets ranging from mild anxiety to full-fledged schizophrenic breakdowns.

"A MORTAL ENEMY"

Dr. Sapirstein writes: "All of a woman's problems in relation to her sexual acceptance of herself may become reflected in the process of setting up a home."

Whether she should decorate in straight or rounded lines, antiques or modern furniture, can involve her own attitude toward herself, her ways of dress, her own curves or lack of them, whether she's oldfashioned or modern herself.

And she may become involved in the decorating process with feminine-type men or aggressive women who add to her problems, or encounter "an assortment of paranoid workmen such as house painters who look upon every woman as a mortal enemy."

If her mother is helping her, there may be a boiling up of some old, buried antagonisms between mother and daughter.

She's spending a lot of money, so she may worry about that and be plunged into financial quarrels with her husband.

DECORATING IS KEY

Her problems may impel her to take out some of her feelings upon her husband, accusing him of being indifferent about how the home looks, being too stingy or too practical, or lacking cultural appreciation, Dr. Sapirstein adds.

If the husband tries to meet such criticisms by taking a more active part in the decorating problem, he may be accused of being domineering. That can precipitate a quarrel, and decorating becomes a home - wrecking rather than home-building project.

Decorating is a challenge to a woman's creativity, especially if she is proud of her artistic talents, Dr. Sapirstein says. She realizes everyone is expecting a lot of her, and that other women may relish any mistakes she makes. Some women therefore never quite finish decorating their homes, or else do the job all over again every few years.

Silent Allies In Red Lands

TORONTO (CP)—George Drew, national Progressive Conservative leader, said Sunday night the West has silent allies behind the Iron Curtain, "waiting for the free peoples of the world to join their strength to give freedom to those who want it."

At least 700,000,000 of the 800,000,000 people in Soviet satellite nations are as strongly opposed to communism as are Canadians, he told a gathering commemorating the fall of the Baltic states to Russia in 1941. More than 500 Estonians, Lithuanians and Latvians attended at Massey Hall.

Mr. Drew urged New Canadians to keep their culture alive by preservation of their national tongues, and to take an active part in provincial and federal affairs.

"Those of you who know communism for what it really is should tell other Canadians. Tell them what this vile slavery really amounts to."

Creating a fresh breeze a mile underground

Before long, in Inco's Creighton Mine, that portion a mile or more underground will become a hive of industry as men and machines begin to burrow a network of passages around and into the ore.

But first, provision must be made for the health, safety and comfort of the men. Fresh air is vital. So, from the present mine workings, a shaft 13 feet in diameter is being cut straight down through solid rock to a point more than a mile below the surface. Its upper end will connect with another airway to the surface. Through this shaft, all smoothly cemented like a silo, 350,000 cubic feet of air per minute will be forced down into the lower workings of the mine.

Officers' Wives Hold Tea Guests Tour Armouries

Red, white and blue provided the color theme of the military tea held Saturday afternoon.

Carnations in red and white and blue irises set on a red tablecloth made up the tea-table centerpiece.

Sponsored by the officer's wives of the 50th HAA regiment, the tea took place in the officers' mess of the armories. Ladies in bright, gay cotton and silk prints gave a new look to the armories. The now popular cartwheel hats in black and pink were worn by many.

Approximately 150 attended the tea and were taken on a tour of the armories. They were shown the "family silver," that is, the varied shaped and freshly polished trophies won by the regiment.

A trophy received in 1894 was won by the regiment in a competition of the Canadian Military Rifle League. Another one, the "Die Hard" trophy, in shape and size like a fountain, was presented by the Duke of Cambridge's own Middlesex regiment, in commemoration of affiliation with the Peterborough regiment in 1911.

Also on display were red-coated uniforms worn before the First World War and souvenirs picked up from the Zulu and Boer wars right up to the last war. Visitors were also taken to the gunner's mess which the men had recently redecorated.

Proceeds of the tea will go to redecorating the officers' mess.

Receiving guests were Mrs. D. Metheral and Mrs. Frank Frape. Co-conveners of the tea were Mrs. D. Whittaker and Mrs. L. Gilders. Mrs. W. Graff, Mrs. A. L. Heldman, Mrs. K. Kingston, Mrs. E. Nichols, Mrs. H. Willis and Mrs. N. Gemmell were hostesses.

Pouring tea were Mrs. C. Stuart, Mrs. M. Clarke, Mrs. G. Melton, Mrs. W. G. Hall, and servers were Mrs. I. Taylor, convener of the serving committee, Miss Grace Sharp, Miss Louise Spriggs, Mrs. H. Ball, Mrs. D. Barringer, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. H. Cardwell, Mrs. L. Foster, Mrs. T. Hefferman, Mrs. R. Reid, Mrs. J. Rex, Mrs. T. Stanley, Mrs. T. Tomsette, and Mrs. R. Allin, Mrs. J. Gillespie, and Mrs. H. Hall.

The tea table was replenished by Mrs. Cy Whatley, Mrs. H. Hempstead, Mrs. A. McLeod and Mrs. R. Goldsborough.

Mrs. W. Masters and Mrs. G. Stewart decorated the table, and Mrs. G. Langhorn and Mrs. R. Williams took tickets at the door.

Tour leaders were Capt. J. D. Londerville, Capt. G. Langhorne, Major L. Grose, 2nd Lieut. R. Reid, Lieut. A. McLeod, Capt. H. Hempstead, Major D. Metheral and Lieut. R. Williams.

Colonel Howard Hammell, commanding officer of the regiment was in attendance.

Viscountess Hopes Visit To Win Canadians

Canadian Press Staff Writer
By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Viscountess Allenby of Meggido and Felixstowe has one aim firmly in mind for her visit to Canada this summer.

"I want to make a good impression," she said in an interview. "I'd like to leave behind at least a trace of good will."

The viscountess, who is making her first trip to Canada, is vice-president of the 3,000-strong Kent St. John Ambulance Association planning the first post-war youth Cadets. She heads a committee camp for Kent, and she is keen to study similar camps in North America.

WANTS TO LEARN

"I think Canada and the United States can teach us so much in this line," she said. "And I want our Kent youngsters to have the best." She will visit Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

Her original plans were to "live ro... to get to know the youngsters enjoying camp ... she decided to leave her program in the hands of W. J. Bennett and C. A. Gray of Ottawa's St. John Ambulance group.

"I felt Canadians could plan a better trip than I could," she said. "So I told them to do as they liked with me."

Lady Allenby will land in Montreal July 1, leave Canada July 22 and fly home July 27—"in time to pick my son up at Eton for his summer vacation."

CHIEF REGRETS

Her chief regret throughout the trip will be that she has not the time to cross Canada to the west coast.

Lady Allenby, whose husband is the nephew of the late Field Marshal Viscount Allenby of First World War fame, will be on radio and television in the Voice of St. John. The Order of St. John is the oldest order of chivalry in Britain and the sovereign is always at the head. Princess Margaret takes a personal interest in the society and Countess Mountbatten is an active member.

Says Advertising Is Degrading

WATERLOO (CP) — Unscrupulous advertisers have degraded the beauty of women's bodies and have used semi-nudes to sell every conceivable type of product, Mrs. Frederick Drake of Regina, national president of the Catholic Women's League, said Saturday.

She urged the 34th annual Hamilton diocesan convention of the CWL to join a campaign to clean up salacious literature from newsstands by protesting to their members of Parliament.

Rev. W. J. Lalonde of St. Jerome's High School, Kitchener, said the shortage of priests and nuns is a powerful indictment against present-day family backgrounds. He said that a materialistic trend has taken deep root in the sacred precinct of the family hearth.

Mrs. W. A. O'Brien, Brantford, was elected president. Other officers: vice-presidents, Mrs. Leo Doylee, Preston, Mrs. H. J. White, Guelph, Lucia Bauer, Waterloo; secretary, Mrs. Barnard Barron, Brantford; treasurer, Irma Hueglin, Kitchener.

Coldsprings News

Mrs. John Fields, Coldsprings telephone operator, was taken to Cobourg General Hospital, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Stokes, Douglas, visited their niece, Mrs. Allan Linton, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Turk, Lakefield, were Sunday dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cowper.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Timlin and Ewart, Mrs. T. Turk, Mr. and Mrs. E. Turk and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. Avery and Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. C. Baptist, Elaine and Linda, attended decoration at Centreton, on Sunday afternoon.

Sixt-Walker Rites At St. Andrew's To Live In Toronto

In St. Andrew's United church, on Saturday afternoon, Margaret Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Walker, became the bride of Herbert Edward Sixt of Toronto, son of Mrs. Sixt and the late Mr. William Sixt.

Baskets of white and pink flowers, with ferns and palms, formed a lovely setting for the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. Henry Cotton.

Wedding music was played by the organist, Mr. Harry Northrop, and violinist, Mr. Stanley Northrop played before the ceremony and during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown with basque bodice of French lace, with long sleeves and scoop neckline bordered with self-appliqued flowers outlined with seed pearls. The full skirt consisted of layers of nylon tulle and net over taffeta, and flowed into a short train. Her long veil of tulle was fastened to a headdress of taffeta petals, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, with sprays of ivy, and centred with a white orchid.

Miss Barbara Walker was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Shirley Gillespie of Barrie was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of turquoise taffeta, made with basque bodices, scoop necklines and brief sleeves. Their ankle-length skirts were made very full, and were worn over net petticoats. They carried bouquets of pale pink carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Mr. William Sixt of Toronto attended his brother, and the ushers were Mr. H. Barton Goss of Toronto, Mr. Ronald Walsh of Peterborough and Mr. Donald Lowe of Oshawa, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Walker chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of sheer silk over taffeta in opalescent shades of hyacinth and violet, with matching flowered hat and corsage of spray orchids. The groom's mother wore a grey gown of chantilly lace and nylon net, with small hat of crimson velvet and corsage of roses of the same shade.

A garden reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Albertus Ave.

Afterward the bride changed to a suit of white folkspun. Her wide-brimmed hat, linen blouse and accessories were navy, and her corsage was of sweetheart roses.

After a holiday in the New England States, Mr. and Mrs. Sixt will live in Toronto.

Club Weekend Coming Up

The closing dance of the 20 Plus Club for the season was held at the YWCA on Saturday, with Malcolm Woodcock in charge. Supper was served by Misses Nora Gallagher, Doris Cleminger, Jim Hope and John Webster. Miss Grace Schiarizza and Tom Hoy were the lucky winners of a spot dance. Vice-president Bill King announced that quite a number have signed up for the weekend camp at Thig-a-mag Lodge in Haliburton this coming weekend. Anyone else wishing to go should leave their names at the Y desk as soon as possible. Some cars will be leaving from the YW at 7 p.m. on Friday evening, others will be going on Saturday.

RALPH BARKER AND HIS BRIDE, the former Miss Doreen Varcoe, will go to Calgary to live after their honeymoon. The groom is with the RCAF.

Barker-Varcoe Wedding

The season's lovely flowers, peonies, iris and spirea, decorated St. Luke's Anglican church for the wedding on Saturday afternoon of Doreen Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Varcoe, to Ralph Thaine Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Barker.

The Rev. Dr. Ronald Ward performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Miss Eleanor Watson and she chose the selections "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of Chantilly lace over nylon net in a ballerina length with Queen Anne collar and lily point sleeves. Her veil of net studded with little stars was chapel length and was caught to a small hat of satin embroidered with pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Betty Weichorek was the maid of honor and Miss Betty Barker, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Their dresses were of coral and blue net over taffeta and they wore headdresses of matching net and carried bouquets of carnations.

Flower girl was Debbie Robinson of Port Hope, cousin of the bride, dressed in pink net over taffeta, and the ring bearer was Ken Varcoe, bother of the bride.

Mr. Ross Barker was his brother's groomsman and Don Varcoe and Gordon Barker, brothers of the bride and groom, were ushers.

The reception was in the parish hall with guests present from Toronto, Campbellford, Hastings, Cobourg, Havelock, Malton, Port Hope and Peterborough.

Mrs. Varcoe received in a gown of mauve and white and wore a little lace hat and corsage of carnations. The groom's mother chose a grey and white ensemble and wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

To go away on a wedding trip to eastern parts of Canada the bride donned a blue linen dress and white accessories and a white jacket. They will later go to Calgary where the groom is stationed with the RCAF.

Bernadette Allen Bride Of Hugh Shannon

At the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church on Saturday morning, Bernadette Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Allen of Peterborough, became the bride of Hugh Patrick Shannon of Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shannon Sr., of Marmora.

Monsignor P. P. Butler said the nuptial mass and performed the marriage. Wedding music was played by Miss Suzanne Martyn and Miss Helen Cummings sang "Mary Dearest Mother" and "Panis Angelicus" during the signing of the register.

Stalks of pink gladioli decorated the altar table.

A gown of sheer nylon tulle over nylon net and taffeta was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The fitted short jacket of Chantilly lace covered a strapless lace bodice and the very full bouffant skirt had inserts of lace edged with tulle ruffling. Her veil of embroidered nylon tulle with a lace half hat was caught with lily of the valley. Her bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses centred in lily of the valley.

Bridesmaids were Miss Eileen Allen, in a gown of nile green, and Miss Helen Allen in shrimp shade. The gowns were of onionskin taffeta with matching jackets forming a wide neckline. The strapless bodices had pleated decolletage with a very wide flared skirt and they wore matching headbands of taffeta. Each carried a nosegay of roses, carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. John Shannon attended the groom and ushers were Clarence Shannon and Bernard Allen.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received in a grey figured crepe gown and wore a white straw hat and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a navy and white crepe dress and wore a navy hat and corsage of red roses.

Leaving later on a wedding trip to northern Ontario the bride wore a navy linen suit trimmed in white with a white hat and corsage of pink roses.

They will live in Oshawa.

Dinner Dance For Blind Resembles Class Reunion

It was like a class reunion for members of the Louis Braille Society who came from Oshawa, Kingston and Belleville to attend the seventh annual Louis Braille June dinner held in the Canadian Legion hall, Saturday night.

Old acquaintances were renewed as members sat down to a cold plate dinner. A dance followed the dinner, where everyone joined in the waltz, polka or swung their partners in the square dance.

The guest speaker, the Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville, said: "Life situations make it imperative that one should take himself in hand, understand their meaning, see them in true perspective, have a positive attitude of mind towards them—then, in light of that appraisal get to work.

Mr. Larke went on to say that he was no advocate of man's finding the answer to the perplexity of life entirely within himself.

"It was just like standing in a bucket and trying to lift oneself off the ground by pulling on the handle," he said.

The conception of being master of his fate, captain of his soul only became meaningful and purposive when one added the words which Lincoln included in his Gettysburg address—the words 'under God', he said.

The unexpected things of life, Mr. Larke said, the crisis, the testing time, comes to all men, but there is a great difference in the way men meet these.

Th answer lay in the hands of each man; arrived by accepted discipline of the ordinary everyday testing trials.

He cited Katherine Mansfield, whose skill at short story writing became its best in the discipline of suffering while a patient in a tuberculosis sanitarium.

A phrase was written about Helen Keller, 'sight dimmed meant for her insight deepened'.

In a spiritual sense that might become true for all men. But only provided, one is ready to express in action such an insight as he has already received.

Mr. Larke added, a happy and useful life, the outcome of rich experience, only comes along the path of obedience to such truth as we have already received.

"We may not be able to change outward circumstances of our life," our 'handicaps' and our 'limitations' as we sometimes think of them but we have it in our hand to change our attitude and acceptance of these in such a way that we come to regard them no longer as handicaps and limitations," he said.

Mr. Larke was introduced by Mr. Earl Schwanz and thanked by Mr. O. Meagher. Mr. Walter Simmons the field representative of the CNIB brought greetings as well as Alderman John Dewart and Mrs. Dewart, representing the mayor, who was unable to attend because of illness.

President Frank Simmons was chairman.

Presbyterial WA. Rally Held In Welcome Church

PORT HOPE — The first annual convention of the Cobourg women's presbytery association was held at Welcome United church, with about 130 representatives attending.

The president, Mrs. H. V. Turck, of Port Hope, presided. Devotions were conducted by Brighton WA and delegates were welcomed by Mrs. Earl Inch. A brief summary of organization since spring, 1953, was given, and secretary Mrs. T. Gresham, of Colborne, reported 18 WA's affiliated and 21 represented at the convention. Further reports were heard from the treasurer, Mrs. O. Morrow, of Brighton, and the following secretaries: literature, Miss S. Bennett, Port Hope; devotional, Mrs. J. A. Greenly, Warkworth; visiting and Christian fellowship, Mrs. A. G. Crowhurst, Port Hope; parsonage, Mrs. M. Little, Campbellford (Tabernacle church); Christian citizenship, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, Roseneath.

A solo by Mrs. Donald Skitch, of Port Hope, accompanied by Miss Willard, was a fitting prelude to the communion service conducted by the Rev. A. W. Harding, assisted by four of his elders.

During the luncheon, greetings were brought from Cobourg presbytery by the Rev. W. G. Fletcher of Wooler, who told this youngest organization of the forming of the first Presbytery, in Lennox and Addington in the early years of the United church; from the WMS by Mrs. P. F. Gardiner of Canton; from Oshawa presbytery WA by its president, Mrs. W. Claude Ives; from Dominion council and conference by Mrs. A. A. Crowle, president, Bay of Quinte conference WA; and later in the day a letter of good wishes and encouragement was read from the Rev. B. K. Cronk, Port Hope.

Zion WA (Frankford charge) led the afternoon devotions and a welcome was extended to new members by Mrs. Crowhurst. The guest speaker, Mrs. H. C. Burkholder, of Toronto, was introduced by Mrs. A. A. Crowle, of Oshawa. Mrs. Burkholder prefaced her address by reading the aims of the WA, which are of a much wider scope than just money raising. She interrupted her talk to divide the delegates into 18 groups and asked them to express, at the end of 10 minutes, their ideas of what the WA means to them.

Two solos, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Mrs. Carroll Nichols, of Wesleyville, and "The Gate of the Year," by Mrs. A. A. Crowle, were an inspiration and were accompanied by Mrs. George Campbell, of Welcome, who also presided at the organ for the morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. Wooton and Mrs. Redvers Brown, of Colborne, echoed the appreciation of the convention in words of thanks expressed by Mrs. Wooton to all who had worked toward the success of the day.

The invitation to hold the fall rally at Tabernacle church on the Seymour charge has been gratefully accepted for October 20.

MILLBROOK (ENS)—In a setting of iris, spirea and lilies which banked the chancel of Grace Presbyterian church, the marriage took place on Saturday of Margaret Lillian, daughter of Mrs. G. P. MacKay, of Toronto, formerly of Millbrook, and George Albert Dew, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dew of Cavan.

The Rev. W. H. Heustin officiated. Miss Ruth Graves, of Newmarket, sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered the church and "Because" during the signing of the register. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Ray Bothwell of Fraserville.

Marie Cuffe Becomes Bride

A pretty wedding in St. John's Anglican church on Saturday afternoon was that of Josephine Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Cuffe of Peterborough, to Mr. Lloyd Douglas Drew of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Drew, also of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Organist Mr. F. G. Mann played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mr. Reginald Peters sang 'O Perfect Love."

The bride was in a lovely gown of white Swiss Guipre lace over white taffeta, made with a slight train and the strapless bodice topped by a short bolero with long sleeves. A coif cap of the same lace held her shaped fingertip veil and she was carrying a cascade of gardenias and lily of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father.

Misses Josie Ann and Carolyn Hendren, cousins of the bride, were her attendants. They were frocked alike in white organdy over lilac taffeta, made in waltz length. Their halo hats were of white organdy and they carried mauve sweet peas with glameflias.

The groom was attended by Mr. Vernon Lord of Toronto. Ushers were brothers of the bride and groom, Thomas Cuffe and Ernest Drew.

The reception was held at the bride's home at 61 Parkhill Road. Mrs. Cuffe received in a gown of pastel blue sculptured nylon and wore a white hat and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. DOROTHY DIX:

Girl Is Good Companion Heart Roams

DEAR MISS DIX: When Ralph first asked me for a date last year I had to refuse since my Dad wouldn't let me date. Now I have permission to go out one night a week and I thought Ralph would be overjoyed at the news, but he took me out just once. He hasn't asked for another date, though he comes to visit me once in a while. However, I have learned that he goes with a girl from the neighboring town. I never nag him about it, but would like to know why he continues to visit me, then dates the other girl.

MARGIE

DON'T WASTE DATING PRIVILEGES

ANSWER: That's the way of young men, Margie, and you might as well get used to it now. You're foolish to waste your newly acquired dating privileges sitting around waiting for Ralph to come through with an invitation. Since it is aparently well known at school that he's dating at least two girls, the other boys shouldn't expect you to sit home pining. Even though the honor code says "hands off," when it comes to dating another boy's girl, you certainly can't be considered as Ralph's steady. Do get into circulation.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dear Miss Dix: Our 15-year-old daughter is a fine girl—intelligent, a good student and quite attractive. Lately, however, she has gotten quite difficult at home. She won't listen to her father or to me, is untidy about her room, resents being asked to help with housework, and even has been impudent. Can you account for this sudden change in disposition?

MRS. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your daughter's behavior follows an almost fixed pattern of adolescent conduct. A child's entire personality can change between the ages of 13 and 18, but, fortunately for us harassed parents of teen-agers, it almost always smooths out, leaving pleasant young men or women. I have compiled a list of books and pamphlets on teen-agers that will help you considerably in understanding your daughter's moods. If you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope, I'll gladly send you the list.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I were married in January, and our baby girl was born three months later. We live with my folks; my husband's parents haven't yet seen the baby. They invited me to visit them, and ing her, but I hesitate because sure they don't like me. Do think they'll be nice to me I go.

New Home Design Trend: Correlation

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Collecting compliments as a hostess is easy these days. You needn't have on hand the cast of a Broadway musical nor produce a tape recording of the conversation at your last party.

Industrial designers are handing housewives real breaks in home-furnishing designs. The newest of these is the trend to design co-ordination that relates wallpaper textiles to towels to lamps to table linens.

In the hands of Scott Wilson and Fritz Foord, New York design team, printed linens for the table have become real conversation starters. New corner treatments, the airy effects created by no borders on cloths, the asymmetric patterns all indicate a departure in design technique.

Translated into plain table talk, this means you'll be able to pick linens for your dinner and tea tables, for your dinette and kitchen in modern, traditional or provincial prints and in dramatic colorings. From the circus, the barnyard and the strawberry patch, the flower box and the door-yard garden, the seaside and the countryside come the inspiration for cloths whose colors flow from brilliant to subtle monochrome.

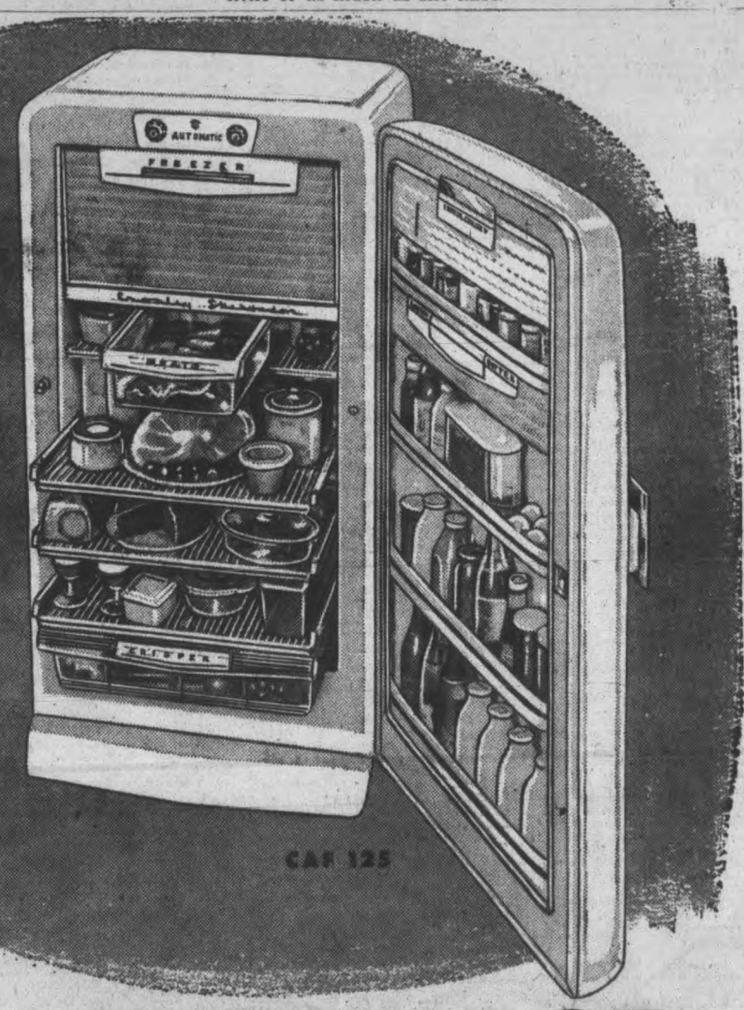
A whole collection of linen tea towels has been designed especially to catch the eye of the bride, the artist, the gourmet, the hostess. These have been done with dash, sophistication and wit, to make them appealing as well as practical.

In some of the new all-over designs, the strawberry and radiant rose patterns have a do-it-yourself allure. These patterns come in cloths, runners, mats, kitchen towels and toweling as well. They're made in single design units so that, without cutting into the pattern, the cloth can be made into table mas and even bedspreads, dust ruffles, curtains and at-home clothes.

There's a limit, of course, to how far you'll want to go with this sort of thing. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Foord are not suggesting that you appear in separates made from the radiant rose, against a background of raidant rose table mats, runners, bedspreads and tea towels.

"But we do feel," say Fritz Foord, "that a woman likes to be able to pick and choose from a group of related objects, to have as little or as much design co-ordination in her home as she likes. It's a mater of personal taste but we believe strongly in designs in a correlated picture."

Keep in mind, then, that you can give your home the kind of look usually achieved only by a decorator by picking from related groups. For those of you who find home decoration completely disconcerting, this is a new and different kind of guide.



BUY AT HOTELS

REGINA (CP)—Eighty-four per cent of bottled beer sold in Saskatchewan is bought at hotels, J. J. Boyle, of the Hotels Association of Saskatchewan, reported. He gave the figures for other provinces as 66 per cent in Manitoba and 54 per cent in both Alberta and British Columbia.

IT'S THE BELIEF OF INDUSTRIAL DESIGNERS Scott Wilson (left) and Fritz Foord (right) that housewives welcome co-ordinated designs for the home. Both color and design can be linked in wallpaper, fabrics, towels, lamps and table linens from which the housewife may choose as little or as much as she likes.

No Charge Laid Yet In Reserve Death

ST. JOSEPH, Ont. (CP) — No charge has been laid as yet in connection with the death of 36-year-old Clarence George, father of three children, of Kettle Point Indian reserve, who was shot with a .303 rifle here early Sunday.

Decision will not be made for a few days on whether to hold an inquest or lay charges immediately against Hector Forcier, 42, service station owner, who fired the wild shot at prowlers in a nearby bottle club, police said.

Eli Henry, about 35, Kettle Point reserve, was arrested last night at his home and charged with breaking and entering. Nelson Bressette, 27, also of Kettle Point reserve, was arrested at the scene of the shooting and held on a similar charge.

Pair Charged With Wounding

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto man and woman were charged with wounding Saturday night after separate stabbings of two persons.

Laraine Blanchard, 26, was charged after William Currie, 60, was found bleeding in his suite from a deep wound in his chest. Hospital authorities said his condition is "satisfactory."

Police said they charged the woman after she told them, "He was going to leave me, we had an argument and I stabbed him."

The second person charged is Dominic Marshese, 43. He was arrested at a wedding party where Frank Monardo, the brother of the groom, suffered four stab wounds in the leg.

Police said Marshese and Monardo were involved in an argument.

Raise Federal Grants For Nurses Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal grants will be increased to provide for more nurses' training facilities in Canadian hospitals.

Announcement of this was made recently by Health Minister Martin, in an address prepared for the biennial meeting of the Canadian Nurses Association at Banff, Alta.

"In future, matching grants will be available on the basis of $1,000 for every 300 square feet of approved floor area towards the construction of necessary additional training facilities contained in or connected with a hospital, such as classrooms, auditoria, demonstration rooms and so on," Mr. Martin said.

"This extension of the hospital construction grant should help materially in increasing the supply of graduate nurses."

Paddles for canoeing were given to D. Rogers, Aurora, who also won the intermediate regatta championship, and James Matthews the junior group.

The across the lake swim was won by B. Mockridge, Toronto, who also won the junior regatta championship.

Composer Dies

Keep Trying For Settlement

OTTAWA (CP) — The United Nations Association of Canada, in a resolution passed at its annual meeting here Saturday, expressed doubt that the Geneva conference will be successful but urged the government to explore fully every possible avenue for settlement of the Korea and Indo-China problems. If all attempts at negotiation failed, the government should be prepared to support UN collective action.

(The government's attitude has been that Canada cannot afford to participate in any Southeast Asia defence pact at this time. However, External Affairs Minister Pearson has said that if the UN decided on collective action in Indo-China, the government would have to reconsider its position. Canada supported UN collective action in Korea by supplying an infantry brigade, three destroyers and an airlift squadron).

Marvin Gelber of Toronto was elected president, succeeding Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Ottawa.

Vice-presidents include Dr. R.C. Wallace of Kingston.

Rose Show Postponed

The rose show of the Horticultural Society has been postponed for a week to Monday, June 28, in the recreation hall at the YWCA. Entries will be received until 6:45 p.m. Judging will begin immediately at that time.

Weather of the last month has not been conducive to early development of the broad range of roses expected of June. Some of the common briars are in flower, and also the odd bush in lawn plants, but on the whole the rose season is a bit late. Hence the postponement in the hope of getting a larger number of entries.

Secretary W. C. Wilks says the judge will comment on the exhibits at the close of the meeting. With the consent of exhibitors the flowers will be sold by auction. Awards include the Harry L. Beal cup, Ontario Rose Society silver and bronze medals, also memberships in the Rose Society and Peterborough Horticultural Society.

Big Tanker Rate Drop Cuts Pipeline Popularity

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A big drop in tanker rates has caused pipelines to lose their popularity as a means of transporting Middle Eastern oil.

The story of the Middle Eastern pipeline competing most directly with tankers—the American-owned trans-Arabian pipeline — explains why oil men will think twice in the future before investing millions of dollars in laying lines of pipe across Arabian desert sands.

Stretching a thousand miles from Saudi Arabian oil fields to its Mediterranean terminal at Sidon, Lebanon, trans - Arabian began operations in 1950, at a time when tanker rates were still high. While the pipaline cut straight across the desert to the Mediterranean, tankers had to travel 3,500 miles from the Persian gulf around the Arabian peninsula to the eastern Mediterranean. On top of that, tankers had to pass through the Suez canal, where a toll of 12½ cents a barrel was charged.

The pipeline was built at a time when oil companies were struggling to overcome the post-war oil shortage. The pipeline from Arabia speeded up delivery of oil to the thirsty markets of western Europe in those days.

BIG DROP

Now approaching its fourth year of operations, its importance in the world oil picture has slipped considerably. Oil loaded at the Sidon terminal has shown roughly a 10 per cent drop this year as compared with 1953. An average of only 282,902 barrels daily has been lifted from the Sidon terminal since Jan. 1, as compared with a 312,824 daily average in 1953.

There is one big reason for this drop—tanker competition. Available tanker space is steadily increasing, both in number and size of tankers. Building of new tankers is moving at such a rate that a surplus of 480 is expected by 1956. Size of tankers has increased from an average of 13,500 tons in 1946 to an estimated 21,500 average of those now being built. Largest tankers afloat have more than 45,000-ton capacity.

In 1948, costs of shipping by tanker from the Persian gulf to New York reached a peak of more than $6 a barrel. By January this year, it had dropped to 86 cents The low cost of tankers has meant that, in recent months, more Middle Eastern oil has moved westward by tankers than through pipelines.

Apart from cost factors, pipelines have become less attractive because of continuing difficulties with governments. Trans-Arabian runs through four different countries—Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon. Since agreements were signed, both Syria and Lebanon frequently have pressed for re-negotiation and raising of fees.

GRADUATING from the University of Toronto, Dr. Gordon Monahan received his degree in medicine. He is a son of Mrs. A. Monahan and the late Mr. Monahan. He and his mother moved to Ottawa from Peterborough about two years ago.

Car Race Starter Hit By Racer

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) A stock car race starter, struck down by a racer when he tried to halt a false start at a local track Saturday, was reported resting comfortably in hospital here today.

Kip Dowdin, 24, suffered fractures of both arms and o... head injuries and possible internal injuries when dragged about 10 feet by one of eight cars in the race.

Revolt Leaders Hear Sentences

BERLIN (AP) — Four Germans charged with leading the June 17 revolt last year against the Soviet-zone Communist government were sentenced today to long terms at hard labor.

The East German Supreme Court imposed 15 years each on Wolfgang Silgradt and Werner Mangelsdorf, 10 years on Hans Fueldner and five years on Horst Gassa.

The state charged in the three-day trial that the four were the main organizers of the widespread rebellion and that they were on the payroll of Western espionage networks.

Mangelsdorf was quoted by the official ADN news agency as saying another revolt was planned for late summer or early fall this year.

The 1953 uprising grew out of workers' resentment over increased work norms and sub-standard living conditions.

Arrested In Ontario For Bank Holdup.

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police said today that Gaston Morin, wanted in connection with a fatal attempted bank holdup at Bienville, Que., June 3, was arrested Sunday at Stratford, Ont.

Police said Morin will be charged in Bienville with conspiracy to commit a holdup and with attempted holdup. Maurice Fradette, 20 was shot and killed by an alert teller at the bank.

Police said Morin entered the bank after Fradette was killed, then fled when he heard what had happened.

$15,000 Damage In 2-Barn Fire

SMITHS FALLS (CP)—Damage estimated at $15,000 was caused Sunday night during an electrical storm when two large barns in the district were struck by lightning and destroyed by fire.

The barns were those of Elmer Morrison at nearby Easton's Corners and of Percival Dowcett, about 23 miles west of here.

Girl Is Good

ANSWER: Why draw hasty and adverse conclusions about people? Be gracious enough to give your in-laws a chance to know you and be pleasant to them so they'll want to become friends. Let them see that you and your husband can rise above the mistake you made and they'll respect you for your own and you'll have no in-law troubles. Accept the invitation.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm terribly in love with a boy who's engaged and also infatuated with a ruthless married woman. When he's around this woman I am positively sick. Then I say nasty things to him and am sorry later. He's mean to me, too, sometimes, but I know it's only to hide his real feelings. Do you think he's fickle?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I wonder what a man would have to do to prove to you he was fickle. Apparently it takes more than being engaged to one girl, carrying on a flirtation with a married woman, and keeping a third dangling on a string. If there's an iota of constancy in such actions, it's a new attitude to me.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I recently became engaged to a boy who is 18; I'm 17. I correspond with my cousin in Korea, who always ends his letters, "Love." My fiance got a little mad over this, but the difficulty blew over. Then my father said he was too jealous to make a good husband and suggested that we break the engagement. Do you think my father is right?

MAIDA R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If this was the only time your fiance exhibited jealousy, the evidence is not too conclusive. Any young man worth his salt will be a little jealous now and then; his girl would probably be very hurt if he were not. However, since you both were sensible enough to patch up the difficulty, you seem quite capable of handling your own affairs. Just watch that the green-eyed monster doesn't make too many, or too violent, appearances.

100 Attend Plaque Unveilin

PERTH, Ont. (CP)—Some 10(Quebec and Ontario telephone pioneers attended the unveiling Saturday of a bronze plaque on the gave of the Rev. Thomas Henderson, close friend and business associate of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

Mr. Henderson—who is credited with persuading the Bell family to emigrate to Canada from Scotland and with finding them a home in Brantford—retired from the Baptist ministry to become first general agent and later first purchasing agent of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

Born in Scotland in 1816, he was a schoolmate of Bell's father, Prof. Alexander Melville Bell. Canada's first commercial telephone was between his Brantford home and Bell's.

His grand-daughter, Mrs. J. Arthur Jackson of Toronto, unveiled the plaque.

Saves Grandchildren As House Burns

BRISTOL, Que. (CP) — George Henderson, 70, Sunday night saved the lives of his three grandchildren when fire, touched off by lightning during a storm, destroyed a two-storey frame home near here.

The elderly man groped his way through dense smoke with the aid of a flashlight to rescue the children, eldest of which is three. The children's parents were away at the time.

3 Teenagers Rob Driver Of $7

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three teenagers, one armed with a gun, robbed 22-year-old Edward Rocheleau at midnight Sunday of seven dollars and escaped after shooting a hole into his front tire.

Police said Mr. Rocheleau and a female companion were flagged down on Malden road and robbed by the teenagers who wore polka dot masks.

UNTIL YOU READ these words you might not know that these girls are nurses . . . Navy nurses . . . and that they have been taking swimming lessons . . . and that the final lesson consists of jumping fully clothed into the water to learn how to swim under emergency conditions.

A picture, a headline, a brief announcement can whet your appetite for news, but cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

It takes words—sometimes many—to satisfy your curiosity about the who, what, when and where of any picture or headline.

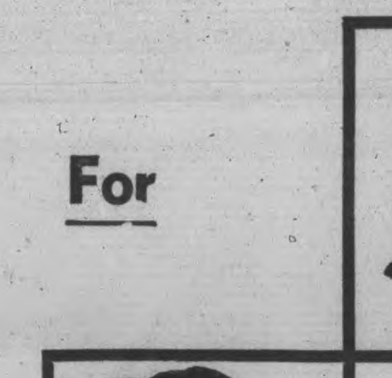
Words bring meaning, words bring understanding, words bring news. Newspapers bring news.

Only the newspaper brings you full stories day after day—pictures and sufficient words.

Only the newspaper can bring you the full story as soon as your appetite is aroused. Fast, without delay.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or the brief headline here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.



Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocket or pocketbook.

Like the news, the ads themselves have the same important local quality. No other medium can match this quality.

Add to all this the fact that the newspapers reach everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most powerful advertising medium.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

Mystery Surrounds Passing Of Strange, Extinct Birds

WASHINGTON — Why did they pass—the moa, the dodo, and other birds now vanished from the face of the earth?

Among the strangest was the New Zealand moa, believed to have lived until the 14th century, says the National Geographic Society. One species, Dinornis maximus, was 10 to 12 feet tall. With big feet, small head, and long slender neck, it resembled an oversized ostrich.

Anthropologists have conjectured that moas may have been wiped out by Maori or earlier hunters, through flood, brush fire, earthquake—or mysterious decline in vitality after such a cataclysm.

Recent a Y le n. fessor of biology concluded that the moas were so stupid they fed in forest swamps that sucked them down to death.

The smaller species were quickly lost, and even giant birds were caught in the deep, sticky bog. In support of his theory, he points to many skeletons which scientists have recovered lately from swampland of the Pyramid Valley on New Zealand's South Island.

WONDERLAND BIRD

"As dead as the dodo" is a common phrase to many people who, recalling the fantasies of Alice in Wonderland, are not even sure the bird ever lived. The dodo was real enough, however. A member of the pigeon family, it was clearly described by early navigators who encountered it on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius.

Dodo remains have turned up on the island in the last century, to add substance to existing portraits made from life by 17th-century artists. Like the well-known Alice illustrations, these show a bulky, short-legged bird, with long beak and feeble wings.

There is little mystery, either about the dodo's fate. It was exterminated in the late 1600's, following settlement of M s, when the bird was killed for food, and its eggs and young were destroyed by newly introduced domestic animals.

Mich less is known about the weird elephant bird that inhabited the neighboring island of Madagascar.

INSPIRED SINBAD'S ROC

From massive bones and two ture this bird, Aepyornis, as the ant of ostrich relatives. Fourteen feet high, it may have inspired Sinbad's fabulous roc of the Arabian Nights, though it could not fly, much less match the roc's feats of carrying off men.

Nobody knows exactly when or how the elephant bird died out. As late as the s ted some still lived in the interior of Madagascra. Cautious experts say mehedly that Aepornis became extinct during the Christian era.

Of all the vanished birds, perhaps the most nightmarish was one whose fossil remains were discovered in Argentina about 1890. Called Mesembriornis by zoologists, it was a flightless, flesh-eating creature, five feet high, with huge tearing beak and cruel claws. The "terror bird," as it was nicknamed, probably disappeared some 11 million years ago with few to mourn it.

In contrast, the gentle and beautiful passenger pigeon is still regretted by ornithologists. This long-taled, swift-flying bird darkened mid-western skies until well into the 19th century. The march of civilization that destroyed its nesting grounds, plus mass capture of the birds for food, gradually cut flocks from billions into a handful.

At the end, instead of mystery, full publicity attended the death from old age o passenger pigeon. tember 1914, in the Cincinnati zoo.

Lake Crater In Labrador May Be Similar To Chubb

WASHINGTON — Meteorites smashing into rock-bound wilderness east of Hudson Bay thousands of years ago may have gouged out a small-sized mate of the giant Chubb Crater, largest known on earth.

An expedition of the National Geographic Society and Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy, assisted by the United States Air Force, will fly north this summer to a strange little apple-green lake in Labrador that excites the interest of geologists and meteor scientists.

The lake fills a circular indentation in sub-Arctic granite only 175 yards across. Chubb Crater, 450 miles to the northwest on Quebec's Ungava peninsula, measures 20 times as wide, or nearly two miles in diameter. Like Chubb, however, the new Labrador crater is perfectly symmetrical, and is ringed by a tumbled field of giant boulders.

AIR LIFT TO CRATER

The eight-man expedition will be led by Dr. Victor Ben Meen, geologist director of the Royal Ontario Museum who explored and identified Chubb Crater in 1951. This July the party, with 6,000 pounds of scientific and cold weather equipment, will fly to the site of the baby crater some 40 miles west of Hebron, an Eskimo mission on the coast of far-northern Labrador. U.S. Air Force planes will assist in transporting the team into the wild, rocky terraine.

With luck, the scientific party will have a month of comparatively ice-free "summer" weather before winter begins its return in late August. They will set up a camp on a rock-strewn lakeshore near the crater. The vivid green color of water in the Labrador crater first led to its discovery during World War II by a U.S. flier, Colonel Arthur F. Merewether, and to its rediscovery last summer by Dr. Meen in an aerial search.

LIKE A GREEN THUMBPRINT

All other lakes in the region, except for what may be crater satellite waterholes, are deep blue. Thus the particular pockmark in the primeval rock that stirs scientific curiosity stands out like a green thumbprint. If the expedition can trace the green color, believed to be caused by living algae, to the presence of mineral elements in the water brought in from outer space by a stony meteorite, it will have unique and positive proof that the crater is of meteoritic origin.

The scientists will also search for buried material, measure the midget crater, and study the effects of the great ice sheet presumed to have scoured the region as recently as 3,000 years ago. If possible, they will visit near-by Eskimo villages to determine whether meteoritic iron may have been used to make native tools.

The jointly sponsored expedition under Dr. Meen includes Leonard Cowan of the Royal Ontario Museum, and Richard H. Stewart of the National Geographic Society, both veterans of the Chubb Expedition; Dr. Frank H. Rigler of Canada's Atomic Energy Commission; Dr. George M. Stanley; professor of geology at the Fresno State College, Fresno, Calif.; Dr. John M. Gillett of the Canadian Department of Agriculture; Joseph Vise, geophysicist of the University of Toronto; and Dr. Sean Moore of McGill University, medical officer.

Man-Made Lakes Provide Excellent Sport

WASHINGTON Tennessee, where vast man-made lakes have transformed the geography of a State, provides the country today with some of its best inland fishing.

One in five Tennesseans fishes. And only Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin attract more out-of-state anglers. In a year Tennessee issues 231,000 licenses to non-residents.

The state's rapid rise in the esteem of fishermen springs from the development of the long chain of lakes impounded behind government dams built in the last 20 years, says the National Geographic Society. In their waters today swim notably, largemouth and smallmouth bas, crappie, walleye, sauger, white bass and catfish.

LAND OF LARGE FISH

Catches have ranged up to whopping 17-pound walleyes, 14-pound largemouth bass, 10-pound smallmouth bass, and 3-pound crappies.

Some of the best walleyes in the United States are found behind Norris Dam, one of the first Tennessee Valley Authority structures which backs up a lake 72 miles on the Clinch River and 56 miles on the Powell River. The sharp toothed walleye is a prolific spawner and one of the most savory of fresh water fish, delectable because it thrives in clean, deep waters.

The largemouth bass is probably the most popular game fish—strong, showy, cunning and full of fight. The smallmouth frequently break the surface when hooked.

On the fringe of northern and southern species, Tennessee offers a wide variety: from the northern walleyes, saugers and a few muskellunges to the southern spotted bass.

December and January are the months for the run of sauger at Pickwick, Hale's Bar, Chickamauga and Watt's Bar, all Tennessee River dams. In March and April white bass spawning runs lure sportsmen to the reservoir tributaries.

Walleyes begin to hit well in April and May when activity also starts on crappie, bluegill and other panfish. In midsummer catfishing in dam tailwaters becomes good, especially at Pickwick Dam.

WARM OR COLD FISHNIG

Near the upstream reservoirs anglers can try either warm or cold water fishing. Tailwaters have been stocked with trout—mostly the fast, furious rainbow but also the crafty brown and a few of the beautiful brook.

Tennessee fishing is at its best in spring. Then bass, rousing from winter's semi-dormancy, become active when water temperature rises to 55 or 60 degrees. The catch also picks up in the fall.

Fishing methods vary widely. Fly and bait casting, spinning and still fishing have thousands of devotees. Trolling is good for walleyes and bass.

"Jiggers," or surface fishing with a long pole, is popular most of the year. Tandem rigs with floats are used for white bass. The lure is suspended a foot or two under the surface. Trot lines and bank poles catch catfish, carp, drum, buffalo and other "rough fish."

Committee Unable To Make Progress In Streamlining Commons Business

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons has been trying for several years to revise more efficient methods to conduct business and cut down the length of parliamentary sessions.

Most members agree that the number of sitting days has increased sharply since the end of the war due to antiquated rules of procedure coupled with a steady rise in the amount of sessional business. However, the various political groups have not been able to agree on what action should be taken.

This session a special committee again has been meeting behind closed doors in an effort to find common ground for revising the rules. It is as deadlocked as previous committees.

The committee is expected to make a report to the Commons sometime before the end of the session recommending rule changes. The government probably will not ask members to adopt the report because such action might result in the session continuing well into July.

LONG SESSION

The House now has been in session for 127 sitting days, a post-war record. Between Dec. 5, 1947, and June 30, 1948, Parliament sat for 119 days. The longest Second World War session lasted 136 days.

It is understood that a majority of the committee favors reducing the length of speeches to 30 from 40 minutes. The majority also proposes a limitation being placed on the length of time devoted to the throne speech and the main debate on the budget.

Opposition parties object to these changes on grounds that they would interfere with freedom of speech in the Commons. The Opposition in the past has stated that more orderly presentation of legislation by the government would expedite business. It would be prepared to consider shorter speeches only after that had been achieved.

MINOR CHANGES

However, it is understood that a majority of the committee has reached agreement on a number of minor rule changes. These include quicker methods for answering questions placed on the order paper by private members and to deal with preliminary resolutions preceding the introduction of money bills.

The only concrete change which has taken place in the rules in recent years has been in the hours of sitting. At one time the Commons met at 3 p. m. during regular sitting hours and sat until 11 p. m. with a supper adjournment from 6 to 8 p. m. Regular hours now are from 2:30 to 10 p. m. with an adjournment from 6 to 8 p. m.

Oldest Jesuit Dies At 100

GUELPH (CP)—The Rev. J. R. Richard, oldest Jesuit priest in the world, died Saturday at 100. He served for almost 65 years as a missionary to Indians and whites in the upper Great Lakes region of Ontario.

Father Richard, who celebrated his 100th birthday last Feb. 6, has consecrated his life to "my Indians" and only in 1948, at 94, did he retire.

Even then he stayed on with the school for Indian boys at Spanish, about 70 miles west of Sudbury, teaching the children their own Indian language and recounting the history of the Roman Catholic missions.

Father Richard, the oldest Roman Catholic priest in Canada, was born in Montreal. At various times he was missionary at all the Indian settlements from Christian island in southeast Georgian bay to the east shore of Lake Superior.

8 Provinces Expect Get Road Powers

Commons May Allow Regulation Of Highway Traffic

OTTAWA (CP) — Highway transport boards in eight provinces—all except Quebec and Newfoundland—are expected to receive federal powers to regulate international and interprovincial highway traffic within their borders.

The Commons Monday night completed detailed study of a measure to vest that authority in provincial boards, provided the provinces accept the legislation.

Transport Minister Chevrier informed the House that the legislation will be brought into force in any province which indicates it wants the power.

EIGHT OF NINE

He said the legislation was assented to by eight of nine provinces attending a conference in April which drafted the bill. Quebec had said it wanted an amendment to the British North America Act to confer regulatory power on the provinces.

Newfoundland was not represented. Its highway traffic is negligible.

"From the correspondence I have in my hands now I think it would be possible to proclaim it (the legislation) in eight of the 10 provinces," Mr. Chevrier said.

The measure provides for provincial exercise of regulatory powers which the Privy Council, in a ruling last February, said were a federal responsibility. The provinces already have jurisdiction over traffic within their borders.

NO INTERFERENCE

Justice Minister Garson assured members that any province which does not accept the authority will be unable to interfere with highway traffic from outside. It could not deny entrance to any truck or bus operating on international or interprovincial business.

Guatemala Army Near To Revolt

By SAM SULLERLIN

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Eighty army officers have handed a questionnaire to Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman about Communist influences in that country, and demanded a satisfactory answer by the end of the week.

This was reported today in private advices from the Guatemalan capital.

Official quarters in Washington received a report Monday night president an ultimatum to quit saying the army had given the sometime today, and that he had agreed provided that army guaranteed not to molest any Guatemalans. Later information said Arbenze had until the end of the week to answer.

YACHT IS READY

If the army should oust Arbenze, he would presumably try to go to Belize, British Honduras, where he was reported to have a large seagoing yacht at anchor.

Two former Guatemalan defence officials who fled their Communist-tinged land sayy the army is on the verge of revolt.

"All we have to do is put the spark that will blow out all the Reds," Miguel Angel Mendoza, former defence undersecretary, told reporters Monday night. "I think there is a great division in the army and I am sure that when the moment comes most of them will take the course for which we are fighting."

Official quarters in Washington received a report Monday night that Guatemala's army had given President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman an ultimatum to quit some time today. The report, which was described as lacking official confirmation, said Abenz had ageed to get out provided the army guaranteed not to molest any Guatemalans.

REDS BACK REGIME

Observers generally concede that Arbenz himself is not a Communist. But his regime has had strong backing from the Reds.

Mendoza and his brother, Col. Rodolfo Mendoza, former air force chief, arrived here Sunday. They told reporters a "reign of terror" has gripped their homeland and at least 600 persons were in jail.

Press dispatches from Guatemala have been subject to a strict censorship since Arbenz suspended civil liberties a week ago and charged that a plot against the government had been uncovered.

SUMMER KITCHEN GUTTED—About $900 damage was caused today when fire gutted a small summer kitchen and back shed (above) at John Karas' home, 222 Carlisle Ave., early today. Neighbors woke Mr. Karas about 6 a.m. when flames and smoke were noticed coming from Karas' house. The cause of the fire is undetermined. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Predicts Worse Unemployment

HAMILTON (CP) — George Hees, president of the national Progressive Conservative Association, said Monday night that Canada's unemployment trend indicates that next winter the situation will be considerably worse than last winter.

Mr. Hees said there will be more than 500,000 unemployed in Canada if the "present rate of deterioration" keeps up.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Hamilton Centre PC Association, he urged:

1. Examination of the possibility of a greatly-accelerated research program aimed at developing new products and improving production methods.

2. Reduction of the federal 10-per-cent sales tax, which would stimulate sales by lowering production costs.

3. The federal government to continue to pay unemployment insurance benefits to those whose credits have expired and who are unable to find employment.

Viet Nam Government Expected To Resign

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Authoritative sources today said the five-month-old government of Viet Nam's premier, Prince Buu Loc, will resign tomorrow. Ngo Dinh Diem, 53-year-old Roman Catholic reformer and outstanding nationalist, is expected to succeed him.

The choice of Diem is seen here as an attempt to set up a new regime of leading nationalists untainted by previous close ties with France, and the obvious aim is to rally the masses against the Communist-led Vietminh and win over anti-Reds who had failed to support Viet Nam's chief of state, former Emperor Bao Dai.

Morning Fire Destroys Shed, Contents, Loss $900

Damage of $900 was caused to the summer kitchen and back shed of John Karas' home, 222 Carlisle Ave., early today.

Neighbors woke Mr. Karas, a Polish ex-serviceman, about 6 a.m. when they noticed the rear of his house in flames and smoke coming out.

Fire Chief William Sorrie said the cause of the fire is undetermined.

"It's lucky the fire was noticed in its early stages because it is a wooden frame house and it could have been quite serious," the chief commented.

The roof and rear of the back shed and summer kitchen were destroyed and they will have to be rebuilt; but firemen prevented the flames from getting any hold in the kitchen proper. Three lines of hose were used for 11 minutes to douse the blaze.

A washing machine, oil stove, hot-plate, a quantity of clothing and household utensils were destroyed in the burning wooden shed. Karas' next-door-neighbor, Earl Bell of 218 Carlisle Ave. helped him save a new electric stove and some chairs.

Firemen arrived and soon had the fire under control and no other furnishings had to be removed.

"I was wakened by the sound of our dog barking," said Mr. Bell. "At first I couldn't understand what the roaring sound was, coming from next door. Then I looked out the window and saw the fire."

Mrs. Bell phoned in the fire alarm as did another neighbor down the street.

Two Men Killed In Truck Smash

PARRY SOUND (CP)—Two men were killed and a third was seriously injured today when a Montreal moving truck crashed and overturned after leaving the road two miles north of here.

Dead are Marcel Gauthier of Montreal, burned to death when the tractor-truck burst into flames and 17-year-old Donald Walters, of Nobel, 5 miles north of here, who died four hours later in hospital.

Gerald Shonamon, 30, of Montreal, was reported "critically injured."

Police said the accident, which occurred at the intersection of Nobel road and the North Bay road is believed to have occurred when the truck took a curve too sharply. It went off the road, crashed and burst into flames.

Gauthier was trapped in the blaze. Walters and Shonamon were found walking dazedly up the road, with their clothing aflame, police said.

The truck belonged to Westmount Movers of Montreal.

4 Forest Fires Out Of Control

TORONTO (CP)— The Ontario Lands and Forests Department said firefighters are battling six major fires in the province.

Four, out of control, are in the Cochrane and Gogama districts. Two others, in the White River district, have been brought under control. All are burning across slash and mixed timber.

J. C. Dillon, fire prevention officer of the department, said about 100 men, using 14 pumps and six bulldozers had "steered" a 3,000-acre fire in Keefer township, about 28 miles southwest of Timmins, away from a sawmill camp during the night.

He added there is no immediate danger to private property in the Star Lake area of the fire, 30 cottagers were evacuated Sunday night.

Another fire in the Cochrane district, a 75-acre blaze in Childerhose township, also was out of control.

Two other fires on the rampage in the Gogama district cover 700 acres in Kemogaming and 5,000 acres in Reeves townships.

The Bride Wore Jeans, The Groom A T-Shirt While 2 Policemen Witnessed The Marriage

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Bride wore blue—Jeans—in a ceremony at Lindsay last Saturday evening when Police officers were witnesses to the marriage of a Toronto couple. According to chief John Hunter the couple came to the local station last Saturday evening and asked where they could be married right away. They had been vacationing near Fenelon Falls.

Arrangements were made and the ceremony took place at the residence of Rev. Donald McQueen presbyterian minister here. The bride wore jeans while the groom borrowed a sport coat from chief Hunter to wear over his T shirt.

Chief Hunter because of his rank volunteered to be best man "so he could kiss the bride" the only reward he wanted for his service to the couple while constable Ross Bailey in the absence of a bridesmaid attended the bride.

The chief commented later that the occurrence was "just another example of the service the department is willing to provide visitor to town."

To Hold Talks With Eisenhower

No Mention Made Of Specific Reason For Visit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain are coming to Washington on the weekend of June 25 for talks with President Eisenhower.

The president extended the invitation several weeks ago.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, telling reporters about their visit today, said it will be "an informal meeting between the president and his two friends" without any formal agenda.

Hagerty said "many things, a lot of things," will be discussed.

CONFLICT ON POLICY

The meeting comes at a time when Britain and the United States, powerful allies in the Second World War, no longer see eye to eye on various aspects of foreign policy and the effort to check communism.

On the Indo-China crisis, the two governments have been taking different approaches, particularly at the Geneva conference.

The United States has stressed the importance of a Far Eastern alliance to see first whether some settlement on Indo-China could be negotiated at Geneva.

The Geneva talks, which the U. S. has considered all along as lacking any real promise, apparently neared the point of final collapse today.

U.S. INVITATION

Only the barest outline of the forthcoming visit was announced. Hagerty read reporters this brief statement:

"Some weeks ago the president of the United States of America invited the prime minister and the foreign secretary of the United Kingdom to spend a week-end as his guest in Washington. The invitation was cordially accepted and it has been arranged for the visit to take place during the week-end beginning June 25."

How many days the visitors will be here Hagerty was not prepared to say. Nor did he say how Sir Winston and Eden will cross the Atlantic.

The impending visit, Hagerty said, was being announced simultaneously here and in London.

PC's Challenge Gov't Marketing

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives today called for a vote of non-confidence in the government on its wheat-marketing policies.

A motion presented in the Commons by Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North) said the government has "failed to deal effectively with the problem of marketing Canada's wheat surplus."

The motion came as the House resumed the debate on wheat started last Wednesday in the wake of price cuts by Canada and the United States of 10 cents a bushel in export wheat.

Real Hard Work?

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto doctor says wives should not give such strenuous jobs as dishwashing to husbands over 40.

"See that your man gets his rest," said Dr. E. Maurice Heller.

He was one of four Toronto doctors who addressed a medical forum Monday night. Subject of the discussion was: Life begins at 40-why not enjoy it?

Death Benefits Approved By Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Monday approved a plan to provide death benefits of a maximum of $5,000 for the civil service and the armed forces.

Legislation implementing the scheme was passed after the Progressive Conservative party first tried to eliminate compulsory features and then to kill the bill in its present form.

Both proposals were made by J. M. Macdonnell, Toronto Greenwood, on the ground that not enough time was given for consultation among those who will come under the plan and that many of the 230,000 civil servants, especially women and single men, objected to universal coverage.

SEVERAL VOTES

The attempt to give the bill a six months' hoist—in effect killing the measure — was defeated by a formal vote of 114 to 32, with two Quebec independents, Raoul Poulin, Beauce, and Fernand Girard, Lapointe, supporting the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties. The division on third reading, asked by Finance Minister Abbott, resulted in a similar vote of 114 to 32.

During clause-by-clause study, the Commons defeated by a standing vote of 64 to 20 an attempt to strike out the compulsory features.

The CCF party supported the Liberals on all votes.

Under the legislation, civil servants will contribute 40 cents a month per $1,000 of yearly salary to provide their estate with a year's salary, up to $5,000, on their death. The minimum benefit for members of the armed forces will be $3,000.

CONTRIBUTIONS

The government will contribute two months' salary on death, the same as at present. For each year between 60 and 70, the maximum benefit will be reduced by 10 per

80 CCF Candidates To Enter Election

TORONTO (CP)—The CCF has completed plans for putting a minimum of 80 candidates in the field for the next provincial election, Ken Bryden, provincial secretary, said Monday night.

Two candidates already have been nominated—provincial leader Donald MacDonald in South York and Jeff Hall in Nipissing. A nominating convention in Dovercourt is scheduled for tonight; Bracondale, June 22; Halton, June 23; Nickel Belt and Sudbury, June 25; Peel, June 26; Parry Sound, June 28.

Discover Pipefitter Electrocuted; First-Aid Fails

An inquest appeared likely today into the death of William J. Jones, 50, 431 Brioux St., who died Monday night, three hours after coming in contact with a 550-volt live wire at the CGE.

Mr. Jones, a pipefitter, was working on a pipe near a spot welding machine in the motor control section. He was found frozen to a switchbox, unconscious, his right hand severely burned.

He was apparently spattered with water from the pipe before he touched the live wire. This would make his body a better conductor of electricity and lessened chances of reviving him.

STUDY INQUEST

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he would know later today if an inquest will be held. He has not yet consulted with the coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton. However Dr. Carleton intimated he would like an inquest.

Thirty CGE employees worked in relays for three hours, changing positions every two and a half minutes. The futile attempt to revive the stricken man was under the direction of Dr. Donald Whyte.

Mr. Jones was "unconscious from the first," said Dr. Whyte. When the doctor arrived he thought he found a faint pulse, but Mr. Jones "looked blue and dead." He was pronounced dead by Dr. H. G. Carleton at 7:30 p.m.

Wm. Jones

Dr. Whyte paid tribute to the work of the resuscitation teams, noting that artificial respiration was especially difficult since he weighed close to 275 pounds. The shock paralyzed his respiratory centres and he never regained consciousness.

11 YEARS AT CGE

Mr. Jones had been with the CGE 11 years, said Robert M. Hardie, personnel manger. He was doing a repair job at the time of the accident. At 7:30 it was "impossible for us to carry on". Mr. Jones was dead.

One of the first at his side was his only son, Donald, who also

HighwayCharges Trial Date Set

OSHAWA (CP)—The date for the preliminary hearing of six men charged with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government over highways contracts has been tentatively set for July 20, crown attorney Alex Hall of Oshawa said today.

Walter Bergmann, John A. West, Donald Patterson, William L. Bredin, Harold Phipps and Cecil H. Nelson were scheduled to appear today before magistrate Frank Ebbs at nearby Whitby.

All suitable chambers in the county court house were occupied by other cases and magistrate Ebbs remanded the men, construction company officials and former members of the Ontario Highways Department.

Water Polluted Not Fit For Swimming

Little Lake water is still unsafe for swimming, the medical officer of health, Dr. J. P. Wells, warned today.

Conditions which have led to the pollution of both Little Lake and the Otonabee river remain unchanged from last year, Dr. Wells said, although river pollution from Hunter St. bridge to the water treatment inlet of the waterworks, remains "tolerable for swimming."

On Monday night public health veterinarian Dr. Fred Harnden and sanitary inspector K. G. Spencer took samples of water from Little Lake which are now being tested. Results of these tests will be known towards the end of the week.

"In the meantime, I have no reason to believe that the water is any better than it was last year," Dr. Wells told The Examiner today. "The conditions that polluted the lake last year remain unchanged.

"It's still all right to swim in the river between Hunter St. bridge and the water treatment plant inlet, which of course includes Inverlea beach."

But provincial regulations prohibit swimming for 2¾ miles above the water treatment plant inlet, Dr. Wells warned. This stretch of the river contains the city's supply of drinking water.

Couple Drowned In Lake Mishap

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—A husband and wife were drowned in Labyrinth lake 35 miles east of here Sunday but their daughter saved herself and her husband by struggling 60 feet to shore with his unconscious form.

Dead are Ernie Rabelski, 47, and his 42-year-old wife, Nelly, both of nearby Virginiatown. They were thrown into the water with their 19-year-old daughter, Joan, and her 23-year-old husband, Tom Rowe, when an outboard motorboat overturned.

After dragging her unconscious husband ashore, the young wife gave him artificial respiration for two hours before he regained consciousness.

Details of the mishap came to light Monday after the young couple were rescued by a search party.

Radar Speed Traps Now In Operation

TORONTO (CP) — Radar speed traps now are in official operation on the Queen Elizabeth way between Toronto and Niagara Falls.

This was announced today by provincial police commissioner E. V. McNeill who said summonses are expected to be issued shortly as a result of their speed measurements.

Commissioner McNeill added that driving has improved on the Queen Elizabeth since the drive to enforce the 50-mile-an-hour limit was announced. He said he felt the testing of the radar was a factor.

Biggest Defence Test Ever Made

By DAVE McINTOSH

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP) — Trainloads of food and medical supplies were theoretically being moved today to Canadian cities stricken by imaginary atomic attack Monday in exercise Alert.

Supposed casualties were mounting by the hour as civil defence workers, on paper, tried to restore some semblance of order. Already some 215,000 were presumed dead, about 260,000 injured and 255,000 homeless.

It was the biggest civil defence test ever undertaken by Canada and the United States and though there were plenty of loopholes and miscues — they were expected—workers at the control centre here seemed fairly satisfied with the results.

"AGREEABLY SURPRISED"

Maj.-Gen. Frank Worthington, Canada's civil defence director, said he is "agreeably surprised" and then announced that a new exercise will be run off in February with a new set of theoretical targets.

Designated target areas Monday were Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver. Windsor, Ont., and Fort Erie, Ont., were affected by the imaginary atomic blasts which hit Detroit and Buffalo.

Eleven other smaller Canadian centres were theoretically affected by diversionary raids with conventional weapons by imaginary enemy bombers sweeping out of the north or in from the ocean or by supposed sabotage. They were Arvida, Chicoutimi, Bagotville, Ile Maligne and Quebec City in Quebec, Sudbury, Ont., Red Deer and Weslock in Alberta, and Trail, Kamloops, and Victoria in British Columbia.

The imaginary enemy—the word Russia was never mentioned—theoretically suffered "very heavy losses" from its 425-bomber attacking force. Only Canadian report of a theoretical plane kill came from Sudbury, where one supposedly fell into a house.

REPORT CITIZENS SHOT

Quebec City, with vivid imagination at one point, reported that a number of citizens had been hypothetically shot in the streets for refusing to obey civil defence orders.

This report sounded so real that U.S. civil defence headquarters in Washington took it seriously. It required a telephone call from Washington to Arnprior to clear up the matter.

Food was supposedly needed most in Halifax, Montreal, southern Ontario and the lower mainland of British Columbia. Seven days' rations were said to be required for 100,000 persons in Halifax, 150,000 in Quebec, 100,000 in southern Ontario and 100,000 in B.C.

Resources of the provinces to cope with holocaust were considered strained. Provinces not directly affected were theoretically rushing aid to the stricken areas. Many medical supplies and personnel were hypothetically flown to trouble spots.

PLANE LOSSES HEAVY

The imaginary 425-plane attacking force was considered to have suffered "very heavy losses."

Other theoretical movements: 1,00,000 feet of fire hose to fire-ravaged areas: Great Lakes vessels to Toronto to evacuate refugees; thousands of Montreal homeless to four northern New York state counties; boat transportation of refugees from Buffalo and Detroit to Ontario.

Some wrinkles thought up by civil defence workers to add to the theoretical devastation and suffering included:

Nerve gas at Windsor; prisoners released from Oakalla prison near Vancouver when penitentiary damaged; guided missile launched from submarine at Victoria saboteurs and forest fires in Quebec; poison in the north Saskatchewan river at North Battleford, Sask.; "strange bugs" in the crops at Swift Current, Sask.

Natives May Have Antibiotic For TB

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Scientists investigating a fermented milk concoction brewed by South African natives believe they have stumbled on a new antibiotic to fight tuberculosis.

A group of scientists became curious why natives here are virtually immune to the TB so prevalent among local cattle.

The experimenters infected milk with human and bovine TB germs and fermented it. They found the germs were killed by organisms in the fermented liquid.

Police Eject Hecklers From Debate

Rent Control Talks Interrupted By Noisy Objectors

TORONTO (CP) — Police were called Monday to eject hecklers from the public gallery of the Toronto city council chamber during a hot debate on rent controls.

About 60 persons had assembled to hear debate on a motion from controller Ford Brand to extend rent control from the present expiry date, Sept. 2, to May, 1955. They were ejected from the room before the vote, which defeated Mr. Brand's motion.

Mayor Allan Lamport asked police to remove spectators from the chamber after an outbreak of handclapping, feet-stomping and cheering that followed a plea by alderman Philip Givens to face up to the rent control issue.

Ben Nobleman, vice-president of the Tenant Ratepayers' Association, shouted from the gallery that Mayor Lamport was a "tinhorn dictator" denying spectators the right to follow a debate on extension of rent controls.

Mayor Lamport said later that police had forewarned him a group would attempt to disturb the meeting.

"There's no doubt that it was all incited," he said.

Prince Philip To Visit Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Prince Philip is looking forward to his Canadian trip with "great enthusiasm," Group Capt. E. A. McNab said Monday.

The war hero, now a headquarters staff officer, has just returned from London where he conferred with the Queen's husband about his forthcoming three-week cross-country tour.

"Prince Philip has asked that the tour be as informal as possible," said Group Capt. McNab, chief co-ordinating officer in charge of arrangements.

"He wants to see how the Canadian people live, work and play. And he particularly wants to see new Canadian heavy industry. The original program will remain untouched."

Prince Philip will fly to Canada July 28.

Will Attempt Stage Unemployment Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Allan Lamport Monday assured city council that the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves will make every effort to bring about a federal-provincial conference on unemployment.

The mayor was replying to alderman Ross Lipsett who asked whether statements by Prime Minister St. Laurent against such a conference would be the end of the matter.

Mayor Lamport said no official reply has been received from the prime minister to requests for an unemployment conference and it might be that the association would "have to ask the province to request a conference."

cent, so that no benefit will be paid in the event of death after 70.

Mr. Abbott said the legislation will come into effect by proclamation as soon as possible. It now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Mr. Macdonnell said civil servants and the 112,000 members of the armed forces are being dragooned into an insurance plan many of them do not want.

MUST BE COMPULSORY

Mr. Abbott said that after study with government insurance experts the conclusion was that no plan could be operated as cheaply if it was on an elective basis. It must be compulsory to be workable.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC (PC—Esquimalt - Saanich), who questioned the way members of the armed forces were canvassed for approval of the plan, said it has the effect of forcing soldiers into an unwilling bet on the chances of dying.

W. J. Henderson (L—Kingston) said he discussed the legislation with civil servants last week-end and "received nothing but compliments."

Thought Bluffing Man Takes Dose Of Poison, Dies

WARKWORTH (ENS) — A man who threatened to take strychnine but was not believed by his family, died in the early hours of Monday morning while his family tried to get a doctor to help him.

Members of the family watched Elgie Rumsey Palmateer, 43, stir something in a glass. He told them it was strychnine that he had been carrying in his suitcase, but they thought he was bluffing and went to bed. After they had retired he apparently took the strychnine and then roused the family to get help for him.

They had no phone in the home but a neighbour just a few feet away did and they phoned for Dr. Andrews in Brighton about 15 miles away to come. But after suffering great pain for some time, he died before the doctor could arrive.

Palmateer had returned home from Kingston penitentiary on May 25 where he had been serving a term after being convicted of arson. He was paroled on the condition that he get a job within 30 days. Police had been keeping a close check on him and he got a job on a farm in the Peterborough district. He was to start Monday. But at the last minute before he was to get a ride to the farm, he decided no to take the job. Before he died he is reported to have confessed to setting fire to his own home a short time before he was convicted of arson for another house fire.

Born in Castleton, he lived all his life in the district He was the ather of seven children. His father lives in Toronto.

The funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in Morganston United church, the Rev. J. E. Griffith officiating. Burial will be in Cramahe Hill cemetery.

Committee To Study Unemployment Brief

Clauses within municipal scope in the brief of the Peterborough Joint. Labor Council on unemployment are to be studied by the welfare committee of the city council, with expected report, as recommended in a motion by Ald. Stan McBride, seconded by Ald. Alene Holt at the meeting of the board of works last night.

"We are as concerned as they are about any matters relating to unemployment, and in so far as the council can do anything reasonable we want to act to the best of our ability," Ald. McBride said. He suggested that the brief be studied in regard to points that might bear on the civic budget.

If the entire brief with its provincial and federal contents were endorsed, some matters might be included whether or not the council agreed with them, Ald. Farquharson commented. "One item taken out of its context might not be agreeable to the council."

"There are some points that bear on municipal interest," Ald. Gordon Powell said. "One of them is when unemployed workers run out of government benefits."

Predicts Increase In Ontario Business

WINDSOR (CP)—William Griesinger, Ontario minister of public works, Monday predicted a brightening of business conditions in southern Ontario in the near future.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Windsor-Sandwich Progressive Conservative Association, he said he recently returned from a three-week tour of northern Ontario and predicted prosperity in the north will soon be reflected in southern sections of the province.

The minister said he expects a provincial election during 1955 and by-elections in the fall of 1954.

Molotov, Eden Hold Meeting Geneva Talks Near Deadlock

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—Anthony Eden and V. M. Molotov met in a hurriedly arranged private session today as the Geneva conference appeared moving rapidly toward a breakdown.

The Soviet foreign minister requested the meeting with his British opposite number as the 16 countries which fought in Korea on the United Nations side drafted a declaration saying further talks on Korean unification are useless at this time.

The 16 planned to present the statement at a session of the 19-power Korean conference this afternoon. The UN allies want to refer the Korean issue back to the international organization.

The Indo-China phase of the conference is in recess until Wednesday, when it will take up the Western demands that Communist-led Vietminh forces get out of Laos and Cambodia.

Western sources said Communist reaction to these demands on Laos and Cambodia will determine whether the Indo-China talks will continue.

Britain's foreign secretary Eden made this clear at a closed session Monday. He told the nine-party meeting that the Indo-China conference had made but one solid achievement in its seven weeks of deliberation, the start of military discussions between representatives of the French Union and the Communist-led Vietminh.

Eden was understood to have added that if the parley fails to make progress Wednesday on the problem of Laos and Cambodia he is not sure that it would be worth while to continue debate.

He suggested that a wise course might be to suspend discussion until the military commission finishes its work of drawing cease-fire lines.

Informed quarters said Eden was not thinking of any overnight recess, but of a considerable interval.

This is regarded as particularly significant, since Eden, in the earlier stages of the conference, had been the most patient of the Western leaders.

The Communists previously refused to treat Laos and Cambodia separately from Viet Nam, contending that the fighting in all three states stems from nationalist movements. France and her allies contend that Vietminh forces from Viet Nam invaded the two neighboring kingdoms.

He said that provincial transport boards in the past have made reciprocal arrangements for truck and bus operations between provinces. This system would continue under the new law.

Replying to a question by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), Mr. Chevrier said provincial licensing of highway transport from outside will be on the same terms and conditions and in the same manner as the issuance of licences for transport within a province.

ASKED SAFEGUARD

Opposition Leader Drew objected to one clause preserving for the federal government over - riding power to make exceptions to provincial control of the trans-border traffic. Mr. Chevrier replied it would be used in cases of unforeseen circumstances, or for national defence. It had been requested by Nova Scotia as a safeguard against being cut off from highway traffic from central Canada.

Mr. Drew proposed a motion to refer the legislation to a House committee for study, but the motion was defeated on an unrecorded voice vote.

Mr. Drew said the bill was being pushed through too hastily and needed careful study.

The Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association viewed two tuberculosis education films Monday night at their monthly meeting held in the public library board room.

Loaned from the Ontario Tuberculosis Association and the Gage Institute, the films "Coming Home" and a colored cartoon "Rodney" dramatized how people react when they find out they have the disease, and how treatment is effected.

The association had planned to buy one of the films which they hoped to donate to the film council. However because of the high cost of the films, which run from $40 to $70, the members decided to wait until the September meeting, when they will see two more films, before they do any purchasing.

President, Mrs. M. J. Swanston, said the first film would be suitable for industrial showing while the latter was recommended for high school students.

The association will contact the Home and School groups and also the women's institutes to find out whether they would be interested in showing the films when they are received.

Resignations were received and accepted from E. W. Armstrong, association treasurer and G. Grady, public relations and advertising chairman. Both men are leaving Peterborough soon because of business reasons.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT CHECKS

The chairman of the case finding committee, James Heffernan, reported that 60 pre-employment x-rays were taken by 11 industries and companies in this city.

Mr. Heffernan announced that the provincial Department of Health will conduct a three-week industrial survey here beginning September 7. It will follow the same procedure as taken two years ago.

In co-operation with the Personnel Association, Mr. Heffernan will draw up a survey schedule. The mobile x-ray unit will visit all the large and groups of smaller industries. Also the unit will be stationed at George St., for the convenience of the public and retail stores. Food handlers in restaurants and hotels will be x-rayed.

Mrs. R. J. Ward, executive secretary, said that association members visited Peterborough patients in the Sunnybrook, Weston and Gravenhurst sanatoria in the past month. She reported how several of the patients are progressing and read a few of their letters.

The association decided to distribute pamphlets, explaining to patients in the city hospitals, why they are given hospital admission x-rays.

Civil Defence Works Costs $75

Of the $200 appropriation last year for civil defence, expenditure was $75, Acting Mayor Dewart said at the meeting of the board of works Monday night.

"We have about $100 for that purpose in the budget for this year, and have already spent $47 for the placing of the siren at the provincial police district headquarters. Ordinarily that work would cost about $500, based on installations in other cities, but we have had the help of electricians of the fire department, the Chief and Hydro assistance. We also had the chief engineer of the Bell Telephone Co. to look after details of the work."

Ald. H. T. Rehill said Fire Chief Sorrie had held one meeting of the fire chiefs of county and adjoining towns, and another is slated to consider matters of mutual aid, particularly in fire service in conditions of emergency.

There is no further mention of a possibility of the civil defence committee disbanding.

Just briefly Acting Mayor Dewart referred to the political difficulties in France, and of the statement of the leader of the opposition in the British House of Commons "that we may be facing the possibility of a third world war."

Acting Mayor Dewart said it did not appear to be a proper time for any talk of disbanding civil defence.

U.K. Actress Ordered To Leave America

LOS ANGELES (AP) — British actress Simone Silva, who caused a flock of photographers to fall into the sea when she stripped to the waist to pose with Robert Mitchum on the French Riviera, was ordered Monday to leave the United States within 60 days.

Herman Landon, district director of the immigration and naturalization service, said that although Miss Silva came here only on a pleasure visa, she signed a film contract and is receiving a salary.

Postpone Open House At Filtration Plant

Things still look 'pretty crummy' at the filtration plant, commissioner George Macdonald told the Peterborough Utilities commission Monday.

Since some work yet remains to be done at the plant, the commission decided to defer a proposed "open house" at the plant indefinitely. At an earlier meeting it had been suggested that the public be invited to see the plant and have food and coffee as guests of the commission.

Work should be completely finished "before we let a soul see it," said chairman Fred Hills. He suggested that manager Howard Powell "put the heat on" contractors finishing electrical connections at the water plant.

There also is some outside work to be done, said Mr. Powell. The grounds need sodding, seeding and trimming, complicated by difficulty on getting a derrick up to the site with earthfill.

Said Dick Raine: "There's no great hurry. If this delay is saving us money, let's keep the delay."

City Should Pay For Water Main

The city should assume costs of carrying charges on all unoccupied frontages if a six-inch water main is extended along Maniece Ave. from the Trent canal to the east city limits, utilities commission chairman Fred Hills said Monday.

Mr. Hills was commenting on a report from the Board of Health, recommending a main extended from the present 12-inch outlet. City council has asked the commission to report on the economic feasibility of making this extension in a relatively thinly-settled area.

The proposed extension would be 1,020 feet long and would feed easterly from a branch left in the new 12-incher across the Trent Canal. The cost, which includes an additional fire hydrant, would be $5,423.68, according to an estimate made by utilities commission general manager Howard Powell.

It was also suggested that the city pay the difference between costs and revenues, but the board felt the carrying charge arrangement would be better. Estimated revenue from existing properties is $269.80.

Commissioner George Macdonald reported some agitation for water mains on Sherbrooke St. west of Clonsilla Ave. The board agreed that no extensions be made at the present time, unless the township of North Monaghan is willing to pay for installation and service.

Maid Testifies Susan Hayward's Divorce Trial

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Shapely Susan Hayward's contested divorce trial got off to a racy start Monday when the maid next door told of seeing a nude redhead running through the actress' yard at 3 a. m. screaming: "Don't kill me! Help! Help! Don't kill me!"

She wouldn't swear the woman was the red-haired Miss Hayward, but the maid, Mrs. Lodee Hazel Swain, said, "that's who was living next door."

Mrs. Swain added:

A man who appeared to be Jess Barker, the actress' husband, chased her, shouting "you're going to sign that deal." They ran in the direction of the pool and a few moments later there were sounds of splashing.

MENTAL CRUELTY

The star, who appeared in a black silk dress and a white straw hat, charges mental cruelty. She married Barker in 1944, was separated and reconciled in 1947, then separated again last year.

In previous court hearings she said the source of her trouble with Barker was his refusal to work.

The earlier hearings also contained testimony of slappings, a spanking and a near nude dunking of the actress.

Gov't To Increase Judges' Salaries

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Monday night that the government will introduce a bill to increase judges' salaries.

He said in the Commons he will give notice today of a resolution preliminary to introduction of amendments to the Judges' Act. A resolution always precedes a government bill to spend money.

Mr. St. Laurent did not say specifically that the amendments will provide increases in salaries for judges. He said Finance Minister Abbott also is preparing a statement concerning amendments to the Municipal Grants Act.

INCREASES EXPECTED

It is generally expected that the judges increases may run as high as 25 per cent.

Judges' salaries were increased by 33 1-3 per cent in 1946 and again in 1951. The salary of the chief justice of Canada now is expected to be increased to $31,250 from $25,000. The salaries of the eight other justices are expected to be boosted to $25,000 from $20,000.

Other salary increases anticipated:

Chief justice of provincial Supreme Courts, also called Superior Courts or Courts of Queen's Bench, to $20,000 from $16,000; puisne judges of provincial courts to $18,000 from $14,400; county and district court judges to $10,000 from $8,000.

Two Brothers Choose Wrong Place To Sleep

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Orthell and Harvey Richards, Tennessee brothers, felt hot and tired yesterday and picked a shady spot to sleep.

But the spot was under the body of a heavy tractor trailer in the customs yard at Whirlpool Rapids bridge. When the truck started up, Harvey woke up, scrambled free and tried to drag 20-year-old Orthell to safety.

The truck passed over Orthell's left foot, breaking it, and bruised his left side.

PUC Deadlocked On Question Of Buying Truck

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A heated discussion over the proposed purchase of a new truck for the utilities commission occupied a good part of the time of the board at the meeting in the council chambers here.

Mayor Ralph Locke was absent and the board was deadlocked on the question. Commissioners Newman and McGregor were not in favor of purchasing a new truck, but chairman A. J. Meyers and commissioner Witthun favored the idea. The old truck is used mainly around the town power plant for general hauling and for transportation of equipment. Employees claim the truck is obsolete.

Commissioner Witthun and chairman Meyers said repairs to the old truck would be too costly, but commissioners McGregor and Newman said they did not believe the commission should spend any more money on new vehicles this year and the old truck was adequate for all the work it had to do. The result was that no action was taken on the matter.

TO PREPARE PLAN

Arthur Redden, manager of the waterworks department, was asked to prepare a complete plan of the town, showing the waterworks system, including the position of all water mains, valves and hydrants.

The board received a letter from the HEPC saying that body would purchase excess power from the town plant at the rate of one mill per kilowatt hour, but only when they have a market for it.

The board decided to make necessary repairs to the small building adjacent to the power house, as well as to the grounds and picnic tables at the same spot, so that the public could use the spot for a park. It was also decided to repair the roof of the house owned by the commission at Crow Bay, now occupied by John Thompson.

Commissioner Newman presented his pension plan bylaw which was given two readings.

Half a dozen residents petitioned the board with requests, ranging from the extension of water mains to a request to deepen a ditch containing water pipes serving one customer, because the pipes now freeze in the winter time.

The board indicated they would investigate or act on all the requests, providing various conditions were met by the petitioners.

THE RETURN OF PINOCCHIO is heralded by Nick George, cartoonist from Walt Disney's Hollywood studios. Mr. George and Al Margolian, promotion man for the RKO studios, were in town Monday giving chalk talks in four schools. They were introducing one of Disney's most perennial favorites to a new crop of youngsters, not yet born when Pinocchio was most popular. Note to the boys and girls: Pinocchio, was the lad whose nose grew longer and longer every time he told a lie.

Artist Creates Pinocchio For Children

Pinochio came to town Monday to delight a new crop of youngsters, who have never seen the boy of wood created by Carlo Collodi before the Second World War.

Nick George of the Walt Disney studios and Al Margolian, an advance man for the RKO studios toured four schools, giving chalk talks on Pinocchio and his friends. They visited St. Peter's, Queen Mary, Sacred Heart and Armour Heights schools.

Lightning-fast sketches of standard Pinocchio characters were drawn by Mr. George, a veteran of 24 years' service with Walt Disney. This was his first trip to Canada and he says he is still "dazed by the heat."

Seven Disney men are touring Canada and the United States to promote public interest in Pinocchio and his pals. The original Pinocchio film was almost as popular as "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and one of the most successful films ever produced by the Disney studios.

Nine cities will be visited by Mr. George and Mr. Margolian this week. Whirlwind tours of schools will be made in Oshawa, Niagara Falls, Welland, St. Catharines, Guelph, and Galt before Friday.

Cobourg Council

Hold Up Debentures; Only One Bid Made

COBOURG (ENS) — One bid was received Monday night for Cobourg's $80,000 school addition debenture issue. The bid was .07 cents above par. Interest on the bonds was four per cent.

The bond company representative explained the market in municipal bonds had reached its peak and was on the way back. The drop in prices might go even lower.

He said interest in this type of debentures lagged during the summer months. However, he felt the Cobourg bid was good and reflected the company's confidence in Cobourg bonds, as this municipality's bonds always found a ready sale.

Mayor John Burnet commented that an item in a financial paper said that Barrie's bonds went at 3.23 cents above par. The bond company salesman said these had been tendered a couple of weeks ago. He understood that while the municipality had sold them to the bond company, the bonds were still unsold by the company.

PREVIOUS ISSUE

Town clerk Jack Ewart observed that the last issue of Cobourg debentures sold at .18 cents above par, some at 4½ and some at 4¼ per cent.

Councillor Otto Curtis wondered if the matter could be laid over until early fall when the market would be better, but it was pointed out that work on the school addition was shortly to get underway and money would otherwise have to be borrowed from the bank. The matter was tabled for further consideration within the next day or so.

Request of Mrs. Mary Parsons of King street for some action by council to stop the racket of trucks on that street at night, produced the admission from Councillor Otto Curtis that there didn't seem to be anything that could be done to curb it. Other municipalities had tackled the problem without success.

However, when the new four-lane highway went north of Cobourg, it would solve most of the problems of truck noise, Councillor Rolph said.

Resignation of R. T. Shepherd from the planning board was received and filed. Councillor Lillian Richards advised council that she wished to withdraw as council representative on the Opera and Drama Guild and council appointed Alex McKinnon in her place.

PAVING POSTPONED

Due to the fact that D'Arcy street is still in too unsettled a condition to be paved this year, the work would be postponed, Reeve Jack Erskine announced. However, in lieu of D'Arcy street, consideration would be given to putting a new top surface on Division street from Spencer out to the CGE.

Council decided to have the clock tower of the town hall painted while the scaffolding was still there for the job of putting on new clock faces.

Councillor Otto Curtis asked where information could be obtained on defence against atom bombs. He deplored the fact that the civil defence committee had folded up through lack of interest. Mayor Burnet replied that newspapers and magazines carried articles from time to time on the subject but it looked as if the people were not interested.

"It is the same attitude all over the country. We are living in a fool's paradise," said the mayor.

The mayor announced that the sewage disposal plant had run out of chlorine, which accounted for the odor that was worrying residents up that way. However, the plant now had a supply of the chemical and the air was clear once again of offensive smells.

Broadway Lights Dimmed Protest Against City Tax

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Broadway at Times Square, which millions know as the Great White Way, lost much of its customary glitter one recent night.

At a prearranged time, thousands of marquee lights on famous movie houses lining the cavernous stretch from 42nd to 47th streets began to flicker out. Other theatres all over the city joined the flight to darkness. The lights were not switched on again until the next afternoon.

The dim-out was part of a campaign of New York's vast entertainment industry against a five per cent amusement tax proposed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The mayor claims the measure is needed to raise $17,500,000 to help balance the city's $1,639,438,325 budget, largest city budget in the world.

UNPOPULAR MEASURE

To help meet its heavy obligations, the city has already resorted to such unpopular measures as a three per cent sales tax and a $5-$10 "usage tax" on automobiles owned in New York.

The entertainment industry mobilized all its resources to fight the box-office tax. Theatre marquees exhorted the people in big, black letters to get behind the protest.

On the movie screens messages were flashed asking the public's support. Leaders in the fight claimed nearly 1,000,000 people signed anti - tax petitions. Five thousand pickets representing 450 theatres and 24 theatrical unions stayed away from work one morning to parade in front of city hall.

Many newspapers advised the mayor to go slow on the tax measure, arguing editorially that the entertainment industry annually brings millions of dollars to New York and that its prosperity might be in jeopardy.

WON DELAY

The industry's efforts failed to win over the mayor and city council, but they won a delay to July 1 in the effective date of the tax. In the interim, opponents of the tax hope the state legislature will intervene.

The industry claims that due to television and the 20 per cent federal amusement tax, 145 neighborhood theatres have been forced to close in recent years.

The city tax, if approved, will apply to admission charges, or charges for the use of admission facilities, in all places of amusement except race tracks, wrestling or boxing exhibitions. Night clubs and cabarets are exempted, as they are still paying the 20 per cent federal levy whereas for most amusements this was recently reduced to 10 per cent.

Move Made To Amend Labor Constitution

The Steelworkers want to amend the constitution of the Peterborough and District Labour Council (CCL) permitting union representatives to take full share in council's affairs.

This came up Monday night at the June meeting of the council in a notice of motion from Local 5009. USWA (CIO-CCL), signed by Fred Burrett, president of the local.

At present national or international representatives may attend council meetings but may not hold office. The Steelworkers want to change this.

However, as it was the Steelworkers' motion, the labor council executive thought that the revised wording should be worked out by them. This would ensure that the desired changes were completely covered.

Danish Cleric Attacks Billy Graham

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) — A Danish clergyman Monday attacked American evangelist Billy Graham and termed Graham's use of prayer "heathendom incarnate."

"He believes in the power of prayer as the power of man over God," Rev. Borg Hansen, pastor of Our Saviors church here, declared in an article in the evening newspaper Information.

Hansen's main complaint was that Graham, who arrives here June 21 to address prayer meetings, will be permitted to use Copenhagen cathedral.

The Danish clergyman said this is wrong because the established Danish church is Lutheran while Graham is a Baptist and fundamentalist.

Furthermore, Hansen said he could see little difference between Graham's idea of prayer and the "primitive heathen's view of prayer as a means of compelling God to give man what he wants."

Graham's visit here is part of his European tour following a three-month London "Crusade" in which nearly 2,000,000 persons attended nightly prayer meetings in Harringay Arena.

Police Enforce Parking Bylaws

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A number of motorists were surprised to find parking tickets tucked neatly under the windshield wipers of their vehicles on Monday, after they had parked for more than an hour in the downtown section.

Signs limiting parking to one hour between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. and 12 p.m. on Tuesday and Saturday, have been hanging from every light standard in the business section for some time but it would appear that nobody, except those who were unable to find a parking space, paid any attention to them.

Residents complain repeatedly to the police department, saying they are unable to park in the business district, largely because many of the businessmen and merchants park their vehicles on the street.

The police department say they will try their best to enforce the parking bylaws, even though they will meet with stiff opposition from some residents and receive pats on the back from others.

Previously, the parking restrictions had been enforced only on Tuesday and Saturday nights, when stores in the town were open and traffic was heavier than usual.

Explains Insurance To Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Rotarian P. J. O'Sullivan was speaker at the Monday noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club. He explained the various types of coverage to be found in insurance policies.

Speaking mainly on fire insurance, Mr. O'Sullivan said about 200 companies were competing for the 356 million dollars business done annually. Out of that amount of business, the companies made less than 5 million dollars net profit, he said. The earned net profit of the companies averaged about 1.39 per cent.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarian Harry Howson.

Anniversary Marked By Hastings Church

HASTINGS (ENS) —The 102nd anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was celebrated at special servise on Sunday.

At the morning service, the junior choir sang "Teach Me Thy Way" and the senior choir sang the anthem, "Rejoice."

Francis DeCarrol of Campbellford, guest soloist, sang "Fear Ye Not, O Isreal."

The sermon at the evening service dealt with "Anxiety in the Christian's Life."

The senior choir sang "Great is thy Faithfulness." Mr. DeCarrol sang "City Four-Square" and "I Walked To-day Where Jesus Walked."

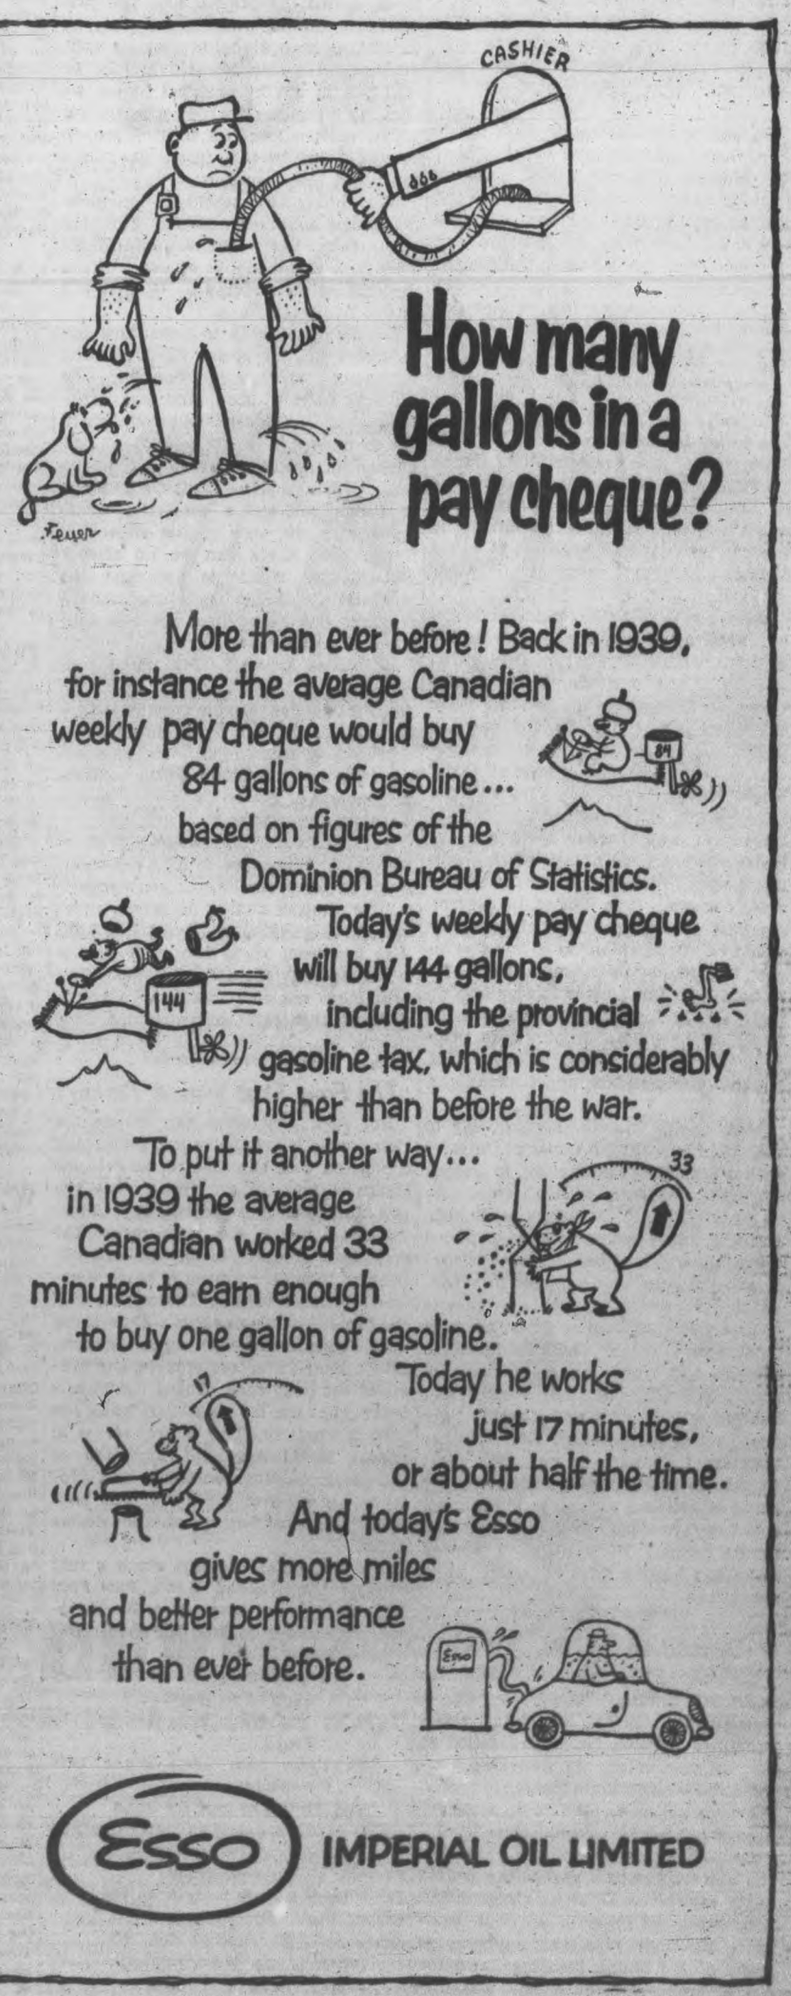
AGAIN the Royal heads north to new industrial frontiers

For over two years the Royal Bank has provided on-the-spot service for the men tunnelling and bulldozing, building dams and transmission lines for the gigantic "Alcan" project on B.C.'s rugged coast. At Kemano, 400 miles north of Vancouver, and at work sites back of the coastal mountains, the Royal Bank has had its branches almost from the beginning.

Now, as the smelter and port are readied for operation, and the new "Aluminum City" of Kitimat emerges from the wilderness, the Royal Bank's Kitimat branch opens for business. So another page turns in the story of Canada's northward expansion, and in the pioneering record of The Royal Bank of Canada.



Elsewhere, too, the Royal has moved forward to new frontiers. Already two branches are operating in Alberta's important new Pembina oil field. And at Port Radium, on the fringe of the Arctic Circle, we maintain the "farthest north" branch bank in Canada.

Do Old Orders Give Place To New?

Now that India is a Republic (though still within the Commonwealth) and there is no longer an Indian Empire, has the ground been removed from under the exalted or eminent Orders of Knighthood based on British Indian service? There are two: The Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, instituted in 1861, and The Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire, instituted in 1877. The conferring of membership in either of these Orders is now a thing of the past: there is no British Indian Civil Service or British Indian Army which were stepping-stones to knighthood, and Indians themselves, that is, Indians resident in India, may no longer accept titular honours from the Queen.

* * *

Is it not an anomaly that there should be two Orders of Chivalry with Indian designations, and none with Canadian reference, considering that India is now a Republic and Canada the most-honoured, the oldest and still one of the most loyal Dominions? Does not the desuetude of the two Indian Orders suggest that there is room for a new Order—one with a Canadian designation?

* * *

Canadians are not averse to a Canadian Order, and we can be sure that Her Majesty and her British advisers would gladly create one, if this were the wish of her Canadian advisers. In 1942 a Special Committee on Honours and Decorations of the Canadian Parliament recommended:

"That His Majesty's Government in Canada consider a submission to His Majesty the King, of proposals for the establishment of an Order limited in number but not involving a title, for which His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada shall alone be eligible."

The recommendation came to nothing. True, in 1943 the first distinctly Canadian decoration for merit was announced, the so-called Canada Medal, but it was a half-hearted thing, conferring no precedence and little honour. It seems to have disappeared from view.

* * *

Why has the 1942 recommendation not been acted on—the creation of a distinctly Canadian Order? One reason has been the attitude of successive Canadian Governments since 1933 when titles were last granted Canadians living in Canada. Further, the recommendation is too limited to make any Order established because of it really distinguished. It is restricted only to Canadians, and thereby could lose the lustre of some great names which Canadians would wish to honour for service done Canada. It is limited in degrees. An order of Chivalry whose highest class would be "Companion" is so low a category that its members would not be able to hold high the honour of membership in it. Both the Star of India and the Order of the Indian Empire have three classes: Knights Grand Commanders, Knights Commanders, and Companions.

* * *

What many Canadians would like to see would be a British Order of Chivalry with a Canadian connotation, to honour Governors-General, without regard to whether they are Canadian or British, great military commanders who led Canadian troops or beside whose formations Canadians were happy to be arrayed, eminent artists, scientists, architects of international finance or polity, philanthropists, High Commissioners to Canada and from Canada—persons of great distinction in their service and quality, who directly or indirectly have contributed to Canadian life, whether they are Canadians or not. But alas! we see no possibility of such an Order being established so long as knighthood is not in favour with Ottawa and so long as Parliament thinks that a special Canadian honour must be restricted to Canadians.

Opposition To Dr. Malan

The vote in South Africa's Parliament yesterday indicates a growing liberal opposition to Prime Minister Malan's apartheid policies. Dr. Malan failed to get, by nine votes, the necessary two-thirds majority of both Houses to amend the constitution to provide separate representations of coloured voters.

Dr. Malan's racial policies have split the chief opposition party—the United Party—as the conservative group within it commits the Party to political impotence by their reluctant approval of many of the Malan measures, and the liberal group opposes them. The disaffected liberals are now a sizeable independent group, and side with the Labour Party and the new Federal Party which originated in Natal. Thus a considerable independent opposition has been created, which has resulted in the Malan Government's failure to get its measure through Parliament.

In many countries today, especially in the U.S.A., there is a tendency to label liberals as Communists or Communist sympathizers. So Malan lieutenants (of the Nationalist Party) are trying to put Red tags on any persons, particularly whites, who oppose the Government's racial policies. The fact is that few of the opposition members are Communist or Communist in sympathy, and it is also notable that the leaders of the opposition to the policies are white people, not the coloured who are most affected by the moves to apartheid.

It seems that the Liberal spirit is not dead in South Africa, despite Dr. Malan—and partly because of inherent economic necessity. A state built on slave labour—as Rome—cannot survive; the alternative to liberalism is suicide, although for a short time, as in Russia and Rome, oppression can hold off the doom. We do not mean to imply that in South Africa the coloured people are always and necessarily treated badly in a material way. It is their spirit that lacks freedom, and that, in the end, is the thing that will bring catastrophe to the Union. It is said that people must be free or die. This is so of a people, a state.

The New Theocracy

From time to time we receive messages from the movement which calls itself Moral Re-Armament, some of which we find interesting. Such a communication was that which came to us from Caux, in Switzerland, at which a gentleman described as 'a atomic scientist from Chicago', called Robert J. Moon, called the present age 'the twilight of mankind, where man's story, as written by man alone, is near its end'. Further, Professor Moon said: 'If we continue to act by intellect alone, we shall only produce craftier weapons for man's destruction; we must learn to listen to God in this fusion age, then confusion will disappear'.

What interests us in this communication is the apparent fact that Professor Moon mistrusts the intellect, and thinks that it is capable only of evil. Unless the intellect is directed by God, it will be evil in its effect.

We should be glad to know how the theocrats of the Moral Re-Armament movement distinguish between the genuine voice of God, and the many convincing imitations thereof which are to be heard in every walk of life, science included? Scientists are not, as some people suppose, anti-God. Many of them, perhaps a majority, would agree with the view of the church of Rome, that there can be no science without God. Scientists, and especially physicists, may not be conventionally religious, but few of them are thoroughgoing materialists.

How does Moral Re-Armament propose to bring human intellect under the guidance of God, any more than it is at present? If they still work by the means favoured by this group when it called itself the Oxford Group, great numbers of people will prefer to reserve judgement on the matter.

As for this being 'the twilight of mankind', it has been so for some thousands of years, for human knowledge is fallible, limited and by no means widespread. Nevertheless, every advance that has been made has used human reason as its chief instrument. Moral Re-Armament neglects reason at its peril, as most theocratic organizations have done.

The Frog That Was A Turkey

Not even a princess can escape the vicissitudes which surround everything connected with the theatre, as Princess Margaret found out recently when she was implicated in a production of Edgar Wallace's weary old melodrama The Frog, by a group of society amateurs in London. The Frog proved to be, in theatre parlance, a turkey. The critics, with one voice, condemned it. Everything went wrong on the first night, including that common amateur trouble, the failure of the panatrope. Gossip columnists report that the Princess wept when she read the notices. This merely serves to endear the Princess of hundreds of thousands of other amateurs and professionals, all over the world, who have felt the serpent-sting of the drama critic.

Years ago Noel Coward wrote a very popular song, called Don't Put Your Daughter on the Stage, Mrs. Worthington. In its issue of June 2, Punch offers a new chorus, thus:

Don't put your daughter in The Frog,
Lady Worthington,
Don't put your daughter in The Frog;
The fact that she's dined with Fairbanks
And Sir Larry and Sir John
Is hardly a case a daughter can base
A good performance on—
In spite of blu-u-ue blood
She'll want a little more than that
Before she's even fit to pat
Dame Sybil Thorndike's dog, SO
Please, Lady Worthington,
Freeze, Lady Worthington
Don't put your daughter in The Frog.

Did A Queen Lose Her Garter?

BY PATRICK MONTAGUE-SMITH
(Assistant Editor of Debrett)

PROBABLY no race is more patriotic at heart than the English, yet none is so careful to hide its patriotism. Thus St. George's Day, the feast of our Patron Saint, passes by almost without notice. One of the few purely English institutions which have captured the imagination is the Order of the Garter, founded at Windsor over 600 years ago. Yesterday marked the first Garter Service of the Queen's reign, when Her Majesty installed her Prime Minister as a Knight of the Garter. This occasion in the history of the Order is perhaps comparable only with the installation by Queen Elizabeth I of her faithful Minister, Lord Burghley, on June 17, 1572, for that earlier "Great Commoner," William Pitt the Younger, who also steered England safely through a critically dangerous period, declined the honour.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS remarkable that both the circumstances which gave rise to our foremost Order of Chivalry and the date of its foundation have been forgotten, and the original Statutes lost. Hence there is strong controversy over various theories as to its origin—why it was named the Garter, and what gave rise to the famous motto of the Order, "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense." All that can be said with certainty is that Edward III much imbued with the romantic spirit of his age, was anxious to raise the prestige of England in the field after the disastrous reign of his father, Edward II. At Windsor, in 1344, he solemnly vowed to re-establish King Arthur's Order of the Round Table, an event celebrated by three days' jousting. A house, 200 feet in diameter, for 300 knights was begun, but war with France brought the work to a halt.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT WAS NOT until three years later, when Edward returned home after the great victory of Crecy, that he again busied himself with the foundation of an Order of Knighthood. The Wardrobe Accounts then mention robes and hangings strewn with garters and streamers with the arms of St. George. It seems probable that the first Chapter of the Order assembled at Windsor on St. George's Day, 1348, with the King as Sovereign and the Knights Companions to the number of twenty-five. They included the King's eldest son, the Black Prince, who was then only eighteen, but, like fourteen of his fellow knights still in their early twenties already a seasoned warrior. What led to the change in the King's plan, and the restriction in the number of members will probably never be discovered.

✧ ✧ ✧

SINCE the traditional story of the dropped garter is often repeated with embroideries, it is worth explaining the earliest account, by the Italian Polydore Vergil, who wrote in the reign of Henry VII, although his account did not see print until 1534. "Among the ruder sort," he wrote, "the saying is . . . that the King . . . took up from the ground the garter of the Queen or some paramour which she before had lost; and divers of his lords standing by did pull in sunder in jest and strove for the pieces thereof as men are wont sometimes for a jewel of small importance; insomuch as the King said unto them, 'Sirs, the time shall shortly come when ye shall attribute much honour unto such a garter,' whereupon he did institute this Order, and so entitled it that his nobles might understand that they had cast themselves in their own judgement."

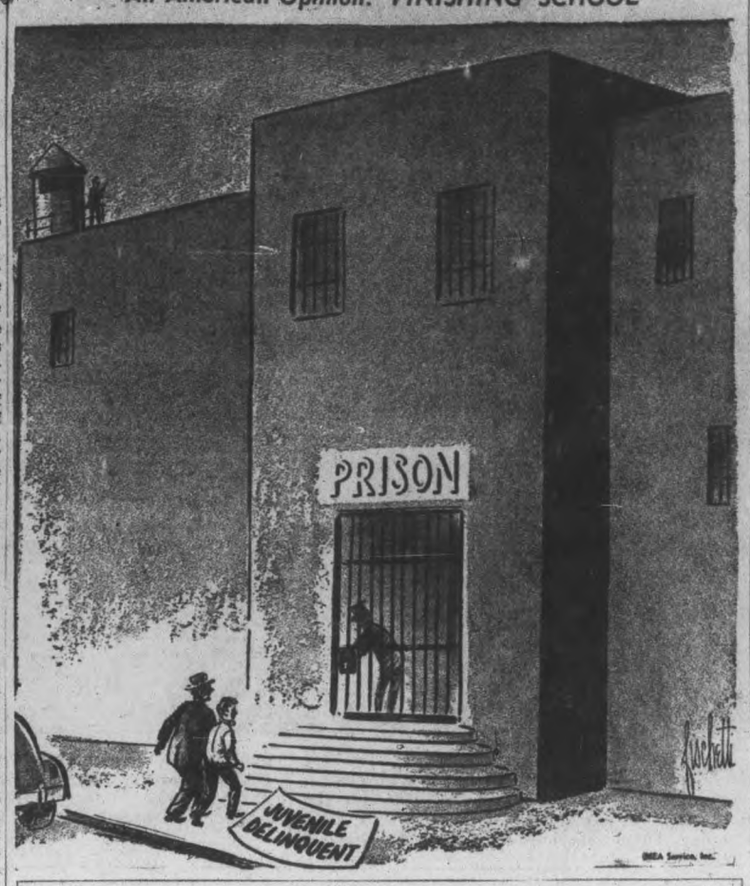
THERE is no hint here as to who was the lady in question. Some contend that she was Alice, Countess of Salisbury, with whom Froissart tells us, the King was much smitten; others say, more plausibly, that it was Alice's daughter-in-law, Joan the Fair Maid of Kent, a Court beauty, and see in the portrayal of the Virgin Mary in the Wilton Diptych a portrait of Joan, surrounded by Garter blue.

There is one other version worth mentioning, that the Garter was Edward III's signal for a battle (perhaps Crecy) which resulted in a famous English victory. The buckled garter, which became part of the insignia, is certainly of a military type then used for holding up the mail, leather or plate protection of the lower leg, and of a very different form from what a civilian or a woman would use. Since the Garter colours of blue embroidered with gold are those of the Royal Arms of France, which Edward III quartered with his own, it is not unreasonbale to suppose that the motto, translated as "Dishonoured is he who thinks evil of it," refers to his claim to the throne of France, rather than to his comments whilst retrieving the dropped garter at a ball.

✧ ✧ ✧



WHATEVER trivial reason brought the Order into being, there is no doubt that the Garter, together with the slightly junior Continental Order of the Golden Fleece, became the most highly prized honour in Europe. Henry V and Henry VIII revived the Statutes, and the ceremonial attaching to the election of new knights (not necessarily at Windsor—Henry VI held a Chapter in the best room of the Lion Inn at Brentford), and their installation in St. George's Chapel, were strictly adhered to. Under the Georges, however, the Order descended into what was virtually a show of pomp indulged in by Peers with influence at Court, and was frequently used as a political bribe. Lord Melbourne was to utter the famous remark that he liked the Garter "because there was no damned nonsense about merit." In Queen Victoria's reign even the ceremonial itself had lapsed; the insignia being merely handed to the recipient and installations declared by dispensation.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN on St. George's Day, 1948, the sexcentenary of the Order of the Garter was celebrated at St. George's Chapel, and King George VI installed the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and others, the ceremony was observed for the first time since the year of Trafalgar. What the Order of the Garter owes to King George VI is not sufficiently known. When he came to plan the revival of the formal investiture of his Knights, he found that, though the words were recorded, the accompanying actions had been largely forgotten, and had to be improvised almost from scratch. But his greatest achievement was in 1947, when, after consultation with the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, he restored the bestowal of the Order into the hands of the Sovereign. Thus the Garter, by ceasing to be a political honour, regained its character as an Order of Chivalry, as the founder had intended.

Billions Of Canned Foods

(ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL)

A statement issued by the Bureau of Statistics this week showed the tremendous growth of the development of canned food products in Canada during the past 17 years. The production of canned foods in 1935 was $50,000,000 and two years ago $359,000,000. The canning industry employed 30,000 people, and it must have been worth about half the total turnover to farmers, vegetable gardeners and fruit growers.

The first successful preservation of food in cans was accomplished by a Frenchman in 1810, and since then the process has expanded and benefitted mankind to an extent only rivaled by refrigeration. There is hardly any kind of meat, fruit or vegetable, or combination of them, that is not available in any store. Many farmers are guaranteed a market for certain products they contract to grow for canning plants. Canned foods are a boon to old couples, to single persons living alone, to married people who both go to work and seldom have time to prepare a cooked meal. They are a necessity for armies in the field, ships at sea, picnic parties, and prospectors and explorers. They are valuable in areas stricken by famine. It is claimed that if there had been canned foods in the days of Napoleon the whole course of world history might have been changed because if the Russians had not adopted the "scorched earth" policy he would not have had to retreat from Moscow, but could have "sat" there through the winter, fed his forces on canned foods, and resumed his attack in the spring. Even dogs and cats now have their canned foods.

Truly the can is mightier than the frying pan.

The Queen's Honours

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

SOMETIMES in the past the criticism has been made of the Sovereign's honours lists that they indicated small appreciation in august circles of the arts and of the country's cultural and scientific activities. There might be knighthoods and peerages for politicians, for millionaires, for distillers and diplomats, but what about the artists, the writers, the scholars?

That criticism has little validity in the Queen's birthday honours announced last week. There is a rare distinction for Somerset Maugham—he is made a Companion of Honour. Edith Sitwell, the poet and a member of a distinguished literary family — her brothers are Sir Osbert Sitwell and Sacheverell Sitwell — is created a Dame of the British Empire. Two journalists get knighthoods: Mr. Beverley Baxter, Canadian-born member of the British House of Commons, and Mr. W. Linton Andrews of the distinguished Yorkshire Post. A knighthood goes to one physician and a baronetcy to another; no doubt the complete list of 59 new knights would show others who are neither millionaires nor politicians nor distillers. The cultural side of British life is not being overlooked by Her Majesty and by those who make these recommendations to her.

Some of us continue to be puzzled by Canada's attitude in this matter of royal honours—lifetime honours, that is. We make rather an ostentatious parade of our democratic virtues—but, curiously enough, only where the Sovereign, the fount of honour, is concerned. We have hosts of cabinet ministers, senators and judges proud to be called "the Honourable." We have a few who are "Right Honourables"—which mean they have accepted from the Sovereign membership in the Imperial Privy Council. And we have the universities turning out honorary degrees on a generous scale. But let the Queen make a "Sir" out of an eminent Canadian jurist or philanthropist or artist? Perish the thought. It would tumble in ruins our whole democratic structure!

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the Lord of hosts. But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fuller's soap: and he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the Lord an offering in righteousness. (Mal. 3:1-3.)

And this is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

And he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ . . .

And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizeth thou then, if thou be not that Christ, nor Elias, neither that prophet?

John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there standeth one among you, whom ye know not; he it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose . . .

The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. (John 1:19, 20, 25-27, 29.)

Rural Air Pollution

(Windsor Star)

Air pollution is regarded as the bane of industrial cities, as smoke or other waste materials permeate the atmosphere. Rural areas are envied their fresh, clean air.

Yet at this season of the year there is a lot of rural air pollution. The fields cannot be tilled until dry and as farmers do their spring work they stir up clouds of dust.

It isn't so disagreeable as it once was. With tractor drawn equipment the farmer sits ahead of the harrow, seeder or cultivator. Unless there is a strong wind from the rear, he doesn't get much of the dust.

In the days of the horse-drawn equipment the farmer had to walk behind, or ride on, the equipment which was raising the dust. From morning to evening he was right in the midst of it. He couldn't escape breathing in a lot of it, to say nothing of that which came to rest on his face and hands and clothing.

Walking behind a harrow was about the dustiest job on the farm. The best that could be said for it is that it was good clean dust, not smoke and other grime from factory chimneys.

Alberta Beer Parlors

(Calgary Albertan)

The beer waiters' strike continues. The union says the hotel operators are determined to break it (the union). The operators say the union is determined to break them. The operators say the hotels will open with non-union labor. The union says they won't. And so it goes.

We think all parties to the dispute including perhaps the liquor control board, have a mistaken idea of the public's concern over the strike.

From several quarters we have heard this remark: "The public doesn't know there's a strike on, and doesn't care. Nobody's complaining at the beer parlors being closed. Most people look on them as stinking dives anyway, and it's a good thing they're closed. People who want to drink beer buy a case and drink it at home, sensibly and moderately. Now wives know where their husbands are, and more of the pay-cheque comes home where it belongs. Family life has been improved in hundreds of cases." And so on.

There's no prohibition talk, just a feeling that the beer parlors aren't very essential to life in the cities of Alberta.

Germany At The CITF

(Brantford Expositor)

Anyone making even the most cursory tour of the Canadian International Trade Fair will carry away among his major impressions one of the tremendous efforts West Germany is making to secure a big Canadian market.

German exhibitors occupy the third largest amount of space of the 27 nations represented. Only Canada and Britain have larger displays. The main German effort, as is to be expected, is in the machinery and tool field, but there is also an impressive array of German textiles and other products. In one respect the Germans at this event are pre-eminent. This is in the amount, thoroughness and attractiveness of the printed matter they offer to carry their trade message.

Much has been published in recent months about West Germany's industrial and commercial revival and her increasing success in winning markets round the world against keen competition. The show put on at the CITF by German firms is first-hand proof that they are on their toes, and the lesson for Canadian and other manufacturers needs no spelling out.

Strikes In U.S. Reach Post-War Low

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strikes are running at a post-war low in the United States, but things may not stay that way.

Major contract negotiations are getting under way in the steel, rubber, telephone, electrical manufacturing and maritime industries to name a few. Any of them could touch off a wave of strikes.

The coal industry is an example. With production dragging because of a loss of export markets and reduced fuel requirements in the depressed steel industry, the United Mine Workers union headed by John L. Lewis is letting months tick by without exercising an option to seek higher pay.

Behind the present relative labor peace is an awareness that nobody is really sure what is going to happen to business. Some of the steam is gone out of the drive that saw workers getting higher wages year after year in the post-war period.

WITHOUT RAISES

During the first three months of this year a great many contracts were settled without any pay raise at all, merely extending former agreements. Yet some employers shelled out heavily, wanting no labor troubles while business was good.

Many union and management men closely following the situation say that, next to the business lag, the reason for so few big strikes these days is that President Eisenhower is keeping aloof from labor disputes.

Under some former administrations, employers charged that unions often fomented strikes, or strike threats, to give the government an excuse to step in and help get them more than they'd normally expect in collective bargaining.

RELATIONS MATURING

Many students of the labor situation sincerely feel that labor-management relations are constantly maturing and that this, too, is an important reason for fewer labor troubles. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said recently:

"Every year about 100,000 collective bargaining agreements are peacefully negotiated or renewed in the United States. The few strikes make headlines, but the numerous peaceful settlements are not news. Hundreds of thousands of individual grievances are settled without a work stoppage every year."

Long-term contracts are paying off, too. The five-year agreements in the auto industry, for instance, have assured smooth labor relations. Those agreements expire next year.

BIG PRODUCER

The mining and metal industries of Sweden, historic steel producer, employ 300,000 workers.

THE ANSWER IS IN THE SOIL—Soviet Union Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, centre, smiles as Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev, left, examines a potato during an inspection tour of collective farms in the Usovo area. Looking on, at right, is A. A. Arifulin, a collective farm worker. According to official Soviet sources, the program to convert 32 million acres of untilled land into a new Communist breadbasket as great as the Ukraine is going badly. The outcome may tell the future of Khrushchev, who, in one year, has risen to equal status with Premier Malenkov. Khrushchev heads what the Kremlin calls "development of virgin soil and wasteland."

Roads Investigating Committee Begins Fact-Finding Tour

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's highways investigating committee tonight leaves on a 4,000-mile fact-finding tour of North Dakota and northwestern Ontario.

The committee, which last Friday completed a three-day tour of northern Ontario, will travel for 10 days, by rail, bus, car and airplane, gathering information for their investigation into irregularities in the highways department.

This afternoon, the committee will meet at Queen's Park to receive an interim report from the Ontario Roadbuilders' Association, to be presented by association president Donald E. McQuigge. It will be the first instance in which the committee will have heard from the contractors themselves; previous testimony has been given by highways department officials.

JOINED BY CRITIC

The committee will be joined in Bismarck, N.D., tomorrow by Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora), outspoken critic of the highways department. Neither Mr. Wren nor Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver, who will catch up with the committee next Monday, made last week's trip on the previous journey to Albany, N.Y. CCF House Leader W. J. Grummett, the third opposition member of the committee, will not make the trip; he leaves tomorrow with the select committee on conditional sales for the Maritimes.

During the two-day stay in Bismarck, the committee, headed by Kelso Roberts (PC—Toronto St. Patrick), will confer with state highway officials. Construction problems in North Dakota are similar to those in Ontario.

The committee will leave Thursday by bus for Rainy River, Ont., then on to Fort Frances, Kenora and Red Lake the following day.

FLY TO LAKEHEAD

Next Monday, the committee will fly from Red Lake to Fort William, site of the original investigation which last week resulted in the sentencing of four former employees of the highways department to jail terms for conspiracy.

On June 23, the group will travel to Atikokan, the next day to Terrace Bay and Marathon. Beardmore and Jellicoe will be visited on June 24, the committee flying back to Toronto June 25.

Mr. Roberts said Monday the committee will resume its Queen's Park hearings June 28 for three days. It is anticipated the committee will then study the controversial report of J. D. Woods and Gordon Ltd., Toronto management consultants, who last month submitted to the committee a proposed reorganization of the highways department.

Texas Financier Takes Over Central Railway

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP)—The board room doors of the New York Central Railroad swung open Monday for Robert R. Young as the Texas-born financier took over the second largest railroad in the world.

The first action of Young and his new board of directors was to elect Young as their $1-a-year chairman and Alfred E. Perlman, 51, executive vice-president of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad, as president at an undisclosed salary.

Perlman succeeds William White who quit his $120,000-a-year job as president of Central, carrying out his promise to do so if Young won.

TAKE POSSESSION

Young and his successful slate went to the massive Central office building astride Park avenue and took possession soon after word came from Albany, N.Y., that the election inspectors had officially named him the winner by a margin of approximately 1,064,000 votes over the old management.

The first woman director in Central's history—Mrs. Lila Bell Acheson Wallace, editor and co-owner of the Reader's Digest — was a member of Young's slate.

Young late in the afternoon issued a statement saying:

"Our self-imposed task of rehabilitating the Central, one of the weakest links in an industry notable for its poor return to security holders, is not an easy one. Success we cannot guarantee but we can pledge sincere and honest effort."

NOTES BRIGHT SIDE

He said a "bright side" of the picture is that all of the industry's 41,000 passenger cars and most of its 1,800,000 freight cars "can be replaced by more efficient types and more than pay their cost out of savings."

A prepared statement was also issued by Perlman, saying his first objective was "a better acquaintance" with the Central "family" and that with abundant talent among the road's 100,000 employees "I am certain that we can build a wonderful team."

Perlman is credited with putting the 2,000-mile Denver and Rio Grande Western on its feet. He joined the road in 1935 when the line had a net deficit of $4,000,000 yearly. Last year it made $9,800,000.

New Lights Dedicated In Bethany Church

BETHANY (ENS) — Special service was held in the United Church Sunday evening to dedicate new lights. The entire building had be rewired and new fixtures installed.

The Rev. Lawrence Norman led the dedication service, officially presenting the lights to the congregation, with the Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville offering the dedication prayer "that the lights may be used to the glory of God and the furtherance of His kingdom in the work of the Bethany United church."

A new reading light for the pulpit was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk in appreciation of 50 years of church fellowship. A new organ light was the gift of William Shean in loving memory of the late Otto Spencer.

The entire altar was banked with baskets of flowers. Miss Jeanne Coulter, Pontypool, presided at the organ, with Harry Preston directing the community choir in three anthems.

The Rev. A. E. Larke preached the sermon.

Trailermen Gain A 12-9 Win In Overtime Tilt

Peterborough Trailermen hitched their wagons to a star or rather a moon which came up like thunder over the mountain city las night.

Backed by the rubber-stopping magic of Moon Wootton, the Man Cup Trailermen defeated Hamilton Tigers 12-9 in overtime after surging back to overcome a 7-3 lead cherished by Tigers at halftime.

The win strengthens trailermen's lead in the Senior OLA and gives the Petes an 8-2 seasons record; Tigers missed a chance to move up on the St. Catharines Athletics, remaining instead in third place with a 4-5 mark.

PACED PETES

Russ Slater with three goals—including the one which broke the ice, and an 8-8 tie, in the overtime—paced the Petes. Coach Bob Thorpe and Denny Peterson got two apiece while Bob Curtis, Rock Batley, Grant Burns, Harry Wipper and Curly Mason got the others.

Only honor won by Tigers was in a third-period brawl between Tiger Doug Davidson and Petes' Curly Mason. Both were banished from the game but not until Mason had received a cut and bruised eye which needed medical treatment.

After taking a 2-1 first period lead, Peterborough faded in the second period when Tigers outscored the Thorpe thumpers 6-2. But Trailermen stormed back to get four unanswered goals in the third period to tie the game at 7-7.

INTO OVERTIME

The teams each scored single goals in the fourth period to send the game into a 10-minute overtime period. Slater tallied after less than two minutes play on a free ball. He added another four minutes later to equal the two-goal overtime production rate of his coach, Bob Thorpe.

Tiger's best was Skip Teal who scored three goals, Jack Dorney and Jim McNulty got two each for Hamilton while Tony D'Amico and Bob Dobbie got one each.

Condition was the big factor in the Tiger defeat. They ran out of puff late in the game and could only score two goals in the last 40 minutes of play while Trailermen piled in nine.

The teams:

Petes — Goal., Wootton; defence, Nickle, Wipper, Fitzgerald; forwards, Thorpe, Mason, Curtis, Allan, Ashbee, Burns, Peterson, Batley, Killingbeck, Slater, Powell.

NHL Revises Number Dressed Players

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League Monday revised its rule on the number of players who may be dressed so a squad will be cut by two Dec. 1. The rules makers also dealt tentatively with a proposal to change the penalty shot rule.

The new number-dressed rule affects only the NHL. Last season the regulation provided for 16 and goalie.

Under the new rule each club may dress 18 players and goalie until Dec. 1; thereafter for the remainder of the season the limit is 16 and goalie.

It was felt the new rule gives more leeway for a thorough tryout of players in regular competition.

The NHL rules committee is drafting likely changes in the penalty shot regulation, whereby the man fouled must take the shot and cannot shoot from any point within 28 feet of the goal. If no goal is scored the puck is in play.

Under the present regulation any member of the team fouled may be designated to take the penalty shot, and can skate in atop the goalie without going into the crease.

Referee-in-chief Carl Voss said he thinks more penalty shots will be called if the rule revision is made. There wasn't a penalty shot called in the NH last season. Voss said the present rule makes a goal almost certain, whereas the new rule would provide a fast scramble if the goalie blocks the puck or it is shot wide.

LAWN BOWLING

With close to half of the club members competing, the annual singles competition got away to a good start Monday evening, and with 19 games going at the same time, it was rather difficult to cover them all. The men's open trebles tournament commences tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock.

A number of lady bowlers are taking in the open trebles in Port Hope on Wednesday.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Under the dignified letterhead of "The Priory of Canada of The Most Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem" comes a reminder from headquarters in Ottawa of the 855th birthday June 24 of the Order of St. John, parent body of St. John Ambulance Corps. A word of praise for this body might not be amiss in this column as members of this Ambulance Corps are always available at major sports events in Peterborough ready to render first aid to the injured, and charging nothing for the service. These trained chaps in smart blue uniforms step in promptly to help in case of athletes receiving cuts, fractures, dislocations, etc., and also willingly assist the general public at fires, near-drownings, and so forth. A good outfit and we wish the Corps well on the June 24th birthday.

In baseball, the senior Petes travel tomorrow to Oakville for their first VOBL fixture on that diamond. Oshawa comes here Saturday. Club treasurer Ben Swartz is busy making arrangements for the "Miss Baseball Queen" contest this season, sponsored by Toronto Leafs but with Peterborough, among other centres, running their own preliminary show. Just a couple of more weeks, also, till the famed Satchel Paige comes here with his colored ball stars for an exhibition with the House of Davids. Satch, by the way, held Joe DiMaggio hitless in 62 times in American League games. Bill Sisler's big baseball school rally is tomorrow eve in the Collegiate auditorium.

He Says It Isn't So

Commenting on our report by local OLA club officials that Ross Powless was paid $600 to sign by St. Catharines this season, scribe Jack Gatecliff of that centre says it isn't so. Claims they'd gladly have paid all their players that much if they had the dough, but long lettuce just wasn't available. Furthermore, he says that it is incorrect to say that some good players refused to sign with the A's and were sold to Hamilton. "Every player of last year's club," he writes, "who was asked to sign did so promptly and with no coaxing. With additions this year, it was impossible to sign the entire 1953 roster. A team can only dress 15 players and Athletics now carry 17."

* * * * * *

Jack goes on to say there is no dissension in the Athletics' camp, and there is none either in the Petes' club. Says he: "Three straight Mann Cups proves there has been no mutiny in Bob Thorpe's dressing room, or is there likely to be. If the A's are to win the title they must do it on the playing field and not hope for internal strife on the Peterborough club to give them any moral aid. The Petes must also lay their plans along the same lines because the Athletics are solid in their loyalty to Coach Doug Cove and have no idea or reason for seeking any better deal than they have at the present time." Hm, could be — but it was worth a try, anyway!

Moon Jinxes Tigers

Trailermen had to hustle all the way and stage a rousing finish in Hamilton last gloaming to take a 12-9 OLA overtime win o'er Tigers. Bob Thorpe and Russ Slater each came up with two goals in the extra heat to assure the win, which Moon Wootton played an extra large part also in obtaining. Slater now leads the loop scorers with 29 points, two more than Jim McNulty of Hamilton, and Rusty can be credited with keeping the Petes atop the heap with brilliant play since they broke from the barrier the middle of May. Petes had the condition last night and they had Moon. The junior players turned in a nifty chore, too. A fairly clean fray but for one fight betwixt Davidson and Mason Harry Wipper is another local stalwart this semester, going good every game. Petes have Mimico Mounties here Friday.

Something new is being tried here (and in the province) in football. Orfuns' executive has a number of ladies interested and willing to act as officials of a Quarterback Club, which hopes to obtain some 3,000 members for the coming season. Complete slate of officials will be announced again. It is felt that the feminine touch is good for sports, and no one can argue with that aspect. Viceprexy Dr. Don Aiken — presently at a medical convention in Vancouver — will sound Annis Stukus on a local tie-up with the senior football club there, and club president Jack Harris will work on some angles on a trip next month to Winnipeg. Looks like a large grid season for Peterborough comes autumn.

Milwaukee Pitcher Gets $100 Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Jim (No-Hit) Wilson has a new $100 suit today because he declined to go fishing Sunday.

Wilson, who pitched the major league's first no-hitter of the year Saturday against Philadelphia had been given the day off by Milwaukee Braves' manager Charlie Grimm. He showed up Sunday just the same.

"I told you to take the day off and go fishing," said Grimm, when he saw Wilson.

"I don't like fishing," Wilson replied.

"All right, then," said Grimm, "go out and get yourself a $100 suit and send the bill to me."

Bill's Men Get Close One In 11 Innings

Sparkling men's softball, particularly in the nightcap of the regular Civic League twin bill at the Bowl featured as the largest crowd of the season turned out to cheer the boys from Seabrook Electric, Fairviews, Bill's Lunch and Bell Telephone, Monday night.

Seabrook's took the opener over the Presbyterians 15-2, for their seventh win of the year against a single defeat; while Bill's Lunch emerged triumphant 3-2, over Bell Telephone, after 11 innings of hectic play to thrill a spellbound gallery. This enabled Bill's Lunch to cling to second place, a half game back of Seabrook's, with a record of six and one.

A GOOD EFFORT

Ralph Parnell sent Al. Conroy to the hill for Barry Seabrook's boys in the first game, and Al came through with a great effort to win handily over Humphries and Fowler. Dave Quigley and Goodfellow starred at bat for the winner, as Fairviews suffered an off night, offensively.

Bob Welsh called on Ellis (Petie) Peters to charm the Bell boys; and the Monghan Road youth twirled lovely ball to win by a whisker. Bill's scored two in the third off Joe Gordon, who all but matched Bill's ace over the route. The telephone boys tied the score in the sixth with a pair; and despite some nifty play, neither team tallied until the 11th.

Then pinch-hitters Roger Wilson and Topper Sanderson bunted safely and singled respectively; Padgett drew and intentional pass, and Don Evans cracked a single to left to score Wilson. That was it, Peters allowed six hits, fanned 15 and walked but two.

Slater Tied On Top Of OLA Scorers At First Of Week

Russ Slater of the Peterborough Trailermen and three other players, of Hamilton and St. Catharines, are tied for the leadership of senior Ontario Lacrosse Association scorers, according to figures compiled by statistician Jack Gatecliff of St. Catharines. These figures are for all games up to but not including Monday of this week. (If Slater or Jim McNulty of Tigers scored any points in last night's encounter at Hamilton, they would be out that much further in front of the pack, as St. Catharines were idle Monday.)

Actual leader in goals up to Monday was Slater with 19, his six assists bringing his total to 25 points. McNulty had 13 goals and 12 assists for 25, Ross Powless of St. Catharines 12 and 13 for 25, and Norm Corcoran of St. Kitts 11 and 14 for 25.

SECOND PLACE

Denny Peterson held down second place alone in the scoring race up till Monday with 15 goals and eight assists for 23 points, one more than Bob Dobbie of Hamilton and Derry Davies of the Athletics. Next was Jerry Fitzgerald of the Trailermen with six and 14 for 20 points, while teammate Curly Mason had six and 13 for 19. Roger Smith and Doug Smith of St. Catherines were tied with 18 points apiece. Jerry Fitzgerald and Norm Corcoran had most assists, 14 each. Among these top OLA senior scorers, Curly Mason had most penalties, serving 29 minutes, Doug Smith being next with 24 and Roger Smith having served 22 Dobbie and Fitzgerald had each served but one minor penalty.

The standing to then had Petes on top 14 points, St. Kitts with 12, Hamilton eight and Mimico nothing. Team goals were: St. Kitts 103, Petes 91, Hamilton 81, Mimico 57. Goals against: Mimico 109, Tigers 79 and Petes and St. Catherines 72 apiece.

NOW LEADS OLA—Russ Slater of the Trailermen scored three and aided on one in the Petes' 12-9 overtime win in Hamilton last night to boost his points' total to 29 for the season and give him undisputed possession of first place among the scorers in the OLA ,two points ahead of Jim McNulty of the Tigers.

First Year Of Television Cuts Attendance At Football

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-nine per cent of the "average" football fans in United States television areas haven't bought a ticket to a college game since 1950—the first year television had a big impact on attendance. The percentage might be higher if some of those fans hadn't waited until the last year or two to buy their sets.

Of those who did buy tickets in 1952 and 1953, nine out of 10 confined their attendance to games played by a single team.

When they turn to TV for their football, more than three-quarters of these fans want to continue watching their favorite teams or those in their own geographical area.

DON'T MIND

But most TV viewers don't know which game will be shown to them on any given Saturday—and they don't seem to mind as long as they know there'll be a game to watch.

These are some of the significant facts turned up by the national opinion research centre of the University of Chicago after studying the nature and habits of the average college football follower.

The centre, satisfied that its earlier studies for the National Collegiate Athletic Association had proved conclusively that live televising of games has an adverse effect on attendance, concentrated its 1953 studies on the fan himself.

The brief survey of 1953 attendance trends showed a continued decline in crowds coinciding with the increase in the number of TV sets. The pattern was about the same as in previous years, leading to the conclusion that the maximum effect of "controlled" TV has been reached and that attendance should level off at about 27 per cent below the 1947-48 average.

"TREMENDOUS" EFFECT

The survey indicated that "uncontrolled" or regional televising of football would have a tremendous adverse effect.

It also failed to find any indication that the "novelty effect" of TV is wearing off. Rather it indicated the opposite—that "watching the telecasts of games breaks the habit of attendance and becomes a new habit itself."

The "fans" selected for this study consisted of a selected group of about 900 who professed to have some interest in football. Of more than 6,000 originally questioned by researchers, more than two out of three said they weren't interested in football at all.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Have you ever been close to a race horse that had broken a leg? If you have seen the agony in the eyes of an injured horse, you are not likely to forget it, ever. And when this happens to three or four horses, it's sheer brutality.

It did happen at Britain's Grand National this year. One horse dropped dead. Three others suffered such injuries that they had to be destroyed. When the race was over, many Britons protested, and we think they were right.

The killing of four horses in one afternoon is definitely not our idea of sport. The Grand National is supposed to be the great test of equine courage and stamina. But why make such a test, anyway? Everybody knows by now that the thoroughbred horse is gallant to the death. So why carry on with this slaughter, when nothing remains to be determined—except, of course, the sweepstake winners?

There is something wrong with the conditions of a race in which only nine out of 29 starters are able to finish. The Aintree course has thirty obstacles. One shudders to see courageous horses charging at those obstacles, only to crash with broken legs, broken necks, broken backs, floundering in helpless agony until mercifully dispatched.

This is a changing world. We like to think it's a less cruel world than when there flourished in Britain and elsewhere such vicious "sports" as bull-baiting, dog fighting and such. Standards are being relaxed for humans. Why not for horses?

The Aintree course need not necessarily be shortened. Four miles 856 yards is not an unreasonable distance for a horse of good breeding. But the obstacles should be lowered, the ditches narrowed. A few changes in the Aintree layout could make it less hazardous, less of a suicide course.

Major Ball Clubs Not Finding Victory At Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The major league ball clubs are on the move again. Back in the old days, the teams counted on building up a nice bulge on the opposition during the long home stands.

But home isn't like that any more, especially in the National League. Seven of the eight teams can't win for losing in their own yard this year. However, New York Giants have won 13 and lost eight in the Polo Grounds. In the American League, Cleveland, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees, 1-2-3 in the standings, own winning records both home and away.

BEST RECORD

Cleveland has the best home record in either league—16 victories and six defeats—and opens a 13-game home stand tonight against Washington.

Cleveland stretched its lead to two games over the White Sox Monday by beating Boston for the fifth straight time. The score was 13-5, with the Indians unloading 22 hits against Bill Henry, Tom Herrin and Tom Brewer. The game was the only action in the American League.

In the National League's single contest, Chicago Cubs celebrated their escape from home — where they lost 10 out of the last 12—with a 6-5 verdict over the Pirates at Pittsburgh. Hank Sauer's 20th home run, with Ralph Kiner on base, gave the Cubs the deciding runs.

WAS FAMED CRICKETER

LONDON (Reuers) — George Brann, 89, a famous English cricket and soccer player who toured Australia, South Africa and the United States in the 1890s, died Sunday.

Battalion Wins Sports Tourney

IN KOREA (CP)—The 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, has won the Ambassador's Trophy for the highest aggregate score in a giant sports meet staged by the 25th Infantry Brigade.

The meet, biggest ever staged by the Canadians in Korea, was held on the brigade's new 20-acre recreational centre — Maple Leaf Park. The trophy is a silver cup donated by Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Canadian ambassador to Japan.

Responsible for organizing the meet was Lieut. Charles Panet of Kingston, Ont., the brigade's sports officer.

Slow Progress

LONDON (CP)—Pakistan scored 50 for the loss of three wickets Monday in a slow-moving start to their first test match against England at Lord's. Bad light halted the day's cricket 10 minutes early.

The match, scheduled to start last Thursday, was delayed by the tail end of England's eight-day rain. As late as Sunday, ducks were seen splashing in small ponds near the boundary.

Home Runs Pushing Toronto Ahead In Baseball League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Improvement in the home run department by Elston Howard, tabbed by the New York Yankees as Yogi Berra's possible successor, is one of the chief reasons Toronto is leading the International League.

The big catcher hit his eighth homer of the season Monday night as the Maple Leafs nipped Syracuse Chiefs 5-4 and increased their league lead to 1½ games over the idle Rochester Red Wings.

The 25-year-old rookie, on option from the Yankees, hit only 10 homers in 139 games last year for Kansas City Blues in the American Association. Today he is also batting well above the .350 mark.

Toronto scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth, climaxed by Lew Morton's single—after he had dropped two fly balls earlier in the field. Sam Jethroe started the rally with a home run and Loren Babe singled in the tying marker off loser Duke Markell. Howard's homer came in the second inning and gave the Leafs a temporary lead.

In the only other game, Havana Cuban Sugar Kings scored two runs in the eighth to down Richmond Virginians 3-1 in the second game of a scheduled doubleheader. The first game was postponed because of rain.

Royals Sign 2 Players Two Others Released

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph-Waterloo Royals of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League signed two players and released two others Monday.

The new players are shortstop Marv Rich and pitcher Stan Larimer. Shortstop Harry Musselman and pitcher Ray Butler have been dropped. Rich, a teacher in New York state, had been unable to report earlier.

Marciano Ready For Title Bout

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano relaxed in the sunshine Monday, talking shop with the boxing writers before his heavyweight title defence against ex-champ Ezzard Charles Thursday night.

"Nothing will surprise me too much," he said. "I won't be caught short. I always figure the other guy at his best. If he's a little below par, that's so much the better but I don't count on it.

"It was the same way the night I fought Joe Louis. A lot of people told me he was over the hill but I didn't listen to them. To me, he wa sthe Louis I had been reading about for years."

The champ was berry brown from the summer sun and completely relaxed. If this was a "stale" fighter, you'd never know it.

"I feel just the same as I always do before a fight," he said. "Maybe I wouldn't know if I was overtrained. I just get in shape and then go in there and fight."

Hockey Magnates Draft Five Players

MONTREAL (CP) — Only five players were drafted Monday when hockey magnates of the National Hockey League and minor pro circuits met in an inter-league draft meeting.

Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins were the only NHL clubs picking players. The Hawks took three from Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League, winners of the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy in the last post-season series between the WHL and Quebec Hockey League. The three are Max Quackenbush, Pat Lundy and Bill Schvetz.

For $5,000 the Bruins drafted William Matthew from Sydney, N.S. Syracuse Warriors of the American Hockey League drafted Ross Lowe from Victoria of the WHL. The price tag was $7,500.

Snider Claims Honors League Batting

NEW YORK (AP)—Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the newest candidate for National League batting honors.

The slugging outfielder wrested the lead from team-mate Jackie Robinson this week and withstood the challenge of Stan Musial and Ray Jablonski, the St. Louis Cardinals' one-two batting punch.

Sixth a week ago, Snider boosted his average 19 points to .378. The Duke, who batted .336 in 1953, collected 17 hits in 36 at bats.

Musial remains in the runner-up position with .370 and Jablonski still is third at .369. Robinson, meanwhile, lost 33 points and tumbled from the top to sixth at .355. Figures include Sunday's games.

The top two places in the American League hitting list remain the same. Leader Bobby Avila of the Cleveland Indians and team-mate Al Rosen, in second, are sidelined with injuries. Avila, the Mexican second baseman, holds a .381 clip and Rosen boasts a .346 mark. Neither saw action last week.

Detroit's Frank House advanced from ninth to third with .331.

Musial has taken over undisputed possession of the National League home run lead with 21 and also is the pace-setter in runs batted in with 69.

Despite his inactivity, Rosen still heads the American League home run parade with 13, while Minoso shows the way in RBI supremacy with 53.

OHA Executives Meet For Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of OHA senior A clubs and members of the OHA executive meet here today to plan for the 1954-55 seas

Important issues include the number of games to be played during the schedule and the number of teams to be included in the league. Today is the deadline for team entries in the senior group.

Teams represented will be Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Niagara Falls Cataracts, Chatham Maroons, Hamilton Tigers, Stratford Indians, Windsor Bulldogs and Owen Sound Mercurys.

Representatives of the Sarnia Sailors, who dropped from the league last December because of financial difficulties, have also been invited to attend.

Edmonton Venue For Professional Golf

EDMONTON (CP) — The 1954 Canadian Professional Golfers Association tournament will be played at Edmonton's Mayfair Golf and Country Club July 9-10, club directors announced Monday.

A field of 35 to 40 players is expected to compete in the $4,000 tournament, a 54-hole medal event.

Jules Huot and Bill Kerr of Montreal, Gordie Brydson and Al Balding of Toronto and Gerry Keselring of Kitchener are among the probable contingent from the east.

West coast competitors will include Stan Leonard, Freddy Wood, Leroy Goldsworthy and Bill Mawhinney. The Alberta group will be led by defending champion Henry Martell of Edmonton.

Police Discover $75,000 Ransom Money

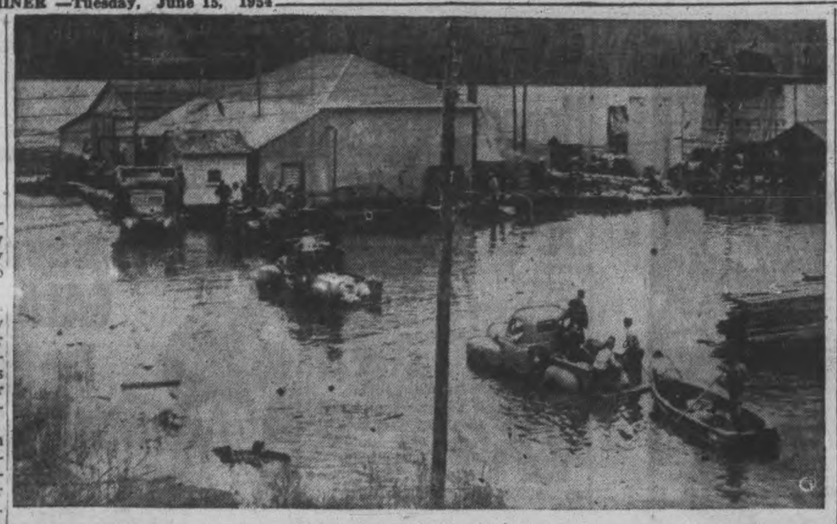
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Discovery of the $75,000 ransom money has cleared up a major mystery in the Evelyn Ann Smith kidnap case.

The missing cash, bundled in a man's work shirt with a shiny pistol lying on top, was found near the Superstition mountains Monday. The hiding place was less than 10 feet from a road over which dozens of police had traveled since Friday.

About 100 yards away is a ranch house near which Daniel J. Marsin, an unemployed Phoenix welder, was apprehended shortly after the ransom was paid by Mrs. Smith's husband, Herbert.

Marsin, 41, was identified by Mrs. Smith as her abductor.

Police placed the money in a shoe box, which was labeled "$75,000" and hung on a tree, and continued the search for a rifle and binoculars the kidnapper was reported to have used.



USE MINE DETECTOR

A mine detector was taken into the foothills of the Superstitions to use in the hunt for the rifle.

Meanwhile, Marsin is in jail awaiting preliminary hearing Wednesday on a charge of kidnapping. Marsin's lawyer, John J. Flynn, has said "lots of answers will be given" at that time.

The questions to which Flynn referred and the sudden discovery of the pay-off money prompted county attorney William P. Mahoney to call this "the most fantastic kidnapping case in American history."

Mahoney said he believes the intricate planning that went into the kidnapping will link Marsin to the crime.

SAVE COMMUNITY POWER — Farmers and townfolk in trucks and boats carry sandbags to the combined power plant and pumping station at the town of Athabasca, 100 miles north of Edmonton. The station was threatened by flood waters as the Athabaska river approached its flood crest. At least 400 men were involved in the 24-hour project. The rising waters, the result of a week of heavy rain in Northern Alberta, also swept away about 5,000,000 feet of lumber stacked along the river bank. —(CP Photo)

Minister Regards Communism As Dead End

OTTAWA (CP) — Modern Christians face the danger of becoming spiritually anaemic, Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, president of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec says.

Mr. Morgan, minister of Murray Street Baptist church in Peterborough, Ont., spoke Monday night at the opening session of the annual assembly.

Using "Our Liberty in Christ" as the theme of his presidential address to the 500-odd Baptist ministers and lay delegates attending the four-day congress, he said communism is a "dead-end street" in the search for freedom.

Nor was freedom found in "social status, possession of material things and indulgence in selfish pleasures." Christians today are so busy with schemes, projects and committees that "we scarcely have time to say our prayers."

He said the non-Christian "is a slave to sin, to the law and to the fear of death." The Christian was a bond slave to Christ.

The conference opened with a conference of ministers. At an evening banquet, John Diefenbaker Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert, told the delegates he believes that ideas, in this age of the atomic and hydrogen bombs, still are more powerful than bombs.

KIDNAP BRIDE MARRIES—The former Tassoula Petracogeorgi, 22, and her second husband, Dr. Sophocles Adamanides, a Salonika physician, leave on their honeymoon following their marriage near Athens, Greece. The bride's first marriage four years ago, after her willing abduction to a mountain hideout by the impetuous bridegroom, almost revived bloody family feuds on the island of Crete. The marriage was annulled in 1952.

Bitten By Rattler

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Wilfred Watkinson of Mactier, 25 miles south of here, was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital today after being bitten by a rattlesnake near her home. Mrs. Watkinson was bitten on the top of her foot as she walked through the bush, stockingless and wearing sandals.

Move To Toronto

VANCOUVER (CP)—Offices of the Canadian Medical Association will be consolidated in Toronto as quickly as possible, CMA officials announced Monday night. The decision to consolidate administrative and publication offices means editorial offices of the association's official publication, the CMA Journal, will be moved from Montreal to Toronto.

Canadian Chamber Of Commerce Wants More Commonwealth Unity

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce thinks something should be done to bring about better understanding among Commonwealth and Empire countries, and that it should be done quickly.

The Canadian view is one of a long list of submissions from Canada and other countries which are under a three-day committee study by the congress of the Federation of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, which opened Monday.

Under the Canadian chamber's suggestion, each national body represented in the federation would set up a committee to study and make recommendations as to how, at the governmental, voluntary association and individual level, mutual understanding may be fostered and developed.

Further, says the Canadian body, each national organization should report its findings to the federation within one year. Then the federation should review the various proposals with a view to making over-all recommendations within six months of receiving the individual suggestions.

The Canadian chamber is outspoken, too, on the subject of international trade.

TWO-WAY TRADE

"International Trade," it says, "is a two-way affair and the flow of exports and imports are mutually dependent.

"This principal must be recognized by positive action on the part of all members of the Commonwealth and Empire if international trade is to progress, economic relations are to improve and the free nations strengthened to deter aggression."

W. J. Borrie, of Vancouver, president of the Canadian chamber, is chairman of the congress committee on international payments, including international trade, which will deal with the Canadian trade presentation.

The Regina Chamber of Commerce asks the congress to discuss disposal of exportable surplusses of Commonwealth foodstuff and material with particular reference to Canadian wheat.

Other views expressed by the Canadian chamber include:

The question of trade between countries of the Free World and Communist countries should be studied with a view to developing a uniform Commonwealth policy.

Countries requiring capital from other countries should provide a satisfactory climate to encourage the flow of private investment. Pledges should be sought against expropriation without prompt, adequate and effective compensation. At the same time, countries providing investment capital to other countries should be prepared to buy from them.

Transit Industry Unpopular

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—S. Sigmundson, Vancouver, president of the Canadian Transit Association, said at the annual CTA convention Monday that the transit industry has probably the worst press of any industry, certainly of any of the public utility services, in the United States or Canada.

"There are probably more unkind letters to the editors about transit and transit services than for any other industry. . . .

"With few notable exceptions, transit management people are cowed, unenthusiastic and worried. All our woes may be traced back to the private automobile. Lack of patronage and crippling traffic congestion come back to this one source."

The industry had been "too poverty conscious in its thinking and too unimaginative about what the people will pay for a product they want. We cannot make riding in a public transit vehicle as attractive as driving your own car but we can at least come closer to approaching it than we do now."

Older People Susceptible To Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis is becoming increasingly a disease of people over 50 years of age and especially is this so in respect to males, said Dr. G. C. Brink, the provincial director of the tuberculosis prevention division of the provincial department of health.

He gave a brief survey of the tuberculosis situation in Ontario to the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting in the Empress hotel Monday.

In 1931 the ratio of people dying of tuberculosis under 40 years of age and those over 40 was 2 to 1. Twenty years later in 1951 the ratio had been more than completely reversed and only one person under 40 was dying against 2 over 40, he said.

In 1928 a few more females died from tuberculosis than males, but since then deaths in males have predominated until now the ratio of death is 1 female to every 2.3 males.

OLD MAN'S DISEASE

Tuberculosis is rapidly becoming what might be described as an old man's disease, Dr. Brinks said.

"When the next mass x-ray survey takes place in your city and district, make an effort to bring out the older people as they are an important group of unknown spreaders of infection," he told the club.

The cost of tuberculosis to the people of this province is over $12 million. The provincial government pays out directly roughly $8 million for the maintenance of patients in sanatoria and diagnositic services and social welfare.

Other agencies such as the Department of Veterans Affairs, Indian health services, the workmen's compensation board and prepaid hospital insurance plans account for another $4 million. But this does not include the loss of wages and production and the cost to the municipal health department, he pointed out.

HELP FROM ALL

No one group can hope to cope successfully with the problem. It requires the full co-operation of all the official and the voluntary agencies, the medical and nursing professions, as well as the general public, he said.

In 1952, tuberculosis accounted for more deaths than all the other infectious diseases combined.

It is a fallacy to judge the effectiveness of the tuberculosis control program solely on the mortality rate which has decreased 70 percent in the last decade. It is also believed that there has been decrease of about 13% in the incidence of the disease.

He reported that more cases of tuberculosis were treated in the various sanitoria last year than in any previous year, and departmental mass survey clinics had to examine less people to find one active case of tuberculosis than in any year since these community surveys were first recognized. He mentioned this to emphasize that tuberculosis is not under control.

VALUE OF X-RAY

Dr. Brinks said, "The x-ray remains our main weapon in the fight against tuberculosis in so far as finding the unsuspected case is concerned."

It is now possible to utilize this medium in a variety of ways—mass community surveys, the hospital admission x-ray program, routine chest films of special groups such as new employees in industry, food handlers and new Canadians.

He noted some of the great personages who had tuberculosis: St. Augustine, St. Francis of Assissi, Calvin, Wesley, Theodore Roosevelt, Shelley and Keats.

He quoted from the Ontario Intelligencer which printed an old recipe dated 1871 for curing consumption. "Add 10 cents worth of yellow stock with one pint of boiling water and a cupful of whisky. Take a little every time the coughing starts. Take a wineglass full of wine every morning with an egg in it. Every third morning grind the egg shell and eat it alone."

An attitude of complacency regarding the present tuberculosis situation might well nullify progress in the past, Dr. Brinks said. Treatment facilities appear to be adequate for the present but the challenge is to bring to light all unknown cases of tuberculosis and to do so every possible approach must be developed to the maximum.

Dr. Lloyd Thompson introduced the speaker and Charles Elliott thanked him. Jack Willis was received as a club member and was introduced by Jim Girven.

Dr. T. C. Routley Succeeded By Dr. A. B. Kelly

VANCOUVER — (CP) — The Routley era has ended for the Canadian Medical Association.

In a simple, moving ceremony late Monday Dr. T. Clarence Routley of Toronto retired as general secretary of the 10,000-member association. He turned over the post he had held for 31 years to his friend and assistant for 17 years, Dr. Arthur Dill Kelly of Toronto.

During his long term of office Dr. Routley travelled more then 1,500,000 miles in his efforts to raise the standards of medical training and facilities in both Canada and the world. His travels won him the unofficial title of the Commonwealth's medical ambassador.

The ceremony highlighted closed sessions of the 150-member CMA general council—the parliament of Canadian medicine—as the association opened its 87th annual convention.

A presentation is scheduled to be made to Dr. Routley Wednesday when he will make a brief address at a meeting open to all the 1,500 delegates.

STUDY REPORTS

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Norman H. Goose of Halifax, council began study of 16 reports dealing with a variety of association business and health problems. The reports and council decisions on them are to be made public before the convention ends Friday.

Council also approved the election of 11 outstanding Canadian doctors for senior membership in the association. Senior membership is considered one of the top honors conferred by the association.

Elected senior members were: Dr. J. H. MacDermot and Dr. A. Howard Spohn, both of Vancouver; Dr. J. W. Richardson, Calgary; Dr. W. A. Chestnut, Moosonmin; Dr. Murdock McKay, Transcona, Man.; Dr. G. E. McCartney, Fort William; Dr. Joseph E. Beaudet, Thetford Mines, Que.; Dr. B. A. Puddington, Grand Falls, N.B.; Dr. C. S. Morton, Halifax; Dr. A. A. MacDonald, Souris, P.E.I.; and Dr. Thomas Anderson, St. John's Nfld.

JOINT MEETING

Dr. Routley, who is president-elect of the world-wide British Medical Association, is expected to be nominated as the CMA president-elect by council on Tuesday. He will be installed as BMA president at a joint meeting of the CMA, BMA and Ontario Medical Association to be held in Toronto in June, 1955.

Born in Victoria County in 1889, Dr. Routley was educated at Lindsay and Toronto, graduating from the University of Toronto medical school in 1915.

He was appointed CMA general secretary in 1923 and held a similar post with the Ontario Medical Association from 1918 to 1938.

During the Second World War he served as general secretary of the Medical Procurement and Assignment Board with headquarters in Ottawa.

His successor, Dr. Kelly, is a child specialist and former deputy director of the RCAF medical services.

Dr. Kelly, 53, has been the CMA's deputy general secretary for the last eight years. He is a former president of the Defense Medical Association of Canada.

A leading proponent for the extension of medical services by voluntary prepaid plans, Dr. Kelly was attached to the British medical Association in 1951 for a two-month study of the effects of national health services in the United Kingdom.

Born in Toronto, Dr. Kelly was educated at Toronto public schools and graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1925. He took postgraduate internship at Hamilton General Hospital and Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

Congratulations To County

Board Of Works Approves Of Serpent Mound As Public Picnic Ground

That we would be glad to be associated with the county" in their effort to obtain public use of the 30 acres at the Serpent Mounds, Rice Lake, conveyed an accent that was more than approval, as expressed in a motion by Acting Mayor Dewart at the meeting of the board of works Monday night. It was seconded by Ald. R. E. Knox.

Another phrase from it was: "We extend our congratulations to the county on the active interest they are taking in this matter."

Mayor Dewart told the committee that Reeve David McIntyre had requested representation of the city in the county council's visit last week to the Rice Lake front. "So, I asked Ald. Gordon Powell to go along with them."

SHARE WITH COUNTY

"It's a wonderful place," Ald. Powell said, probably setting official estimate on the personal. "There are around 30 acres in the property, there is a fine shore line, and the county are offering us the privilege of sharing it with them, providing use of the place can be obtained.

"I am sure that the purpose of a picnic ground would not interfere with the historic importance of the Serpent Mounds and their significance to the Indians of Hiawatha. The property was used as picnic grounds 15 to 18 years ago. I feel that there would be no desecration by the public of the old burying place of the Indians."

Ald. Powell spoke briefly of the wonderful view of Rice Lake, the stands of trees, and plainly felt that Peterborough city should not let the county go alone in its desire to secure, as Reeve Peter Pearson said, another stretch of water front for delight of future generations.

Ald. Powell seconded the Dewart motion.

GIVEN LEGAL COMMITTEE

The board turned over to the legal committee a petition from residents of Maryland Ave. objecting to the application of the Sisters of the Precious Blood for permission to use part of their property as a private cemetery.

Correspondence from officers of Colonial Coach conveyed the information, as already reported, that they intended to be in Peterborough in August to discuss a bus terminal on King St.

Said Ald. Alene Holt: "Wouldn't it be all right to hold in abeyance that company's request for permission to enlarge their garage on Douro St., Ashburnham, probably until August?"

Ald. Powell agreed with Mrs. Holt, and so did all the other members of the council. They were unanimously in favor of no headlong rush to meet the wishes of Colonial Coach in view of the long delay in the company's plans to provide a modernly appointed terminal in Peterborough.

The prospect of the board of education needing $120,000 for additional accommodation at Confederation school was accepted simply as a preliminary notice to which the council's assent would be a matter of course.

"I think we ought to ask them to come and sit in with us some time, and give us a summary of the conditions of school attendance and other matters of this year, and also the next," Ald. Rehill said.

"So the council can get a picture of the future," said Ald. Dewart. The idea was set in a motion by Aldermen Powell and Beggs.

Western Canada May Escape Bad Wheat Rust

REGINA (CP)—Western Canada stands a good chance of escaping with minor wheat rust loss this year, despite a late spring which has made crops susceptible.

R. E. McKenzie, director of Saskatchewan's plant industry branch, says the late spring and its wet weather have been counterbalanced by a late flight of rust spores from the southern United States.

"Things are looking a lot better than last year," he said Monday in an interview. "But that doesn't mean it couldn't still be a bad rust year. It's one of those things. Nobody can say what is going to happen."

The weather will be the key to crop loss, he said. Rust spores this year are late and are not expected to blow in from the U. S. for another month.

NEED GOOD WEATHER

That means the crop, with good weather, can make up for lost time and be hardy enough to withstand the fungus. How much damage the rust does depends on how much time the wheat plant has to go to reach maturity. Wet weather not only delays crop maturity but acts like a glue for spores.

"If we get bad weather next month, it could be bad," Mr. McKenzie said.

To date, no traces of rust spores have been reported from the three traps in Manitoba and another at Regina.

Last year the rust fungus cost Manitoba and Saskatchewan farmers an estimated $29,000,000. Nearly two-thirds of the loss was in Saskatchewan. Alberta usually escapes with minor damage.

Ordered To Pay $12 In Wages

A 15-year-old schoolgirl, Shirley Burnett, Monday charged Fern Barrie of the Peterborough Nursing Home with failure to pay wages totalling $14.

After hearing testimony by the girl, a co-worker and by Mrs. Barrie, Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, ordered Mrs Barrie to pay a reduced amount of $12 wages and costs of $11.

Miss Burnett said that she had been employed as a kitchen help at the nursing home for periods from February to May. Mrs. Barrie had agreed to pay her $10 a week for working four hours after school each day and a longer period on Sundays.

The schoolgirl admitted to Mrs. Barrie's accountant, George Carpin, that she had been late for work on at least two occasions. Some of this time had been made up. She also acknowledged the fact that she had been given time off on Sunday mornings to attend church.

Mrs. Barrie told the magistrate that according to accounts kept for her by a previous bookkeeper, the girl was only owed 45 cents. However, since Mr. Carpin had taken the opportunity to peruse the books, several figures had been found wrong.

Mr. Carpin said that the books showed a namount of $7 was still owing to Miss Burnett.

The magistrate compared records of hours worked which were submitted by complainant and the accountant. He deducted $2 from the original claim and ordered payment of the rest and in default 15 days in the county jail.

Differing Views On Power Project

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharply clashing views were aired at a public hearing Monday over whether New York state or private companies should develop the Niagara Falls power project.

Gwilym A. Price, president of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, said state handling of the project would be "unnecessary government intrusion" and would cause "needless conflict between public and private interests."

Robert Moses, state power authority chairman retorted that Price was seeking to get "enormous valuable" state-owned water rights for private companies.

The controversy arose at a hearing inquiring into federal government operations concerning water and power.

Girl Recovering From Head Injury

TORONTO (CP)—The condition of Jane Thompson, 8, unconscious since late Saturday after a fall at her home near Ayr, was reported satisfactory by officials at the Hospital for Sick Children here today.

The girl suffered a brain haemorrhage and lapsed into unconsciousness about half-an-hour after falling five feet from an elevator at the turkey farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson.

She was brought to hospital here Saturday night and was operated on Monday.

Police Search Toronto For Missing Girl

TORONTO (CP) — Police searched east-end Toronto today for a girl, believed to be an amnesia victim, who left a hospital Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Shirley Beaman of Toronto was sun bathing on eastend Kew Beach when the girl approached and asked where she was. Mrs. Beaman questioned the girl but only got the answer, "I don't know."

Harbor police took her to hospital. She disappeared a short time later.

The girl is about 19, about five feet two inches tall, with dark shoulder-length hair.

May Invite Churchill To Visit Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the government will consider inviting Prime Minister Churchill and British Foreign Secretary Eden to Ottawa during their visit to Washington late this month.

Opposition leader Drew asked in the Commons whether the government will invite the United Kingdom government leaders here for a discussion of Asian problems and possibly a conference of Commonwealth ministers.

"The matter will receive consideration," Mr. St. Laurent replied.

Consider Change In School Grants

County council are going to think over a resolution from the Norfolk county council asking the department of education to establish another way of giving grants for secondary schools.

At present the basis for secondary school grants is assessment per capita. Some other equalizing factor might ensure a fairer distribution of the tax load, Norfolk county council suggested.

The Peterborough county council referred it to the committee of the whole on assessment.

Other matters dealt with in the legal and legislative committee:

Received a Brant county resolution that all motor vehicles be required to stop when school buses are taking on or letting off passengers; and that the Ontario government establish a greatly reduced speed limit in all school zones throughout the province.

Referred to finance a Peel county resolution protesting the amendment to the Public Hospital Act, raising the rate paid for indigent patients.

Peel county based their objection on the fact that the amendment, retroactive to January 1, 1954, made it awkward for municipalities that have already struck their tax rates for the year.

Had Beer In Car Youth Fined $50

LINDSAY (ENS) — Vaughan Pogue, 21, Lindsay was fined $50 and costs in magistrate's court here Monday when he was convicted on a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence.

The original charge laid by Lindsay police was that of having in his possession liquor bought other than on his individual permit or otherwise according to the liquor control act.

After hearing the evidence however, Magistrate R. I. Moore considered the penalty under this section too heavy for the offence and convicted Pogue of the included lesser charge. Pogue was defended by M. J. Cunningham and pleaded not guilty.

Officer William Moseley of the Lindsay police testified that on May 25 he had found a case of beer in the rear of Pogue's car. Pogue had admitted ownership of the beer the officer said and told him when he had bought it.

A check revealed that no purchase had been made by Pogue in Lindsay on the date mentioned and the charge was laid. On the witness stand, Pogue reversed his story, denied ownership of the beer and his story was backed up by another witness, Lawrence Whiteside, who claimed to have bought the beer and put it in Pogue's car. Magistrate Moore held that Pogue was still guilty of the lesser charge since he could have refused to carry the beer for Whiteside but considered the fine of a $100 minimum under the original charge too severe. In convicting under the reduced charge he levied the $50 fine and costs. Chief John Hunter prosecuted the case for the crown.

Fireman Saves Child From Death

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—"I saw him standing by the rail on the right. We blew the whistle and sounded the bell. The child just stood there. I knew there was just one thing to do."

And so fireman Otto Gibson of Falls City, Neb., dropped from the cab and scrambled to the footboard as the train slowed down.

Leaping to the right of the rail, Gibson tucked the child under his arm and the two rolled to safety. Engineer Ray Bader brought the train to a halt 40 feet beyond.

The rescue occurred on the Missouri Pacific tracks in south Omaha Monday night.

The father of the two-year-old involved had watched from a distance. He repeatedly thanked Gibson but left without telling the railroader the child's name.

Queen Opens Ascot Meeting

ASCOT, England (Reuters) — Royal Ascot race week, one of the highpoints of Britain's summer season, opened today with the Queen riding down the track in an open carriage.

On hand to watch her, and incidentally to watch the horse racing too, was a crowd consisting of almost everybody in the country who is anybody.

And they were all dressed for the part. Ascot has become as much a fashion show as a race meet.

The Queen and other members of the Royal Family followed the custom of riding along the course in a jingling carriage procession to the cheers of men in grey top hats and women in gay cartwheel hats and expensive summer dresses.

FELIXSTOWE, England (CP)—Terry Fry, a six-year-old with an outsize admiration for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, wrote a letter inviting "all the Mounties" to a party at his home.

The RCMP did what they could. Insp. P S. Usborne replied from Ottawa enclosing a picture of a trooper on horseback plus information about RCMP work.

Unveil Memorial To Allcock, Brown

LONDON (AP)—An 18-foot memorial was unveiled at London airport today commemorating the first direct air crossing of the Atlantic by Britain's John Allcock and Arthur Brown.

Allcock and Brown flew from Newfoundland to Ireland on June 15, 1919.

Lord Brabazon, president of the Royal Aero Club and first man to be granted a pilot's licence in Britain, recalled that Allcock and Brown, formerly officers in the Royal Flying Corps—forerunner of the RAF—took 15 hours, 57 minutes for their flight.

Last year a Canberra jet bomber flew from London to Newfoundland in four hours.

The soldiers and the Swiss, Claude Lungeon, were rescued alive, but Lugeon was seriously wounded. The raiders had grabbed them at the farm of Jean Pick, 73, who was killed in the attack.

Hillary Reported Fit Again

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Sir Edmund Hillary, thinner but fit again, is expected to reach Biratnagar, first outpost of civilization on the Nepal-Indian frontier, tomorrow.

The conqueror of Everest is reported to be "in excellent condition" after an attack of lung trouble and malaria which stirred world anxiety last month while he was on isolated Barun glacier lead; ing an expedition on Himalayan peaks surrounding 27,795-ft. Mount Makalu.

On the way home Hillary will make arrangements for the medical care of team member James MacFarlane who is suffering frostbite. It was after rescuing him from a crevasse that Hillary became ill.

MacFarlane is being carried by porters down the long trail from the Barun glacier, slung in a makeshift packing-case litter.

MIGHTY CATCH—Harry McLaughlin, 16-year-old Flin Flon, Man., high school student landed this 40-pound lake trout after a one-hour battle at Trout Lake, six miles from Flin Flon. Using an ordinary light rod and line with some snare wire for a leader, a single hook and a red and white "dare-devil" lure, the angler hooked the fish on his fourth cast from the shore of the lake. Three chums helped McLaughlin bring it to shore. The catch was too early to qualify for the district's Trout Festival later this month. —(CP Photo)

Clergy Object To Marriage At Leaf Stadium

TORONTO (CP)—A proposal to have a wedding at Maple Leaf Stadium as a preliminary to a baseball game brought objections from Protestant clergymen Monday. They said it was contrary to the Christian ideal of marriage.

The proposed ball park wedding, with all expenses paid, resulted in some 300 phone queries from prospective brides or grooms. During the week-end about 25 couples were interviewed and a choice is expected soon, stadium officials said.

The couple chosen will receive a diamond ring, wedding band, flowers and use of a car on a two-week honeymoon.

A justice of the peace would perform the ceremony and players of two International League baseball teams would act as ushers. Maple Leaf Stadium is the home of the Toronto Maple Leafs.

CALLS IT PAGAN

Rev. Arthur W. Lochead, retired minister of the United Church of Canada, termed the proposal "absolutely pagan."

"No sensible person would do that sort of thing—only a fool," said Mr. Lochead, now substituting at Kimbourne Park United Church. "I don't like it," said Rev. James Finlay of Carlton Street United church. "A solemn affair like a wedding ceremony should not be conducted for publicity."

SEA SERPENT?— Fisherman Keith McRae of Sydney, Australia, thought he had landed the original sea serpent when he hooked this 12-foot long oar fish in Sydney Harbor. The curator of fishes of the Australian Museum who identified the catch, said they grow to a length of 40 feet.

Anaesthesia Techniques For Children

VANCOUVER (CP)—An anaesthesia "mask" in the form of a doll is one technique being used at Kingston, Ont., to help ensure that children are left with no unpleasant memories of operative procedure.

Dr. Allan B. Noble told delegates at the annual Canadian Medical Association convention here Monday that the major problem in administering anaesthesia to children is to win their confidence.

Speaking at a meeting of the Canadian Anaesthetists' Society being held in conjunction with the convention, Dr. Noble, professor of anaesthesia at Queen's University, outlined experiments conducted jointly at Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, and the Montreal Children's Hospital.

NEW ANAETHESIA

Experiments concerned development of a new anaesthesia for children from pentothal and curare. He said outstanding results had been obtained with the drug, which is injected in the veins of the patient to be operated on. Pentothal is widely used in preparation of sedatives; curare is a South American drug that relaxes the muscles.

Dr. Noble said the new anaesthesia overcomes several psychiatric effects associated with use of other drugs on children. It was the practice at Hotel Dieu Hospital to give gas to children to make them drowsy before the anaesthetic was administered.

One method of giving the gas was to have it blown into the face of the child from a tube concealed in a doll which the youngster was given to hold.

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario provincial police said Monday they are investigating the death of a 43-year-old farm laborer believed to have died from strychnine poisoning.

The body of Elgie Rumsey Palmateer was found Monday in his shack at Morganston, about 25 miles southeast of Peterborough.

Chief Inspector W. J. Franks said an investigation was launched after coroner A. J. Andrews, Brighton, became suspicious that death was caused by poisoning, probably strychnine.

Lakefield Votes In Favor Of Waterworks

Village ratepayers of Lakefield in a spirited money by-law election on Monday, voted in favor of the contribution of a waterworks system by 197 to 172.

The voting turnout was excellent but many wives, who found they were not listed as joint owners of properties with their husbands, were disqualified. Fifty per cent of the ratepayers exercised their franchise.

The waterworks question has been a perennial issue since 1945 when a preliminary survey and report was made. In the following year a vote was taken on a debenture bylaw to borrow $304,000 to finance construction of a complete waterworks system which included sewers, sewage disposal plant and pumping station and filtration plant. The council instructed engineer Graham Reid and associates of Toronto to prepare plans and specifications; they were paid a little more than $8,000 for this service.

In the fall of the same year, 1946 tenders were called for and the lowest received amounted to $520,000. The council felt conditions were not favorable for such expenditure at that time and did not proceed with the matter further.

The construction costs figure generally seemed to improve somewhat in 1949 but it was not until 1951 that a bylaw was submitted to ratepayers to raise $352,000 to construct a system in the the more heavily populated areas of the village. Filtration facilities were not included in this issue. When it was put to vote in December of that year the issue was turned down.

Early this year the council appointed a committee of ratepayers to re-consider and advise again on the construction of a waterworks system. It came up with this proposal:

—To construct a combined pumping station and filtration plant and a watermain system that would bisect the village from the general vicinity of the Lakefield Boat Works on Queen St., along Regent, Albert and Bridge Sts., to terminate near the District High School. This work was to be done under the Local Improvement Act.

Before construction of the filtration and pumping station and watermain sites are finally decided upon a canvass will be made to determine where the general locations wanted by the people. Then, providing conditions are favorable, construction will go ahead.

At the present time the council is proposing that the filtration-pumping plant might be built on part of the American Nepheline property which lies north of the community rink and northeast of the government wharf.

NEW HOME TAKES SHAPE—A month ago tonight Austin (Jimmy) Sampson's farmhome was razed near Norwood. Today thanks to his neighbors and VLA officials he has a new home well on the way. Murray Humphries and Howard Wilson (top left) VLA supervisors, are framed in the doorway, planning the next building step. Sampson (left, top right) with William Lower, VLA, make sure the front window frame fits properly in the five-room frame bungalow. They all get together (middle right) in front of the new Sampson home built on the old foundation for approximately $2,000, thanks to volunteer work by neighbors and the VLA representatives. Mrs. Sampson listens in while Mrs. Dave Nixon talks over the phone, taking another donation to the fire fund which now totals $864. Mr. Nixon (right) has been one of friends working on the new home.

Neighbors Build New Home

If Austin Sampson of Norwood didn't believe in good samaritans before, he certainly does now. He's surrounded by them.

A month ago tonight two explosions rocked the Sampson farmhouse about a mile north of Norwood. In just a matter of minutes the large brick home was consumed by flames. The Sampsons were left with an estimated $8,000 loss, three blankets and a mattress.

A few hours after the fire Jimmy Sampson was in a daze; he didn't know what to do next.

But his neighbours and friends did. Five hours after the house was razed they banded together with hammers, saws, nails, crow bars and lumber to convert an old garage into living quarters.

Ever since then life has become a little brighter each day for the Sampsons. For through the combined work of the neighbours and the VLA district men, the Sampsons will soon have a new five-room bungalow to live in.

DAY AFTER FIRE

The housing project started a day after the fire when Howard Wilson, VLA settlement officer who establishes veterans in the Norwood district, looked over the fire scene, talked with Jimmy about insurance and then about the possibility of re-building.

"Jimmy had only $2,000 in insurance and we had to get a house for him to live in with that — if possible," said Mr. Wilson.

But that really wasn't quite so difficult to do even in these days of high prices, for the neighbours pitched in once again.

One of the first things done was clearing the debris, bricks, charred wood and glass, as well as twisted furniture, away from the old foundation. That solid base was to be used again to help to reduce expenses.

The neighbours had the mess cleared away in short order.

The next step was obtaining some good cheap lumber for the framework. Again the neighbours pitched in and on May 24 they ripped down an old Norwood building and brought it to the Sampsons.

WORK BEGAN

Then the work on the modern home began. Mr. Wilson, along with Murray Humphries and Bill Theobald, VLA construction supervisors, and with neighbours, Max Clements, Ellsworth Hogg, Ward Gardiner, Frank Rusaw, Keith Ross and others laid the floor and joists and sub-floor.

From there the VLA regional construction staff from Kingston took over. William Lower, Clarence Prior, Bill Slater, Mr. Theobald, Mr. Humphries, Mr. Wilson and Archie Wilson, Peterborough district settlement officer, put the framework up. Things began to take shape and were encouraging.

The neighbours again went to work. A week ago with Mr. Wilson supervising, they hammered and nailed the wall sheeting and roofed the large bungalow with aluminum sheeting.

Since then the VLA settlement and construction officers have

Architects Asked To Check Odors At Sewage Plant

"I think we should go right back to Gore and Storrie," the engineers the city council engaged to prepare the plans for a sewage disposal plant, Acting Mayor John A. Dewart suggested at the board of works meeting, Monday night.

He mentioned complaints of offensive odors in the south end of the city, a perennial complaint indicating something less than the expected degree of efficiency in the operation of the plant.

"We should tell them it is not giving the satisfaction other councils had looked forward to, and we think they should send one of their experts to investigate the situation."

"We think it is their responsibility to see that we have satisfaction in the operation of the sewage disposal plant," said the Acting Mayor.

"Have some of them check it every year," City Engineer Chalmers said.

The mayoral motion carried, and City Clerk Outram remarked from his minute book: "I won't wait to write them; I'll telephone in the morning."

Questions Status Of IUE Local On Labor Council

The status of Local 524, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL), was challenged Monday night by Edmund S. Humphrey of Local 434, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

Recently this union, which has been trying since 1949 to be the bargaining agents for the CGE production workers, returned some money to their supporters that had been lying in a special account for three years.

LETTER TO SUPPORTERS

In the accompanying letter of explanation to IUE supporters, signed by Cy O'Donnell, chairman of the organizing committee, the following sentence was included: "It was decided that, since circumstances have not made it possible for the local union to function and for the money to be used, the money should be returned to all those who contributed it."

"Does this mean that Local 524, IUE, has folded up" asked Mr. Humphrey, speaking at the June meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

If so, then their delegates have no status, and minutes moved or seconded by any of them would be invalid.

There was some discussion, and it was eventually decided to refer the matter to a special constitutional committee consisting of William Yates of Local 19, NUPSE (CCL); Mr. Humphrey of Local 434, UPWA; Irvin Yeo of Local 524, IUE; and William Triggs of Local 293, UPWA.

DENY STATEMENT

When Mr. Humphrey suggested that the letter indicated Local 524 had "folded up," Keith Chiles of the IUE rose to deny it.

"It doesn't mean any such thing," he said. "Local 524 is a chartered local of IUE.....This was strictly an internal matter for IUE."

"Mr. chairman, I'd like to have this investigated and a ruling," said Mr. Humphrey....."It's possible under these circumstances that anybody could sit as a delegate on the labor council.

"I think council should decide whether they want us or not," said Mr. Chiles. "Take it up with the international and the CCL."

"The critical point is whether the local is recognized by the CCL," said Mr. Yeo, who then suggested they get in touch with the IUE international and the CCL.

"I don't think this is necessary," said Mr. Triggs.

"I'm going by what the document says," insisted Mr. Humphrey, "not by what somebody thinks it says. It says 'circumstances have not made it possible for the local union to function.'"

INTERNAL DISPUTE

Overtones of the internal dispute over the CCL group's withdrawal from the joint labor unemployment committee crept in a couple of times.

Mr. Humphrey asked to resign as vice-president of the labor council. (Council approved an executive committee recommendation not to accept it.) At the same time Mr. Humphrey remains as secretary of the original CCL-TLC-UE unemployment committee from which the CCL labor council, after sharp debate, voted to secede.

(The IUE and the Steelworkers were the two CCL unions that led the move to break away from the joint committee. This caused some disagreement in the ranks.)

When the executive committee also asked the council to pay the council's share of the unemployment committee's expenses, Mr. Chiles and Mr. Humphrey clashed again.

Mr. Chiles wanted no payment past the date of the break-away. Mr. Humphrey said there had been previous commitments and they should pay their share.

"I don't welsh," said Mr. Humphrey.

Alfred Barber, president of the labor council, said the delegates could vote to accept or reject the executive committee's recommendation that the unemployment committee's expenses be paid.

"But I'll tell you this," he added. "If you turn it down you'll have to have a new executive."

When it came to a vote the recommendation was accepted without dissent.

City Sends Bylaw On Zoning To Municipal Board

Anti-climax to the planning of Peterborough of the future that was begun with enthusiasm and bright envisioning in 1945 was the passing of the zoning bylaw, its principal enabling instrument, at a special meeting of the council Monday night.

To the council of 1954, and its auxiliary planning board, fell the drudgery of preparing the 26-page volume, the work of uncounted hours and sessions of deliberation, so familiar in its terms to the present members that the bylaw was "taken as read" in its second reading.

Its final investment of authority will be the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board which will sit in Peterborough some time this summer to hear any objections by citizens to provisions of the bylaw. It is expected that the board will be here in August, although there has been some intimation that their engagement may be deferred until September. However, the announcement of their coming will be advertised in the press.

OPPOSITION

Assurance of a hearing was expressed to Mrs. J. A. Nornabell of the Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee, whose members are dissatisfied with the city planning board's alterations of the representations made by the committee several months ago.

That is one prospective protest, and there may possibly be others.

In submitting its brief to the council Monday night, Mrs. Nornabell recalled that the Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee was sponsored by the Study Group on Civic Affairs, and was later officially recognized by the council. Their motives are "long range plans for the protection of the river and Jackson Park creek from further desecration, so that the citizens may benefit."

They submitted their proposals to the city planning board April 20. The main features of their motion were:

"That this committee strongly protests the proposed zoning of any Otonabee riverside property for industrial use.

"That it specifically protests the zoning bylaw proposal designating the following riverside areas for industrial development:

(1) Those areas on the east and west banks of the Otonabee River north of Parkhill Road which are included under sec. 9 of the zoning bylaw and marked HI districts.

(2) The area on the west bank of the Otonabee River from the CPR bridge north to Hunter St., etc. . . ."

Mrs. Nornabell's statement cited the planning board's changes in the original plan in the district under consideration.

Policemen Seek Arbitration In Wage Dispute

The Peterborough police commission has received notice of motion from the city police association that it intends taking the matter of increased wages to arbitration.

The notice was received at the monthly meeting of the commission Monday afternoon.

The association is also seeking a 40-hour week for all employees and this, plus the requested wage increase, would add an annual cost of about $200 per man to the commission's budget.

Members of the commission did not discuss the matter in detail at Monday's meeting, except to instruct the secretary, city clerk E. A. Outram, to retain the services of an arbitrator and to have T. J. Carley assigned as a special consultant to the commission.

The matter of increased wages and a reduced working week has been a subject of considerable previous negotiation between the commission and the association. At one stage the commission offered the members of the force a medical, hospital and physician's care plan, or an alternative of a $50 yearly increase in pay.

These proposals were rejected by the association.

An application for a taxi operator's licence was received by the commission. In view of the fact that the applicant Geoffrey Feeley, earlier in the day had been sentenced to two months' imprisonment for bootlegging, the commission decided to reject the request.

Russians Claim U.S. Spies Return To Reds

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia today told the story of two displaced Russians it said were dropped as American spies in Soviet territory. The government organ said the men repented, confessed all to the government and "the Soviet people returned them to their ranks from the abyss."

The account in the government newspaper appears significant, since it followed a report Sunday that two other alleged American spies had been given "relatively mild" 25-year sentences in a "corrective labor camp" instead of death sentences.

Izvestia identified the two new repentants as N. Yakuta and M. Kudryavtsev and gave this account of their activities:

They were recruited in Germany and trained at an American intelligence school in Bad Homburg. Later they were parachuted into Soviet territory.

TO MOBILIZE AGENTS

Their mission was to mobilize other agents, write anonymous letters discrediting prominent members of the Communist party and public figures, and kill Soviet citizens in order to obtain their identification papers for other spies.

Once landed in Soviet territory, however, "the loneliness of the Soviet land became unbearable." They realized "they would never be able to look into the eyes of the Soviet people and never would succeed in feeling themselves equal to the citizens of the Soviet union."

They turned themselves in to the government.

"They were not only not 'liquidated'—with which they had been frightened by American intelligence—but received full opportunities to live freely and work on their native soil.

"Now both feel themselves sons of the great Soviet motherland."

Meyner Charges Late Governor With $300,000 Embezzlement

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Governor Robert B. Meyner today said he will announce detailed charges of misconduct against New Jersey's late ex-governor Harold G. Hoffman, whose daughter disclosed that he embezzled $300,000 in bank funds to finance his stormy political career and pay off a blackmailer.

Meyner told a press conference Monday that Hoffman wrote a letter May 1 to his daughter, Mrs. Ada Leonard, to say he embezzled the $300,000 to pay for his four years in Congress from 1927 to 1931 and for his successful 1934 campaign for the governorship.

As governor, Hoffman became nationally prominent when the Lindbergh kidnap trial of Bruno Hauptmann and his subsequent execution occurred during Hoffman's term as chief state executive.

TO REPAY MONEY

Mrs. Leonard, in a letter to Meyner Monday night, pledged that the Hoffman family will repay every cent of the money. Her mother Monday was voted a $6,000-a-year pension by the state legislature. The bill awaits Meyner's signature.

Hoffman, affable after dinner speaker and president of the fun-loving Circus Saints and Sinners, was suspended March 18 by Meyner as director of New Jersey's division of employment and security, a $13,500-a-year post he held since he left the governorship in 1938.

At the time of the suspension, Meyner said he had evidence of "widespread irregularities" in the purchase of division supplies and equipment.

An authoritative source said the charges against Hoffman include a reference to the $300,000 and recommendations for the dismissal of several persons.

Attorney - General Grover C. Richmand Jr., who directed an investigation of Hoffman and the employment security division, said details of the embezzlement will be made public when auditors complete a check of accounts of the South Amboy Trust Co., of which Hoffman had been president.

Hoffman, a Republican, died of a heart attack June 4 in New York at the age of 58, and the next day Mrs. Leonard demanded that Meyner clear her father's name immediately. In her letter to Meyner Monday night, Mrs. Leonard apologized to the Democratic governor because "for almost two weeks you have appeared in a crucially unfair position."

In an affidavit recounting the letter written to her by her father, Mrs. Leonard quoted him as saying a "certain wealthy elder candidate who is now deceased" promised to meet his congressional campaign costs but did not, leading the way to the embezzlement which "got deeper and deeper." Hoffman also was quoted in the affidavit as saying another unnamed state official blackmailed him of $150,000 after learning of the embezzlement. The state official also is dead, the affidavit said.

Labor Gives Aid To Baseball Groups

Two donations to baseball groups were made Monday night by the Peterborough and District Labour Council (CCL).

Fifty dollars went to the Peterborough Boys Baseball Assoc., sponsoring minor baseball in the city, and a token donation of $10 went to the Peterborough baseball school.

"Why isn't anything being done for the girls?" asked Alfred Barber of Local 210, UPWA, council president.

Nobody had the answer for that one.

Mr. Barber said that a few years ago local industry had sponsored a flourishing girls' league. The league has now fallen through.

The subject was again brought up under general business by George Linsdell of Local 19, NUBSE, who suggested that the recreation commission could do something for the girls.

Specialist Does Not Attribute Heart Trouble To Smoking

VANCOUVER (CP) — Smoking and strenuous athletics have no adverse effect on the heart, one of Canada's foremost heart specialists said Monday.

"No one has ever been able to prove that smoking has been harmful to the heart," Dr. Harold N. Segall of Montreal said in an interview.

Dr. Segall, assistant professor of medicine at McGill University, said that doctors who themselves smoke rarely advise their patients to forego cigarets or pipes. Non-smoking doctors, particularly those who had recently given up the habit, generally advised against smoking.

Dr. Segall, here for the Canadian Medical Association convention, said that 20 years have been added to the average life span of Canadians in the last 50 years. He predicted that within 40 years, so many Canadians will be celebrating their 100th birthday that the event will be considered "commonplace."

He added that "any death before 70 now can be regarded as a premature death."

US Administrator Says Defence Still Not Good

WASHINGTON (CP) — Civil defence authorities today were busy coping with the mock emergency created by Monday's make-believe atomic attack on major United States and Canadian cities.

Until the 24-hour drill ended officially at 11 a. m. EDT, civil defence crews continued to go through all the motions of meeting theoretical demands for medicine, food, clothing, doctors and nurses and mobile support for "stricken areas which have exhausted their own resources."

Val Peterson, U. S. civil defence administrator, said of Monday's aerial "bombardment:"

"We know that 30 (U. S.) cities have been hit. Estimated are 7,276,000 killed and 3,344,000 injured still unreported."

Peterson said the drill "has thus far proved effectively what we had assumed—that the nation's civil defence team still has a long way to go in the field of operational readiness."

However, the drill did point up "the amazing scope and effectiveness of what has been accomplished up to this hour."

Miss McIntosh signed as a charter member when the club was organized in 1937, was elected president and served for the ensuing year. Her activitiy and interest has continued unabated since that time, and this was emphasized by Mrs. T. J. Carley, who also mentioned in her address that Miss McIntosh has been very active in YWCA work as well, and was the instigator and guide in forming the Women's Study Group on Civic Affairs which is having a steadily growing effect on this city's public affairs.

The gift of an oil painting, done by Mr. C. S. Browne of Peterborough ,was presented to Miss McIntosh with the club's best wishes for happiness in her retirement, after 34 years of teaching. She will be leaving the city at the end of June to live in Glengarry County.

Actress Wears Striking Ear Ornaments

LONDON (CP)—Vancouver actress Barbara Kelly is making earring news on British television with exotic, out-size ear ornaments.

Miss Kelly and Lady Barnett, members of a team seen each Sunday in "What's My Line," one of Britain's oldest and most popular quiz programs, have their jewelry chosen for them.

Mrs. Dicky Leeman, wife of the producer, figured viewers would like to see jewelry they could afford and the choice is rhinestone, diamante and gilt sets costing from £8 to £50.

Recent choice for Miss Kelly was a choker of gilt that looked like a necklace of teeth worn by an African witch doctor. Matching earrings dangled against each cheek.

Triplets Add Extra Work

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five children in any home create a lot of work for mother. But when three of the five are triplets, work hardly stops.

Mrs. Margaret Attewell, of Vancouver, has her mother to help look after the three babies and two older children, and between them they somehow manage to keep control of the situation.

The triplets weighed an average of five pounds at birth Feb. 19 and were placed in an incubator. Now they're all more than twice that weight.

WASHER HELPS

Mrs. Attewell and her mother, Mrs. Ann Coates, paused briefly one day and computed some statistics.

Each day there are 60 diapers to change and clean, 18 bottles of milk to heat, 12 blankets for laundering, feeding every four hours or so, as well as time-consuming bathing and powdering.

Mr. Attewell, who works as a shipper and warehouseman, also takes a turn on night shift.

The Attewells and Mrs. Coates have another helper, an automatic washing machine. It was a gift from friends and neighbors who pooled their money to buy the labor-saver.

Present Recital

Parents and friends enjoyed piano performances by the pupilys of Mary MacKinnon Kenney and selections by voice pupils of Thursa Williamson in a recital held in the Public Library auditorium.

Carol Douglas and David Buckley and Patricia Pogue and David Buckley, with a vocal duet by Allin Jamieson and Leslie Mann.

Others performing were Douglas Seabrooke and Mabel McLarnon, vocalist, with each of those mentioned above also performing signly.

Badges Presented To Members

The girl's auxiliary of St. George's Anglican church, Hastings were the hostesses at a mother and daughter banquet, which brought to a close their activities for the season.

The parish hall was decorated with flowers and across one wall was the G.A. motto in blue letters —'Service before Self.' The tables looked charming with their floral centrepieces and the place cards of blue crosses, made by the girls and an attractive boutonniere beside each one were most effective.

The president, Joyce Walker, was chairman and Mrs. A. J. Patstone, the leader, gave the address of welcome.

The toast to the Queen was given by Ruth Baker. The toast to our mothers by Margaret Baker, and replied to by Mrs. Clifford Baker. The G.A. toast by June Clark and Mrs. Elmery Smullin replied.

'Little Helpers' Do HelP In The Home

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

"Little helpers" in new housewares will appeal equally to mother and daughter, alike. Not in any sense toys, some new devices are scaled down in size to do small tasks more efficiently, and to fit the needs of limited storage space. That they are also light enough in weight for an eager litle homemaker to handle, when the enthusiasm for "helping" mother seizes her, is an unexpected if pleasant surprise to me.

Take, for example, a new sponge "moppet" I acquired recently. This is a sawed-off version of the sponge squeeze-mops that swab the floor, but is much easier to handle on jobs such as washing cabinet exteriors, bathtubs and windows.

Because the mop is short and light and the push-pull squeezer works easily, our young daughter wields it with real energy. An extension handle comes with the moppet. A rubber plug with a built-in loop makes it easy to hang up for proper drying.

Armed with the little mop and a new, featherweight, red polyethylene bucket of suds, our junior homemaker finds housework an exciting pastime.

Another aid that I find particularly useful for cleaning up a handful of dishes is a small plastic squeeze-brush with a brush cap. After filling with a small amount for detergent and hot water, you squeeze the bottle and the suds squirt out on the dish, ready for the brush to scrub it clean. This bottle-brush is light enough for a little eager beaver to use, too, and saves a good deal of splatter and splash at the sink.

New, small vacuum cleaners are designed to fill a need in small apartments or homes and, in larger homes, to perform above-the-floor cleaning more easily. Because they are quickly portable they're also a help in cleaning out car interiors.

Size, weight and the shorter hose make these portables more manageable for young homemakers-to-be.

I have found that our young one not only enjoys running the regular vacuum but does, when supervised, a creditable job of such specific task as scooping up crumbs or paper scraps, or plying the crevice attachment under radiators.

One new portable, I note, is quipped with five attachments and the disposable bag is protected by a sturdy case.

SPONGE "MOPPET" does a big job despite its size. Ideal for smaller tasks and designed to fit limited storage space, an extension handle makes it useful for high-up jobs, after mother's little helper has cleaned all the surfaces she can reach.

If you've thought of lace as too fragile to wear for anything but formal occasions, this year you can revise your opinion. Laces have been made of fibres sturdy enough for daytime wear. In fact, we've seen a shirtwaist dress made entirely of lace.

3 Sisters Attend Bride

MARMORA (ENS)—St. Andrew's United church, Marmora, was scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday when in a double ring ceremony the pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford, united in marriage Jennie Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Arthur Reynolds of Marmora and Eldon Lewis Killian, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Killian, also of Marmora.

Baskets of assorted tulips and iris, peonies and lilies adorned the chancel and choir stalls, forming a beautiful background for the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was played by organist Mrs. Kathleen Rennie, who also accompanied the soloist, Jack Grant, for his two selections, "Prayer Perfect," before the arrival of the bride, and "Because," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked radiant in a gown of nylon tulle, trimmed with white rosebuds and having a ruched yoke. Her three-quarter nylon tulle veil was trimmed with pearls, and she wore matching gloves and carried a white Bible with an orchid.

Her sister, Mrs. Maxwell Turner of Peterborough, was matron of honor. Her dress was of pink nylon net with matching headdress and corsage of pink carnations. Two other bridal attendants were also her sisters.

As maid of honor, Miss Nina Reynolds was in blue nylon brocaded net with matching headdress and corsage of pink carnations. Bridesmaid Miss Marion Reynolds was in pink, her corsage also being pink carnations.

Completing the picturesque bridal group was little Linda LeGroulx of Peterborough, niece of the groom, who was winsome in green nylon net over satin. She carried a decorated basket of mixed flowers.

Mr. Delman Killian of Marmora was his brother's attendant and the ushers were Maxwell Turner and Melvine Killian, both of Peterborough.

The reception took place in St. Andrew's church hall. The bride's mother received in navy sheer, wearing white accessories and corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who was gowned in grey nylon taffeta with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride is a staff member of Marmora branch of the Dominion Bank.

They will live on Madoc street in Marmora.

Guests at the wedding came from Hamilton, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville, Corbyvile and Marmora.

Peckover-Foster Nuptials

Braidwood Gospel Chapel was scene of a pretty wedding Saturday when Myrtle Ruth, daughter of Mr. W. H. Foster of New Liskeard and the late Mrs. Foster, became the bride of Robert Gregory Peckover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peckover of New Liskeard. The Rev. Charles Foster of Montreal, nephew of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of spring flowers decorated the chapel and standards of fern completed the setting. As the guests were assembling, Mr. Donald Foster of Hamilton sang "The Lord is my Shepherd" and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love," accompanied by pianist Miss Marion Bigelow of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a waltz length gown of white snowflake dotted nylon sheer over taffeta, and matching mittens. Tiny covered buttons extended from the round neck line to the cumberbund at her waist, below which the bouffant skirt was gathered over a crinoline. Her fingertip veil was of imported French tulle with embroidered scalloped border and was caught to a tiara of baby seed pearls and rhinestones. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white glamellias centred with dendrobium orchids.

Mrs. Howard Foster of Renfrew was bridesmaid and wore a waltz length gown of pink snowflake dotted nylon sheer over taffeta with matching mittens and sweetheart headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink glamellias and blue cornflower.

Mr. Howard Foster, brother of the bride, was groomsman and ushers were Roy Peckover of New Liskeard and Claude Loney of Peterborough.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Green Room of the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. W. H. Foster received the guests in a blue sheer nylon gown with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted, attired in a mauve sheer dress with white accessories and corsage of spray orchids.

Guests were present from Timmins, New Liskeard, Montreal, Ottawa, Renfrew, Mimico, Hamilton, Norwood and Indian River.

For travelling the bride donned a grey English worsted suit, with white accessories and a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

DOROTHY DIX:

Wife Finds Her Husband Swayed By His Sister

DEAR MISS DIX: Due to his mother's death, my husband was brought up by an older sister. He loves her very much, as he should, but since our marriage, 17 years ago, he has never been able to make a major decision for himself. Any plans we make must be put before my sister-in-law and her father for approval. We have our own business, which was largely financed by my husband's family and, though I have worked hard to help build it, I know actually very little about the financial standing, prospects, etc.

My sister-in-law handles all these details. I can't even draw money for current expenses without her authorization. With her, the business comes first, so I get very little money for necessities, much less for clothing and amusements. We have four children, so you can readily see that running the budget is not easy. If I say anything to my husband he says it isn't fair to put him in the middle. I think that he, too, is a bit resentful of the way his sister has taken things over, though he won't admit it.—BESSIE K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is a happy medium between a Milquetoast type and a tyrant; if you show your husband tactfully how to find it, he could work things out quite nicely. It should be up to your husband—not his sister—to approve any money you need from the business. If conditions warrant, you are certainly entitled to enough to cover expenses.

RIGHT TO BUSINESS DETAILS

Your sister-in-law, as major financial backer of the firm, is not overstepping bounds in expecting to know all the details of the business, and in assisting in its management. She has an investment to protect, and if she's doing an adequate job of it you have no grounds for complaint. However, your husband should not permit her, or his father, to ignore the fact that the project is his idea, that he is its guiding spirit, and expects to maintain his place at the helm under any circumstances. There's no reason why a clarification of this situation should involve difficulties with his family. A business proposition should be handled as such; feminine tears, petty jealousies, or self-importance have no place in the picture. If either you or your sister-in-law bring personal feelings into focus, you're both wrong. Your husband and his sister should work together in a businesslike manner. You should be well aware of the standing of the company, but it would be far better if you did not interfere in the actual conduct of the firm. Keep to the sidelines, but make sure the money due you is forthcoming.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going steady for eight months with a boy my age—17. Lately, however, he's been paying quite a bit of attention to an attractive junior who is quite wealthy. I think the romance is being encouraged by his mother.—L. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You may be blaming the boy's mother for something that isn't her fault. Your friend may be sincerely interested in the other girl, he may just like her casually, or you may be imagining the whole thing. Why not ask him, in a tactful way, whether he prefers her to you, so that you may go back on the "available" list if his affections are really being directed elsewhere?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow of 49, with two married children. Early this year I engaged a man to build a small house for me, and have become quite attracted to him. I have known him for years, but since he has been working on my house, we have fallen in love. Is there a chance for happiness in second love and marriage?—P. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is most certainly. Many wonderful marriages have been made in later years. Happy marriage is not so much a question of age or circumstance, as of adaptibility and congeniality between two people.

Of Interest to Women

SWEETIE PIE —By Nadine Seltzer

"My filet mignon tastes like hamburger!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Fresh Choice Strawberries Essential For Freezing

Statistics give 2% of the Canadian population as owning home freezers.

If that is so this 2% of home freezer owners must be nearly 100% letter-writers too, for they give me the impression that every other farmer's wife owns one.

Any way the point is that these freezer-owners-letter-writers want to know how to freeze their beautiful strawberries according to the latest methods discovered by ever-busy freezer researchers.

The information I have I will pass on to you—with visions of you serving beautiful strawberry shortcakes when the season is well over for non- freezer owners.

HOW TO FREEZE STRAWBERRIES

It is of primary importance that you use strictly fresh choice strawberries and that you wash them in ice cold water in a strainer for not more than 30 seconds. Drain well, remove hulls, using a sharp paring knife, but not puncturing the meat of the berry. Do not squeeze the hulls off with your finger tips. Place hulled fruit on small trays lined with absorbent paper towels and put each tray covered with 1 layer of berries in the refrigerator while you proceed with washing and hulling the remainder of the berries.

A dry sugar pack gives superior results, although berries may be sweetened with a sugar syrup. (The syrup method is preferable for peaches, apricots, pears and for fruits definitely to be used as a sauce.) The average taste prefers 1 part of sugar to each 4 parts of fruits when dry sugar is used. For thin syrup use 7 cups water to each 1 2-3 cups sugar, bring to boil, stir until sugar is dissolved, then CHILL before pouring over fruit in cartons.

There are 3 types of packages. All may be bought at freezer storage plants. 1) Heavy waxed tubs with snap-on lids. 2) Cartons with cellophane liners. 3) Cartons with plastic liners. At present the tubs and cellophane-lined cartons are most commonly used.

Let us suppose you are using a cellophane-lined carton.

The drained and chilled berries are put into freezer carton. When box is ¼ full, add ¼ of the sugar USING NOT MORE THAN ONE PART SUGAR TO EACH FOUR PARTS BERRIES. It will be all right if you want to reduce the amount of sugar. Repeat until carton is neary full. Fold cellophane liner once or twice to make a tight inner seal. Place fold on flat board (or carton holder) and seal with hot iron. Label package with china marking pencil or waterproof ink. Place in feezer sealed side up, and fast freeze at once.

NOTE TO DIABETICS AND REDUCERS

Syrup method may be used when you make syrup of sucaryl and water putting berries in box, and pouring prepared sucaryl- syrup over to just moisten the berries.

QUESTION: . . I want to make stream-lined banana cake for our lodge picnic. What do you turn yours out on to. You say caramelize over heat until molten gold 2 tablespoons sugar (for the icing). I always thought one had to have both sugar and butter too. . . however I just followed the recipe and each time I have tried it the sugar gets very hard on the spoon. Have you another icing for this cake? Mrs. T. F.

ANSWER: Try making the caramel this way (it may give you too much but if kept covered in refrigerator you can keep it for another time.) In very heavy frying pan melt ½ cup white sugar SLOWLY, stirring. Heat until melted to a golden brown syrup, stiring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in ¼ cup boiling water VERY SLOWLY, then over low heat again stir until lumps which form dissolve. To it add enough cream to make it up to ½ cup and heat them with 6 tablespoons butter to blend. Beat in 3 cups sifted icing sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla until of spreading consistency.

OR make Araby Frosting by blending together 6 tablespoons soft butter. 1 egg yolk, 3 cups sifted icing sugar, 1½ tablespoons cocoa, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1½ tablespoon strong coffee.

When preparing your rugs for storage, clean each rug thoroughly on both sides. Be sure to take out any spot of a greasy nature, because they attract moths. Then, sprinkle moth preventive over the rug and roll with several layers of clean newspapers; then wrap in tar paper.

Board Approves Application On 5-4 Vote

By a vote of 5-4, board of works Monday night recommended to the council an application of Harry Goodman to operate a new and used cars sales lot on Hunter St. east of Aylmer St.

A police department report affirmed that the premises was several years ago known as National Motors, but at that time turned down. The report said the premises were suitable and sanitary and the applicant was a suitable person to carry on a used car business.

The motion to grant a license was from Aldermen Beggs and Farquarson. Ald Anglesey was chairman.

The board received and filed a copy of a letter by City Engineer Chalmers to Don McGillis relating to a covering he is building over the creek south of Charlotte St. It cited the McGillis span of 20 ft., and clearance of 6 ft., as compared with other spans of 28 ft. in reach, and clearance of 6 ft. 9 in. to 7 ft. 3 in.

Replying to a question, City Solicitor W. F. Huycke gave the opinion that Mr. McGillis would be liable for any damage caused by ice floes or other jamming at that span.

CITY PROTECTED

Ald. Gordon Powell moved the filing of the letter. "It is assumed" he said, "that the city is protected against any legal liability by this notice." Ald. Burrows seconded the motion.

Mr. Huycke recalled that the city was found liable in court action for damages amounting to some $25,000 by flooding the basement of the B. F. Ackerman Co. by a blockage of ice at the Sherbrooke St. bridge. That money was provided to the council from the funds of the city trust commission.

Neighbors Build

been spending as much time as they can spare putting in interior wall forms and window frames. The job will soon be done.

"The neighbours have been wonderful — you couldn't beat them," said Mr. Wilson. "Why we would just have to ask Mrs. Nixon (Mrs. Dave Nixon who along with her husband have been invaluable to the Sampsons since the fire) to get help for a half-day — they're here in the afternoon."

GAVE MONEY

Not satisfied with just volunteering their labour, the neighbourhood farmers have responded to a fund set up by Mrs. Nixon to help finance the project for the young four-year RCN veteran.

"So far we've raised $864," said Mrs. Nixon. "The whole neighbourhood has responded."

This money will have a number of uses. Some will likely go into the construction of the new home while the rest will help to furnish it.

On the farm since 1946, Mr. Sampson was just getting to the stage where one could say he was "well and firmly established." Now thanks to his neighbours and the VLA workers he'll soon be back at that stage again.

Fined For Disturbance

You can't buck the law, but from time to time someone will have a go at it. Saturday night, 26-year-old Albert Hedges of 11 Wytlaw St., refused to leave the McGillis hotel when the attendants considered him too rowdy for the rest of the company.

When the police arrived, he also refused to obey their instructions and so things had to be executed forcibly. Hedges spent the night in the lockup and on Monday appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philip, QC, charged with causing a disturbance.

Hedges pleaded guilty and was fined $15, costs $2.50.

Heavy Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavy fog covered the New York metropolitan area today and slowed air and harbor traffic.

Several incoming flights were held up as much as two hours.

Paving Job Costs $1,500 Land For Street Offered

City Engineer Chalmers estimated at $1,500 the cost of paving an area at Morrow Park in the vicinity of the old drill hall, and an oiling job in front of the grand stand. Authority to proceed with the work under his supervision was recommended in a motion by Aldermen Burrows and Holt.

Sands & Bateman offered to the city a strip of land in street width from Bellevue to Wolsley Sts., north and west of Regent gas station, Chemong Rd. They propose that it be accepted by the city and converted into a public thoroughfare. Ald Farquharson's motion referred the offer to a special committee of the council.

That committee was nominated by Acting Mayor Dewart to assist Mr. Chalmers in matters of policy and otherwise in regard to the consideration of a union station and cognate railway matters.

377 FEET OF SEWER

Sewer connection required by Kawartha Motel, Lansdowne St. west, would have to be laid 377 feet from its present end to the city boundary. Board of works recommended that negotiations be begun with North Monaghan council and with the motel owners as to details of cost and levy.

The municipal broadcast over CHEX will be discontinued after tonight's session on the air. It was undertaken by Mayor Graham, Ald. Alene Holt recalled, and because of the warm weather she inquired whether the series should be suspended until the fall. Ald. Farquharson's motion rings down the curtain.

Ald. Holt moved a motion of appreciation to CHEX for this service to the citizens of the radio audience.

SUMMER SCHEDULE

The summer schedule of meetings was also recommended by the board—one every two weeks during July and August. There will be then a council meeting on the first Monday of the month, and committee of the whole on the third Monday, mainly in finance and board of works. The Beggs motion was seconded by Ald. Holt.

The north end of Lynch St., between Parnell and Romaine, is to be given a calcium treatment to abate dust nuisance to neighbors, who complained among other grievances that it is just about useless to hang out washings to dry.

That was the suggestion of Acting Mayor Dewart, after a motion by Ald. Stan McBride authorized City Engineer Chalmers to have the line of the street surveyed, and report on the cost of a permanent roadway through to Parnell St.

Some years ago, council bought a house on the south side of Parnell St. for the purpose of projecting Lynch St. from Romaine and thereby reducing the blind-end effect of Parnell St. which ends at the CPR.

Representatives of the Public Library board will be invited to the next meeting of the committee of the whole to discuss financing their project for enlargement and improvement of the library accommodation at an estimated cost of $100,000. The motion was by Aldermen Farquharson and Beggs.

City Sends Zoning Bylaw

"(a) A 30-foot strip on the river for agricultural land which we believe is entirely unsatisfactory and in fact not practical.

"(b) Changed some areas from HI to RI, the highest residential classification with the most restrictions, placing an unnecessary handicap on these residents. The planning board has ignored the petition of approximately 500 people resident in the area to remove industry from much of this district.

"(c) We feel that the planning board overlooks that the majority of the organizations of the city have approved the motion of the Conservation Committee, and have entirely ignored the petition of the residents of the area.

"(d) We would respectfully like again to refer our motion to the planning board." Names of members were affixed to the statement.

Mrs. Nornabell was assured that the Ontario Municipal Board was coming to Peterborough for the special purpose of hearing any opposition to the zoning bylaw.

The caption of the bylaw declares that it is "to regulate the use of land and the use, bulk, height and location of buildings, and to prohibit certain uses of certain lands and buildings in the city."

ADOPTED PLAN

The preamble recalls that on April 18, 1947, Peterborough was defined as a subsidiary planning area within the meaning of the Planning Act of Ontario then in force; that on June 6, 1950, the council adopted an official plan of the city.

The general purpose of the bylaw: "Whereas it is deemed necessary and advisable to implement the official plan by bylaw as provided in the Planning Act."

The bylaw was introduced by Ald. H. T. Rehill, who, incidentally, is a member of the city planning board. He suggested that because of the volume of pages setting forth the details of the bylaw, it be taken as read, in the second reading.

The planning board did not feel that it should change its opinions in the draft of the bylaw, Ald. Rehill said. Any parties having objections are being informed that they will have an opportunity of a hearing before the Municipal Board.

Mrs. Nornabell said on behalf of the Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee that she was satisfied with that assurance and arrangement.

City Solicitor Huycke explained that the bylaw was to receive its three readings at the session. This procedure varies from the course of dealings with roads amid other expenditures in which the progress of a bylaw is susbended after the second reading and is forwarded to the Department of Highways or Ontario Municipal Board at that stage for approval. The third reading is given when the bylaw is returned to the council.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson suggested that if the bylaw was not to be considered by the Municipal Board for another month or two, the third reading might be held up temporarily to hear any opposition such as the brief of the Conservation Committee.

"Any such objections could be considered," he said. "They could at least be discussed."

REFER BACK

Ald. Rehill remarked that if discussion brought forth any matters to be changed, the bylaw would have to be referred back to the planning board. That would entail further hearings of matters already covered. "We could be another three months on it."

City Solicitor Huycke emphasized the point that the bylaw does not become valid until the final approving order of the Municipal Board is declared. Subsequently if amendments are proposed, for example six to twelve months after official approval is given, these amendments would in turn require the Municipal Board's approval.

Ald. W. J. Beggs asked whether the Board had the right to amend the bylaw without sending it back to the council.

Mr. Huycke's reply was to the effect that he did not think the Board had any desire to encroach on the rights of the council, and if any changes were considered they would be discussed in the spirit of suggestion and adjustment.

City Clerk Outram commented that the policy of the Board was to effect reconciliation of views and the reaching of acceptable compromise.

Ald. Beggs pressed his enquiry as to whether a bylaw would have to be amended on the board's order, when other means failed.

"I think it would," Mr. Huycke answered.

MUST TAKE TURN

As to Ald. Farquharson's proposal of intervening discussion, if time was not a pressing factor, Acting Mayor Dewart, in committee with Ald. P. J. Anglesey presiding for the second reading, brought out the likelihood of priority hearings in the Municipal Board's listing of engagements.

Replying to a question in that reference, City Clerk Outram said it was the policy of the Board to deal with matters from municipalities in the order in which they were received.

Ald. Burrows pointed out that Mrs. Nornabell's committee was not trying to hold up proceedings. "They are quite content to let their brief go to the Municipal Board," he said.

With these various items of assurance, Ald. Gordon Powell seconded the Rehill motion to proceed with the passing of the second reading.

Acting Mayor Dewart, after the third reading, spoke of the

McCarthy-Army Dispute Delayed Again

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sizzling feud between Senator Joseph McCarthy, the Wisconsin Republican, and Senator Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat, threatened to erupt again today to delay the McCarthy-Army hearing's progress toward a final wind-up.

Francis P. Carr was recalled to the stand in the 34th day of televised hearings before the Senate investigations sub-committee, with McCarthy and Symington making belligerent noises at each other. They have tangled repeatedly during the last few weeks.

Carr is chief of staff of the investigations sub-committee which McCarthy normally heads. The Wisconsin senator has stepped off the group while it investigates his dispute with high army officials.

Acting chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.), seeking to conciliate the McCarthy-Symington row, said in an interview that Symington had asked a "hypothetical question" about possible subversives on the Red-hunting sub-committee's own staff at Monday's session and that it was a "misunderstanding" when McCarthy lit into the Missourian.

But McCarthy told reporters it is up to Symington to "put up or shut up." He accused Symington and the army's special counsel, Joseph N. Welch, with whom he had clashed before, of joining in attempting to fasten "guilt by implication" on McCarthy staff members.

Symington said he was "dumbfounded" by McCarthy's outburst at the close of Monday's session, but he stuck to his contention that the sub-committee's files had been "dangerously handled" under McCarthy's regime and were potentially open to looting.

Symington said in a statement the point he was making was that all of the staff members had access to the files and some of them had not been cleared for "top secret" information.

"If by chance there was one rotten apple in the barrel, which there has been in other agencies, it might in turn be disastrous to our security," said Symington.

All of this had little direct bearing on the charges of Army Secretary Robert Stevens and army counsel John G. Adams that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, chief sub - committee counsel, brought improper pressure in trying to get favored army treatment for Pte. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

The McCarthy side countercharged that Stevens and Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack a McCarthy investigation of alleged Communists in the army. The sub-committee voted on party lines May 26 to dismiss Carr as a principal to the case.

CMA To Take More Action In Rehabilitation Of Disabled

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—An intensive drive to further rehabilitation of disabled persons will be launched by the Canadian Medical Association.

In a closed meeting that extended until late Monday night, the 150-member CMA general council adopted a report calling for more active participation in rehabilitation. The council meetings are continung today.

Dr. Norman H. Gosse of Halfax, charman of the executve commitee, said rehabilitation followed with equal importance the first two phases of medicine—diaghosis and treatment—but that the medical profession had been generally slow in appreciating the importance of "salvaging the human wastage from disabling disease and injury."

In other action during the opening day of the five-day 87th annual CMA convention, council formally accepted the resignation of Dr. T. Clarence Routley of Toronto as general secretary and appointed Dr. Arthur Dill Kelly of Toronto as his successor.

SENIOR MEMBERS ELECTED

Eleven outstanding Canadian doctors, one from each province plus an additional one from B.C., were elected senior members of the association and the 1,500 convention delegates attended an action-packed program that included colored television broadcasts of operations underway at the general hospital two miles away, and a number of specialist technical papers on anaesthesia, psychiatric treatment, pathology and rheumatism.

Dr. Gosse noted in his report that a $500,000 grant made to provincial health authorities for rehabilitation work in 1953 had not been fully utilized. About $100,000 had been spent from the grant, increased to $1,000,000 for 1954.

"The success of any rehabilitation program will depend on the accurate medical assessment of the disabled persons," said Dr. Gosse.

APPROVE RECOMMENDATION

Council approved a recommendation that immediate steps be taken to incorporate the need for rehabilitation as a more important part of medical school training.

Dr. Kelly said the CMA aim was to transmit to civilian treatment the same type of rehabilitation used in the armed forces with "outstanding success" during the Second World War.

Dr. Routley's retirement marked the end of an era in CMA.

The 65-year-old physician took over the post of general secretary in 1923 and during his 31 years in office travelled more than 1,500,000 miles in his efforts to raise the standards of medical training and facilities both in Canada and throughout the morld.

Among those elected senior members of the association, one of the highest honors in the CMA, was Dr. G. E. McCartney, Fort William.

SUE STAMPS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League Monday sued Calgary Stampeder coach Larry Siemering and general manager Robert H. Robinett for $100,000, charging they induced fleet halfback Eddie Macon to jump his contract.

The suit, filed in U.S. district court, contends Siemering, Macon's former coach at College of the Pacific, "willfully and maliciously" talked Macon into writing a letter to the Bears' owner, George Halas giving the impression he was leaving professional football.

Calgary, a member of the Western Interprovincial Football union, has attracted several American players with lucrative salary offers.

The suit accuses Macon of breaching his Chicago contract and signing with Calgary, but he is not named as a defendant.

Two U.S. Airmen Die In Crash

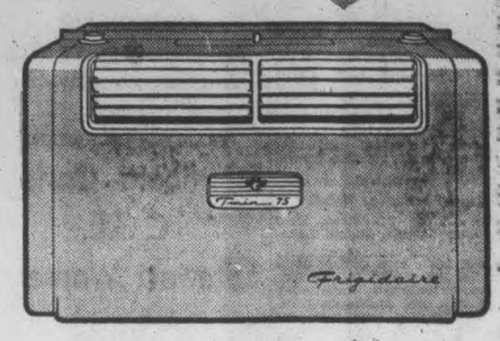
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—United States Air Force investigators poked through the scattered wreckage of a TF-51D fighter frainer today in efforts to find the cause of a crash that took the lives of two airmen.

The plane, a converted Mustang fighter used for training, apparently ripped apart in flight Monday night and hurtled into a field near the suburban town of Elma.

Spokesmen for the 445th fighter bomber wing, a reserve unit at Niagara Falls air force base, identified the pilot as Maj. Walter Kirkbride, a reservist of Niagara Falls. His passenger was Donald J. Weiglein of Buffalo, a regular air force man assigned to the wing.

Henry J. Koszuta, who was plowing in a nearby field, said he heard an explosion as the plane flew overhead and looked up in time to see the aircraft turning "end over end."

"I saw a man in the cockpit waving his arms as if he was trying to get out."



A wing of the plane landed in a field about a mile north of where the main part of the ship crashed. The gas tank was found a quarter of a mile from the scene.

LAND OF SOURDOUGH—The town of Whitehorse in the Yukon stands on flat land along the Yukon river. The Duke of Edinburgh will visit Whitehorse August 8 during his air tour of Canada's far north.

Whitehorse First Point To Be Visited By Duke

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—This crossroads of the north in the fabled land of the sourdough will be the first point visited by the Duke of Edinburgh during his three-day, five-stop tour of Canada's far north in August.

From this capital of the Yukon he will go on to four centres in the Northwest Territories, travelling as far as the Arctic coast, before returning east for the wind-up of his Canadian visit. The duke will arrive in Canada at Goose Bay, Labrador, July 29, and his trip ends there on Aug. 17.

The duke, who will travel the far north solely by air, will arrive at Whitehorse about mid-day Aug. 8 after a 900-mile flight from Vancouver and the British Empire games there. He will come aboard the fast, four-motored C-5 aircraft which carried Prime Minister St. Laurent around the globe earlier this year.

ROUTE TO KLONDIKE

Approaching Whitehorse by air from the south, the duke will pass over snow-capped mountains jutting their peaks 6,000 to 10,000 feet above the northern wilderness.

In the vicinity of the British Columbia-Yukon border he likely will pass over the Chilkoot and White passes and Lake Bennett, overland route of more than 25,000 persons who stampeded to the Klondike gold rush of 1898.

He will see, pointing toward Whitehorse from the east, a long, twisting ribbon cutting through the wilderness of mountain, bush, muskeg and lakes. This will be the 1,523-mile Alaska highway, built by an army of some 40,000 American soldiers in less than a year at a cost of $138,000,000 as a wartime defence link with Alaska.

The duke's aircraft will land on a hard-surfaced strip of the Whitehorse airport, site of a frontier golf course 34 years ago. Carved out by bush pilots and barnstorming aviators, it was developed as a major field during the Second World War and now is a key base for joint Canadian-American defence of the continent.

Across the airport from the RCAF station the duke will be lodged for his overnight stay in a modern, two-storey house complete with spacious living room and big stone fireplace. From these luxurious quarters, at the edge of a plateau on which the air base is situated, the duke will have a sweeping view of Whitehorse 200 feet below.

DISTRIBUTING CENTRE

Much of the duke's time will be spent in the town, distributing and transportation centre of the north at the meeting of river, highway and rail.

The duke's motorcade will travel a short stretch along the Alaska highway before entering the town from the northwest along the sloping, winding "two-mile hill." At the foot of it remain a few globular tanks on the abandoned site of the Canol oil refinery, another phase of Whitehorse's wartime boom.

Just north of town is an Indian burial ground where huts built over graves are complete to dishes and tobacco supplies in anticipation of the return of spirits of the departed. This curious spot intrigued Viscount Alexander on his visit here some years ago as Canada's governor-general.

The Canadian Army's northwest highway system, which controls and maintains the Alaska highway, is located along the west and south sides of the town and the duke's route takes him past some of the American Quonset huts erected during the highway's construction.

INDIAN COUPLE—This Indian couple with their child at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories are typical of the natives the Duke of Edinburgh will see when he makes an air tour of Canada's far north in August.
—(CP from National Film Board).

Much of Whitehorse's 2,500 civilian population draw their livelihood from the highway, being employed in maintenance work. The air force and army camps swell the area's population to 5,000.

Turning east down Main street, the duke's party will come to the spanking-new, block-long federal government building. Three blocks further, at the end of Main street, the duke will visit the depot and dock yards of the White Pass and Yukon Railway and the British Navigation Co., steamsboat division of the railway.

YEAR-ROUND OPERATION

The narrow 36-inch gauge railroad, pushed east through the Rocky Mountains to Whitehorse at the height of the gold rush, operates year-round. Its miniature cars travel 110 miles between Whitehorse and the Pacific coast port of Skagway, Alaska, jumping-off point of the old gold-seekers.

Of special interest to the royal sailor will be the remains of the sternwheeler fleet. Completion last year of a road from here to Dawson City, 434 miles north, practically sounded the death knell of the boats, which plied the 2,000-mile Yukon river from its headwaters here.

Rotting on the ways are the legendary Yukoner and Bonanza King, giant remnants of some 100 river steamers built all along the Pacific coast to carry thousands up the Yukon river to the gold-rich creek beds around Dawson City.

TO SEE MUSEUM

Across the street from the railway, the duke will visit the Whitehorse museum, a log cabin which was the first government telegraph office in the Yukon. Prominently displayed are poems of Robert W. Service, the Yukon's gold-rush bard. Mounted on a wall is the world's second largest moose head, 75½ inches separating its antler tips.

Another stop on the itinerary is Sam McGee's cabin. Service won fame with his ballad, "The Cremation of Sam McGee." On the grounds outside are one of the old stage coaches used on the overland trail to Dawson City in the gold-rush era and an Indian war canoe.

Across the street is the Anglican old log church, built in 1900. Service's ballads, "Songs of a Sourdough," were penned in the study of the church, of which he was a warden.

After his tour of the town, air base and northwest highway system, the duke leaves the following morning aboard the C-5 for the Northwest Territories.

Try To Film Life Of Man To Die July 30

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How do you film the life story of a man who is scheduled to die July 30?

That is the problem facing Canadian-born producer Wallace MacDonald and his writer, Jack Dewitt, who are charged with putting on the screen the life of Caryl Chessman. They are filming the criminal's book, "Cell 2455, Death Row," which Columbia bought for $15,000.

National attention has been brought to Chessman via his book, in which he details his life in crime. He has confessed 15 felonies charged to him, but not two others which brought him the death sentence for kidnapping. He has personally waged a long legal battle to escape the gas chamber, but now is slated to die July 30. A committee that includes many writing people has been trying to get his sentence commuted, arguing that he is worth more to society alive than dead.

MULGRAVE, N.S. NATIVE

I talked about the film version of the story in the office of MacDonald, a stocky former actor of the silent days and native of Mulgrave, N.S. He introduced me to Dewitt, an Arkansan who has turned out 2,500 stories, including an expose of Devil's island.

"This assignment is nothing new to me," said Dewitt. "I've witnessed seven hangings, two executions by gas, four or five electrocutions and several firing squads."

MacDonald emphasized that the film will take no sides in Chessman's fight for life.

"We will present the story in a documentary style, like a March of Time," the producer remarked. "We will be coldly objective, building no case for him or for Society."

Ah yes, but doesn't the audience tend to sympathize with the leading player, even in a crime picture?

"Not necessarily in this case," remarked MacDonald. "not if we tell the story as it was written in the book, and we are required to do so.

"There may be some sympathy evoked from his younger days. His family was very poor and he tells of how he was sick in bed and how his mother, who was paralyzed, called to say something was wrong. The boy went in the kitchen and found his father lying on the floor with the gas on.

"His first urge to steal came when he noticed other people's groceries were not the same as his family's, which came from relief. He began to steal food.

"But then he began to steal more than he needed. It became a matter of bravado with him. When others in his gang would say, 'let's steal a car,' he'd say 'let's steal three cars.'"

The film makers hope to confer with Chessman on the script. The picture is a rush affair. The book was purchased only two weeks ago, and MacDonald hopes to be shooting by early July. The picture may be completed before the month is over.

The ending? That may have to be written on or after July 30.

Board Recommends Mill Rate Increase

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Monday recommended a 1954 tax rate of 43.5 mills, an increase of 2.2 mills over last year.

The recommendation now goes before city council.

Controller Leslie H. Saunders said increases brought on in water, roads and school expenditures by the metropolitan Toronto area forced up Toronto's rate.

The first budget of metropolitan Toronto, requiring an expenditure of $56,223,436 will be placed before the council today for approval.

Representing 14.5 mills on the tax rate, an estimated $34,945,099 will be raised from the 13 area municipalities in metropolitan Toronto. Provincial grants and other revenue total $21,278,337.

Charge Withdrawn

TORONTO (CP)—A manslaughter charge against James Checkett, 58, has been withdrawn at the request of the Crown. Checkett was charged June 12 following the death of Ivan Markell, 60, who police said was found dead following a drinking party. An autopsy showed Markell died from natural causes.

Air Post Change

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal J. L. Plant, 43, of Victoria, has been appointed air member for technical services at head quarters here, effective early next month, the RCAF announced Monday. He had been chief of staff to the commander-in-chief of Allied air forces in central Europe.

Road Suspects Given Remands

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — A further remand to July 13, was granted Monday in the highways contract conspiracy charges against three lakehead men in connection with the current department of highways investigation.

W. S. Tomlinson, vice-president and Tomlinson Bros. (Eastern) Limited; Arthur Mills, former department of highways engineer in Fort William, and C. W. Taylor, superintendent with Tomlinson Brothers, were released on bail.

The bail of $10,000 was continued for Tomlinson; $5,000 for Taylor and $2,500 for Mills.

The trio is awaiting preliminary hearing on charges that they conspired to defraud the government of highways contracts.

Mills is already awaiting trial on other charges in connection with irregularities while he was divisional engineer. This latter investigation resulted in four former employees, Douglas Cutting, Donald Gandier, Thomas Ayres and Graham W. Turner being sentenced to jail terms last week. Turner was given six months and the others eight months each.

In the telephone business, as around your own home, we find it's better to do the job right in the first place and then look after it. It's the best way we know to avoid heavy repair and replacement costs, to save expense and give you most service for your money.

That's why we treat telephone poles against rot; why we keep our trucks clean and in good repair; why we put up exchanges and offices to last.

It's common sense if we are to keep our costs down—and the price of your telephone service low.

West Makes Plans To Leave Stand-By Group

GENEVA (AP) — Western diplomats made plans today for a stand-by group to remain in Geneva during the expected suspension of the Indo-China peace talks.

An authoritative source said some sort of a recess in the nine-power parley probably will be agreed on, but there is no thought now of a complete break-off of the talks.

France is reported opposed to any outright adjournment of the negotiations with the Communists, at least until after a new government has been set up in Paris and the National Assembly has had a chance to review the Indo-China situation.

STAND BY FRANCE

The United States and Britain are understood to agree that France should not be deserted. They also feel the military talks here between the Communist Vietminh rebels and the French must continue.

Foreign Minister Bidault flew back from Paris today to discuss the situation with foreign secretary Eden and state undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith at a dinner tonight.

Smith and Eden also saw Jean Chauvel, French ambassador to Switzerland, on the situation this morning. Eden was to meet later today with Communist China's premier-foreign minister, Chou En-lai.

One plan reported being considered by the West would have each of the nine delegations leave in Geneva responsible—but not top.

Seven Cars Overturn Near Pupils

27-Car Freight Derailed Close To Platform

TORONTO (CP)— A group of 73 school children watched fascinated from a railway station platform today as a 27-car Canadian Pacific Railway freight train left the rails before their eyes and seven cars overturned along the right of way.

No one was hurt but the wreck occurred a scant 50 yards from the Islington station platform in West Toronto where the children were waiting to board a passenger train.

The children were from Queensway School and range in age from eight to 10 years. They were members of a social study group going on a trip to study "methods of transportation."

The derailment tied up rail traffic at the station as the freight, bound for Toronto from St. Thomas, left the rails. Seven of the cars overturned and spilled their contents along the roadbed. Some narrowly missed piling into a lumber yard where six men were working.

PASSENGER TRAIN STOPPED

The wreck occurred a few minutes before the arrival of the Toronto-Detroit CPR passenger flier. The passenger train engineer spotted the accident and came to a halt outside the station.

An unidentified motorist, waiting at the Islington crossing, got out of the way just in time, backing up his car as the freight cars tumbled from the rails and spilled their contents of coal, lime and mixed goods.

Railway officials said it was sheer luck the wreck did not occur opposite the station platform. Many of the children might have been killed, buried under the overturned freight cars.

Wrecking equipment was sent to clear the line. Meanwhile traffic was being rerouted.

Keep Firemen Busy

TORONTO (CP)— Three youths were arrested by police early today after they had turned in three false alarms. For almost an hour they kept firemen racing in circles in the east end. They ran after spotting a police cruiser and were caught by officers. The youths claimed they were "having fun," police said.

Canadian Troops Face Longer Stay In Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Break-off of the Korean talks in Geneva may mean an even longer stay for Canadian troops in Korea, officials said Tuesday.

When the conference opened, it was thought here that if some agreement could be reached with the Communists, it would speed return home of Canadian forces in Korea, or at least some of them.

External Affairs Minister Pearson has said that the government wants to withdraw the 25th Infantry Brigade and three destroyers from Korea as soon as possible.

Failure of the Korean talks does not rule out entirely withdrawal of Canadian forces but it probably makes the withdrawal date more distant. That date now will depend more on how quickly the South Korean Army can be trained to take over more of the truce patrol duties now performed by United Nations forces.

PEARSON STATEMENT

Mr. Pearson said in the Commons Friday that failure of the Geneva conference should not mean a resumption of fighting in Korea. Neither would failure impose on Canada any obligation, direct or indirect, to participate in any action to unify Korea by force.

The Canadian view is that it might be possible to resume the Korean talks after a break of several months or, failing this, the UN General Assembly might have a try at it.

Failure at Geneva rules out any chance that the government might consider recognition of Communist China in the near future.

Before the conference, Mr. Pearson indicated the government might consider recognition if the Reds showed a conciliatory attitude and backed it up with some agreement on Far East problems.

Break-up of the talks was accepted here Tuesday with sadness but no surprise.

Highways Dept. Reorganized; Engineer Resigns

TORONTO (CP)—A complete reorganization of the provincial highways department, involving a breakdown of administration into five divisions and the resignation of contract engineer W. A. MacLachlan, has been announced by the Ontario government.

The reorganization moved several officials into higher positions and resulted in general salary increases which have been approved by the civil service commission. Only departmental personnel were involved; no new employees were taken on.

The revamping, already effective, was announced by deputy minister M. A. Elson at a meeting of the legislature's highways committee before it left Tuesday night for a tour of North Dakota and northwestern Ontario. It generally follows the recommendations in a report by J. D. Woods and Gordon Ltd., Toronto management consultants appointed last January to make a study of the department after irregularities were discovered.

ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENTS

Administration of the department will be headed by Mr. Elson and chief engineer W. A. Clarke.

New section chiefs are W. J. Fulton, director of planning; C. A. Robbins, services manager; J. L. Zoller, financial controller; and J. P. Bickle, registrar of motor vehicles. A director of personnel will be appointed later from outside the department.

Other appointments announced included those of J. Walter, construction engineer; H. N. Lamont, bridge engineer; C. Tackaberry, maintenance engineer; and J. V. Ludgate, municipal engineer.

Eighteen division engineers will be in charge of the King's highways sections and 19 municipal engineers will head the department's municipal affairs.

NEW ENGINEERS

Appointments of six new division engineers were announced. They are H. C. Dernier, Huntsville; E. A. Cash, Fort William; B. R. Heavysege, Stratford; R. A. Panter, North Bay; G. F. Weatherall, New Liskeard; J. B. Wilkes, Cochrane; and E. H. Jones, Kenora.

The reorganization brought general salary increases already approved by the civil service commission. The Woods and Gordon report said department salaries average more than those paid by private firms competing for engineers' services—$302 per month against $310 plus cost-of-living bonus.

Mr. Elson told the committee that Mr. MacLachlan had not been

French Begin Returning Rebel Wounded

HANOI (AP)—The French high command today began the return of 575 sick and wounded Vietminh prisoners-of-war as token repayment for the Communist release last month of French Union wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

Seventy Vietminh were handed over to the Indo-China rebel authorities this afternoon at the little village of Dinh Cau, 30 miles northeast of Hanoi and just inside the edge of rebel-controlled territory.

Seventy more were to be returned later this afternoon and 127 Thursday.

The other prisoners will be released in central Viet Nam at a later date, probably the last of this week or early next week.

Those returned today appeared happy to get back to their Vietminh comrades. Some had been prisoners for more than three years.

SEEK NEW CABINET

In Paris today the Viet Nam information office announced that Viet Nam's chief of state, ex-emperor Bao Dai, has accepted the resignation of Prince Buu Loc's government and asked Ngo Dinh Diem, fervent nationalist and Catholic leader, to form a new cabinet.

Buu Loc, who has been premier since January, announced his government's resignation officially in Saigon today.

The shift had been reported Tuesday as a last-ditch effort to rally to the anti-Communist fight the large group of nationalist leaders who have opposed Bao Dai as being under French control.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two strong earthquakes centred 80 miles deep under the Andes in northern Peru were reported Tuesday by the California Institute of Technology. The magnitude was 6.8 on a scale which rates the largest shocks at 8.6.

Charge France Landing Troops

NEW DELHI (AP) — India today accused France of landing troops in the disputed French Indian settlement of Pondichery, scene of recent agitation for a merger with India. France insisted they were only police.

Prime Minister Nehru's government, in a note to the French embassy, requested the immediate withdrawal of any such soldiers.

The French foreign ministry issued a quick denial in Paris. It said the movement involved only 50 police and two officers and added France had taken pains to send them aboard a commercial vessel rather than a warship.

"France is responsible for maintaining order in the settlement and intends to maintain order," the foreign office declared.

Reports only two days ago from another French Indian settlement, Yanaon, on India's west coast, said some 200 pro-Indians in the town of 5,800 persons had seized all public offices, hoisted the Indian flag and proclaimed French control at an end.

Search For Mother

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police have been asked to look for the mother of six children who disappeared from her home here May 28. Mrs. Audrey Ruth Fairbairn, 29, told her husband she was going to her sister's place. She never reached her sister's home and has been unreported since.

Texas Police Pick Up Montreal Murder Suspect

MONTREAL (CP)—Telephoned fingerprint classifications of a 32-year-old salesman in Austin, Tex., tally with those of Patrick Gerald McKuhen, wanted here on a murder charge, police said today.

The salesman, who gave his name as Patrick Ramsey, was picked up Tuesday by Austin police at the request of the Montreal detective squad. Officers here said Ramsey is McKuhen's real name.

Chief Wilfrid Bourdon of the Montreal detective squad said a circular with McKuhen's photo and full description has been sent to Austin.

McKuhen is wanted for the bludgeon slaying of Montreal restaurateur and big-game hunter Bert J. McAbbie, who died Jan. 21, 1953, two days after a beating and robbery in an apartment adjoining his restaurant. Three men and a woman have been charged with the murder. McKuhen is the only remaining suspect.

LIVED MODEL LIFE

Austin police said Ramsey has lived a "model life" since going there in April, 1953. A German war-bride divorcee, identified as Ramsey's wife, was taken into custody with him.

Montreal police said Ramsey was located through a telephone check on the home of his father at Branley Beach, N. J. Police Captain Leonard Riley of Bradley Beach kept telephone connections to the home under surveillance for 17 months. The first long-distance call in that period came through Monday evening and was traced to Austin. Police in Texas were told and made the arrest.

The Bradley Beach police chief said an earlier report that Ramsey's mother supplied the tip that led to the arrest was erroneous.

In custody here for the murder are Jonathan Dawn, 22, a former private detective who was arrested in Salinas, Calif., Feb. 21; Roy Colligan, 40; Leo Sergant, 28; and Servant's beautiful red-haired sister, Gertrude, 25, described by police as a former sweetheart of McKuhen's.

Row Sparked By Red Cross

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A statement by the chairman of the American national Red Cross that some tornado-stricken cities hadn't reimbursed the Red Cross for help kicked up a cross country storm Tuesday.

Chairman E. Roland Harriman, addressing the American national Red Cross convention Monday, singled out Flint, Mich. The mayor of Flint said Tuesday this was "an unjustified attack on the people and the city."

Harriman said: "This kind of situation has also happened elsewhere," and another Red Cross official said two other cities hit by tornadoes last year, Waco, Tex., and Worcester, Mass., were involved.

The crux of the controversy seemed to be: Should a stricken community that collects a supplemental fund reimburse the Red Cross for meeting basic needs? Or should it supplement Red Cross help and try to rehabilitate victims as nearly as possible to the previous status?

Harriman told the convention: "Developments in recent disaster operations make it necessary for the Red Cross to return to its previous practice of conducting special campaigns when disasters strike. . . ."

Committee Member Angered By Change

CHICAGO (CP)—The provincial government's handling of the reorganization of the highways department was criticized today by a member of the Ontario Legislature's touring highways investigation committee.

Clare Mapledorum (PC — Fort William) said here he protested the way in which the government "sidestepped" the committee.

"The committee was not consulted on the reorganization," he stated. "That's the second time it has happened."

The first was the appointment of M. A. Elson as the new deputy minister.

The committee passed through Chicago today en route to Bismarck, N. D.

Churchill Holds Conferences With U.K. Military Chiefs

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill today called in Britain's military chiefs of staff and civilian heads of the three services for discussion of preliminary plans for his Washington meetings with President Eisenhower next week.

There is considerable speculation here over the principal objectives of the prime minister's trip to Washington. Foreign Secretary Eden and State Secretary Dulles will also participate in the meeting, designed mainly to hammer out a common Western policy following the failure of the Geneva conference.

Churchill's session with his military advisers gives weight to the belief that the question of Southeast Asian security will rank at the top of the agenda. Predictions are also rife that the prime minister will once again raise his proposal of a Big Three meeting with Russia's Premier Malenkov—and get a cold shoulder from the Americans.

HARDING LIKELY AID

Churchill and Eden will fly from London Thursday of next week and are expected to spend the weekend in Washington. It is expected that Field Marshal Sir John Harding, chief of the Imperial General Staff, will be with them.

Harding led Britain's delegation to last week's five-power military staff talks in Washington. Following his return he briefed a full cabinet meeting on the talks, which drew up a military assessment of the Southeast Asian situation.

Trio Remanded

TORONTO (CP) — Three men charged with conspiracy in connection with Ontario department of highways irregularities were remanded again today when they appeared in magistrate's court.

Cecil Nelson of Port Hope, former chief engineer with the department; R. F. Peturrson, a federal highways inspector, and Elmer Birdsall, a vice-president of Standard Paving Co., are to appear again July 28.

1,000 On Firelines In Northern Ontario

SUDBURY (CP)—With no rain predicted and a possibility of heavy winds, forestry officials fear new outbreaks in fires which have already swept through more than 29,000 acres of bush and slash in the White River and Gogama areas.

With 1,000 men on the firelines, some of them in mobile forces being shifted from place to place by helicopter, only one outbreak was reported Tuesday and all major fires are being held.

The worst blaze, said Keith Acheson, regional forester in Sudbury, is in Mikano township in the White River area, where firefighters have been battling a 20,000-acre fire since June 8.

Geneva Talks Hadn't Chance Rhee Says

CHINHAE, Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today said the break-up of Korean peace talks at Geneva clearly demonstrates that "the free nations no longer are begging the Communists to come to some agreement so as to avoid at any cost the possibility of a third world war."

"I do not wish to appear as saying 'I told you so,'" Rhee added. "I was not the only one who knew that nothing could be gained by talking with the Communists.

"I feel that it is the first time since the cease-fire talks began in Panmunjom that the United States has led the other nations in withdrawing from a conference with the Communists."

Herd 8 Children To Safety In Fire

NORTH BAY (CP)—A mother and father herded eight of their children to safety early today, minutes before their log homstead was enveloped in flames 13 miles northeast of North Bay.

They saved one mattress and a few clothes. Then the family of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carr stood and watched while the flames consumed their home.

The children range in age from one to 15 years. Three others were not at home.

Fourteen-year-old Kenny was credited with preventing the family from being trapped. He awoke, smelled smoke and quickly woke his parents who found that the entire roof was ablaze.

McCarthy Concedes Signing Application

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy conceded on the witness stand in the McCarthy-army hearings today that he had signed G. David Schine's application for an army commission despite his previous testimony he "never saw it" and knew nothing about it.

Joseph N. Welch, special army counsel, produced surprise photos of the application for Schine, a former McCarthy consultant and central figure in the exchange of "pressure" and "blackmail" charges between Secretary of the Army Stevens and the Wisconsin Republican.

Welsh referred to sworn testimony of McCarthy on June 10 that he knew nothing about Schine's application for a commission, which the army turned down. Schine subsequently was drafted as a private.

Demand $7,628 Be Returned Since Moulton College Closed

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon A. MacEachern of Toronto, president of the Woodstock Baptist College alumni association, has demanded the refund of $7,628 which the alumni donated for the expansion of Moulton College.

In a letter to the governors of McMaster University, Hamilton, whose sudden decision to close the Moulton College girls' school in Toronto this month he describes as "callous and arbitrary," Mr. MacEachern says his association wants the money back if and when the Moulton property is sold.

For the money to be absorbed by "the very body that has suddenly brought the school to its end . . . would be morally and ethically wrong," he says.

SECOND LETTER WRITTEN

A protest letter has also been written by Mrs. Doris McKay, president of the Moulton Home and School Association, to Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock, chairman of McMaster's board of governors.

Both letters will be discussed Thursday before the annual meeting of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec in Ottawa, Rev. Dr. T. B. McDormand, general secretary of the convention, said today.

Dr. G. P. Gilmour, president of McMaster, said the matter will not be discussed by the university governors for some time.

MEMORIAL BUILT

Mr. MacEachern explained that Woodstock College for boys was a brother school to Moulton. It was closed in 1926 by order of the McMaster board.

A large sum of money was raised by the alumni to perpetuate the memory of old boys killed in the war. Most of it was used to build and equip the Woodstock College memorial laboratory which formed part of the new Moulton College building opened in 1949.

Paris Suspicions Grow

Laniel's Brother Misses Plane For South America

PARIS (AP) — Senator Rene Laniel, brother of France's outgoing premier, missed a plane for South America Tuesday night. The circumstances aroused widespread speculation in Paris newspapers today.

L'Aurore and several other papers said the plane took off while customs authorities were searching the senator's baggage.

An associate of Laniel, answering the telephone at the senator's home, said the senator had demanded the search to prove he was not flying out with a large sum of money. The source said a political enemy of Laniel had been spreading such a rumor.

Laniel, the associate added, had been bound for Venezuela on business but at the last moment had been advised to remain in Paris on other business matters.

Newspapers focused their attention on a story, circulating in political circles for the last week, that the independent political faction to which he belongs had asked his resignation from the party.

An unofficial spokesman for the independents said Laniel had violated party regulations by distributing a circular for a commercial enterprise in which he used his official title and noted also that he was a brother of Premier Joseph Laniel.

Churchill Wins Another Fight

Great Story of Bravery Behind U.S. Trip

By JACK SMITH

LONDON (AP)—A great story of personal bravery lies behind Sir Winston Churchill's decision to go to Washington.

It is a story of an old man's fight against the advance of time—against a stroke that temporarily paralyzed part of his body, left him without the power of speech, and caused his wife and doctors to despair.

A friend of Churchill told this correspondent about it Tuesday a few hours before it was announced the 79-year-old prime minister is travelling to Washington next week for talks with President Eisenhower.

Just a year ago the foreign office announced the postponement of the Bermuda conference planned by Churchill, Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel. The explanation: Churchill was tired and his doctors had ordered him to rest.

SUFFERED STROKE

Churchill's intimate saw him a day or two later. He says the fact was that the old war leader had suffered a stroke.

And, he says, it was Churchill's second.

The story as related by a man who for many years has been one of the prime minister's closest friends:

Some days after the attack Churchill was being trundled about in a wheel chair on the lawns of his estate, Chartwell, 30 miles southeast of London.

He could not speak. One side of his face was paralyzed. He looked pale and wan. Only his eyes showed the sparks of his inner energy.

BEGGED TO RETIRE

His wife, Clementine, was begging him to retire and conserve his failing strength so they could have "a year or two together."

His doctor, Lord Moran, was pressing him urgently to step down.

Lord Moran described it as a relatively mild stroke. But he told Churchill's friends that a man of his years and state of health did not regain the power of speech or the use of paralyzed muscles after an attack of that kind.

The prime minister made it known that he wanted work. State papers were sent to him. Officials called.

Slowly, his speech returned and his paralyzed muscles came back to life.

His friends said he got well because of his basically powerful constitution, his lust for activity and his great desire to lead the nation and the Conservative party and to play out his role in world affairs.

Consider Canada As Nation

No Longer Think In Regional Terms Only

OTTAWA (CP)—More and more Canadians each year come to consider Canada as a nation and not as an association of racial groups with different languages, State Secretary Pickersgill said in an address prepared for delivery before the Ottawa-Hull Richelieu Club today.

"I do not think there is any doubt that most of us—more in every generation—have an attachment to this common homeland, not merely to some little corner of it, but to its whole extent." The Richelieu is a French-speaking service club.

Mr. Pickersgill said Canada does not come within the traditional definition of a nation—a common homeland, one language, the same culture and traditions and a large measure of racial unity.

Yet, the type of nation Canada is has helped give Canadians a certain kind of common pride. Canada could not have an acceptable government unless it was representative of both historic races, the French and English.

"What we have done is to create and develop a national sentiment while respecting the languages and traditions and cultures of two great races, and while sharing our nationhood with hundreds of thousands of other races whose presence has strengthened and not weakened this country."

List Ontario Centres Served By Pipeline

OTTAWA—Ontario communities to be served with natural gas by the proposed pipeline from Alberta were listed Tuesday by the Trans-Canada Pipeline Company as it sought federal permission to bring the gas east.

The line will run eastward from the Alberta-Saskatchewan border to Winnipeg, the lakehead, Sudbury, North Bay and south to Brooklin near Oshawa. Thence there will be smaller lateral lines west to Toronto and Oakville and east to Morrisburg and Montreal. From Morrisburg another line will run north to Ottawa and Hull.

The line from Brooklin west will serve Toronto, Oakville, Burlington, Dundas, Stratford, Kitchener, Waterloo, Guelph, Woodbridge, Thornhill, Richmond Hill, Aurora, Newmarket, Markham and Ajax.

Between Brooklin and Morrisburg, these places will be served: Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Grafton, Colborne, Brighton, Trenton, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Portsmouth, Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, Prescott, Cardinal, Iroquois and Morrisburg.

On the Ottawa lateral, service will be given Winchester, Ottawa and Eastview, Hull, Aylmer and Gatineau.

Between Brooklin and Callander, these will be included in the line: Brooklin, Port Perry, Lindsay, Beaverton, Orillia, Barrie, Gravenhurst, Bracebridge, Huntsville, Burke's Falls, Sundridge, South River, Trout Creek, Powassan and Callander.

Thence north and west the communities serviced will be: North Bay, Sturgeon Falls, Cache Bay, Warren, Coniston, Falconbridge, Sudbury, Copper Cliff, Chelmsford, Marathon, Schreiber, Nipigon, Port Arthur, Fort William, Dryden, Gunne Station, Kenora and Keewatin.

asked to resign but after "careful consideration it was decided that another man should be placed in the department." There was no question of irregularities involved in the resignation.

Mr. MacLachlan is replaced by H. A. Tregaskes, former assistant contract and trans-Canada highway engineer.

Mr. Elson's appointment was announced several weeks ago. He succeeded J. D. Millar who was appointed deputy minister of public works. Mr. Clarke succeeded C. A. Nelson, who resigned last fall and who later had his sick leave pay suspended following his failure to co-operate with investigators. He was subsequently charged with conspiracy.

At the opening of the committee's three-hour session, Donald E. McQuigge, president of the Ontario Roadbuilders' Association, supported the recommendation of the Woods Gordon report calling for the introduction of pre-qualification of highway contractors and an increased program of pre-engineering of road construction.

Mr. McQuigge, whose organization will present a brief to the committee upon its return to Toronto June 28, said pre-qualification "merely protects every contractor and keeps him within the limits of his qualifications."

"It does not prevent his growth or expansion but does prevent him from over-reaching himself," he testified.

He agreed with Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver that lack of pre-engineering resulted in "cut-throat" prices in the industry and in large over-runs of estimated costs.

"We need a lot more pre-engineering work in Ontario. It would . . . eliminate undue risks and hazards."

Replying to a question put by W. H. Collings (PC — Toronto Beaches) Mr. McQuigge said the introduction of a one-unit price on the moving of earth and rock, together with the absence of pre-engineering would "exercise a hardship" on the engineers in the price quotation.

"It would only be by guess and 'by George' to get the price," he testified.

Key Person In YW 35 Years Miss Brownscombe Retiring

To begin as a 12-year-old enthusiast in the gymnasium and to complete 35 years of service as executive director is the record held by Miss Leta Brownscombe, who this month-end will terminate her official association with Peterborough YWCA.

A member of a well-known family in the city, Miss Brownscombe has actually devoted her life to work in this Christian organization which caters to a wide variety of interests among women.

The community to which she has given so much is being given the opportunity to pay tribute to her at a reception being held at the YWCA this evening.

No one can estimate just how much the YWCA has meant in the lives of thousands who have spent a short or long time in its membership, or been helped by its many services — room registry, employment bureau, counselling, traveller's aid, as well as its gym, swim, club, residence and camp program.

SENIOR OFFICER

As executive director, Miss Brownscombe has been the most senior employed officer of the association in Peterborough. However, during her 35 years of service, she has been far more than an executive in tending to the smooth-running of the integral network of the YW. She has been called upon to show a very human and sympathetic interest in the many hundreds of women and children who have entered her life — a task she has fulfilled willingly and faithfully.

During her long period of service, Miss Brownscombe has watched the YW building on Simcoe street grow out of its bounds as added interest and a never-ending flow of newcomers became cogs in the spreading wheel of Christian youth.

"The YWCA grows and extends to meet the needs of the community" says Miss Brownscombe. This is how she recalled for The Examiner the large scale stages of its growth — while going over blue prints to map out some building changes that are planned for the summer months ahead. (Her knowledge of blue prints may have been handed down by her grandmother who worked on the finance campaign for the present building in 1904.)

DECIDED ON CAREER

It was in 1919 that Miss Brownscombe decided to go in for Y work as a career. She took a course at the National Training school in New York city and later took courses at Silver Bay and Chautauqua. She was appointed assistant secretary at the Peterborough Y and two years later was asked to take the general secretary's position, which now has the title executive director.

At that time the staff consisted of the general secretary, the gymnasium teacher, Miss Caroline Littlefield, who resigned just two years ago, and a resident superintendent, then Mrs. E. Morrison. Today there are nine full time staff members and two part time secretaries, and with other administrative and maintenance staff a total of 25 people come under Miss Brownscombe's jurisdiction.

The swimming pool, opened in 1918, under her regime, has extended its service to include teaching hundreds swimming, life saving, ornamental and synchronized swimming, free school swim lessons and school and city competitions, and perhaps the most helpful of all, the polio classes for handicapped children.

In 1919 Peterborough Y had its first camp near Burleigh Falls, with Miss Brownscombe one of its early directors. Her interest was largely responsible for the purchase of Camp Inglestane on Stony Lake in 1929, and there, until a few years ago, hundreds of girls from the district and as far away as Florida enjoyed happy summer holidays. Lately there has been only a two-week camp for the girls but for the past three years a day camp has provided an outlet for children who could not leave the city.

REMODEL BUILDING

Miss Brownscombe in 1937 supervised the campaign for $60,000 and the remodelling, refurnishing and extension of the building to include a modern gymnasium with the old gym becoming the "recreation room," a place for new and different activities to originate. Badminton first started at the Y and is still a popular activity there, as well as archery and basketball.

PROGRAM CHANGES

In the program department one sees the many changes year by year to meet the interests of members which have been planned by Miss Brownscombe and associates. Early clubs that she remembers fondly are Athena, a senior club, Jolly Rovers, an industrial club, Sunshine and Ever Bright Saturday Afternoon penny clubs. Some of the early interest groups were serving, millinery, domestic science, — and out of these has come the present system of night school classes.

During the war years hostess courses and soldiers recreation programs were a need met by the Y, and it also took a hand in the farm service work. Later the Y met the needs of the New Canadians coming from Europe and welcomed and helped them to adjust in a new country. Classes in English were held at the Y until taken over by the Board of Education.

First co-ed group within the YWCA is the 20 Plus Club which has been functioning weekly for 10 years. Members' Council composed of representatives from each Y group is also a development of the past decade. The Business and Professional Women's Club was re-organized by the Y in 1934 and has since become an independent and strong club. Outgrowth of the Y public affairs committee is the Civic Affairs Study Group.

Miss Brownscombe promoted the first modern cafeteria in this city and when it opened at the YWCA in 1951 she was the winner of the contest to name this new public dining hall. Her choice was The Copper Kettle.

BUILDING FOR FUTURE

"One never reaches the attainment of a job done in the Y" says Miss Brownscombe. "Helping build character, developing leaders, opening new avenues of learning, giving opportunity for service, and learning God's way of life, is a never-ending work, but one filled with rich reward."

Three special projects for the future which Miss Brownscombe will not be guiding to their completion, but which will have her continuing interest, are the Folk Festival for the fall, which she hopes will grow with the years, a new YW-YM in the south end of the city where she sees a great need to serve a fast-growing area, and perhaps the most level—representatives to serve as a stand-by group. This would permit quick resumption of the full conference should developments warrant it.

A high Western source said the French-Vietminh military talks have made little progress so far on their task of defining cease-fire lines. He said, however, that they have exchanged maps giving their initial ideas of where the two rival forces should be assembled.

This source said that in the initial exchange both sides "claimed everything." He acknowledged that this was usual in the first stages of bargaining, but that in this case events in Indo-China might be the deciding factor.

The nine-party Indo-China conference was scheduled to meet in closed session this afternoon to make a final try for agreement on getting Vietminh forces out of the states of Laos and Cambodia.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden told delegates Monday that he felt the talks should be suspended unless the Communists make drastic changes in their position.

Eisenhower Explanation:

Intend Meeting To Strengthen Ties

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower said today his June 25 meeting with Prime Minister Churchill is intended to keep the bridge between the United States and Britain strong.

Eisenhower told his press conference the suggestion for the meeting came from Churchill, and that the talks will cover the whole range of mutual interests between the powers. He emphasized, as the original announcement Tuesday had done, that there is no agenda or formal schedule of subjects.

The highly informal talks, Eisenhower said, will touch not only on the crisis in Southeast Asia but on virtually every topic which reporters could bring up.

The president said he agreed with Churchill that the meeting should do much to put an end to reports of rifts between the two countries.

STRENGTHEN TIES

He said the main purpose of the talks is to make the alliance between the two nations as strong as possible.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and State Secretary Dulles will participate in the White House conversations which some have presumed might eventually lead to some form of united action to check communism in Indo-China and the whole of Southeast Asia.

The U.S. has been working for creation of a Southeast Asia security pact as soon as possible.

President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles, officials said today, will urge the British leaders to agree to prompt consultation with about eight other powers having interests in the area.

That may mean the calling of a southeast security conference. Whether it might lead also to eventual American intervention side by side with other countries in the Indo-China war is not yet clear.

PLAY DOWN MEET

The No. 2 item due to be explored will be the organization of European defences in the light of the fact that the proposed European Defence Community is stalled primarily by French reluctance to permit West Germany to rearm.

What other problems will arise in the White House meetings of Eisenhower, Churchill, Eden and Dulles is not yet clear. Undoubtedly considerable attention will be paid to improving British-American relations, but this is a subject best discussed in connection with such specific problems as differing policies toward Red China.

The tendency here now is to play down the importance of the meeting.

One reason is that neither American nor British leaders wish to give other free governments the impression that Churchill and Eisenhower are going to make decisions which affect their interests.

BEYOND QUESTION

That the talks will get the Southeast Asia security pact efforts off dead centre, however, seems beyond question at this time. Britain has been one of the keys to progress almost from the moment that Dulles proposed March 29 that united action should be taken to stop the Communist tide.

The British government then decided to stake its interest on negotiations with Russia and Communist China at the Geneva conference in the hope that the war in Indo-China could thereby be quickly stopped.

Charge Board Arbitrary Closing College

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges of being "arbitrary and undemocratic" in the closing of Moulton College, a private school for girls in Toronto, today were levelled at the board of governors of McMaster University at the 66th annual Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Rev. W. A. Cameron, former chaplain of the college, said that he did not consider the closing necessary. The alumni of Moulton did not know of the proposed closing, nor did the Baptist convention.

G. P. Gilmour, president of McMaster University said that the board had closed the college because its financial resources were not sufficient to continue. He said that the board was the only body with the legal right to take such action.

"Its honor should not be impugned, although its wisdom may be questioned," he said.

The convention voted to accept the report of the McMaster board of governors.

Earlier, the convention approved the new minimum salary for ministers of $2,600 a year. It also elected the following members to the ministerial superannuation board: Harry Chilman, Toronto, John Mears, Niagara Falls, Ont., Harold R. Scott, Peterborough, and Elgin Smith, Brantford.

Feeley Appeals Conviction

Geoffrey (Gyp) Feeley, given a two-months sentence on a bootlegging charge, has announced through his solicitors, Currelly and Foster, that he will appeal magistrate W. R. Philp's conviction.

The charge was laid after Wilfred Phillips, a taxi driver, drove an Empress hotel night clerk and a female companion to Feeley's home to make arrangements to buy a bottle of liquor. The actual transaction was said to have taken place in the cab.

(The clerk was charged with theft of $400 from the Empress the following day, April 16. Phillips drove the two to Oshawa.)

That Phillips was "attempting to curry favor with the police at the time of the alleged offence," was the basis of Feeley's appeal.

His eight-point statement also includes assertions that he is not guilty, that the conviction went contrary to the evidence, that the magistrate erred in his summation, that Phillips was a biased witness and that the sentence was to severe in any case.

Feeley also faces a charge of dangerous driving, due to be heard June 21.

Provincial Director Of WI Visits Campbellford Area

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Anna P. Lewis of Toronto, director of the Women's Institute branch of the department of agriculture visted Campbellford on Monday and Tuesday, while attending district annual conventions of Institute groups in the Belleville area. Sh ewas the guest of Mrs. Ernest Irwin of Seymour, who is regional vice-president of the Federation of Women's Institutes of Ontario.

While on her way from the Belleville area, Miss Lewis called at the Seymour East Women's Institute hall at Menie, and the community livestock sales barns at Hoard's Station.

She was impressed with the auction sales of livestock, and amazed at the efficiency and speed with which the sales were carried out. She remarked on the type of individuals she found attending the auction, saying they were of exceptionally high calibre. The visit was an unscheduled side trip.

HOSPITAL TOUR

On Tuesday morning, a group of ladies, including Mrs. R. E. Fox, president of the Women's Auxiliary of Campbellford Memorial Hospital, and several members of surrounding district WI groups met and were conducted on a tour of the hospital.

The architecture and interior decorating of the building were highly praised by Miss Lewis. She was surprised to find such a completely equipped and efficient hospital in a town the size of Campbellford.

She commented on the courtesy and efficiency of the staff and superintendent. She told auxiliary members they could feel proud of the job their organization had done in assisting the hospital.

She said the Women's Institute had made a remarkable contribution to the institution, and this was one of the most worthwhile projects a group could undertake.

Fire Protection Plan For United Counties

COBOURG (ENS) — An overall fire protection plan for Northumberland and Durham counties was laid out at a meeting called here Tuesday night by District Deputy Fire Marshall Ken Baird, who is fire chief of Cobourg. Thirty-six fire chiefs and council representatives from various parts of the two counties were present. The first meeting held some weeks ago was to lay the groundwork of the plan for mutual aid and last night's meeting established the running cards or coverage charts of the various participating fire departments.

Purpose of the plan is to give municipalities organized help for serious fires and at the same time provide protection to those who have sent out fire apparatus to another fire call. Fire Chief Ken Baird said that the coverage plan was very complete, and that each municipality knew the part it had to play in the general set-up.

J. Turnbull of the fire marshall's department answered questions concerning the mutual aid plan. The Ontario fire marshall's department was responsible for the mutual aid network throughout the province.

Fire chiefs were present from Port Hope, Baltimore, Brighton, Campbellford, Newcastle, Hastings, Millbrook, Brighton, Clarke township, Orono and Bewdley.

While essentially a peace-time set-up, the mutual aid plan can readily become a part of civil defence.

Protest Naming Vatican Envoy

OTTAWA (CP) — The appointment of an official representative of the Canadian government to the Vatican would be unsound in principle and divisive in effect, the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec said Tuesday.

The opinion was contained in a resolution passed at the convention's annual assembly. It first read "any kind of official representative" but objection was raised to this phrasing.

The convention also resolved to oppose any easing of legislative restrictions on lotteries, sweepstakes or any other form of gambling.

The assembly also found time to celebrate the 100th anniversary of "The Canadian Baptist," the denominational paper.

Among those elected to serve on the publications board for the coming year was Rev. Harold E. Bridge, North Bay.

Small Scale Gang War Ends Up In Court

Small-scale gang warfare among Lakefield teenagers was termed "of not sufficient importance to bring to this court" by magistrate W. R. Philp Tuesday, as he dismissed an assault charge brought by Walter H. Soles, 17, against another Lakefield teenager, Charles Windover.

Soles said he was attacked "right in my own driveway" at 12:30 a.m. June 8. He said he responded to the attack with vigor, said he "did not know" if Windover suffered any damage. He said he (Soles) had sustained "a small scratch" to the face.

Soles charged Windover "and his gang" were making his life miserable by damaging his automobile, throwing rotors from the distributor to the seat and crossing electrical connections.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw elicited the information that Soles had given as good as he had received after Windover struck the first blow. He asked the magistrate to adjure both, and their friends, "to cut out this rowdyism." The magistrate predicted the boys might be "in real trouble" if peace is not achieved.

Car Turns Over 2 Women Hurt

COBOURG (ENS) — Two women were treated today in Cobourg Hospital for injuries received when their car turned over on Highway 2, near Grafton.

Mrs. Dorothy J. Todd, 52, of Colborne, driver of the car, complained of chest injuries; and Miss Joyce Caverley, 21, also of Colborne, was treated for head cuts and body bruises.

Both women, though living in Colborne, work in Cobourg. They were on their way to work about 9 a.m. when the car went out of control and went over onto the west shoulder.

The vehicle was extensively damaged, the right hand side being badly smashed.

OPP Constable Bill Warner of Cobourg investigated.

Damage Light In Accidents

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Two minor accidents were reported to the OPP here on Monday and Tuesday. Damage in both was light and no injuries resulted.

On Monday, a car driven by John Hill, 21, of Trent River, skidded around a corner into a parked car owned by Shirley M. Olmstead, 31, of RR 2, Lakefield, on a township road 10 miles north of the village of Havelock.

Damage to the Olmstead car was estimated at $45, while the Hill auto was undamaged.

About 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, two cars collided at the intersection of a county road and a township road at Petherick's Corners, about five miles north-east of Campbellford.

A car driven by Miss Marion Wright, 31, of RR 2, Campbellford, entered the intersection onto the county road at the same time as a second vehicle, driven by Arnold Martin, 31, of Bonarlaw. The two drivers apparently failed to see each other until it was too late and the two autos collided in the centre of the roadway. Total damage amounted to less than $100.

OPP constables Archie Eady and Douglas Ross investigated.

Approves Budget

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto's first budget—was approved by metropolitan council Tuesday. The budget shows $56,223,436 to be spent this year. Of this total, $34,945,099 will be raised from the 13 area municipalities and $21,278,337 will come from the province and other revenue.

TCP gives up to 15% more power within 400 miles

Shell-discovered additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline releases power formerly held captive by lead and carbon deposits.
TCP is the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.*

Acts so fast you'll think your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished your second tankful—within 400 miles

You can be almost certain that you are not getting the full power your car's engine was designed to deliver.

That's because lead and carbon deposits build up fast in the combustion chambers and on spark plugs. Power you should be getting is held captive in your engine.

No exceptions

This happens to all cars. In combustion chambers these deposits get red hot and pre-fire the fuel before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power fights itself as a result of pre-ignition.

Power is also wasted when these deposits short-circuit spark plugs and cause misfiring. This misfiring and pre-ignition are the major cause of power loss in your car.

TCP Unleashes Captive Power

This Shell-discovered additive "fire-proofs" deposits in combustion chambers to stop pre-ignition. On spark plugs it makes the deposits non-conductive and prevents spark plug short-circuiting.

Up to 15% more engine power is released by Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP.

Less Than Two Tankfuls

So rapid is the action of Shell Premium with TCP that you'll feel your engine has had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful.

TCP is a Shell-discovered additive carefully blended into Shell Premium Gasoline. There's nothing like it for keeping harmless the deposits that constantly build up in combustion chambers and on spark plugs. To keep your engine tuned as only TCP additive can do it, buy Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP every time you fill your tank. Remember, the only place you can get it is at Shell stations.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Old Hands To Washington

There is no more seasoned diplomat than the Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden. There is no figure in the world as commanding as the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill. Because it is not certain that there is no nation on earth more powerful than the United States, Eden and Churchill are flying to Washington. They go, we feel, not because of fear of what the United States might gamble and do, knowing its own power, but because they may be afraid that the U.S. is not knowledgeable enough about its limitations of power. The balance of military power may have shifted from the U.S.A. to Russia. Britain has had a very long experience in testing, arranging, and dealing with balances of power, favourable and unfavourable. Her two leading experts in the management of international affairs may be able to offer sound help to Washington which is relatively inexperienced in the delicate manoeuvring of the forces of international polity.

* * *

It is possible that the dramatic announcement of the flight of Churchill and Eden is intended to divert pessimistic attention from the failure of the Geneva Conference to arrive at some settlement in the Far East. Not even a modus vivendi has been achieved. It may be that this sudden flight is being made to demonstrate Anglo-American solidarity on basic matters and at the "highest level" (Churchill is fond of summits). It could be an attempt to prove to the Reds that in a showdown, Britain and the U.S. are arm-in-arm. Such a demonstration should not be needed, but Russia is inclined to be dull-witted in these matters; any hostile state is. Nazi Germany deceived itself, for instance, about Anglo-American cordiality. The times are sufficiently out of joint that the leaders of the U.S. and the U.K. need to discuss these matters and demonstrate friendship, but there is a deeper reason for the visit: the imminence of an unwanted war arising from Indo-China fires. President Eisenhower has not invited Churchill and Eden over merely to have a cup of tea.

Controlled History

The U.S.S.R. produces an impressive work in many volumes called the Great Soviet Encyclopaedia; we must explain at once that we have never seen it and could not read it if we did, but we are interested in it none the less, because it represents a great adventure in Controlled History. What it presents is apparently the one, true and orthodox Soviet opinion on everything, and as that opinion is constantly changing, the encyclopaedia changes also. But as an encyclopaedia is a large and costly publication it cannot be re-issued very often—not nearly so often as Soviet opinion changes—and therefore its publishers have hit on a novel plan for keeping it up to date.

For instance, in Volume Five, there is a longish article on the late L. P. Beria, which describes him as 'Stalin's faithful pupil and closest comrade in arms'. All Beria's decorations are listed (five Orders of Lenin, the Order of Suvorov 1st Class, two Orders of the Red Banner and seven Medals of the Soviet Union) and in every way Beria is presented as a wonderful fellow, a model for Soviet youth.

Of course this article was written and printed before the unfortunate happenings of 1953, in which Soviet opinion suffered one of its remarkable changes, and Beria suddenly became a villain, about whom good Communists should not even hear. So the Encyclopaedia publishers have sent out a circular instructing its subscribers to cut pages 21 to 24 out of Volume Five, and to stick in their places two pages which are supplied in their stead. These pages do not mention Beria but give some hitherto unrecorded information about the German writer Berkholtz, some new thoughts on the Bering Sea and, in place of the picture of Beria, a lovely photograph of whaling and walrus-hunting in the Bering area.

To foreign subscribers to the Encyclopaedia this, of course, is very funny, but inside Russia we doubt if it would be such a joke. It would not be nice to have somebody find that you were still cherishing the article about Beria, when officially you were not supposed even to know that Beria had existed.

This method of controlling history—of utterly wiping out anything in the past which could be embarrassing to the present—is not new; plenty of civilizations have tried it in the past, and one of the big jobs of modern historians is always to find out what really happened, instead of what officially happened. And historians, being persistent and nosey men, usually do find out, at last. Even the Russians, we suspect, may some day hear of Beria again.

One Man's Meat . . .

If we were the Devil, and could allot tortures to damned souls sent to Hell, we should put some of them to work administering the CBC, for surely it must be nerve-wracking, spirit-breaking work. Nobody likes everything the CBC does, and there are some people who profess to dislike all of it. But what must surely crush the spirits of the CBC's senior officials is the constant watchfulness of a section of the Canadian populace for something which is morally offensive in a CBC broadcast, and the uproar when such an offense is found.

On March 10 the CBC broadcast a tribute to the late Eugene O'Neill, certainly the greatest playwright ever to appear in the U.S.A. The program was widely praised, and an American critical organization made an award to the CBC on the strength of it. But just last week a Liberal member of Parliament, Mr. Henry Hosking of Guelph, rose in the Commons and blasted the program, declaring that he and many of his constituents had found it filthy. Just what was filthy was not made clear, but the point was made that some blasphemous expressions had been used by O'Neill in his plays. Was this the sort of thing that good Canadians, particularly young good Canadians, were to hear from their very own broadcasting system?

Dr. McCann, the responsible Minister, was diplomatic. But we hope the day will come when some responsible minister will lose his temper and tell some such questioner that the hour has struck when Canadian adults may have types of entertainment which are not wholly suitable for Canadian children, and that Canadians are, upon the whole, lucky to have as good a national broadcasting system as the CBC. We should also like to hear a responsible minister tell such a questioner that those who are looking for filth can always find it, and that it shows a curious cast of mind to look for it so consistently in work which people of good judgement admire. We should like . . . But there is no point in going on. Sane men's meat is puritans' poison, and that's all there is to it.

Lakefield To Get Water

We congratulate Reeve Grant and his fellow-councillors of Lakefield on Monday's electoral acceptance of waterworks for the village. Reeve Grant has long urged the desirability of the improvement. The proposal accepted by a majority of the ratepayers on Monday is to construct a combined pumping station and water-filtering plant, and a watermain system throughout the principal part of Lakefield. Undoubtedly as the time goes on and money is available, the system will be extended.

Residents with their own private water and sewage disposal systems have understandably been reluctant to approve a municipal project which would add to their own taxes without remarkably improving their own facilities. However, the general good of the village has been considered and water-works will be installed. This is as it should be. A community of 1,800 people in a well-to-do country with high material standards should not deprive itself of the convenience, cleanliness and comfort which a modern water system offers.

1,424 Miles Of Road

Peterborough County, including the city, has a total of 1,424.01 miles of road, of all kinds, which seem enough for getting around one county of 1,415 square miles each of which is occupied, on the average, by 44.52 persons. In case you are interested, here are the kinds of road-miles, as delineated in the sixth annual Economic Survey of Ontario, a Queen's Park publication: 110.81 miles of "King's Highways" (Isn't it about time that the designation was changed to "Queen's Highway"—or is the Frost Government secretly paying tribute to the late W. L. M. King?): 201.8 miles of county roads; 930.5 of "organized" township roads, and 109.8 miles of urban roads—which we presume means streets.

Yes, they are a good many miles of roads to maintain, but considering the disappearance of the horse and buggy and the greater number of motor vehicles about, they are none too many. In 1903, when automobiles were registered for the first time in Ontario and Canada, there were only 178 motor vehicles in the Province. Last year there were 1,404,084 vehicles registered in Ontario, 1,115,563 being passenger cars and 257,708 commercial vehicles. Peterborough County (including the city) had 13,636 passenger vehicles, 2,672 commercial vehicles—a total of 16,308 for the 62,000 people then living in the city and county. This was more than one motor vehicle for every four people, including infants and octogenarians.

If there are enough roads to serve City and County people and their tourists, they are either not good enough or the drivers or the cars are not good enough for them. More people are ungallantly killed and injured on Peterborough roads in one year than the number of Peterborough and district persons killed and injured in the Korean War.

REBUILDING KOREA

Pensionary Of The West

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN (in Seoul)

UTTERLY overshadowed by the possibility of disaster at Geneva, another imminent failure in collective action in the Far East has scarcely been noticed.

Korea has lost its primacy in suffering and is now just another country on a list. Yet in Korea the United Nations' effort to restore in peace what they helped to ruin in war is petering quietly out for want of interest and support. It is a shabby close to an effort that might have set a splendid precedent for the United Nations in action.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE UNITED NATIONS Korean Reconstruction Agency was long in planning and was kept waiting in the wings while the fighting drew to its meaningless end. Released at last from the impatience of commanding generals, it set about its appointed task which, briefly, was to restore productivity, compensate for such losses as the North Korean hydro-electric plants, assist a desolate people back to decency and raise them to their pre-war standard of living.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR this task 209 million dollars were originally pledged by members of the United Nations and five other countries. The total actually received was 98 million dollars. Apart from a few nations that have not paid up, the startling discrepancy is due to the fact that a large part of the 209 millions consisted of pledges of 162,500,000 dollars from the United States and 28 million dollars, payable in sterling, from Britain. These two pledges were to be paid on the basis of a percentage of the total of other contributions — sixty-five per cent by the United States and 11.2 per cent by Britain. The other pledges, with the exception of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Italy, were all below the one million dollar mark. (France, for example, promised 142,000 dollars).

✧ ✧ ✧

THE UNITED STATES and Britain have met their percentages, Britain paying nearly seventeen million dollars or sixteen per cent of the total subscribed. There is at present small prospect of more monies.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNKRA's original programme called for the spending up to 1954 of 250 million dollars, later increased to 266 millions. This was divided as follows: 71 millions up to the end of the fiscal year 1953; 85 millions in 1954; and 110 millions in 1955. At the end of 1953, fourteen and a half million dollars had not been committed and for 1954 and 1955 there therefore remain some 42 million dollars.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE 1954 programme has been drastically reduced to 21 millions covering essential developments in irrigation, mining and education, a little housing and some hospitals. Planning still continues with the staff cut to essentials, but it would be wrong to say the planners have any great hope of seeing their ideas quit paper.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the past year the whole face of South Korea has changed in a wonderful way. There is no grain shortage and this year's rice crop was sixty per cent above last year's. The change is not profound but the shops are full again of humble necessities and people buy; people no longer wear the army's condemned clothing but have reverted to their own archaic and extravagant costume. In addition to health and educational work, I think UNKRA can fairly be given direct credit for the fifty per cent increase in Korean-made consumer goods and the one-third increase of cloth production which is now equal to pre-war and sufficient to provide every person with two year's wear.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNKRA's action was peculiarly valuable in that its expenditure was planned and, as far as possible, supervised. It was often resented by the Koreans who, from experience rather than any special wickedness, prefer freer spending and more immediate benefits and resent any refusal to comply with their ideas as an insulting limitation of their sovereignty.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT for some time the United Nations effort has been reluctantly by-passed by a more lavish direct agency. During the tortuous truce negotiations, when President Syngman Rhee was proving quite as intransigent as Nam Il (the North Korean Foreign Minister) the United States decided on aid to Korea through its own Foreign Operations Agency. This was done for domestic reasons, because the vast sums needed would not have been forthcoming for a non-American agency, and it was also part of the price of President Rhee's acceptance of the truce. A thousand million dollars were to be spent over approximately four years. Twenty million dollars worth of material has already arrived here and 104 million dollars has been committed out of the current appropriation of 200 millions. Less than one-tenth of this is being spent on consumer goods. The rest is going on new plants, hydro-electric schemes and financial bolstering. The funds are being administered by a joint United States-Korean committee in Seoul. UNKRA has been assigned a limited carefully defined and coordinated role. The chief task of the F.O.A. coordinator, Mr. C. Tyler Wood, is to persuade his Korean colleagues to accept rational planning and his only sanction is non-acceptance of and therefore non-payment for their wilder schemes by Washington. His success has been striking and friction has been kept at a reasonable minimum.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE great increase in Korean prosperity is impermanent and illusory; it is still based on the charity of the governments of the free world. There is not the slightest chance of Korea's economy becoming viable as long as it must maintain the world's fourth largest army — twenty standing divisions and a huge police force that together absorb seventy-five per cent of the budget and more than twenty per cent of the gross national product. Naturally, the country's annual deficit is horrendous. n 1943 Korea's mercantile trade export came to 45 million dollars. Thirty millions of this is being dropped because tungsten is no longer saleable. It is hoped to increase exports of high quality rice, and of gold, silver and other minerals. Gradually President Rhee is being persuaded to abate his active hatred of Japan so that cheap procurements can be made there and some trade started.

✧ ✧ ✧

KOREA'S internal financial arrangements, taxation, customs and credit are fantastic and more suitable for a Moghul's court than for a modern State, but slowly, by persuasion and example, some improvements are being made.

For the foreseeable future and through no fault of her own, Korea is a pensionary of the West; it seems sad that the United Nations cannot accept a larger part in that responsibility.

The Prodigal Bird

(LONDON TIMES)

SOME years ago a distinguished and absent-minded poet so regularly lost himself in the Surrey woods, some firm step had to be taken. A sheep bell was accordingly hung round his neck and as evening drew on his "drowsy tinklings" gave a clue to the rescue party.

This was perhaps an excessive case, but in a general way it is a good thing for anybody to know who he is and where he lives. This has lately been shown in the case of another wanderer, a poor little lost budgerigar, found exhausted in a field. On being picked up and revived he remarked "I'm Bobby Ritson and I live on Whickham Bank." The statement proved perfectly accurate, and amid a scene of some emotion Bobby was restored to his friends and his relations.

The most sagacious of dogs could not have done so much. He would have had to rely on his collar or his Tailwagger's medal. Some years ago the talking dogs of Mannheim were said to have evolved a typographical language; they spelled letters and words by beating out a cheerful tattoo on the floor with their tails. Yet even granting so much they would have been helpless without an interpreter. Neither the arresting policeman nor the lost dogs' home could have achieved anything without a dictionary.

We do not know how or why Bobby made his escape. Perhaps he could not resist the sudden temptation of an open window and wanted to see the great world that lies beyond Whickham Bank. Perhaps he had admired the reflection of himself in the silver teapot and dreamed that this unknown world was entirely populated by charming little green budgerigars. At any rate we may hope that the prodigal bird has now learnt his lesson and will never again desert his native bank.

Cramming For Exams

(WINDSOR STAR)

UNIVERSITY examinations have concluded but those collegiate students who have to write examinations now are in process of cramming for them. It is a nerve-wracking endeavor and, except in a narrow concept, doesn't pay much dividends.

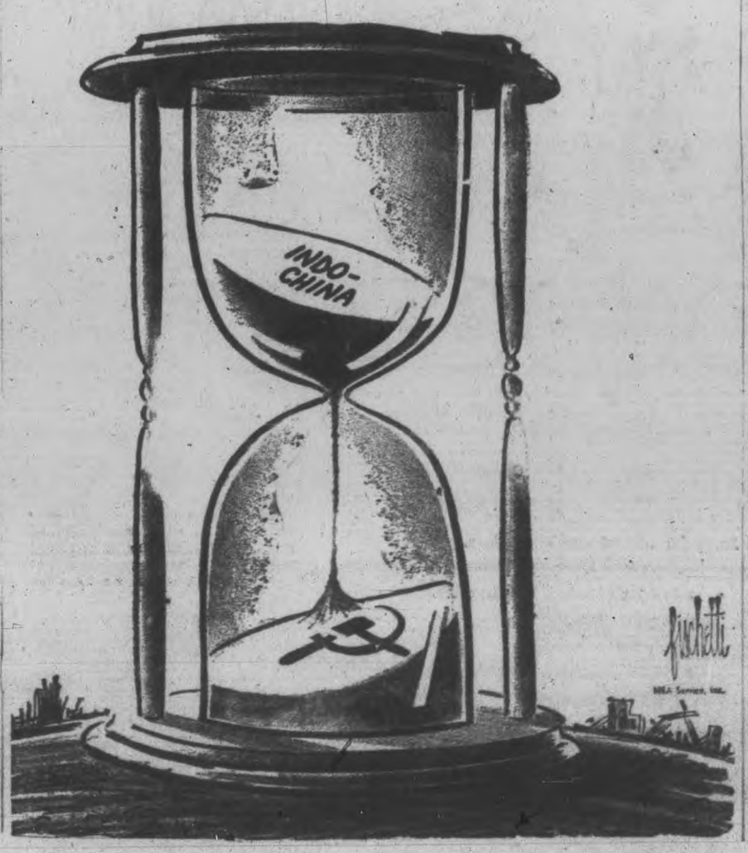
Mr. P. A. C. Ketchum, head master of Trinity College School, says this intensive period of studying packs a student's head with facts he later spills out on the examination papers. This parrot-like repetition of facts may satisfy examiners of high school papers and get the student high marks. But the facts thus hurriedly memorized usually are forgotten.

Examinations may provide a testing ground for students, for want of some better method. But certainly they aren't a perfect test. As Mr. Ketchum argues, they do not reveal such qualities as persistence, integrity, zeal, purpose, or leadership which are most important in a student's future life.

All of us have known students who consistently get high marks because of their ability to cram before exams. Some of them have photographic minds which sop up facts quickly, but just as quickly lose the information gained. This explains why many who attain high marks in academic life are not equally successful in later life. They may lack the character commensurate to their ability to cram for examinations.

The really good student is one who can get high marks without intensive cramming. He has absorbed knowledge throughout the academic year and it has remained with him. All he needs do before examinations is to brush up a bit. He is likely to be most successful in life.

Cramming does help some students pass examinations who otherwise would fail. But passing examinations by such a process is something of an educational mirage.



SO TRUE

The village football team had played badly all the season, so it was great surprise to one of their supporters when he learned that each player had been presented with a pocket-lighter.

"Why were they given pocket-lighters?" he asked a friend.

"Well," was the reply, "they lost all their matches."

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Hear the right, O Lord, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips . . . Hold up my goings in thy path, that my footsteps slip not . . . As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. (Ps. 17:1, 5, 15.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men: forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart.

And such trust have we throught Christ to God-ward: not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but he spirit giveth life . . .

Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3:2-6, 17, 18.)

New Code Should Say What It Means

(Calgary Herald)

Senator Arthur Roebuck, who has made a notable contribution to the Parliamentary debates on the new Criminal Code, is concerned about the wording of the section dealing with industrial sabotage.

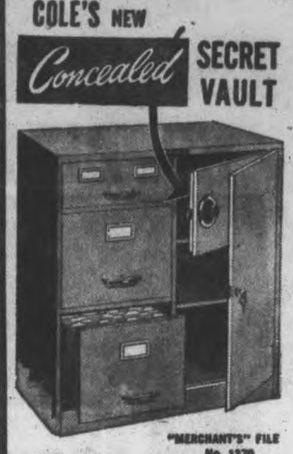
In its present form, this section provides that a person "who does a prohibited act for a purpose prejudicial to the safety, security or defence of Canada . . . is liable to imprisonment for ten years" for sabotage.

In Senator Roebuck's view, this section might conceivably be construed to mean that a workman who stops his machine and strikes for a legitimate grievance would be guilty of sabotage. He suggests that the same purpose could be achieved, and the danger of improper use of the section avoided, by making it apply only against those who commit "a prohibited act for the purpose of prejudicing the safety, security or defence of Canada".

The difference, as will be seen, is a subtle one; but it may well be an important one. Every reasonable citizen outside the Communist party will agree on the necessity of protecting the nation against industrial sabotage. Every reasonable citizen will agree that the new Criminal Code ought to contain provisions to that end. Every reasonable citizen will agree that, in view of the peculiar nature of the Communist conspiracy, vast damage might be done to our capacity to make war by sabotage in the great industrial and public-utility installations. But the fact that a manifest danger exists, and that steps must be taken to guard against it, constitutes no reason for enacting laws which are dangerously vague and which one day might be used for quite different purposes.

Good Shooting Expected For Duck Hunters

OTTAWA (CP) — Duck hunters should have good shooting in Canadian marshes this fall.



The federal - provincial wildlife conference was told Tuesday that surveys have indicated ducks and geese should be plentiful if existing conditions prevail. This might mean that the conference, which will recommend bag limits and season lengths for hunting, will ease restrictions.

No figures were released, however, from the closed conference, which issued a press release on its deliberations.

The beaver came in for discussion. Dr. C. D. Fowle, of the Ontario lands and forests department reported that beaver had declined from a high population in 1920 to a low level about 1937 but now are exceptionally numerous. He said it is believed an improved management program might take a substantial share of the credit.

United Counties Levy $20,758 On Cavan Twp.

MILLBROOK (ENS) — A. V. Thorn, collector of rates for Cavan reported to township council that $1,670.12 had been collected on tax arrears last month.

A number of other property owners who were still in arrears had promised to pay in June. He recommended the registering of the taxes on one property. The council re-affirmed its intention to collect outstanding taxes if the persons concerned failed to implement their promises of paying on certain dates.

James Skinner, county weed inspector, told the council he expected the county sprayer would be spraying the roads in the township by next week. He advised that several bad patches of "Goats Beard" weed in the township should receive immediate attention.

NO ACTION ON BYLAW

W. A. Cameron, plumbing inspector for the United Counties advised council of the passing of the plumbing and sewers bylaw regulating the installation of all plumbing and sewage disposal in the township. Many of the townships in the United Counties had already passed such a bylaw. The bylaw was discussed but no action taken.

Ken Moncrief spoke about the taxes on the Gordon Thomas estate property which he had purchased last November. The cheque from the Supreme Court covered the interest on taxes only up to the time of purchase last November rather than to March when he received the cheque. He did not feel he should have to pay this interest. Council agreed and voted that the cheque be accepted from Mr. Moncrief for 1953 taxes in full.

A communication from K. Symons, clerk of the United Counties said the amount of the 1954 levy would be $20,758.11.

WARBLE FLY SPRAY

The clerk gave the following report on the warble fly spray:

Expenditures, D. Olan, warble fly powder, $462; Coulter Brothers disinfecting, etc., $40.30; A. Olan for 10,474 head of cattle at 12c per head, $1,256.88; first spray was of 5277 head and second spray of 5,197 head. L. H. Winslow inspected 13,040 head at 3c a head, amounting to $391.20. Total expenditure amounted to $2,150.38.

Receipts for warble fly powder sold treasurer $28.80, warble fly powder sold inspector $3; 50 per cent subsidy on powder, $231; 50 per cent subsidy on inspector's salary, $195.60; Alvin Olan cattle sprayed, $1,571.10 (10,474 head at 15c each). Total $2,029.50. Outstanding for 1954, $73.95, leaving a deficit of $46.43.

Mark Lowe was voted $65 for two sheep killed and $12 for shooting the dog he caught worrying the sheep. Harry Jamieson was voted $12 for evaluating the sheep.

One of the larger items on the accounts presented was $2,682.05 on roads, pay roll and $108.83 for the United Counties for hospitalization for four indigent patients. A $3,500 requisition from South Cavan school area was also passed. Accounts totalled $8,841.45.

The reeve and the clerk were appointed as delegates to the Ontario Municipal convention.

Neighbor Shoots Boy Chasing His Puppy

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—A shotgun blast in the face killed a boy who chased his puppy in a neighbor's yard Monday night.

Police chief Thomas Lyle said Earl Castile, a 31-year-old auto mechanic, has been charged with the murder of Bobby Coomer, 14. Castile was jailed and no bond or hearing date set.

The dead boy's brother, Jolly T. Coomer, 19, was wounded slightly when two shotgun pellets struck him in the back of the head.

Lyle said Castile, who has a five-year-old daughter, is reported to have threatened previously to "stomp" neighbor children if they didn't stay outside his yard.

TPT's, Seabrooke's Pound Out Wins In Sr. Loop Softball

City League softball action at East City Bowl Tuesday night, saw two hard-fought games with TP Transports defeating Outboard Marines 7-2, in the fast opening duel, for their fourth win of the year; and Seabrooke Motors using hickory to advantage to smack out a 12-6 victory over Kingdon (Lakefield) Lumber Kings in the nightcap. As a result of all this, Bill Sullivan's Motors are perched one game ahead of TP Transports, while the latter in turn head UEW by one game.

SCORES THREE—Bobby Strong came up with a fine display of footwork for UEW soccer team last evening to boot home three goals and aid his side to victory over the Scottish Canadians at King Edward Park. In the winner, Bob acts as trainer for the Petes' puckists.

Manager George Bennett called Haddy Eakins to duty in the opener; and the stout fireball artist rallied to the call again in fine style as he handcuffed Marines with seven bingles and, aided by fair support with timely stickwork, came through for his second win. Ron Akers opposed Eakins, and twirled a good game, but erratic support in the early stages particularly, shipwrecked his cause, and rendered an otherwise courageous effort useless.

BUILT UP LEAD

Transporters built up a 5-0 lead to the fifth climaxed by Eakins' triple with two abroad, in the fourth when the Bennett boys scored thrice. But Marines fought back for two in the sixth, their best inning, when the bats of Lawrence Ball, Dave Hayes and Bill Corrigan, with a miscue or two, netted a pair. Transporters added two more in the seventh, however, to virtually sew up the game with Eakins sharp. He fanned five and walked but two.

Ed Richmond hit two doubles for three; Jack Donlevy hit three for four, had an R.B.I.; while Eakins smote three R.B.I's as the three led the offensive. Junior West and Bill Crowley fielded especially well for their respective clubs.

CLOSE ENOUGH

Jim Driscoll took the hill for Seabrooke's in the afterpiece opposing Dick McCracken, and a close battle took place for seven innings. Burt Fife replaced McCracken amid a three-run rally in the fourth and held the Motor siege guns until the eighth.

The Sullivan crew broke out with a five-run blast in that frame and the Lumber Kings were unable to recover, despite a good effort.

Leading the winners' offensive were Red Sullivan with two for five, one a long homer, his second of the year, and three runs batted in; Skeeter O'Heron with a triple in three and two R.B.I.'s; Kotowski two for four, one a double; while Russ Scriver, Neil Thompson and Driscoll each had an R.B.I. For Lakefield Jerry Bryans had two for three with an R.B.I. and pulled a great running catch in the sixth of Jaquith to lead his team, though all tried hard. Tony Kotowski's snare of Burger to end the fifth frame was a gem of fielding agility as he picked the white melon just above the grass.

Scots Defeated By UEW In Soccer Fray

UEW defeated Scottish Canadians 7-1 in a lively soccer contest last evening in King Edward Park, turning in a solid all-round effort against a determined Scottish squad to roll up the count.

Hamill saved early from Holroyd and continued to save as UE pressed the Scots meantime threatening at times, also. Daly put a hard shot just over the bar, and Holroyd was just blocked on another thrust.

Strong opened scoring with a good shot on Holt's pass to make it 1-0 halfway through. UE outplayed Scots the second half, Strong beating Burnett in a run for the ball to score again. Biddle played well and added No. 3 Hoyle got another from Payne and Strong scored the fifth, with Hoyle and then Biddle adding neat ones.

The Scots kept battling back against stiff opposition and Daly received a pass finally from the right and banged in a beauty. The game was played in fine sporting fashion, a credit to the clubs, and it was enjoyed by the crowd. Referee E. Cotton handled play well.

Bethany Triumphs

BETHANY (ENS) — A walk with bases loaded broke the tie to give Bethany a win over the Millbrook visitors in a North Durham tilt here on Monday evening. It was a good contest all the way, the final score 6-5 in a game which was tied up in the fourth and again in the sixth. Cam Rowan hurled good ball for the Bethanyites with Challice receiving, relieved by Reynolds in the fifth. Bob Ryley's two doubles accounted for two runs brought in; two R.B.I.'s H. McGill, Bob Reytow R.B.I.'s. H McGill, Bob Reynolds and Cam Rowan shared batting honors.

For Millbrook Smith started in the mound, replaced by Wright in the sixth with Ginn receiving.

Bobo Olson Scores One-Sided TKO

HONOLUL (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson scored a blood-spattered one-sided technical knockout over Jesse Turner of St. Louis in the eighth round of a scheduled non-title go at Honolulu Stadium Tuesday night.

Olson weighed 6¼ pounds over the 160-pound limit. Turner weighed 161. There were no knockdowns.

Both of Turner's eyes were closed and he was bleeding from the nose and from cuts under each eye when the fight was stopped in one minute, nine seconds of the eighth. Olson was hardly panting at the end.

WIMBLEDON SEEDINGS

LONDON (AP)—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, who will be trying for his first Wimbledon tennis championship, and Maureen Connolly, seeking No. 3, were top seeded Tuesday in the all-England matches beginning Monday.

American girls were given the first five seedings in their division. Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall of Australia were given the No. 2 and No. 3 rankings in the men's division. This dropped Vic Seixas, the Philadelphian who won the 1953 Wimbledon crown, to No. 4.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Peterborough Baseball School rally is this eve at 7:30 in the Collegiate auditorium. Everyone welcome, particularly boys and their fathers, at no charge. Aims and outline of the summer school will be given by instructor Bill Sisler former major leaguer, and several ball films will be shown. Al Chapman of Toronto Leafs has promised to attend with one or two of the Leafs' players. Red Sullivan, local NHL-er, will also be among special guests. This school is made possible through donations of industry, commerce, service clubs and individuals — and it should prove most popular in July and August. Dr. F. J. Pitz and Hugh Campbell are co-chairman of the project, Ken Robinson secretary and Bill Bennett the custodian-treasurer. Here's hoping for a big turnout.

* * * * * * *

TV has brought boxers into many local living rooms, and a great number of arm-chair critics follow the pugs regularly. No doubt a lot of Peterborough folks are interested in the championship heavyweight bout in New York tomorrow night between Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles. Part of it may be heard over CHEX at 10:30. We like the champ by a kayo within eight rounds, though Charles may outbox him to delay the inevitable. The 29-year-old shoemaker from Massachussetts has knocked out 40 of his 45 victims, and has stopped Walcott and LaStarza since taking the crown over Walcott, who had captured it from Charles. Latter is 32 and faces big odds in trying to regain the title, something never accomplished before.

Parade of Pug Champs

A brief rundown on fistic heavy champs might be interesting. John L. Sullivan fought under London prize ring rules and bowed to James Corbett, first winner under the Queensberry code in 1892. Bob Fitzsimmons knocked him cold five years later and in turn was kayoed by Jim Jeffries in '99. Latter retired later and named Marvin Hart champ when he beat Jack Root in 1905, but Hart lost on points next year to Canadian Tommy Burns. There was a titular dispute and Burns had to beat Jack O'Brien for the crown a year later. Jack Johnson nearly ruined Burns in 1908 and reigned then till he lost by an odd knockout to Jess Willard in '15. Jack Dempsey hove onto the scene to massacre Willard in 1919 and stayed atop till outpointed by Gene Tunney in '26.

* * * * * * *

When Tunney retired, Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey fought in 1930 and Max won on a foul. Sharkey later beat him on points and then Primo Carnera knocked out the sailor in '33. Max Baer kayoed Primo next year and lost on points to Jim Braddock in 1935. Joe Louis hung a kayo on Jim in '37 and held the title till he retired in '49. Charles beat Walcott for it and Louis, in a comeback attempt in 1950, lost on points. Walcott then beat Charles by a K.O. but was in turn knocked out by the present champ, Rocky Marciano. Some of the foregoing were more less "cheese" champs, but Marciano may measure up with some of the ring greats of the past

Petes' Puck Executive

OHA senior "B" Petes held their re-organization meeting and returned pretty much the same slate of officers as last season. Life members are Frank Buckland, Ed Riley and Ben Swartz. President again is Ed O'Toole, with Ray Tanner vice-prexy, Joe Frost the secretary, and Fred Scates once more treasurer. Directors include Dit Clapper, Geogre Bennett, Tom Casey, Bob Gamble, Jim Ellis, Roy Lewis, Eddie Foley, Drake Jopling, Al Winslow and Dr. George Lewis. They decided to give Chum Fryia his release if he decides to play hockey next winter in Scotland. Quite a discussion on the proposed Memorial Centre, presently bogged down till a general chairman is named, and Dit Clapper predicted hockey would be the major sport here for the next 50 years when this auditorium is completed.

A hefty crowd viewed two good games in the men's City Softball League over Bowlward last e'en. Haddy Eakins hurled the TPT-ers to a 7-2 win o'er Marines and also hit a two-run triple in the opener. The nightcap saw Jim Driscoll pitch Seabrooke's to a 12-6 victory 'gainst Lakefield, Red Sullivan belting a homer for the winners. Some dandy fielding dished up. Tony Kotowski pulled a sliding catch coming in from centre on his right elbow in the process. Neil Thompson, Gord Henry and Neil Wasson also came up with humdingers. Seabrooke's lead the loop, with TPT Petes and UEW right on their heals. Games tomorrow night: UEW vs. Seabrooke's, and Petes vs. Lakefield.

Kotowski Leading Petes' Hitters With .474 Mark

With the Viaduct-Ontario Baseball League schedule nearly one-third completed, Tony Kotowski is setting a blistering pace at bat to lead the Petes' hitters by a hefty margin. The big left-fielder, who takes the odd turn on the mound, also, has hit safely nine times—including some extra-base blows—in 19 times at bat during eight loop fixtures for a grand .474 average. Tony, who coached the local grid Orfuns the past two years, played college ball in the States before coming to Canada.

Batting averages for the other teams in the circuit have not been released so far this season, though a league statistician in Toronto obtains copies of all box scores, and complete averages may be given out for the VOBL at schedule's end. Meantime, Petes' marks will be kept by the local scorer.

BILL BELTS .419

Next to Kotowski's grand showing, the .419 average of Bill Edger is a local standout for Manager Joe Lowrey's squad in the VOBL race to date. The tall first-baseman, who gave up pitching several years ago, has played in all eight loop tilts so far and has belted out 13 safeties in 31 official times at bat, as well as fielding his position well. The Petes currently are battling for third place in the standing, not far off the pace of the top two teams.

Other Peterborough players in the charmed circle (that is with a batting mark of .300 or better) are Bill Huntley with .370, a healthy mark for a steady catcher and consistent hitter, the man voted Peterborough's outstanding athlete last year — as he also stars in football; Jack Donlevy with .333 after limited action till now; top twirler Jerry Frizzelle with .308; and playing manager Joe Lowrey with an even .300. Fred Garvey is not far behind with .280 for eight games. The list:

	AB	H	Av.
Kotowski	19	9	.474
Edger	31	13	.419
Huntley	27	10	.370
Donlevy	6	2	.333
Frizzelle	13	4	.308
Lowrey	10	3	.300
Garvey	25	7	.280
Harrison	4	1	.250
Redmond	26	6	.231
Foley	22	5	.227
Kearns	25	5	.200
Young	18	2	.111
Wade	5	0	.000
Withers	6	0	.000
Ferguson	15	0	.000

LEADS HITTERS—Husky Tony Kotowski tops the Petes' hitters in the VOBL so far this season with a healthy .474 average with the schedule nearly a third over. The former Orfuns' grid coach hits a long ball, having a numbers of extra-base blows to his credit this season.

BATS OVER .400—First-baseman Bill Edger of the Petes is clouting the pill at a .419 clip to date in VOBL play, and is second high hitter on the local club, only Tony Kotowski's .474 mark topping his fine showing.

Mimico Mounties Edge Hamilton 9-7

MIMICO, Ont. (CP) — Mimico Mounties won their first game in nine starts Tuesday, edging Hamilton Tigers 9-7 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game.

Al Garbutt and Pop Chard paced the winners with two goals each. Jim McNulty tallied three times for Hamilton to take the lead in the league scoring race. Teammate Joe Scott scored twice.

First Cricket Match Ends In Draw

LONDON (AP)—The first cricket test match between England and Pakistan ended in a draw at Lord's Tuesday.

With 3½ of the five days match lost through rain, the possibility of a positive result was never thought likely. But at one stage Tuesday there seemed a chance of a dramatic finish.

Dismissing the tourists for a cheap first-innings total of 87, England gained a 30-run lead, but lost nine wickets in doing it, and then declared.

The England collapse was brought about chiefly in going for the runs in an attempt to force a decision.

VICTORY POSSIBLE

When Pakistan went in to bat a second time 2½ hours remained for play and when they lost their opening batsman, Alimuddin without a run on the board, England's chances of victory looked just possible.

But it was not to be. The Pakistan second pair Hanif and Waqar easily resisted all efforts by the England bowlers and the match ended tamely.

HOW THEY COMPARE—Here are the figures on world heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Ezzard Charles, for the title bout to be held Thursday night in New York's Yankee Stadium.

Thompson Gives Giants 5-3 Win Over Cincinnati

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

If Leo Durocher's bank balance holds out there's no telling what heights the New York Giants may reach this season.

Leo's personal investment mounted to $200 today as he hauled out his checkbook and paid off Bill Taylor and Hank Thompson.

Taylor got his hundred for a home run in Milwaukee last Thursday, the only run in a 10-inning victory that moved the Giants into a first-place tie with Brooklyn.

Thompson got into the act Tuesday night with a three-run homer after two were out in the ninth that gave the Giants a 5-3 victory over Cincinnati and sole possession of first place.

DIDN'T TELL 'EM

In neither case did Durocher tell the hitters before they went to bat. At Milwaukee on the spur of the moment he told his bench: "If the kid hits one I'll give him a hundred bucks."

The first Taylor heard about it was in the clubhouse where Leo hastily added: "I'll give it to him when we get home. He'd just waste it on the road."

The Giants knew from the seventh inning on that Brooklyn had lost to Milwaukee 7-6, meaning that first place was theirs if they could beat the Reds. Milwaukee took third place as Philadelphia bowed to St. Louis 3-1.

In the American League Cleveland stretched its lead to three games over the Chicago White Sox by whipping Washington 9-3. The White Sox never quite found out what hit them as they fell to the Philadelphia Athletics 11-4. New York defeated Baltimore 6-4 and Detroit downed Boston 4-1.

THIRD STRAIGHT

The Dodgers, who lost only 17 games at home all last season, dropped No. 11 Tuesday night to the Braves, the third straight time Milwaukee has beaten them in Ebbets Field this year.

The Braves combed three Brooklyn pitchers for 14 hits and put together four singles in the eighth for the tying and winning runs.

Vic Raschi scattered six Philadelphia hits in winning his sixth game for the Cardinals.

Cleveland's sixth straight victory featured the return to limited action of Al Rosen. The heavy hitting first baseman, sidelined since June 4 with a fractured finger, appeared in the eighth inning against Washington as a pinch hitter and unloaded a three-run double.

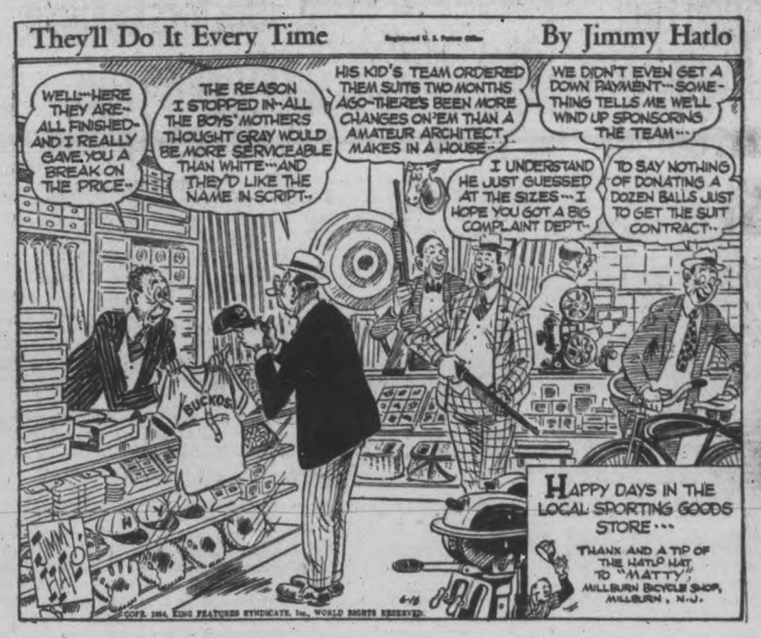
KEEGAN LOSES

The suddenly-ferocious Athletics won their fifth in a row, this time at the expense of Bob Keegan, the American League's winningest pitcher. Keegan had won 9 and lost only 1 but against the Athletics he lasted only into the fifth inning. Jim Finigan led the A's 14-hit assault with a double, a triple and a pair of singles.

The Yankees wrapped up their victory at Baltimore with four runs in the fifth. Three of the runs came on a homer by Joe Collins, his third of the season.

The Red Sox dropped their eighth straight as Steve Gromek beat them on seven hits. The victory was Gromek's eighth and his first since May 18.

2 Ex-Yankees Make Headway On Run Averages



NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Bob Porterfield of Washington, a couple of right-handers the New York Yankees traded in 1951, are making a lot of headway in the major league earned run averages as the 1954 campaign streaks into its third month.

The 27-year-old Burdette, obtained from the Yankees in a transaction which sent Johnny Sain to New York, paces the National League with a 2.25 earned run mark. He has given up 21 earned runs in 84 innings while posting a 6-5 won-lost record.

Porterfield's figures are even more impressive. Although he is runner-up to Detroit's Ned Garver in the American League competition, Porterfield has permitted only 24 earned runs in 105 frames for a 2.06 average.

Porterfield, 29, was acquired from the Yankees in a five-player deal on June 15, 1951. He has pitched 11 complete games in 12 starts this season, winning seven and dropping five.

Garver, in 12 games, has yielded 22 runs in 95 innings, but seven of the runs were unearned. His earned run slate is a sizzling 1.42. Ned has four victories against two setbacks.

Odds Favor Marciano To Take Charles

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — The long, hard months of training are over. Now the hours grow longer for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Ezzard Charles as they sweat out the mental torture of waiting for the opening bell of their title fight at Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

This is a bad time—the waiting—for most fighters. And most observers feel that it will affect the boxer—Charles — more than the slugging Marciano.

"It's the long ride to the stadium the night of the fight that gets the boxers," said Marshall Miles, who managed the great Joe Louis, and saw many of the Bomber's opponents freeze before the battle. "They die on that ride."

PICKS ROCKY

Miles picked Rocky in 10 or less.

"Charles probably will lead for seven or eight rounds," said Miles, "and then Rocky will connect just like Joe used to do."

The odds are 1-2 that undefeated Rocky will make the former champion from Cincinnati his 41st kayo victim. On the fight itself, the 29-year-old Brockton bruiser held firm as a 1-3½ choice. It was 5-1 against Charles scoring a knockout.

Both gladiators were due to leave their Catskill mountain training camps late today. Charles, who boxed a final four rounds Tuesday, planned to leave Monticello by car at 5 p.m.

Rocky, who did some roadwork and calisthenics Tuesday, will take a helicopter ride from Grossinger, N.Y., to Newark, N.J., about 2:30 p.m. Then the fighters will go into seclusion until the noon weigh-in on Thursday.

POSSIBLE RAIN

Although there was a forecast of warm and humid weather and possible thundershowers for Thursday, promoter Jim Norris reported a brisk ticket sale.

He said there was $300,000 in the till and that he expected to go up to the stadium Thursday night with between $350,000 and $400,000. He held to his prediction of a $500,000 gate "or more" with a break in the weather.

The fighters will share in another $190,000 or so from the coast to coast theatre-television and $35,000 from the network radio broadcast. There will be no home television of the 10:30 p.m. (EDT) 15-rounder.

Toronto Clips Syracuse In 4-1 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The league - leading Toronto Maple Leafs breathed a little easier today as they went about the business of trying to win their first International League pennant since 1943.

The Leafs, managed by Luke Sewell, former Cincinnati manager, increased their lead to 2½ games over the second-place Rochester Red Wings by defeating Syracuse Chiefs 4-1 Tuesday night. While the Leafs were winning, the Red Wings were blanked by Buffalo Bisons 5-0.

The cellar-dwelling Ottawa Athletics swept a doubleheader from Montreal 4-1 and 8-3 and dropped the Royals to fourth place. A scheduled doubleheader between Richmond and Havana was postponed because of rain.

NINTH HOMER

Third-baseman Loren Babe collected his ninth home run of the season with one on in the third inning as Toronto made it two straight over the Chiefs. The Leafs tallied single runs in the fifth and eighth innings with Rugy Minarcin [illegible] his fifth game against one loss.

Ken Johnson scattered seven hits, struck out six and walked only two in racking up his fifth victory of the season for Buffalo. Harvey Zernia slammed out his fourth homer while team - mate Harry Bright had four singles in four at-bats in the Bison victory.

Tommy Giordano and Bill Stewart hit home runs off loser Joe Black in the first game for Ottawa. Meighen Has 80th Birthday, Recalls Career

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, twice prime minister of Canada and one of the country's most controversial figures during his long public career, today celebrates his 80th birthday, content to be a spectator of a scene in which he played a leading role.

Canada's only living former prime minister, Mr. Meighen, now chairman of the board of Canadian General Securities, says he has had his share of controversy.

Although subject to dizzy spells which started about a year ago, mentally he is almost as keen as in the days when he held the floor in Parliament, speaking without notes even when the subject was complex or riddled with statistics.

His interests are now his family, business, and the Salvation Army.

There were few quiet moments during his 23 sessions in the House of Commons and he aroused many spirited debates through 13 years in the Senate, but, says Mr. Meighen, "in all those years I was never once called to order."

He says he sees nothing on the Canadian economic scene to cause him to modify his long-held conviction that "the welfare state is the handmaiden of socialism, a veritable jet engine of inflation, and won't work in a democracy."

Hamilton Yacht Club Takes Top Honors

MONTREAL (CP) — A freshwater yachting club from Canada's inland seas took top honors in the first day of the royal regatta here Tuesday.

John Robertson of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club—who sails Lake Ontario as a rule—was winning skipper in the first day of the three-day event over a five-mile triangular course off nearby Pointe Claire.

A crew of salts from Halifax, representing the Royal Nova Scotia Yacht squadron, skippered by Alex D. Gilford, was second in points.

In third position after the day's racing was the English crew who came across with the royal yacht Bluebottle, owned by the Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Jack Lovelock, slim New Zealander, defeated the cream of United States runners in the mile race at Princeton 19 years ago today. The Oxford University runner easily defeated Bill Bonthron and Glen Cunningham. A year later Lovelock won the 1,500 metres at the Berlin Olympics in 3:47.8, a mark that stood until Joseph Barthel of Luxembourg set a pace of 3:45.2 at Helsinki in 1952.

To Hold Inquest

GODERICH (CP) — An inquest will be held at Zurich June 30 into the shooting of Clarence George at St. Joseph last Sunday, Huron county crown attorney H. Glenn Hays said here Tuesday night. George, 36, was found dead in a club after a service station operator heard prowlers and fired a rifle through a window.

Doctors Oppose Practice Of Fee-Splitting

By KEN METHERAL

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's medical profession was on record today as approving fluoridation and opposing fee splitting.

Definite stands on the two controversial subjects were taken here Tuesday at the 87th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

The association approved a report by the public health committee under Dr. G. M. Little of Edmonton calling for unqualified approval of fluoridation, which is used to reduce dental decay.

ASKED MORE STUDY

The convention of 1,500 delegates by-passed a report on the same subject prepared by the committee on nutrition under Dr. E. H. Bensley of Montreal. The nutrition committee had recommended fluoridation as a method of reducing tooth decay but suggested that full approval of the medical profession be withheld until further studies had been made on the subject.

The association's general council—parliament of Canadian medicine—termed the practice of fee splitting as "unethical and possibly dishonest." Fee splitting is an arrangement between two doctors in which one receives part of a fee paid to the other without the knowledge of the patient.

Dr. T. Clarence Routley of Toronto was named CMA president-elect.

Dr. Hill said his report on fluoridation was based on results of a five-year controlled experiment conducted jointly by federal and Ontario health authorities.

"NOT IMMUNE"

He said experiments in Ontario showed that the incidence of tooth decay among children at Sarnia, where no fluoridation exists, was up to 60 per cent higher than that among both Brantford and Stratford which has fluoridated water.

On fee splitting, the association approved the report of the ethics committee under Dr. Wallace Wilson of Vancouver which declared:

The only basis on which a fee may be charged, or on which money may be received by a medical practitioner, is that of work actually done for the patient, and such patient must receive a direct statement from the medical practitioner concerned.

CMA officials said there was no evidence of wide-spread fee splitting being practised in Canada but added that "we are not immune."

Ballet Issues Appeal

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, which lost all its material assets in a $3,000,000 downtown fire last week, has issued a Dominion-wide appeal for funds to carry on. The company said it lost an estimated $10,000 worth of music as well as all costumes, settings, curtains, choreography and wardrobe equipment.

Must Be In Hall

TORONTO (CP)—Justice of the peace James Rennicks said Tuesday the regulations on civil marriages do not permit a magistrate or judge to officiate in a public stadium. Commenting on a proposal to hold a wedding at Maple Leaf Stadium prior to a baseball game, he said, "a couple can be married by civil service only in city hall."

FORTY YEARS IN PETERBOROUGH civic bands circles was marked for Capt. William Peryer, centre, by fellow bandsmen at Tuesday evening practice, Ashburnham Hall. On their behalf committee president Norman Moffatt (left) made a presentation of a pen and pencil set while bandmaster Wally Parnell looked on with approval. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Dick Ouimet's sparkling net 65 on Saturday won the Tombstone Trophy. Howie Eastman was a close second and last year's winner, Gord Whatman, finished third.

Sunday the final qualifying round for the club championship was played. Les Reid, reigning champ, will defend his crown against 15 aspirants. The draw for the first round of match play, with qualifying match scores, is as follows: Les Reid vs. Fred Hollowell (168); Ross Forgrave (163) vs. Arn Brady (170); Cec Campbell (159) vs. Mac Campbell (169); Stu Williamson (165) vs. Al Baxter (172); Jim Clarkson (159) vs. Gord Whatman (168); Mike O'Leary (165) vs. Herb Bradburn (171); Jack Hardill (160) vs. Dick Ouimet (170); Ted Cragg (166) vs. Don Vyse (173). Don and Stan McBride were deadlocked for the final position after 36 holes. An 18-hole playoff followed Sunday evening with Don nudging Stan to the sidelines with a 79 against Stan's 80. It went right to the last putt.

The ladies' section held putting competition yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Stacey won the spoon, low gross and low net. Donna Howson captured second low net with Mrs. A. Fleming third. Mrs. Hills won the 9-hole competition while Mrs. C. L. Upper won low gross and low net in this section.

Over 35 BG's attended their field day competition last night. Points in the 18-hole section were won by Joan Davis, Isabel Bullock, Gladys Mortimer, Betty Bullock and Jean Castle. Eleanor Pue won a ball on the sealed hole. Point winners in the 9-hole section were Elva Boate, Joyce Alexander, Georgie Hardill, and Marcelle Coulas, who also won the sealed hole.

Tonight is the first night of the mixed two-ball foursome competition. Starting at six p.m., players will tee off over the front nine. An interesting evening is planned, so grab those sticks and meet the crowd on the first tee.

Cosmic Ray Study Proves Successful

SASKATOON (CP) — "Project Skyhook," a study of cosmic rays in the upper atmosphere being undertaken here, has been fairly successful despite delays, C. O. Merrell project engineer for General Mills, Inc., of Minneapolis, Minn., said Tuesday.

A 10-man research team, representing General Mills, the United States Navy and the University of Minnesota, has been here since June 2 and has sent five balloons soaring to altitudes between 100,000 and 120,000 feet.

Project Skyhook has been under way since 1946, said Mr. Merrell. He has released balloons three times from ships near the equator and twice from the U.S. Arctic base at Thule, on the northwest coast of Greenland. Mr. Merrell said he will go to Thule after leaving Saskatoon.

MECHANICAL TROUBLE

Saskatoon was chosen as the site for the first operation of its kind in Canada because of its geo-magnetic latitude, and because it is good balloon-recovery country. The balloons are equipped with a timing device to release instruments by parachute.

A light plane is used to track the balloons in flight.

Mechanical failures, balloon leaks and a plane failure prevented three of the flights from being completely successful.

The balloons are made of a transparent plastic and are about 175 feet long and 120 feet in diameter. They contain about 750,000 cubic feet of helium.

Extremely low temperatures at about 100,000 feet are a hazard which has to be overcome, said Mr. Merrell. The balloons reach heights where all fluids freeze at temperatures from 75 to 112 degrees below zero and instruments have to make accurate readings at those altitudes.

Adamson Estate Goes To Boy, 4

BRAMPTON (CP)—The bulk of the $474,000 combined estate of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Adamson has been left to their son, Christopher, 4½, it was made known Tuesday when their wills were filed for probate.

Mr. Adamson, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for York West, and his wife, Cynthia, were among 37 persons killed last April in a collision between a Trans-Canada Air Lines passenger plane and an RCAF trainer over Moose Jaw, Sask.

A son, Agar, 20, from Mr. Adamson's previous marriage, was not mentioned in the wills.

Mr. Adamson's estate was valued at $450,781, and Mrs. Adamson's at $24,761.

Both sons live with Mr. Adamson's brother, reeve Anthony Adamson of Toronto township. Anthony Adamson said Agar was not mentioned in the will because he stands to inherit money under the will of his great uncle, W. H. Cawthra, who died in 1936.

Jury Fails Reach Verdict

WELLAND (CP)—A jury hearing the cases of Edwin Blair, 29, and Joseph Harboway, 33, of Toronto, on three counts arising from theft of $262,000 worth of precious metal concentrates last November, failed to reach a verdict Tuesday night after deliberating for five hours.

The charges arose from theft of two drums of platinum concentrate from an International Nickel Company shipment from an express office at Port Colborne last Nov. 3. The drums were found near Castorville. Blair's car was found overturned in the area.

The two men were charged with theft of the partly-treated platinum concentrate, with having possession of it and wiht retaining stolen platinum concentrate.

A total of 37 exhibits were entered by the Crown. The defence called no witnesses.

Anxious To Keep Immigration Quota

OTTAWA (CP)—Ross Thatcher, outspoken CCF member for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, said Tuesday night the government should use its immigration policy in attacking the problem of Canada's wheat surplus.

Mr. Thatcher, a Saskatchewan hardware merchant, made the proposal in the Commons as one of several suggestions for selling wheat.

He said he realizes there has been agitation against recent levels of immigration. Unions were worried about the effect. But immigration was the best thing in the world for farmers.

Mr. Thatcher said he hopes the government does not yield to pressure for reducing immigration quotas. The government should bring people into Canada to consume food surpluses.

Overseers' Trials Start

METZ, France (Reuters)—Twenty-one former Nazi concentration camp overseers, looking more like the timid shopkeepers and shoemakers they were before Hitler's rise, showed little emotion Tuesday as they went on trial, accused of killing 3,000 prisoners by sadistic brutality or more refined scientific torture.

MEDICAL AMBASSADOR—Dr. T. Clarence Routley of Toronto, whose travels on behalf of the profession have won him the unofficial title of the Commonwealth's medical ambassador, has retired as general secretary of the 10,000-member Canadian Medical Association. He is president-elect of the world-wide Medical Association.—(CP Photo)

Manslaughter Gets 2 Youths Life Sentences

MONTREAL (CP)—Two youths were sentenced to life imprisonment and a third to a 30-year term today for the bludgeon slaying of taxi-drive Robert Taylor.

Andre Trudel, 24, and Eugene Beaulieu, 22, drew the life terms. Jean-Noel Champagne, 17, was sentenced to 30 years. All pleaded guilty to reduced charges of manslaughter.

Taylor was killed in a sparsely-settled east end district after he had driven the three youths there. The weapon was a length of lead pipe.

Judge Francois Caron compared the youths to stray dogs wandering the streets.

"You are extremely young to be involved in a case this serious," he said. "You are just at the stage when life should be opening careers for you but instead you choose to descend to a useless life in the gutter."

Parents In Crash Each Loses Leg

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — The young parents of a nine-month-old child Monday night each lost a leg when their motorcycle sideswiped a car in heavy fog, police said. Jack Harrison, 24, and his wife, Mollie, 26, who also had a finger and thumb amputated, are in critical condition in hospital.

South Africa Asking Support For Raise In Gold Price

By FORBES RHUDE

MONTREAL (CP)—South Africa, world's largest gold producer, is pressing for support for an increase in the price of gold, at the congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire.

A resolution, submitted by the Association of Chambers of Commerce of South Africa, says a substantial and uniform increase in the gold-price in terms of all currencies would represent a major contribution towards the economic welfare of the world.

Supporting the resolution is a memorandum from J. Hamilton Russell, of Capetown, member of the South African Parliament. In brief, Mr. Russell says:

Expansion of international trade is held up by such restrictions as import systems and exchange controls.

Countries using such restrictions recognize that they should get rid of them as soon as possible.

However, the principal approach to removing them has been through anti-inflationary measures, including restraints on domestic consumption.

Anti-inflation measures were all right when inflation was rampant, but for the last 18 months prices had been remarkably stable.

Nevertheless, controls remain and governments still call them anti-inflationary measures.

The result, Mr. Russell says, is:

"Trade equilibrium is being gained by cutting down imports to the level of sterling-area export earnings, rather than by the opposite method of expanding sterling area earnings to cover the high level of imports for which there is obviously a demand in sterling countries."

ERA OF DEFLATION

It is true, Mr. Russell continues, that inflation in the last 10 years was partly responsible for import and exchange restrictions.

However, a big swing to the opposite of inflation (deflation), while it might eventually reduce the need for import restrictions as now practised, might bring import restrictions of another type.

For, if markets were reduced too far by anti-inflationary action, manufacturing industries, finding their markets curtailed, might strive for tariff protection and governments might yield to the pressure. Tariff protection might be asked, too, for agricultural products.

The era of wholesale tariff increases, he comments, was the era of general deflation from 1925 to 1933.

Mr. Russell then argues that an increased gold price would be a major contribution towards freeing the world from both present restrictions and the threat of tariffs.

Plan To Delay Grant Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has decided to delay until the next session of Parliament proposed legislation increasing grants to municipalities in which federal property is located, it was learned Tuesday.

The government also has decided to give further study to the question of increasing salaries for judges with a view to presentation of enabling legislation also at the next session which may open in November.

Under current policy, the administration does not pay taxes on its property across the country, but makes a grant to the municipalities equivalent to about 75 per cent of normal taxes on that portion of federal property which exceeds four per cent of total local assessments.

There has been speculation the government planned to increase the grants to make them equivalent to 100 per cent of taxes on federal property in excess of two per cent of local assessments.

Ore Hauling Higher

CLEVELAND (AP) — Great Lakes ore boats hauled 2,640,193 tons of ore in the week ended Monday for the best seven-day total of the year. That brought the season's movement to 16,180,396 tons, compared to 28,436,475 a year ago.

OPP Inspector Enters Murder Case

HAMILTON (CP) Police investigating the shooting of cabbie Tony Codispodi have checked the possibility the young man was the victim of gangland vengeance.

As inspector Thomas Wright of the criminal investigation branch of the provincial police arrived today from Toronto take charge of the case, police in suburban East Flamboro township pondered several possible motives for the slaying.

However, none yet pointed to the person who fired three small-calibre bullets into the back of Codispodi's head as he sat in his parked taxi on a lover's lane in the township early Sunday.

One theory was that a jealous man was responsible. Codispodi was known as a happy-go-lucky youth with a reputation as a "ladies' man." Police interviewed several girls with whom Codispodi was acquainted.

NARCOTICS.

A suggestion that Codispodi, in the course of his taxi driving, had happened on information about narcotics activity in Hamilton sent police to underworld haunts in an effort to find a clue to the identity of his slayer.

One police official suggested yesterday that a gunman might have been hired to do the killing.

Police recalled that during the last few years, several Hamilton men, including Rocco Perri, Paul Donoff and Donald Durso, disappeared without a trace. Unlike Codispodi, they were all known to have underworld links.

Police said they believe the person responsible was a cool killer.

After firing the shots, they think, he made sure he did not leave either the weapon or the empty shells. Despite a thorough search, police have been unable to turn them up.

FOLLOWED CODISPODI

Detectives have speculated that the killer perhaps followed Codispodi in another car to the lonely spot, then drove away after the slaying.

Someone identifying himself as "Dave" called for a cab shortly before 11 p.m. Saturday and Codispodi was sent out to take the call, police said. Detectives say they believe "Dave" possibly arranged to meet Codispodi later in the night.

Plan To Relay Water System In Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS). — At the June meeting of Millbrook council Alex Gilbert, chairman of the public utilities board formed at the beginning of the year, outlined plans for rebuilding of the water system. The replacement of old pipes is to be done first from the parsonage on King St. to Brook St., the short street running off King at the school bridge, from the post office north to Centre St., and along Centre St. to Collins lane. This will provide service to 38 homes. Some 860 feet of this main on King St. will be laid under the asphalt pavement and be of cast-iron class "C" pipe with leadite joints. Total cost of materials is estimated at $6,524.89, of labor $8,010, and the cost of service to the consumers is estimated at $4,249.96, making a total cost of $18,784.65. It is planned to extend the rebuilding program as time goes on.

The council approved the plans and specifications submitted, and advised the utilities commission to forward the plans to the department of health for their approval.

A letter from the Canadian Pacific Railway asked the council to explain the request that the ticket agency be restored to the Cavan station. The CPR said the reason for withdrawing the agency had been that ticket sales were down, and that it had not seemed worth while to continue an agency there. They promised to review the matter.

Kenneth Baird, district deputy fire marshal, asked the reeve, the town clerk and two members of council along with the fire chief to attend a meeting being held in Cobourg town hall on June 15. Representatives from all the municipalities in Northumberland and Durham are, asked to attend.

A representative of the Safety Supply company of Toronto demonstrated a Scott air-pak to be used by firemen. The air-pak is a mask with a compressed air chamber in it for use in going into smoke-filled rooms. For the present at least, the council took no action in the matter.

Council agreed to the request of J. J. Powell that the annual grant of $50 be paid to Millbrook Agricultural society.

It agreed also to J. H. Raper's request that he be allowed to put in cement step at the door of his shop on King Street at his own expense.

Accounts totalling $1,362.66 were passed of which some of the larger items were: salaries to municipal employees $510.56, to Walter Challice $292.50 for cleaning up Baxter's creek; $132.00 for calcium chloride and $44 to William Buckham for trucking it, Millbrook Public Utilities $117.08.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard reported fire practice with 12 firemen present and that all equipment was in good order.

Diver Recovers Body In Canal

THOROLD (CP) — A Welland canal diver Tuesday recovered the body of a man reported drowned in the canal near Thorold. The victim was identified as Leslie Bell, 26, of London, Ont.

The drowning was reported about 3 a.m. when motorist Jim Richards of Owen Sound, heard screams for help. He saw Thomas Walton, a sailor on a freighter leap into the water. Police say Walton caught hold of a struggling man but was unable to maintain his grip. Richards helped Walton ashore.

Bans Strychnine Use

VANCOUVER (CP) — Use of strychnine in some brands of laxative pills, estimated to have caused an average of 10 accidental deaths a year among Canadian children, has been banned by the federal government. Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy federal minister of health, announced the action here Tuesday at the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

Mayor Reports Feeling Better

Mayor Norman Grham returned on Tuesday from Toronto where he underwent a series of thorough medical examinations in St. Michael's Hospital.

In conversation with The Examiner today, His Worship reported he felt considerably better in health but was unable to return to his official duties right away. He expects to take about a month's holidays before returning to his city hall office.

Interviewed in his George St. office this morning, the mayor gave every indication of feeling better except for the loss of voice which has afflicted him throughout his stay in hospital. He expects to continue having treatments to alleviate this condition.

Meanwhile, His Worship was anxious to express his gratitude for the many expressions of concern for his well-being and gifts of flowers he had received while in hospital. He was particularly grateful to council members whom, he said, had given him "every help," and had visited him regularly, both in St. Joseph's Hospital and in Toronto.

Who Wants To Umpire?

"Str-r-r-i-i-ike!"

Any chance visitors to city hall Friday evening are warned not to become alarmed if they hear the strident sounds of the baseball diamond echoing throughout the corridors. It will be merely a group of umpires having their vocal chords tested for strength, pitch and unintelligibility.

Parking their white canes outside the door will be candidates for a school for umpires sponsored by the recreation commission and the Peterborough Boys' Baseball League in conjunction with the community programs branch of the department of education.

Max Scheff is coming from Toronto to conduct the school, which will be held Friday evening and Saturday morning. Registration and initial lectures are scheduled to take place at city hall conference room at 7:30 Friday.

Officially, the school is intended to improve and standardize officiating in the local minor leagues. Recreation director Ken Robinson was looking for a blackboard this morning, which indicates an academic approach to the subject.

There is no provision on the agenda for lectures on pop-bottle ducking and home-plate dusting. Apparently, these arts require natural talent and wide scope is allowed for individual interpretation.

There's no substitute for class.

Cedar Lakes Park May Fold, Land Be Returned To Gov't

While Peterborough county and city councils are engaging in an effort to obtain a lease of the Serpent Mounds property at Rice lake for public use, it transpires that interest appears to be declining in the Fred Marshall natural park on Big Cedar Lake, Burleigh township.

Max J. Swanston, a trustee of Kawartha Recreation Inc., the official title of the Burleigh enterprise in behalf of the public, said today that its president, Norman Gainer of the public school teaching staff, was resigning and turning in the books.

Associated with Mr. Swanston as trustee is James Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Mr. Gainer is planning postgraduate work this summer, as he did a year ago, I understand, and finds that he is unable to give to the Fred Marshall Park the time it requires," Mr. Swanston said. "I have just received from him the minute book and other records, and it seems obvious that unless more interest is actually taken in the Big Cedar property it may have to be turned back to the provincial government."

Mr. Swanston suggested that while the two municipal councils were enquiring into the possibility of securing Serpent Mounds site for picnics and other public recreational use, they should also as elected representatives, look into the effectual establishment of the Big Cedar Park.

BEGUN BY FRED MARSHALL

"People remember the efforts by the late Fred Marshall to obtain a lake property for the public," Mr. Swanston said. "Organization and the beginning of the work of fixing up the place has been voluntary. John C. Currelly obtained the charter and looked after those details. Ald. Harold Rehill has done a great deal in organizing work parties,' Boy Scouts have had a hand in it, but that is the extent of present accomplishment. Now, we are losing Mr. Gainer, and it is easy to understand his position."

The objective of Mr. Marshall was to secure a permanent lake front to which the public could have access for fishing and boating and other recreation. He saw private ownership extending along the frontage of lakes and rivers in the country, gradually excluding the public. Mr. Marshall used to warn the community that if something were not done to set aside at least one lake site, it would not be many years until they were shut out almost completely from the enjoyment of the Kawarthas' "smiling waters."

Organization of the Big Cedar Park has not been completed; Kawartha Recreation has no funds; supervision is another factor for which there is no provision.

"People can surely see what is involved," Mr. Swanston said today. "Getting a charter and doing some brushing and other work is just preliminary to establishment. Lumber was obtained for picnic tables, and some progress has been made in that respect.

But, the clearing of the shore line and grounds still requires considerable work and another detail is the providing of toilet accommodation."

The organization details and securing of public rights have been attended to, Mr. Swanston said, "but that is really only the beginning."

Board Undecided Whom To Invite To Open Fair

Even Senator McCarthy got into the act at a meeting of the Exhibition Board Tuesday night as debate waxed fast and eloquent on who should be invited to open the 110th Peterborough Exhibition August 11.

"Get Highway Minister Doucett," called a voice from the rear, after Don Milburn suggested the speaker should be a "headline personality."

Ald. R. E. Knox, whose chore it is to line up a speaker, reported that Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton is unavailable. He mentioned Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto as a possibility, but another board member said "then we'd have to get more police in."

George A. Gillespie, dean of the board members, felt the speaker should have some connection with agriculture, though others felt a public figure would draw more crowds. Ontario agriculture minister Fletcher Thomas would be a good choice, Mr. Gillespie felt, if he were not ill.

Among others suggested were Conservative leader George Drew and Ontario Hydro chairman Robert Saunders. Mr. Knox says he is open to suggestions, and is supposed to be receiving more from the Hon. Harold Scott, MLA.

WILL NOT APPEAR

Meanwhile, Richard R. Stewart is having some trouble lining up a grandstand show. Canadian Army motorcycle "belldrivers" named in the program to appear, have now planned to tour the west instead, visiting the British Empire Games and the Calgary Stampede.

To Mrs. Floyd Curtis' suggestion that a half-hour gap in the program could be closed up without making the grandstand show too short, Mr. Stewart said that "we have to give the public something to make them come back to the 1955 exhibition."

Most likely possibility is a square-dance competition. This, commented board chairman John Kitney, might even include a set of Exhibition Board directors. Some joints creaked at the Kitney suggestion and one member wondered: "This will bring them back in 1955?"

Square-dance competitions have proved successful in other cities, said Reg Ferguson, and should go over well here. He suggested preliminary elimination contests with finalists competing at the four nights of the grandstand show.

Ross Dobbin reported that 150,000 tickets will be distributed this year. Tickets will be numbered, and there will be draws each night. Two television sets and two cars will be won, with Exhibition Board directors and their wives disqualified from competition. This amends an earlier plan to exclude the "family" of directors, since the board could not agree how immediate, immediate relatives are.)

Draws will be made every five minutes each night, starting at 9:45 until a winner is found. There will be many blanks, said Mr. Dobbin, because some tickets will be unissued and because winners must be on the grounds. Winners must show up at the grandstand or the main office within five minutes or prizes will revert to the next number called.

A loudspeaker system will carry lucky-numbers all over the grounds and midway, but Hugh Stewart thought it conceivable that two winners could attempt to claim prize at the same time, with only five minutes grace allowed. It was suggested that it might be the height of frustration for a man on a ferris wheel, for example, to hear his number called and yet be unable to claim his car or television set within five minutes.

The prize list for the 1954 exhibition, with application forms for the various classifications, is now available. Citizens may obtain a copy by writing to the secretary Mrs. J. T. Tully.

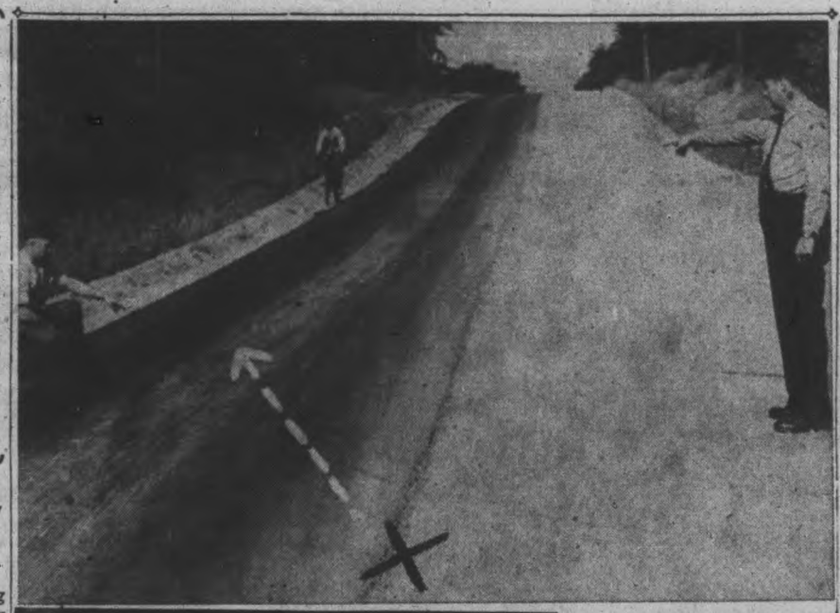
Board Visits Children's Home

Two hundred and eighty-eight families, unmarried parents and children, in the care of the children's Aid Society were given services during May, Miss Rachel Young, superintendent of the society reported to the monthly board meeting on Tuesday.

The board met at the Children's Home, and new members were shown through the building.



The society made 354 visits and conducted 114 office interviews.

SIX THROUGH NEGLECT

Twelve children were admitted to the society's supervision in May. Of these, six were taken into care through neglect, two were born out of wedlock, one is being placed for adoption and another will be placed very soon.

One child is being given temporary care until the mother makes plans for her. Four children were returned to their homes and three adoptions were completed. Five children were placed in foster homes. One child who had been in a boarding home for a period of time was placed for adoption probation.

Nine unmarried parents were referred to the society—two being common-law unions. Three wish assistance in planning for their babies. One girl, with assistance of a professional person, placed her baby privately.

SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT that ended with the death of Marlene Reader, 7, of RR 3, Peterborough, who died after being rushed to hospital in Toronto following a collision with a dump truck Tuesday. Civic Hospital Employees May Take Strike Vote

A meeting of the union membership will be held Thursday night to decide what the hospital workers are going to do next in their contract dispute with the Civic Hospital board of governors.

Indications are that a strike vote is being considered by members of Local 19, National Union of Public Service Employees (CCL), the bargaining agents for about 100 kitchen help, maintenance employees, orderlies, ward aides, nurses aides and laundry staff.

The special membership meeting will be 8 p.m. in the Peterborough labor centre.

Union action follows the receipt of the majority report of a conciliation board, under the chairmanship of Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville, that turned down the union requests for an 18-cent an hour wage increase, and a modified Rand formula for union security.

The main issue is wages.

COUNCIL SUPPORT

A gesture of solidarity for the hospital workers came Monday night at the June meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) after George Linsdell, president of Local 19, said that the union may take some action after Thursday's membership meeting.

"Let's assure the hospital workers that they'll get whole-hearted financial and moral support from the locals of this council if they decide to put a picket line around the Civic Hospital until the board of governors come to their senses," said Alfred Barber of Local 210, UPWA (CIO-CCL), president of the labor council. "None of the governors could live on the wages paid the hospital workers."

However Judge Lewis and C. B. C. Scott—two of the three members of the conciliation board—took a different view.

In their majority report they said that some recent union-management settlements have provided for no increase in either rates or fringe items, particularly in cases where management is paying amongst the top rates in its industry and the financial position of the company is either not improving or is declining.

"Your board considers the members of Local 19, NUPSE, in the Peterborough Civic Hospital to be in this category," said the majority report.

RATES AMONG HIGHEST

"As their rates are amongst the highest in the province and the per capita taxes on the citizens of Peterborough to support the hospital are amongst the highest, your board recommends no increase in salary rates for the term of the new contract."

The conciliation board said the proper comparison was with rates paid in other hospitals.

As a check, they took hospital rates in Hamilton, St. Catharines, Toronto and London. In each case the Civic Hospital rate was highest or second highest.

"In addition, it was pointed out . . . by the board of governors . . . that the per capita taxes for the maintenance of the hospital in Peterborough were the heaviest of the per capita taxes in the communities of similar size — the comparison being as follows.

Peterborough Civic (1953)	5.57
Hamilton	5.01
Kitchener-Waterloo	2.56
London	1.80
St. Thomas	1.69
Brantford	1.54
Ottawa	1.50

"The appropriation of the City of Peterborough for the deficit of the operation of this hospital in substantial increase over 1952 1953 was $225,600 which was a when the appropriation was $179,885," continued the majority report.

"It would appear . . . unreasonable to expect any inerease in salary rates to come out of the taxpayers pockets with the conditions as stated above prevailing. During the hearing, the board was also advised that in another hospital in Peterborough (St. Joseph's), the salary rates were lower as were also the room rates, therefore, on a local basis, the Peterborough Civic Hospital was at a disadvantage."

On union security, the majority report recommended that all employees now members of the union should continue to pay membership dues for the duration of the new contract. New employees will be on the checkoff during the lifetime of the contract but may revoke the checkoff during the 15-day escape period at the end of the next contract.

TRANSPORTATION

Although there is no off-shift differential paid in Ontario hospitals the board agreed to recommend one of five cents an hour in Peterborough. This compensates employees for working on off shifts, and compensates them for the difficulty of transportation to and from the hospital.

"There is a transportation problem for employees required to report to the hospital during certain hours," the conciliation board found. "In some instances the hospital . . . is paying the taxi fare of such employees. It was agreed between both parties that the hospital management would explore the possibility of providing taxis at certain times during the off hours of the transportation system . . ."

The majority report was signed by Judge Lewis and Mr. Scott. Henry G. Rhodes, the union nominee on the board, filed a minority report.

Mr. Rhodes agreed with his colleagues on the five-cent off-shift differential but thought the modified Rand formula should have been introduced as a measure of union security. This provides that all employees covered by the agreement pay the union regularly monthly dues whether or not they are members of the union.

A wage increase of $15 a month was proposed as a compromise by Mr. Rhodes, retroactive to March 1, 1954.

"Insofar as the comparison of rates paid in other hospitals is concerned, I am not prepared to give much weight to the fact that—Civic—appears to be paying the highest rates, because wages in hospitals are generally low.

"When a purchaser walks into a grocery store for the purpose of buying a pound of butter or a pound of steak, the grocer does not inquire as to a person's income. The prices of these commodities are the same to all.

"Wages in Peterborough are generally amongst the highest and I believe that the hospital authorities should pay a fair wage in relation to the other wages in the area."

Knocked Off Bike By Truck Child Dies In Hospital After Trip To Toronto

Marlene Reader, 7, Collides With Dump Truck On Sherbrooke St., Outside City, Bicycling Home Early From Brealey's School

A mercy trip by ambulance to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, late Tuesday afternoon, failed to save the life of seven-year-old Marlene Reader of RR 3, Peterborough. She died there of head injuries received six hours earlier when she was knocked from her bicycle by a heavy dump truck on Sherbrooke St. W., a short distance from her home.

At noon today Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw was conferring with the coroner in Toronto on whether an inquest will be held.

She received head injuries, that included a possible fractured skull, and severe shock. And she also sustained cuts and bruises.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The accident occurred two miles west of the city limits on Sherbrooke St. W. on a section of the road that is now under construction.

With a schoolfriend, eight-year-old Sharon Robbins, also of RR 3, Peterborough, Marlene was pedalling a bicycle home from Brealey's school about 2:30 p.m. For a lark the two girls had switched bicycles and coats when they started out on their ride home.

Where construction is going on the road is almost evenly divided. The north half is asphalt paved and the south side is gravelled.

She was believed to have been riding on the paved surface, just north of the junction with the gravel when somehow her borrowed bicycle went out of control.

The bicycle swerved to the right and was struck by the right rear dual wheels of a dump truck, also going east, driven by Cecil Barr, 19, of Hawkstone. The truck was loaded with asphalt paving.

Marlene was thrown on an angle —about 10 feet to the left, landing in a heap with her bicycle.

Another youngster, five-year-old Judy White saw the accident from where she was standing watching the traffic and other children. Her eyewitness account was a simple: "I saw Marlene hit the truck's back wheel."

Mrs. Muriel White, Judy's mother, saw the truck stop as she looked toward the road from an opening in the trees. She noticed Barr run back to see what had happened.

PHONED DOCTOR

Mrs. White rushed out to the road, noticed Barr coming back to her place for assistance, and she phoned a doctor. But by the time Dr. John Neville arived the fatally-injured girl had been taken to Civic Hospital by Tom Shields, 26, Plater Blvd., Toronto.

Gail Robbins, a seven-year-old chum of Marlene's and a relative of Sharon's, raced to their home a short distance away and told Mrs. Gerald Robbins: "Marlene's been hit by a truck."

Mrs. Robbins informed Marlene's mother and the two of them went to the accident.

After an examination in Civic by Dr. William Blastorah, Marlene was ordered taken to Toronto. The trip was made in an hour and a half by Nisbett's ambulance with police escort part of the way.

DELAY IN PORT HOPE

In Port Hope there was a slight delay as there was trouble with the aspirator (a suction machine for removing mucous and blood from the throat) and a detour was made to Port Hope Hospital.

For the rest of the trip to Toronto the ambulance was without police escort, which had been lost in the detour. Heavy rush-hour traffic was encountered in Toronto.

Miss Mildred Cleland, a nurse at Civic Hospital, accompanied them on the mercy trip to look after the litle girl and give what assistance she could.

Death came at 8:35 p.m.

The fatality was investigated by OPP Constable Ken Barber.

Besides her parents, Earl S. Reader, a maintenance man at CGE, and the fomer Dorothy Willis, Marlene leaves a brother, 10-year-old Ralph; and both her paternal and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reader, and Mr. and Mrs. James Willis.

She was born in Peterborough and was a pupil in Brealey's school, North Monaghan.

The family are members of Park Street Baptist church.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Nisbett Funeral Home, the Rev. A. S. Roblin of Park Street Baptist church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Exhibition Board Honors G. A. Gillespie

A certificate acknowledging years of service to Ontario agriculture was presented to George A. Gillespie, dean of the Peterborough Exhibition Board, by Hugh Stewart on behalf of the board at Tuesday night's meeting.

"We hope you'll be around for a long time," Mr. Stewart told the octogenarian. The certificate, from the Association of Agricultural Societies, is signed by N. W. McConkey, immediate past president of the Peterborough board. The board, said Mr. Stewart, is "wishing you the very best."

Mr. Gillespie, a former secretary manager of the exhibition board, is now an honorary director with Charles Moore, Colonel R. Birdsall and the federal ministers of agriculture.

Honored in absentia Tuesday was board treasurer E. W. Armstrong. On a motion from Richard R. Stewart, the board voted to accept Mr. Armstrong's resignation with regret. Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, Mr. Armstrong has been transferred to Toronto.

Main item of business was the question of who should receive passes to the exhibition. Things were "out of hand" in 1953, said chairman John Kitney, with more than 800 issued.

TO ISSUE PASSES

Ald. R. E. Knox was named as sole dispenser of passes for 1954. He will consult with Ross Dobbin, Donald McGillis and others to keep the number of passes to a minimum. Passes will be for specific purposes, will not be issued on a blanket basis to directors and others who request them.

It was suggested that passes to concessionaires be issued on the basis of three for every $100 worth of concession space and be punched to prevent abuse. Lindsay has a similar arrangement, directed by William Weir.

Abuses, often unintentional, are difficult to control, the board agreed. Mr. Kitney noted that the Order of the Eastern Star had received 100 passes during Exhibition week last year, although there were never more than 10 working at their food booth.

St. James' United church was forced to set up a clearing agency for passes outside the grounds, after it was found that several members of the church were receiving work passes, entering the grounds and yet not going near the St. James' food tent.

Another problem is the rush to purchase associate memberships in the exhibition board before and during exhibition week. Memberships cost a dollar a year, while admission to the grounds is 50 cents a time.

Chairman Kitney reported a der in and out with ribbons denoting their services, but there is no indication that the ribbon has not changed hands. Last year some people were admitted free to the grounds wearing workers' ribbons for 1952.

PASS GATE

Don McGillis suggested a special pass gate through which all free admission could be cleared. Don Milburn suggested a permanent distinctive pass for all exhibitors and officials, with others issued on a strict term basis, and non-transferable. Manson Cathcart predicted a high incidence of pass-abuse even with controlled issuance.

Some workers outside the grounds, said Mr. Stewart, wan-proposal to erect a television aerial on the drill hall, at an estimated cost of $1,500, to serve ten booths with six outlets in each booth. The aerial would be 80 feet high and would presumably be financed by charging each user.

The board, however, thought it best to defer this suggestion at least for a year. The drill hall roof, pockmarked with individual aerials, will be repaired. Don McGillis suggested that each user be charged a small sum towards repairs each year, so that costs need not be underwritten by the Exhibition Board.

The entire question of aerials will be referred back to the grounds committee.

There was also some discussion of a letter from a local electrical firm announcing its willingness to handle electrical work at the exhibition. After a debate on whether it would be best to give the job to a firm familiar with requirements or ask for offers from other firms who might work at less cost, the question was turned over to the finance committee.

Burritt Mann suggested that the board, this year, abide by its statement on closing dates for exhibit entries. Deadline is August 6, but the custom has been to hold over the closing date, especially where there have been few entries.

The public won't take much interest in one exhibit in any given class, said Harold Millen, while Don Milburn thought the various classifications chairmen should have power to act in deciding when to accept no more entries. Chairman Kitney said there would have been "far fewer" entries in 1953 if the board had adhered more closely to proposed deadlines.

Other developments at Tuesday's meeting included: a suggestion from Frank Savigny that the next board meeting be held at the exhibition gounds with all associate directors invited; discussion of police protection; a decision to make a study of present $102,000 insurance on buildings, to see if policies can be re-arranged; a decision to keep buildings open until 11 p.m. to catch the late grandstand crowd; possibility of hiring air cadets or sea cadets to act as ticket-sellers on the midway; a decision to ban cars from McGill St. gate except to exhibitors.

CONNECTED 64 YEARS with the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, G. A. Gillespie was presented Tuesday night with an Agricultural Service diploma by the Exhibition board. Mr. Gillespie is shown in the centre looking over the certificate with John Kitney, president of the board (right) and Hugh Stewart, former president. Mr. Gillespie first started attending the exhibition in 1890, became an exhibitor, a member of the board in 1907, was president in 1918 and 1919, was a judge in 1940 and was secretary manager from 1948 to 1953. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Driving Charges From Accident Both Dismissed

Two charges of dangerous driving and careless driving against Wesley Pavy, 44, of Guelph, were dismissed in magistrate's court Tuesday by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

The charges were laid as a result of a collision at Scott's Corners, five miles south of Peterborough at 3:30 p.m. January 31. Nine were injured as Pavy's car was in collision with a small English car driven by James Cook, 38, 473 O'Connell Rd.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw's case was based on testimony from William Sawdon of Toronto, driving behind the Pavy car.

Sawdon testified driving conditions were "bad," that Pavy was travelling "in excess of 40 mph" and that Pavy had passed him on a curve half a mile before the accident. He said he was 150 to 200 feet behind Pavy when the accident took place.

The dangerous driving charge was dismissed without need for defence after defence counsel Donald Bark suggested there was no evidence of criminality in Pavy's speed. He estimated Pavy and Sawdon to be travelling approximately the same speed if there was only 150 feet between them half a mile after Pavy passed.

Mr. Bradshaw referred to a case now before the Supreme Court of Ontario in which a driver was acquitted on a dangerous driving charge after it was proved he was travelling nearly 90 mph near Barrie. He said speed linked up with other factors should prove a degree of guilt, and pointed out that the Attorney-General's department had appealed the ruling of the Barrie magistrate.

(The Barrie magistrate who dismissed this charge is a brother of Peterborough attorney Frank Foster, KC.)

NO DIFFICULTY

On the stand in his own defence on the careless driving charge, Mr. Pavy testified he was travelling between 35 and 40, that he had caught up to Sawdon two miles from the scene of the accident, that this car "travelling less than 30," was the only one he had passed. He said he had "no difficulty whatever" in negotiating the first curve, and that he had seen the English car 70 to 75 feet away when at the second curve.

Pavy testified he went out of control, his rear end swung to the right, and he veered to the left ditch. He was hit on the right side by the Cook car, and ended up half on the shoulder on this side, his front wheels in the ditch.

Mr. Bark recalled that OPP Constable John Cawood had testified there was a bare spot in the centre of the road. This he said, "might have been ice." He felt "surmises" as to why Pavy might have lost control were not relevant. Mr. Bradshaw agreed it was a "borderline case" and the magistrate dismissed the careless driving charge as well.

Douglas Holland, 23, of Guelph and his wife, Irma, both travelling on the front seat of the Pavy car suffered fractured pelvises. A son, Dallas Pavy sitting in the seat was slightly injured. The other driver, James Cook, who testified he could remember nothing, suffered cuts, concussion and a broken rib.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hofman and Mrs. Crate, served refreshments.

Blames Cigarette For Accident

Judgment was deferred in a careless driving charge against Kenneth Cuthbertson, 22, of Norwood, by magistrate W. R. Philp, Tuesday.

Cuthbertson broke a collar bone and completely wrecked a borrowed half-ton truck when it went out of control 12 miles east of Peterborough at 4.30 a.m., May 9.

Unrepresented by counsel, Cuthbertson took the stand in his own defence to testify that he dropped a lighted cigarette between his legs and instinctively ducked his head to grope for it just before the accident. He said OPP Const. Stanley Smith had found a blanket in the truck still burning from the cigarette when he investigated the accident.

Const. Smith testified he found the truck in the north ditch, a complete write-off. It narrowly missed two apple trees, struck a hydro pole, broke off a wooden fence post and rolled over and over for 155 feet before coming to rest upside down. Cuthbertson was thrown from the truck and landed 38 feet away.

Magistrate Philp commented that bee-stings are cause for dismissal of careless driving charges, but Mr. Bradshaw contended that since bees are "outside agencies" the comparison is invidious. Cuthbertson volunteered the information that he had reimbursed the truck owner, Merrill Spencer, of Norwood. "I think I've done just about everything that I can do."

Sign Marine Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO national maritime union and 38 United States Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping companies early today announced agreement on new labor contract for 20,000 merchant seamen. The new contract provides no change in wages but boosts fringe benefits. Wages remain at $314.41 a month for ablebodied seamen, and range from $242.32 for mess boys to $883.58 for the highest paid chief steward.

Regatta Postponed

OSLO (AP)—A yachting regatta scheduled for noon June 30 has been postponed by one hour because of the total solar eclipse on that day, it was announced here today. The yacht club of Fredrikstad in the Oslo fjord considerately said it would not risk that the yachtsmen "might run into difficulties during the period of darkness."

Too Much Money Being Spent On Diplomatic Missions–Senator

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, Tuesday said that as a business man he can't see any advantages resulting from spending millions on diplomatic missions abroad.

He spoke during a senate debate in which Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) suggested that the Upper Chamber investigate the question of immunity from prosecution and suit granted to foreign diplomats in Canada.

Senator Norman P. Lambert (L—Ontario) said Senator Reid's suggestion is really only part of a bigger question—the whole matter of Canadian participation in foreign affairs. The bigger question was what should be inve[illegible].

The debate came during passage of a measure to extend to representatives of Commonwealth countries the immunities now enjoyed by representatives of foreign countries.

All speakers supported equal treatment for Commonwealth and foreign representatives.

Senator Thomas Vien (L—Quebec) protested against discussion of the question of immunities for foreign diplomats. He said the question was not involved in the bill.

Plenty Of Gas To Feed Pipeline To East

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners was told Tuesday there is plenty of Alberta gas to feed a proposed $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline to the East and that the line is a feasible engineering project. It also heard evidence that construction is expected to start early next year and to be completed to Montreal by late 1956.

The testimony came as the board opened hearings on an application by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., for permission to build the big pipe, one of the largest projects in Canadian history. The 2,200-mile line would be the longest gas pipe in the world.

Dr. John Davis, associate director of economics in the federal trade department, told the board that over a period of years the income from the Minnesota market could result in appreciably lowering the cost of gas in eastern Canada.

He said the Canadian market will not be large enough to absorb all Alberta's eventual production. The country would have—maybe had now—a substantial exportable surplus.

Begin 'Copter Service

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain Tuesday launched her first regular passenger helicopter service with twice-daily trips between London airport and the southcoast town of Southampton, 80 miles away. The service will be of particular value to air-bound passengers from Europe seeking a rapid connection with the transatlantic liner terminus at Southampton.

Photographic Survey For Farm Woodland

TORONTO (CP)—An aerial photographic survey project covering 33,000 acres of farm woodland in southeastern Ontario is being carried out this summer under the direction of the Ontario lands and forests department.

Photographs, taken with 250-pound cameras from 8,000 feet up will be pieced together into a huge composite photographic map of the entire area which will be used in planning development for the area.

Lands and forests officials said they hope to complete the project by the end of the summer. Next spring and summer they will make a similar survey of the southern and southwestern Ontario regions.

The photographic work is being done by companies specializing in aerial photography.

CCL Renews Demand For Government Aid

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor Tuesday renewed its stand that government action is needed urgently to combat unemployment.

The executive council of the 373,000-member CCL, after a meeting here, said unemployment remains serious and proposed new public works, an expanded housing program with federal aid, a moratorium on mortgages and action to prevent eviction for persons unemployed or on short work-time, increased unemployment insurance benefits and the extension of benefits to unemployed now unable to get them, and a comprehensive public assistance program.

Court Dismisses Thibideau Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday dismissed the appeal of Roy Thibideau, 37, formerly of Brussels and Listowel, convicted last January of manslaughter in the knife-slaying last December of his brother, Arthur.

Mr. Justice R. I. Ferguson of the Ontario Supreme Court sentenced Thibideau, originally charged with murder, to 15 years. The jury which found him guilty of manslaughter had recommended mercy.

The appeal was based on an alleged misdirection by the presiding judge in his charge to the jury.

The Movie Column

Crippled Actress To Star In New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Suzan Ball leaves for South Dakota today to star in her first movie since losing her leg because of cancer.

Suzan will appear opposite Victor Mature in "Chief Crazy Horse." her first movie role in a year and a half. Her last was in another western "War Arrow." During the filming of it, she suffered intense pain—the start of her battle with cancer. She lost her right leg by amputation above the knee, but her life was saved.

I visited Universal-International to see her on the first day of her return. Producer William Alland told me the role is a great opportunity for Suzan.

NO STUNTS

"She is the only woman in the cast," he said. "She plays the sweetheart, wife and then widow of Crazy Horse.

"She shouldn't have any trouble with the part. She doesn't have to ride horseback or do any stunts, except pull a man out of the river. But we'd have a double do that, anyway."

Just then Suzan drove up in her sleek black convertible. With black braids and Indian make-up she was startlingly beautiful. She hopped gingerly from the car and walked on crutches to her dressing room.

"I'm getting a brand new leg for the picture," she smiled, explaining why she used the crutches.

TV APPEARANCE

"It's a new kind of material that has all the qualities of skin except the warmth. I can do anything with it, even apply makeup. There are no moving parts to get stuck. I had hoped to have some time to get used to it here, but I'll be able to adjust to it in a couple of days on location.

"I can walk without any limp now. My only problem was getting my balance. It's pretty hard after you've lost weight on one side."

Suzan returned to acting in a television play, appearing with her husband, Richard Long. She said that had much to do with her present film role.

"The studio bosses saw me and figured if I could walk in a TV show I could walk in a picture," she reported. "So they called me the next day about doing the movie."

Doctors Endorse Fluoridation

TORONTO (CP)—Fluoridation of metropolitan Toronto's water supply as a possible aid in fighting tooth decay has been endorsed by the council of the Academy of Medicine in Toronto, Dr. L. A. Pequegnat, city medical health officer, said Tuesday.

Supporters of the plan said the academy's approval could do away with much of the opposition.

Dr. Pequegnat said that, of 75 medical centres in American universities queried, 63 were in favor of fluoridation. Some doctors have said the fluorine has a harmful effect on human beings.

OPINION DIVIDED

A survey of the 13 municipalities in metropolitan Toronto showed that four of them are n favor of fluoridating the water supply. Two are not in favor and seven are noncommittal.

The results were given to the Toronto board of health Tuesday. The board decided that before urging the Metro government to add sodium fluoride to the water supply, it would await the opinions of the Canadian Medical Association and the Ontario health department.

Senator Pleased Women Now Serving On Juries

By JOHN MOSHER

FREDERICTON (CP) — Senator Muriel McQueen Fergusson, quiet-spoken crusader for women's participation in public life, has seen the realization of a principle she long advocated — the right of women to serve on New Brunswick juries.

This was enacted at the last legislative session. Mrs. Fergusson said in an interview she would have preferred that women be called for jury service in the same way as men but with the privilege of refusing. Under the act, any woman wishing to serve must register and then, if she changes her mind, may given written notice and become exempt.

"Now we are not considered too unintelligent for jury duty," commented New Brunswick's outstanding representative of her sex in public affairs. The subject recalled her interest in the famous struggle of 1929 to get women classified as "persons" under the British North America Act so that they could be appointed to the Senate.

HELD MANY POSTS

The next thing she would like to see in the way of legislation on behalf of women is "equal pay for equal value."

Still dark-haired and attractive at 55, the energetic, blue-eyed senator is a woman of "firsts"—the first woman senator from New Brunswick, first woman member of the Fredericton city council, first woman to have been judge of probate in this province and first woman in Canada to have been appointed enforcement counsel for a province under the wartime prices board.

From 1947 until her Senate appointment a year ago she was regional welfare administrator for the federal health department.

She has found the Senate "extremely interesting and the associations stimulating." While some members were well along in years "their brains are not gone. They are still brilliant and outstanding and it is a privilege to know them.

ACTIVE IN SENATE

"People don't realize how much work the Senate does. Most is in committee and not speeches that reach the public."

Member of a joint Senate-Commons committee on criminal law, capital and corporal punishment and lotteries, Senator Fergusson recently visited the Maritimes penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B. She considered it "run in a very modern manner" and was "impressed with the warde[illegible]tio...

She thinks the Senate isn't a place for glamor, so she dresses conservatively there and doesn't wear a hat at the sittings because it's no place for that, either."

Mrs. Fergusson hasn't seen any prejudice against women in Canadian public life, but believes it is "up to the women themselves to make their mark." Municipal and civic governments were a good place to start.

WORKER ON COUNCIL

Elected to the Fredericton city council in 1951, she was re-elected in 1953 and became deputy mayor. Her term ends in December and, with numerous other activities in New Brunswick and Ottawa, she doesn't plan to reoffer for another.

Senator Fergusson shares an Ottawa apartment with two other women and during the Senate session returns here every two weeks for city council meetings and to see her aged mother.

The New Brunswick senator now hasn't time for former hobbies. During early married life at Grand Falls, N.B., she grew flowers, enjoyed fishing and "loved to cook." She was born at Shediac and in 1926 married Aubrey S. Fergusson, also a barrister, who died in 1942. There were no children.

"About my only hobby now is racing around making speeches to women," Mrs. Fergusson said with a laugh. Admittedly nervous before public speeches, she nevertheless likes it and "ounce I get going everything is all right."

She was admitted to the New Brunswick bar in 1925, practised law at Shediac and Grand Falls and, among other positions, was solicitor for the latter town and clerk of the Victoria county and circuit courts.

WOMAN SENATOR—Senator Muriel Fergusson, 55, of Fredericton, is a quiet-spoken crusader for women's participation in public life. The first woman senator from New Brunswick, she previously was the first woman judge of a probate court in the province and the first woman Canadian enforcement counsel for the wartime prices and trade board. She has seen the realization of a principle she long has advocated—the right of women to serve on New Brunswick juries. —(CP Photo)

Standards of red peonies, bridal wreath and iris decorated the church. Wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. Charles Renaud and during the signing of the register Mr. Victor Coleman sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Balfour Campbell of Peterborough. She was wearing a ballerina length gown of white nylon tulle and a lace jacket, and her fingertip veil of tulle was caught to a crown of lily of the valley, matching her bouquet of lily of the valley and gardenia.

Miss Leona Jeffrey of Toronto as bridesmaid wore a ballerina frock of pale green tafefta, and a small matching hat and carried a nosegay of white miniature 'mums. The groom's attendant was Mr. Russell F. Kitchen of Goshen, Indiana, and the ushers were Mr. William Zorne of Ottawa, Illinois, and Mr. Robert Wyatt of Peterborough.

A reception at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club followed. Mrs. Balfour Campbell and Mrs. D. H. Wyatt received with the bridal party. Mrs. Campbell was wearing navy crepe with a white straw hat and corsage of red carnations and Mrs. Wyatt chose a gown of cinnamon cotton lace, a hat of cinnamon straw and corsage of yellow roses.

After honeymooning in some of the northern United States, the couple will sail for Scotland where they will make their home. While in Peterborough prior to the wedding they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wyatt.

Crinolines Will Flounce Back In Fall Scene

MONTREAL (CP) — Crinolines will flounce back into the wardrobes of Canada's fashion-minded women this year, if a preview of fall and winter styles here Monday is any indication.

The fabric, which first appeared on the modern fashion scene a few seasons ago and then faded into the background, was a predominant feature of the preview, held by the Canadian Fashion Association.

Most of the skirts on display were full and when combined with crinolines were worn with multi-layers of petticoats in varied colors.

Trend in really full skirts was toward a shorter length. Longer skirts were also puffed out with many-colored flounces.

The importance of fabric to the fashion scene was a central point of the show. Garments came in such fabrics as frosted fleece, orlon flannel, quilted wool and iridescent felt. There were also some unusual color combinations such as taupe and khaki.

The traditional lure of Scottish tartans, however, proved the hit of the parade. They were seen in a full-skirted style with a tightly-wrapped "sporran belt" and a little stand-up Chinese collar.

Margaret Florence Bride Of Dr. B. L. Ludwig

A lovely wedding of much interest in this city took place today in Toronto, at the Beth Sholom Synagogue, when Margaret Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Florence of Peterborough, became the bride of Doctor Bernard L. Ludwig of Toronto.

Rabbi David Monson officiated in the ceremony. The synagogue was decorated with red and white gladiolas and music was played by Paul Simmons orchestra.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a beautiful gown of white bengaline with a madeira lace bodice and bolero and veil of white tulle. She carried a Bible with a white orchid and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Ben Abramsky of Peterborough was her matron of honor, Miss Yetta Rubin of Toronto her bridesmaid and Miss Gail Abramsky was flower girl. Their frocks of taffeta were in blue, rose and pink and they wore matching hats and carried bouquets of rose and yellow roses.

Mr. Sid Borins of Toronto attended the groom. Ushers were Mr. Ben Abramsky of Peterborough, Dr. Earl Krieger, Dr. M. Herman, and Dr. S. Rosen, all of Toronto.

The bride's mother was wearing a gown of turquoise chiffon with beaded bodice, a hat fashioned of the chiffon and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a sequined gown of rose chiffon and lace and matching hat and also had a white orchid corsage.

On their wedding trip the couple will visit Washington, Virginia, New York city and Peterborough, and afterward will take up residence in Toronto.

The bride went away in an ensemble of black and white check top with black skirt, white clutch bag and white hat and shoes.

Bride Has 5 Attendants

The Port Hope United church, banked with standards of pink and white gladioli and tall white tapers, was the setting on Saturday, for the marriage of Beverley Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roger Giffen of Port Hope, and Roy Weldon Lindberg of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Y. Lindberg, of Ottawa.

The Rev. B. K. Cronk performed the double ring ceremony, with Mr. Adam Hawley, of Peterborough playing the wedding music. Mr. John Carnegie of Kingston sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony, and "Oh, Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of nylon, tulle over ivory satin, daintily appliqued with Chantilly lace. The bodice featured a lace fischu, full length sheath sleeves and pointed waistline. The full length hooped skirt swept to a graceful train, and her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a coronet embroidered with tiny seed pearls. The bride carried an off centre cascade of roses, lily-of-the-valley and orchids on variegated ivy.

Attending the bride as maid of honour was her cousin, Miss Betty Lou Taylor, wearing a waltz length gown of ice blue tissue shantung with pleated bodice, a shrug jacket and crownless halo of pink and blue rosebuds. The four bridesmaids, Mrs. H. P. Harrison, Mrs. William Perry, Miss Laureen Downey and Miss Nancy Hutchings wore identical pink tissue shantung waltz length gowns and halos of pink and blue rosebuds. Each attendant carried a cascade of roses, white and blue carnations and pastel sweet peas on variegated ivy.

Attending the groom was Mr. Lloyd Higgins of Peterborough, with the ushers being Messrs. Ted. Loney and Ray Halliday of Toronto, Peter Giffen, brother of the bride and Larry Lindberg, brother of the groom.

The reception was held on the spacious lawn of the home of the bride's parents, with her mother receiving in a full length gown of ashes of roses French chiffon, matching accessories, and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother received in a floor length gown of powder blue Chantilly lace, wearing soft pink accessories and corsage of pink rapture roses. The bride's grandmother also received, wearing a floor length gown of grey French chiffon, panelled with matching Chantilly lace, with orchid accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride and groom left later for a motor trip to Florida, the bride wearing a navy linen dress topped with an oyster white jacket, navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindberg will live at 320 Maitland Avenue, in Peterborough on their return.

The bride is a registered nurse, graduate of Peterborough Civic Hospital School of Nursing.

Key Person In YW 35 Years

ing community, and the special celebrating during 1955 of the 100th anniversary of the 1st YWCA in the world.

EVENTS OF PAST

Miss Brownscombe has shown a genuine love of the YWCA in her faithful service all these years. She has served under nine presidents, each of whom she has inspired with her deep interest in the work. There are now 16 standing committees of the board and 10 special committees. These entail an estimated 300 meetings per year which Miss Brownscombe attended, besides regular staff meetings each week and many consultations with board members to make plans.

As she goes to the Y to attend the reception in her honor this evening Miss Brownscombe will be thinking of other celebrations she has attended. She remembers the 21st anniversary celebration of the present building in 1925 when the swimming pool mortgage was burned.

That year she recalls the expenditure of the Y was $24,705; now the total budget required is $63,960. Establishment of the Red Cross and Community Fund in 1941 has been a real help to the Y in relieving the strain of campaign organization which Miss Brownscombe formerly had, and allowing her more time for extension of program and serivces.

Next she will recall the Golden Jubilee in 1941 when special gifts to Y were tapestries and a silver coffe urn. At the Diamond Anniversary in 1951 a silver tea service, which is used on social occasions at the Y such as this, was the gift.

Miss Brownscombe will be truly missed by all and sundry of those who have passed through the YWCA doors in the past 35 years.

"Potluck" Meal Choice One Grace WA Among The Best

"Potluck" meals are served more frequently in June—though they are good any time of the year—and it is probable that there are few women in this city who belong to church or other organizations who have not had the pleasure of attending one.

Never turn down an invitation to one—especially if you are a gourmet in any sense of the word.

In the dictionary potluck is defined as "a chance meal". The "chance" at one of these affairs is that you will not be able to rise from the table.

There is also a chance that you will have made such a "pig" of yourself by taking a helping from every dish that was passed, tha you will be too embarrassed to face anyone but those who sat beside you and did likewise. Don't let this thought occur. No matter how genteel at other times, everyone's appetite is governed by their eyes at a potluck dinner, supper or picnic.

HOLD 2 A YEAR

Ladies of the WA at Grace United church both open and close their season's activities with a pot luck supper, and they produce as fine a spread as can be found anywhere. The closing one took place Tuesday, but there will be an opening supper in the new church in September, with room then for many more than the 4[illegible] squeezed into the old church last evening.

So if you want to get in on the "feast of feasts" the new church will welcome you, but be ready to work, and work hard. All the women of this southend church are ready and eager to do whatever is required of them in the great program that is developing in the area.

Minister, the Rev. I. G. Pollock congratulated them on what has been accomplished under difficulty. "The WA has tried to pull its weight in every way since its inception in 1948," he said.

SITUATION CHEERFUL

"The outlook is extremely cheerful at present," Mr. Pollock advised, referring to the fund campaign and the difficulties that are being overcome in erecting a new and modern building next door.

"A new cause, young spirit and confidence are attracting new people into the church," he said. At services in the old church he has counted 208 persons squeezed into an estimated seating accommodation for half that number, but in the new church there will be room for 600.

Mr. Pollock said he had been offered pity by ministers of other churches in the past, but now they were "changing their tune." All churches of the district are now beginning to rally around and fulfill the Christian obligation to extend the church in new fields.

"It is important to keep on building the spirit of friendliness and zeal within the church that has brought you this far" said Mr. Pollock. "I feel that we may perhaps some day be judged for our 'stickability', and you will be comemnded for 'sticking it through' here. You have realized the most lasting values of life, love, joy and peace."

GIFT TO CHOIR

In the business session, presided over by president Mrs. W. J. Waldie, it was decided to make a gift of $50 to the choir. Request for a loan to buy new gowns had been received from the choir. They are hoping to raise other funds by holding a "hipline tea" on June 17th it was announced.

The WA has ordered 50 more of each of the dishes now on hand to be ready for use in the new church.

A Purchase Club in connection with the fall bazaar is being organized. This is a sale of coupons for which members will collect regularly during the coming months and which may be used as money to make purchases at the bazaar.

Material for aprons and dolls and material for doll's clothes were distributed for making up in time for the bazaar.

Another source of income for the WA is the sale of stationery and greeting cards which is operated by Mrs. B. Hoey from her home at 650 Monaghan Road. She will have a new supply ready for display the first week of July.

Membership fees were paid to Mrs. A. Tripp.

Following the devotions, led by Mrs. Verda Montgomery, the ladies enjoyed two films of South Africa, secured for this showing by Mrs. Pollock. The Pollocks spent seven years in a church in Capetown and scenes in the films were within two miles of their former home.

Closing benediction was pronounced by Mr. Pollock.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serving Fried Chicken Father's Day Dinner

On Father's Day you can celebrate and put your heart into it.

It always seems so silly to me when on my birthday — or on Mother's Day, being the family cook, I used to have to make my own cake.

Those days are gone forever for my kids take over and whomp up some of the most dazzling meals —sometimes too dazzling for my simple tastes.

But Father's Day is another story. If your precious darling wants chicken fried, roasted or even raw you are the gal who can serve it up. He's in clover too if his favorite dessert is strawberry shortcage for on June 20 they're bursting their rosy little hearts to be perfect for him and his shortcake.

The reason I have chosen Fried Chicken Crunchy Style to feature for Father's Day dinner is because, if you are the outdoors type and the weather is fine, this is ideally adapted to eating out of doors as it should be eaten—in the fingers.

FRIED CHICKEN CRUNCHY-STYLE

These amounts are for 1 3-lb. fryer or broiler, cut into quarters for four people. To ½ cup flour add 1½ teaspoons paprika, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and put this in a paper bag and shake the cut chicken pieces in it to dredge them. Beat 1 egg and to it add 2 tablespoons water and dip the chicken pieces in this to coat them. Now roll out cornflakes and measure 1 cup and to them add ½ cup flour. Roll the egg-coated chicken pieces in them. In large frying pan melt ½ cup butter or margarine or ½ and ½ butter and shortening and when hot cook the chicken pieces in it until golden turning frequently. This takes at least 10 minutes and must be watched for you do not want one suspicion of burning. Lower heat, and if desired add 2 tablespoons hot water, cover and cook 30 to 45 minutes, or until drumstick and thick pieces are tender, turning at least twice during this longer cooking period.

Would you like a quick run-through of another strawberry shortcake recipe? This is quite rich, and I do not believe I have given it to you before.

RICH SHORTCAKE

Two cups stirred but not sifted cake or all-purpose flour, ¼ cup sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of nutmeg, 2 egg yolks (or 1 egg), 1-3 cup milk. Mix dry ingredients and sift twice. Cut butter into them with pastry blender or work it in with fingers tips, then quickly stir in egg or yolks and milk. Pat out into smooth round and bake at 450 deg Fahr. for about 12 minutes. Split cake and butter bottom half, cover with slightly sweetened halved berries, put on top, cover with more berries and top with whipped cream.

QUESTION: . . .some Russian woman whom I knew slightly used to take the hard wax that accumulates in the ear out with. . . Russian tallow. . ..I would be indebted to you if you know where I can buy it . . .Violet N.

ANSWER: As you see I have shortened your letter, but read it at full length to two doctors and two druggists. They all say they have never heard of Russian tallaw being for sale in Canada, and all strongly advise not using the instrument you mention, but go to your doctor to have the wax removed. By self treatment you could do irreparable damage. I am sorry that I could not comply with your request.

FRIED CHICKEN CRUNCHY STYLE is just the dish for father, when you prepare that special Father's Day dinner. Father is bound to give an appreciative "mmmm". Prepared in this way, the chicken is ideally adapted to eating out of doors as it should be eaten—with the fingers.

DOROTHY DIX:

Husband Resents Help Family Give Building Home

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is 52 and I am 41. He doesn't have much education and I just went through grammar school. We have five children; the oldest two are married. The children with us work after school. I work and, of course, so does my husband. The children and I try to fix up the home as well as possible, since my husband's wages just about cover our living expenses. The youngsters want to have a nice home and they willingly contribute part of their earnings to new furniture, rugs, curtains, etc. Thanks to their help, we do have a very pleasant place.

However, my husband is annoyed when we buy anthing. He says if we can't afford it we should do without, and that we're going over his head when we buy something without consulting him. I know that if we asked him first, he'd make such a fuss that we'd never get the particular item we want. Our expenditures are anything but extravagant but I do believe the children are entitled to nice surroundings, especially since they're willing to shoulder the expense.

MYRA T.

✧ ✧ ✧

BLESSED WITH CONSIDERATE CHILDREN

ANSWER: You've raised a fine family, Myra, and you are certainly doing the right thing in giving the children as attractive a home as possible. I can appreciate your husband's attitude; he probably feels self-concious over the fact that he isn't earning more money and can't supply his family with luxuries. However, he is far more blessed with considerate children than he would be with a higher-paying job.

Your youngsters' appreciation of nice things should be encouraged. You are a sensiblie and perceptive person; I think if you would continue your efforts you'll be able to cajole hubby into appreciating them, too. Point out how much prettier a room is with attractive curtains; then coax him to go along on a shopping expedition for a rug, or curtains for another room, or paper for the walls. If you can break his pride down a bit, he'll be only too happy to be a part of the refurbishing plans.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 19, in love with a boy 18. Because of this age difference I foresee many difficulties. My parents know of it, but his folks don't. Do you think they should be told?

MABEL D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Concealing this bit of information will have far more disastrous results than the revelation will bring forth. The age difference is relatively unimportant, but the boy's people would be right in objecting to deliberate deceit. You may have to take an occasional bit of kidding about your ages, but I'm sure you can pass that off. Actually the important point here is that a boy of 18 is too young to be tied down to an engagement.

It's Poppa who pays...

by Kingan's ad-man

(Reprinted by Request)

Once upon a time . . .

there was a guy . . let's call him "Dad." He worked hard all day, came home in the evening and mowed the lawn, hoed the weeds, and did all the unpleasant tasks around the house, then when he proceeded to partake of his only pleasure . . . sitting down with the evening paper, he found it scattered all over the house, having been mauled, battered, torn and maybe even read by every other member of the family.

Now I have a proposition to make (being a Dad myself). It's almost time for Father's Day. This is the one day in the year when everyone is supposed to honor the old man. If on no other day of the year, why not consider the guy just this once? He never asks for much. Goes his own way, pays the bills and very seldom complains. When he does he's called old fashioned!! Let's all do something for him on his day. Let's leave the evening paper alone till Dad has read it. Believe me, he'd just love it.

Of course, if you'd like to go one better and give him a gift of something he'd like, try Kingan's. They've a wonderful selection of things just especially for men . . . Don't worry about the cost either. If you haven't got enough, just charge it to Dad. It's Poppa who always pays anyhow.

6—In Memoriam

RONCO—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary Ronco, who passed away June 16, 1945.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid;
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true
One in a million, that, mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
A wonderful mother, that mother, was you.

—Sadly missed by daughter Lucy and son-in-law George.

Duke Given Chance To Visit Northern Indians, Eskimos

By GRAHAM TROTTER

FORT SIMPSON, N.W.T. (CP)—The immense proportions of Canada's far north with its horizon-to-horizon grandeur of bush, rock, water and tundra will be driven home to the Duke of Edinburgh in a crowded 2½ days of flying over the Northwest Territories.

After opening his northern visit at Whitehorse, Y.T., the royal traveller flies east into the Territories Aug. 9 to the trading post of Fort Simpson, north to the uranium mine at Port Radium and the Arctic Eskimo settlement of Coppermine, and back south to the gold-mining town of Yellowknife and to Churchill, Man.

That involves almost 2,000 miles of flying for the busy duke. He will spend only a short time at Fort Simpson and Coppermine, stopping overnight at Port Radium and Yellowknife.

TO SEE NATIVE LIFE

Visits to Indians at Fort Simpson and Eskimos at Coppermine are intended to give him an insight to their life in true native surroundings, while northern mineral development will be unfolded to him at Port Radium and Yellowknife.

About 150 miles west of Fort Simpson, on his 450-mile hop from Whitehorse, the duke's C-5 aircraft will pass directly over 316-foot Virginia falls in the fabled Nahanni river and "Deadman's valley" country. The wild but ruggedly beautiful Nahanni has for years been a lure to adventurers and gold prospectors.

In Fort Simpson, 630 miles northwest of Edmonton, he will find one of the prettiest spots along the north country's mighty Mackenzie river. The village, named after an early fur trader, is on a 2½-mile-long by one-mile-wide island built up from silt at the confluence of the Mackenzie and Laird rivers.

The C-5 is to land on an airstrip 12 miles south of the village. The party will reach the island community by boat.

The duke will step ashore at the south end of the island, where the Slave Indians live in tents, frame shacks and log cabins.

It is planned to have the Indians go through one of their drum dance rituals for the duke. They also will demonstrate craft work, which includes beads, moose hair, porcupine quills and silks.

At the north end of the island, the duke will inspect an experimental farm operated by the federal agriculture department. One of the northland's show places, it grows wheat, corn and big tomatoes among other items.

Also on the island are a 40-bed Roman Catholic hospital, two federal day and separate schools, two Anglican and Roman Catholic churches, picturesque RCMP barracks, a Hudson's Bay Company trading post and a Catholic mission farm.

Fort Simpson has a permanent population of 200, about 80 per cent white, which is swelled by about 300 transients. The people live by fishing, trapping and oil development.

At Fort Simpson, the duke will transfer to an amphibious Canso aircraft for the 300-mile flight to Port Radium, on the east shore of Great Bear Lake, 870 miles north of Edmonton.

The Canso will land on the lake beside the small, fairly isolated company town of 350 persons. All derive their livelihood from one of Canada's largest uranium-producing mines, operated by Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., a Crown corporation. Practically all residents are white.

Port Radium is on a point of land at the edge of the lake. Most of the surrounding country is rugged, with 500-foot rocky bluffs dropping into the lake.

The community is icebound during the winter and the annual ice breakup will occur little more than a month before the duke's arrival Aug. 9.

Operations at Port Radium are shrouded by security restrictions, and not much is known about the duke's itinerary there. However, he will visit the mine workings and possibly go on a lake fishing trip aboard a company yacht. He will stay overnight.

When the duke's Canso lands in Coronation gulf at Coppermine Aug. 10, after a 140-mile hop from Port Radium, it will mark the first arrival of British royalty on Canada's Arctic coast.

Coppermine, about 90 miles inside the Arctic Circle and 980 miles north of Edmonton, is chiefly a settlement centre for some 200 Eskimos. It has a white population of about a score, living and working in a similar number of red-and-white frame buildings.

When the duke arrives, the coast will be ablaze with colorful, pincushion-like wild flowers, but there will be no snow or Eskimo igloos. The natives will be in caribou-skin tents. They will be wearing fabric parkas, with the women favoring bright colors.

The coming of important visitors or supply boats is a big event for the Ekimos, who drop whatever they are doing to be on hand. Last year the supply boat, which comes in twice annually, docked at Coppermine on the same date the duke is scheduled to arrive.

Beluga, white whales which form the summer staple diet of the Ekimos of the western Arctic, may be hunted before the duke appears and displayed on the beach for him.

Also planned is an open-air luncheon at which the duke's party likely will be treated to the delicious red meat of the Arctic char, a fish that averages five to six pounds. If weather is bad, the luncheon will be moved indoors, probably to the Hudson's Bay Company residence or the federal government's day school.

Coppermine has Roman Catholic and Anglican missions, a federal health department nursing station manned by one nurse, Hudson's Bay Company warehouse and store and small RCMP and transport department meteorological staffs.

After a stay of about two hours, the duke boards the Canso again to fly 370 miles south to Yellowknife.

URANIUM MINE—This is the uranium mine at Port Radium in the Northwest Territories on the east shore of Great Bear lake where the Duke of Edinburgh will pay a visit when he tours Northern Canada this summer. The mine, owned by Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., a crown corporation, is one of Canada's largest sources of uranium. The town's population of 350 derive their livelihood from uranium.

Senator Objects To CNR Charter

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator W. M. Aseltine (PC — Saskatchewan) Tuesday protested in the Senate against giving the CNR a charter to build a railway line which he said may never be built.

He said S. W. Fairweather, vice-president of the CNR, told a Senate committee that the line, linking St. Felicien in the Lake St. John district of northeastern Quebec with Chibougamau, about 140 miles northwest, may never be built.

He said he doesn't object to construction of the 149-mile section from Chibougamau to Beattyville. The CNR had contracts for mineral and lumber haulage. But no such contracts were held for the St. Felicien-Chibougamau section for which Parliament was asked to grant a charter at the same time as the Chibougamau-Beattyville section.

Senator L. M. Gouin (L—Quebec) said he knows the region well and is confident that in about five years time the CNR will be able to build the line. The CNR still would have to come to Parliament for the $17,000,000 which that section is expected to cost.

Criticize Gov't Handling Of Canada's Wheat Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—The three opposition parties in the Commons joined Tuesday in criticizing the government's method of handling Canada's wheat surplus.

Motions of non-confidence were proposed by the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties. Both demanded that Trade Minister Howe announce immediately the initial price for wheat for the new crop year starting Aug. 1.

However, as the debate continued all through the afternoon and evening sittings, Mr. Howe made no reply.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner participated in the debate, expressing confidence in Mr. Howe's policies, but made no direct reference to the initial price.

The PC non-confidence motion by Douglas Harkness, Calgary North, asked members to express regret that the government "failed to deal effectively with the problem of marketing Canada's surplus wheat."

MOVES AMENDMENT

E. G. McCullough (CCF—Moose Mountain) moved an amendment demanding the government support wheat at least at $1.82½ a bushel for No. 1 Northern, the market price before the wheat board cut it by 10½ cents a bushel a week ago.

The PCs indicated they will not support the CCF proposal.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) said that if applied to current stocks of 675,000,000 bushels and even a small crop of 325,000,000 bushels this year, it would mean a cost of $100,000,000. If the crop was larger and market prices fell further, then the cost would be considerably larger.

"No one could tell where it would lead," he added.

SAYS INCOME CUT

Mr. Harkness, a teacher and farmer, said last week's price drop will cut western income by about $250,000,000, reducing money circulating among the various trades.

He said Mr. Howe follows an "ostrich" policy on wheat, shutting his eyes and trying to get other Canadians to shut their eyes to the current situation. Sales were dropping steadily while Canadian surpluses remained high.

Mr. McCullough said Saskatchewan farmers are still prosperous but are worried about the future. If Mr. Howe and Mr. Gardiner allowed the western economy to decline "it is going to affect every last home in Canada."

Mr. Gardiner replied that the CCF must be praying every night that Canada will have a depression. They certainly talked that way.

CERTAIN FARMERS OPPOSE

He indicated farmers could not have high support prices without acreage controls and he was certain farmers in Saskatchewan were against production controls.

Walter Tucker (L — Rosthern) said the CCF is trying to promote hatred in the minds of Saskatchewan people. The CCF floor-price proposal was impossible to implement at this time and the CCF knew it.

Victor Quelch (SC—Acadia) said the government should be prepared to accept sterling in part payment of wheat and to support wheat at not less than the minimum price under the International Wheat Agreement—$1.55 a bushel for No. 1 Northern.

Give St. Laurent Pension Credit

OTTAWA (CP) Health Minister Martin Tuesday night gave Prime Minister St. Laurent credit for the recently-passed legislation to give pensions to totally disabled persons.

He said an estimated 25,000 to 35,000 persons will benefit, if all provinces join the program for $40 monthly pensions to needy persons who are totally and permanently disabled. Federal and provincial government would share the cost, which could reach $16,000,000 a year.

Mr. St. Laurent is "in a very special sense the personal sponsor, if not the author, of Canada's new Disable Persons Act," Mr. Martin said in a speech prepared for broadcast over the CBC's free-time political series."

Haultain Discusses New Church Hall

Plans for a new church hall, to serve the entire community of South Burleigh, were discussed at a vestry meeting of Holy Trinity Anglican church in Haultain Monday.

Richard Tranter of Woodview, was named president of a committee to plan the new hall, at the south-east end of the church. Also on the committee are secretary George Booth of Woodview, building supervisor Earle Shewen of Mount Julian and Douglas Dunford of Burleigh Falls, ways-and-means chairman.

Marwood Patterson, student rector, was in charge of the meeting. Since the hall will be partly a community project, a delegation from the United Church was at the meeting.

80% Of Those Charged Convicted In 43 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—About 80 per cent of Canadians charged under the unlawful assembly sections of the Criminal Code in the last 43 years have been convicted.

A return tabled Tuesday in the Commons by the justice department said that 8,827 persons were charged under the sections between 1919 and 1952. Of that number 7,271 were convicted and 556 acquitted.

CHURCHILL, EDEN WILL VISIT OTTAWA

Beat Gang Of Red In W. Berlin

Commemorate Revolt In East Zone At Special Ceremony

BERLIN (Reuters) — An angry West Berlin crowd today beat up a gang of Communists trying to upset a mass rally outside West Berlin city hall in memory of last year's revolt against the East German regime.

Police riot squads fought to rescue the Communists from the flailing fists of angered West Berliners.

It took nearly 40 minutes for police to rescue the demonstrators, badly bruised and blood-spattered.

Several police were mauled and injured struggling to help the incensed crowd away from the Communists.

Even after the Communists were pulled aboard police trucks, the crowds surrounded the trucks and beat their fists against the sides. They screamed and shouted insults at the Communists as they were hauled off to prison.

MAIN SPEAKERS

The West German vice-chancellor, Franz Bluecher, and Erich Ollenhauer, leader of the Social Democratic opposition, were the main speakers at the rally. Both appealed to the Communists over loudspeakers blaring into the Eastern zone to free East Germany from "a hated regime."

All public buildings in the three Western sectors were beflagged. Shops, offices and factories were closed. Radio stations devoted all their programs to the commemoration.

It was a normal work day just a step across the East-West boundary. There were no flags. But reinforced "people's policemen" guarded the boundary, supported in some places by Soviet-style police in olive drab instead of blue uniforms, and armed with machine-guns.

PROMISES ACTION — Pierre Mendes-France, told the French National assembly today that if he is made premier he will achieve peace in Indo-China by July 20 or resign.

Reds Offering New Proposal For Cease-Fire

GENEVA(AP) — British-American plans for suspending the Indo-China peace talks were shelved today while the Western powers pored over a new Communist cease-fire proposal.

As a result of the Communist move and because of French opposition to suspension of the talks, it now appears unlikely that the parley will be recessed this week as had been expected earlier.

Red China's premier - foreign minister Chou En-lai submitted the new armistice proposal to the nine-party conference just as Foreign Minister Bidault returned from Paris to try to prevent the proposed recess.

Bidault entertained Foreign Secretary Eden and state undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith at dinner Wednesday night. The principal subject of discussion with the British and U.S. ministers obviously was the future of the conference.

MEETS WITH CHOU

Bidault met with China's Chou and Foreign Minister Molotov today before he flew to Paris for premier-designate Pierre Mendes-France's policy speech to the National Assembly this afternoon.

Details of the Chinese cease-fire proposal were not divulged by delegates who attended Wednesday session. They were understood to cover three main points: (1) a simultaneous cease - fire, (2) negotiations of the opposing military commands both here and in Indo-China, and (3) a proposed ban on the import of troops or arms into Indo-China.

Would See Cabinet But Don't Want Any Public Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today that Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden have every hope of visiting Ottawa at the end of this month.

Sir Winston and Mr. Eden will meet with President Eisenhower in Washington June 25 for talks on harmonizing the two nations' conflicting foreign policies.

Mr. St. Laurent told the Commons he has received a message from Sir Winston that he has every hope of visiting Ottawa for a day or a day and a half during the period of June 29, 30 and July 1. Sir Winston said that if he visited Ottawa he would be accompanied by Mr. Eden.

Mr. St. Laurent said Sir Winston had requested that there should be no public meeting. He said, however, that he would be honored to meet the cabinet.

Mr. St. Laurent said he sent a message to Sir Winston inviting him to Ottawa as soon as he heard of the Washington trip. Sir Winston replied that he was not able to make plans at that time for a trip to Ottawa following the Washington meeting.

Mr. St. Laurent sent another message stating that if Sir Winston and Mr. Eden were able to visit Ottawa they would be warmly welcomed. The message said the government would like to hear from them their opinion of the present international situation.

Level Crossing Report Praised By Chevrier

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday he hopes many valuable recommendations made to the government concerning the problem of Canada's 33,000 level crossings will be implemented.

He said in the Commons members of Parliament who have long complained about the problem will get a great deal of satisfaction from a report of a study conducted by the board of transport commissioners.

However, he declined to say what are the recommendations until the report is tabled, possibly this session.

The report was being translated and printed, and if the work was not completed before prorogation, expected next week, he would send copies to members during the summer recess.

DISCUSSED BRIEFLY

Level crossings were discussed briefly during study of transport estimates by Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford), Gordon K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough) and other members.

Mr. Fraser apparently came close to guessing on the report's recommendations.

He suggested that a line of white paint or some other mixture should be applied to the lower sides of boxcars. Many level-crossing accidents occurred on stormy nights when motorists crashed into the side of boxcars momentarily halted at crossings. The lines would help signal the presence of the cars on the tracks.

Mr. Chevrier replied he does not think the Commons should anticipate the recommendations.

Will Give Wheat Price Latter Party Of July

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today that the initial price to be paid for this year's western wheat crop will not be announced until the latter part of July.

He told the Commons there is no purpose in making an earlier announcement of the initial price for the 1954-55 crop year which starts Aug. 1. Current initial price is $1.40 a bushel.

He also said that all delivery points have completed the basic delivery quota of five bushels an acre, and said he expects a seven-bushel quota will be uniform by July 31.

Red China Sends Mission To Great Britain

LONDON (CP) — Communist China will shortly send her first diplomatic mission to London Prime Minister Churchill announced today.

Churchill told the House of Commons the mission, first since the Chinese Communists came to power in 1949, will be headed by a charge d'affaires.

The announcement also was made by Peiping radio.

The radio quoted a Peiping dispatch of the New China news agency, said the charge d'affaires in London would have the same duties as the British charge d'affaires in Peiping.

The envoy in charge of Britain's mission in Peiping is Sir Humphrey Trevelyan. He has been trying to arrange for the establishment of full diplomatic relations between Britain and Communist China since he took the post last year.

RECOGNIZED IN 1950

Britain recognized the regime of Mao Tze-tung at the beginning of 1950. She sent out a diplomatic mission at that time but the Chinese Communists have not accorded it full recognition.

Britain initiated discussions which led to today's announcement. When the Geneva conference opened, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden personally took up the matter of diplomatic relations with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Prime Minister Defends Monty

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery heard Prime Minister Churchill defend him today against charges that he "purloined" the original surrender document of the German armies in northwest Germany, Holland and Denmark.

Churchill said that if Montgomery hadn't taken and kept the document as British commander back in 1945, the Americans would have got it.

In the Commons today, Scottish Labor member George Thomson asked Churchill if he would arrange for the document to be "recovered" and placed in the national archives.

"No sir," replied Churchill.

Plan Housing Project For North York

TORONTO (CP) — A $15,000,000 federal-provincial low-rental apartment project is planned for suburban North York township.

It is reported that the development, which will include a number of 10-storey apartment blocks, will be similar to the Regent Park low-rental housing project in central Toronto.

The apartments are to be made available to families earning between $2,784 and $5,184 a year, reports say. Rentals will range from $58 to $72 monthly.

Expert Checks Sewage Plant

Gore and Storrie, the Toronto firm of consulting engineers retained by the city during construction of the sewage disposal plant, will submit a report to city council on the operation of the plant.

Meanwhile, a member of the firm, J. G. Powell, who inspected the plant this morning, said his inspection indicated that the plant was being run properly. He was to interview residents in the south end of the city this afternoon to get first-hand accounts of the odors of which the Southend Ratepayers Association have formally complained to city council.

By coincidence, Mr. Powell's visit to the city was strategically timed. One of the two huge settling tanks was not working because of a mechanical breakdown, the first in two years.

Roughly 65 per cent of the sludge is removed from the liquid sewage in the settling tanks by means of wooden floats drawn along on heavy chains. The sludge is pumped to another tank where it is heated to give off gas used in heating the plant. The sludge is then removed from the plant by tank truck.

Meanwhile, the remaining effluent is pumped to aeration tanks where it is re-oxidized to prevent plant life on the river bank dying from lack of oxygen.

Plan Multi-Million Dollar Highway Building Program

BISMARCK, N.D. (CP)—The Ontario government is expected to announce within a week a multi-million-dollar highway construction program, it was learned here Wednesday night.

Members of the Ontario legislature's highways investigation committee, who arrived here Wednesday on the first leg of a 4,000-mile fact-finding tour of North Dakota and northwestern Ontario, said they had been informed of the government's plans.

It was indicated that among the contracts to be let was the Burlington beach bridge across the entrance to Hamilton harbor, replacing the lift bridge damaged two years ago by a passing ship.

Kelso Roberts (PC—Toronto St. Patrick), chairman of the highways committee, said in an interview he had been informed of the program.

Clare Mapledoram (PC — Fort William) said he understood the construction would be general throughout the province.

No estimate of the cost of the program could be learned although it was agreed that it would be in the "millions."

The highways committee, arrived in Bismarck Wednesday and met with highway commissioner S. W. Thompson and members of his staff for a two-hour session.

The members heard from the North Dakota experts their endorsation of pre-qualification of highway contractors, a state practice for 20 years.

Pre - qualification was recommended for Ontario in the report of J. D. Woods and Gordon Ltd., Toronto management consultants, who last month submitted a report on the highways department.

Pledges Peace By July 20

PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France told the French National Assembly today that if he is voted in as France's new premier, he will offer his resignation if he has not achieved peace in Indo-China by July 20.

Mendes-France offered this program for orienting France along a new national policy:

1. Before July 20, to try with all effort to obtain a settlement of the conflict in Indo-China.

2. By this time to submit a "coherent and detailed program for economic recovery." He said he would ask special powers to make it possible to put the program into effect.

3. Before the parliamentary vacation, to submit propositions which will give the assembly a chance to take a decision, without further delay, on France's policy concerning the European army.

Mendes-France said he would continue to take all military measures necessary in Indo-China.

Ask Arms Seized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed officials said today the United States is asking Western European shipping nations to help stop any further arms shipments to Red-tinged Guatemala and to allow American warships to stop their vessels on the high seas and seize any Guatemalan arms cargo.

Seizures on the high seas would be used only as a last resort.

French, Rebels Clash In Small Battles

HANOI (AP)—The French high command today reported at least 39 Vietminh rebels killed and 30 captured in a flare-up of small clashes across the Red river delta.

The high command said the actions Wednesday occurred mostly to the northeast and south of this major city of north Indo-China.

One action, however, was reported from Viet Nam's far northeastern coast, only a few miles from the Red China border. In a hit-and-run attack on rebel bases northeast of Tien Yen, French Union commandos killed 16 Vietminh and took 10 prisoners.

French planes continued bombing and strafing of guerrilla bases, some only 10 to 15 miles northeast of here. Fighters and B-26 bombers plastered upwards of 50 tons of high explosives and napalm fire bombs on Vietminh concentrations and bases in the Hai Duong area, half-way point on the vital highway and rail route from the port of Haiphong to Hanoi.

Set Aside Tweed Vote

BELLEVILLE (CP)—The result of a beverage room vote taken Nov. 18 at Tweed was set aside in a 19-page judgment given today by Judge J. C. Anderson of Hastings county.

The vote on men's beverage rooms, men's and women's beverage rooms and sale of liquor under a dining room licence failed to receive the required 60 per cent majority.

Judge Anderson ruled that the vote "so far departed from the requirements and principles of the Election Act that it must be set aside."

RULES NOT FOLLOWED

He said he found no evidence of dishonesty or bribery or other similar misconduct on the part of any official or the scrutineers. He noted this had not been alleged.

Application to have the vote set aside was made by "wet interests" who charged irregularities, including failure of certain election workers to be promptly sworn. They also said voting booths did not comply with election secrecy requirements.

Cancel Wedding At Baseball Game

TORONTO (CP)—A Maple Leaf Stadium official said today a marriage ceremony planned to precede a baseball game late this month will not be held. He gave no reason for the stadium's decision.

Protestant clergymen earlier this week objected to the proposal. They said it was contrary to the Christian ideal of marriage.

The ball park wedding was to have been performed by a justice of the peace with players of two International League baseball teams as ushers.

It was proposed that the couple chosen was to be given a diamond ring, wedding band, flowers and use of a car for a two-week honeymoon.

Explorers Enjoy Moonlight But Fail To Find Werewolf

STE. ADELE-EN-HAUT, Que. (CP)—A group of adventurers set out Wednesday night to test a legend that a werewolf roams a section of the Laurentian mountains whenever the moon is full.

The party returned intact at dawn, convinced that the loup garou is nothing more than a legend in colorful French-Canadian folklore.

The party saw only mountain scenery by moonlight. They heard nothing more than the croaking of frogs and the whine of vicious mosquitoes.

NO FEAR, HERE

A language professor who was to have led the expedition bowed out at the last minute because of illness in his family, but he laughingly denied any awe of the werewolf.

Prof. Jose de Nobili, 40-year-old language teacher, said he personally wasn't afraid, but his mother asked him to forgo the expedition.

The legend of the werewolf goes back 150 years and carries on to about a decade ago. There is the account about a baby who told his mother he saw "un grand ours" A big bear—at the window. Later that night the baby disappeared from his crib and was never seen again.

HORRIBLE "PROOFS"

A hunter named Desjardins set out one moonlight night. Only his gun and pieces of leather were found. Two timber workers who scoffed at the legend pitched camp on the mountain. One was found dead, horribly mutilated. The other was insane and died two days later.

New versions of the legend have the habit of cropping up at the outset of the tourist season in this resort area, about 50 miles north of Montreal.

Gives Emigrants Advice

Girl 12, Small Tycoon After Moving To Canada

LONDON (CP) — Six hundred would-be British emigrants crowded into a downtown hall Wednesday night to listen respectfully while a 12-year-old girl told them how she has become a successful business woman in Canada.

The speaker was tiny little Valerie Sampson, who already has become something of a tycoon since she left Britain to live in Wexford, Ont. She arrived in Britain this month, paying the $135 cost of her trip with money saved by baby-sitting and delivering newspapers.

Valerie—12 years old Monday—showed remarkable self-possession as she stood on a platform and took part in a question-and-answer routine arranged by a travel agency. Asked whether she preferred Canada or Britain, she came back like a flash:

"Canada—of course."

Her precocity has won her headlines in the British press—they call her the "Gee Whizz kid"—but Valerie takes it calmly.

"I'm used to public speaking," she said in an interview. "There are lots of speech training courses back home in Wexford."

Day To Manage Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today that Clarence (Hap) Day will succeed Conn Smythe as general manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team midway through the next National Hockey League season — on Feb. 1, Smythe's 60th birthday.

Showers Slowing Forest Fire Advance

SUDBURY (CP) — Showers in parts of northern Ontario today slowed the advance of bush fires and gave rangers a chance to run fire lines around some of the outbreaks.

For the first time in a week, all the fires in the Sdbury division were reported under control.

Foresters reported a 20,000-acre blaze in slash and mixed timber at Mobert in the White River district held from all sides. However, the hazard remained high.

Also held was the other major fire in the White River district. This outbreak, in Odlum township, was checked after it covered 4,500 acres. Rangers said it should soon be extinguished unless high winds spring up.

Oil Companies Cut Gas Price

TORONTO (CP)—Two big oil companies announced wholesale gasoline price reductions Wednesday but said whether the motorist will get the benefit is up to retail dealers.

British American Oil Company Ltd., announced a ½-cent cut in the wholesale price of its regular grade. Just a few hours later Sun Oil Company announced a similar reduction on its single "premium grade."

(At London the retail price of districe manager of Sun Oil here, a cent to 37 cents. S. G. Tatham, district manage of Sun Oil here, said the company will remain no more than two cents above prices of unbranded gasoline.

("We'll maintain a competitive position even if it means selling at a nickel a gallon," he said.

(At Windsor, Dick Lampkin, a service station operator and president of the Ontario gasoline industry, said the cut will be retained by service station operators to meet increased costs.)

Political System Stalled

See France's Greatness Ebbing To Close

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Britain is following the latest French crisis with the concern of a country which knows that the bell which tolls in Paris tolls in London too.

For generations France has aroused among her friendly neighbors a blend of sympathy, admiration and despair. Those who loved her most saw her faults most clearly. Now there is genuine anxiety that the "moment of truth" has arrived.

Stretched on a political rack at least partly of her own making, the state which pioneered European democracy is again without a government while problems at home and abroad provide a background almost as sombre as that of 1939. British observers understand the reasons, but their patience wears a little thin.

"DESPERATE SPECTACLE"

A typical comment appears in The News Chronicle, a Liberal newspaper, which turns over an entire page to the problem:

"We see before us the desperate spectacle of the richest and loveliest land of Europe — a nation almost overwhelmingly endowed with gifts of the mind and the soil — stumbling in the grip of a stalled political system that withers and corrupts her glory, dragging her incomparable talents into inertia and decay."

The writer, James Cameron, of Anglo-French descent, adds that the choice stares starkly through the confusion — France must build on her "unshatterable qualities a regime worthy of her glory, or shrink and diminish, like Spain and Italy, into something that was once and is no more; there is not much time."

BRITONS WARNED

France is much in the news. A new book, "Prelude to Dunkirk" by Sir Edward Spears traces in detail the tragic events of the French fall in 1940. In a review of the book, Lord Hailsham, a British politician, warns his countrymen not to be too sure that a similar collapse could not happen in Britain.

In another book, "Death of the Fourth Republic," British author Ronald Matthews dissects the reasons for France's post-war political paralysis. In a comment on this the independent weekly The Economist says:

"Clarity is too apt to lead to anarchy . . . refined hedonism to narrow horizons and a distaste for change. The cohesive stuff of constructive politics, the staminagiver, is something less conscious than logic. . . . Whatever it is, the French lack it."

And in a general comment on France's delicate position at the Geneva conference and her dilemma in Indo-China, The Observer, an independent weekly newspaper, sounds the death-knell deur," or big-power policy—a policy the newspaper says is based "rather on historical remembrances and diplomatic astuteness than on the military, material and political facts of the international scene."

All this has a familiar and authentic ring to persons acquainted with France and the French, individually brilliant, collectively self-destroying. Yet the paradox persists, and whatever emerges from the present crisis, the fiery spectrum of French politics will probably remain as lurid as ever, dimming the image of the serious, hard-working, hospitable ordinary people who are a majority in France.

Churchill May Appeal To Congress

Expect Prime Minister To Stress Closer Teamwork

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill may appeal to the American public for closer United States-British teamwork, possibly in an address before Congress during his visit in Washington for talks with President Eisenhower.

U.S. officials have raised the possibility of a congressional address and also the alternative that Churchill, a noted orator and long-time advocate of British-American solidarity, might choose to make a major speech before an unofficial body such as a press group.

Churchill has spoken before Congress several times in the course of eight visits he has made to the U.S. since the beginning of the Second World War. However, they said no invitation for a congressional appearance has yet been issued for the visit which begins a week from Friday.

The other possibility was suggested by President Eisenhower at his press conference Wednesday. He recalled that on visits to Washington, Churchill was always a luncheon guest at the National Press Club. Distinguished visitors often speak there.

TO ARRIVE FRIDAY

Plans for the visit, announced Tuesday, are still in process of development. Churchill, Foreign Secretary Eden and staff aides are due to fly from London Thursday and arrive in Washington Friday.

The talks between the chiefs of state will begin Friday, informants said, and will go on at least through June 26 and 27. Churchill and Eden are expected to remain as White House guests through Sunday. If there is then reason for their remaining in Washington one or two days more, they may move to the British embassy.

Diplomatic informants said Churchill's interest in coming here primarily is to have a series of private conversations with Eisenhower. If there is any formal conferring on world problems to be done, one informant suggested that it probably will be handled by Eden and State Secretary Dulles and their advisers.

$200 Penalty Asked On Sewage

GUELPH (CP)—A sanitation engineer says municipalities should charge a maximum penalty of $200 for the misuse of sewage collection and disposal.

E. G. Hackborn of Kitchener told 150 industrial and municipal engineers at the Industrial Waste Conference Wednesday that wastes, discharged freely by industries into sewers, have deteriorated systems so that municipalities are faced with increased costs.

Proper enforcement of municipal ordinances is necessary to combat indifference to the limitations and capabilities of sewage collection and treatment plants, he said.

However, he doubted whether municipalities had adequate regulations on such points as collection methods, segregation of unwanted waters and wastes causing structural damage. He also said municipal authorities do not enforce existing standards.

The session, sponsored by the pollution control board of Ontario, also considered waste disposal problems in oil refining, mining and smelting.

Russians Lead Chess Match

NEW YORK (AP)—A team of Russian chess masters, the odds in their favor, romped to a lead early today in the first round of a match with the best American players.

The Russians, playing on U. S. soil for the first time, won four of their games and drew two in encounters that lasted well past midnight.

Two matches, being played by Americans Donald and Robert Byrne, were not finished when the time limit ran out. They were to be completed this afternoon.

The leading U. S. player, Samuel Reshevsky, played to a draw with the No. 1 Russian, Vassily Smyslov, and another young American, Arthur Bisguier,, duplicated that feat against Tigran Petrosyan.

Temporary Injunction Against Picket Line

TORONTO (CP)—A temporary injunction, effective until noon next Monday, was granted Wednesday by Mr. Justice G. A. Gale of the Ontario Supreme Court against interference by pickets of goods being shipped in and out of the Canadian National Railways Express office at Oshawa.

The 115 striking members of the Oshawa Street Railway Employees' Union (AFL-TLC) placed pickets around the freight yard three days ago. The men are employed by the Oshawa Street Railway Company, a subsidiary of the CNR.

The union permitted express goods to be trucked out earlier Wednesday but kept freight cars full of perishable goods and foodstuffs in the yard.

Ask Honduras Stop Exiles Massing Army

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Guatemala has called on Honduras to stop anti-Red Guatemalan exiles who are reported massing on the border for an assault against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-influenced regime.

The appeal was made Wednesday night by Guatemalan ambassador Amadeo Chinchilla to the Honduran foreign minister, J. Edgardo Valenzuela, as reports here and in other Central American states indicated a showdown might be imminent between the Arbenz government and its anti-Communist opposition at home and abroad.

"We have reports that well-equipped soldiers carrying guns are being flown and driven by car to points near our border," Chinchilla told reporters. "They are being flown in chartered planes."

The Guatemalan envoy said Valenzuela gave him assurances that Honduras "will prevent any incidents at the border and has given orders for seizure of any arms there."

RUSHING PREPARATIONS

Reports here and abroad indicate the anti-Arbenz forces are pushing their preparations for a try at unseating the Guatemalan regime. Among these are:

1. Dispatches from Belize, British Honduras, quote Guatemalan exile sources there as saying anti-Communist parachute troops already have been dropped into Guatemala. The sources gave no details.

2. Reliable sources here say Guatemalan exiles are being airlifted to points near the border. Three planeloads of men dressed in khaki were reported flown out of Tegucigalpa Wednesday and an unknown number earlier.

3. A close aide to Carlos Castillo Armas, head of the Guatemalan exile movement, here, claims 5,000 anti-Arbenz men stand ready along the frontiers of El Salvador and Honduras and "at least 50,000 supporters inside Guatemala will rise up to fight with us when the moment comes."

Lung Cancer Victim Drops Damage Suit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A lung cancer victim Wednesday withdrew his $250,000 damage suit against four tobacco companies and a food store chain.

The withdrawal petition by Ira C. Lowe of nearby Festus, Mo., gave no reason for the action and Lowe's lawyer, Donald Siegel, said he could not discuss the move which was taken without prejudice, meaning the suit could be brought again.

Lowe, 39, whose right lung was removed in 1952 after cancer was discovered, filed the suit last March, blaming the cancer on cigaret-smoking.

The defendants were the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, P. Lorillard Company, American Tobacco Company, Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corporation, and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Clean-up Plan Cost Hamburg $220 Millions

HAMBURG (Reuters) — This city, hardest hit of all German cities by Allied bombers during the Second World War, is expected to be the first to complete its clean-up of wartime rubble.

Hamburg's tidying - up plan, which has cost an estimated $220,000,000, should be finished by the end of this year.

North Rhine-Westphalia, around the Ruhr, was the worst bombed of West Germany's nine states. This state includes cities such as Cologne, Duesseldorf, Duisburg, Dortmund and Essen. In Essen nearly five years' work is still needed to clear the rubble.

In Frankfurt, 350 workers have converted enough rubble into tiles, slabs, cement and other materials to build 35,000 homes.

The group's experience is highly valued. Last year several Greek technicians came to West Germany to seek advice on reconstruction after an earthquake disaster.

A major worry has been the sorting out of the bombs and other ammunition left among the ruins. In Hamburg, armaments retrieved include 2,672 big bombs, 6,952 incendiary bombs, 115,148 grenades and more than 660,000 pounds of small arms ammunition.

Gleason Gives Wife $50,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Jackie Gleason is reported ready to give his wife a separation and 15 per cent of his salary as alimony—or about $50,000 a year.

Mrs. Genevieve Gleason also would get custody of their two daughters, Geraldine, 15, and Linda, 12. But the roly-poly television star retains visiting rights.

She filed suit for separation April 9, two months after she walked in on a hospital room tete-a-tete between Jackie and Marilyn Taylor, a shapely dancer on his Saturday night TV show. Gleason was recovering from a broken leg at the time.

Gleason was quoted as saying he loved Marilyn but, as a Roman Catholic, could not divorce his wife. The separation reported agreed on is in no sense a divorce and neither Jackie nor his wife can remarry.

Actor Turns Down Alimony From Wife

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Actor Jess Barker Wednesday turned down an offer of $10,000 a year alimony for 10 years from his movie star wife, Susan Hayward.

Barker, speaking through his attorney S. S. Hahn, said:

"I don't think a man should take alimony from a woman under any circumstances."

Hahn said the $100,000 figure would be acceptable in a lump sum.

Barker is contesting Miss Hayward's divorce suit.

Prairie Farmers Continue Battle Widespread Flooding

REGINA (AP) — Prairie farmers and townsfolk could expect little relief from widespread flooding today as cold rains continued to pelt sodden wheat lands.

More rain was predicted in most districts, with thundershowers in southern and eastern Saskatchewan where heavy downpours and overflowing rivers have caused inestimable damage to seeded wheat crops.

Rural districts have reported heaviest flooding, with some crops ruined, side roads turned into quagmires, bridges washed out, livestock moved to high ground and several families forced from homes in eastern Saskatchewan.

The rain began about three weeks ago in northwestern Alberta, spreading in torrential spurts to southwestern Manitoba. With the exception of Yorkton, Sask., almost isolated Monday night when rains cut through even black-topped highways, the cities have reported little serious flooding.

TEMPERATURES DROP

Temperatures in Alberta and Saskatchewan dropped Wednesday from the 70s to 45 to 50. Whitecourt, 110 miles northwest of Edmonton, reported four hours of wet snow.

Flooding now is most severe in the Kamsack district, 150 miles northeast of Regina and near the Saskatchewan - Manitoba border, where the Assiniboine river flood crest forced evacuation of several families after passing through Canora where similar damage was done.

Farmers living along the Assiniboine and Whitesand river valleys are reported flooded out—as they were last year—as waters threaten to reach the level of the disastrous 1948 flood.

Roads are almost impassable in the district. A cement bridge on the western edge of Kamsack was covered by five inches of water Wednesday. Work crews erected road blocks to keep traffic off the highway leading south which was under 10 inches of water. The main municipal road north was impassable.

Three Divisions Of St. John Corps Given Praise

Praise for the three divisions of the Peterborough Corps of the St. John Ambulance Brigade was extended Wednesday night by Col. I. M. R. Sinclair, of Toronto, provincial commissioner.

Col. Sinclair was visitnig Peterborough for the annual inspection of the brigade, held in the Armouries. He said there was an improvement over last year in deportment, training and general efficiency of the corps.

Some 60 members of the three divisions—Peterborough, Kawartha and Nursing—took part in the demonstrations.

The local corps showed how to treat a person who had been badly shocked by high-voltage electricity; how to apply artificial respiration and treat a near-drowning victim; how to extinguish a fire in a person's clothing and treat his burns; and the drill for looking after a person brought in by ambulance suffering a cut hand and a fractured arm.

All cases were taken to the nursing centre where they were treated by the nursing division.

During these demonstrations, Dr. L. J. Calvert, corps supervisor, gave a running commentary by a public address system on the nature of the injuries and the methods of treatment.

The first division of the corps is now approaching the quarter century mark. It was started here on June 18, 1929.

Marking the occasion, the corps will hold a church parade Sunday night. Members will attend either St. Luke's Anglican church or Immaculate Conception church.

Before entering the river, the effluent passes through a second series of settling tanks where the remaining sludge (about 35 per cent) is removed by the action of rotary floats.

Today, one of the chains operating the floats in one of the primary settling tanks had broken and the tank had to be drained before the chain could be repaired, taxing the capacity of the remaining settling tank. As a result, processed effluent was flowing into the river from the emergency outlet as well as from the regular outlet.

DISTINCT ODOR

An Examiner reporter who visited the plant during Mr. Powell's inspection this morning could smell a distinct odor coming from the settling tanks, a less pungent odor from the aeration tanks and some from the two outlets. But the strongest odor came from the tank where the sludge is deposited and heated.

The odor appeared to come from a manhole over the underground conduit through which excess effluent is led back through the garbage disposal plant system.

A member of the delegation from the South End Ratepayers Association had suggested that the odor might escape when the sludge was being drawn into the tank truck. But the truck was not being filled when the reporter was there.

"There's no sewage plant I know of that doesn't give off some odor," Mr. Powell said, "particularly on humid nights.

"Indications are that the plant is being run properly. I don't want to say more than that until we've looked into it and found some of the answers. We'll be submitting a full report to city council."

Acting Mayor John Dewart and city engineer Chalmers accompanied Mr. Powell on his tour of inspection. With Mr. Powell also was Dennis Lloyd, who was resident engineer in the city for Gore and Storrie while the sewage disposal plant was being built.

Mr. Chalmers was to accompany Mr. Powell on his tour of the south end this afternoon to interview householders.

Seize Opium Cache

NEW YORK (AP)—Police early today announced the seizure of 40 pounds of pure opium, worth about $500,000 in the illicit market, on a ship moored in Brooklyn. Six men, including five Pakistani seamen, were taken into custody. Police said the Pakistanis offered to sell the opium to detectives aboard the S. S. Martyland, an 8,000-ton freighter listed as British-owned.

TO LAY CHARGES

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said today that a careless driving charge, and possibly a dangerous driving charge, is to be laid against 19-year-old Cecil Barr of Hawkstone. Barr was driver of the dump truck which collided with a seven-year-old cyclist, Marlene Reader, RR 3, Peterborough, on Sherbrooke St., Tuesday afternoon. The child died from injuries. The crown attorney also said that an inquest into the death of William J. Jones, 431 Brioux St., will be held June 30. Jones was electrocuted at the CGE Monday.

Prime Ministers Invited To London Meet

LONDON (AP)—Britain plans to call Commonwealth prime ministers to a London parley this year on the critical Asian situation, diplomatic officials said Wednesday.

Prime Minister Churchill was reported wanting Commonwealth backing for a policy that would aim to:

1. Keep the door open for a settlement with the Communists in Indo-China.

2. Define clearly the sphere of the free world's influence and interest in Southeast Asia and the Pacific.

3. Unite with like-minded powers including the United States and France, in a regional defence organization binding its members to resist Commuist aggression in that sphere.

Your Move, George . . .

It's amazing what machines can do:

There's one machine, an electronic brain called George, who can even play checkers. We say "who" because George is almost human : : : but not quites George can't think. All he can do is process information and use his "memory" to solve intricate problems in the bat of an eye.

One day George's scientist companion decided he needed someone to play checkers with, so he taught George to play. But the scientist knew that if he taught George to "think" an infinite number of moves ahead George would always win. So to bolster his ego and maintain "man's superiority over the machine" the scientist taught him to calculate : : : not think, but calculate : : : only five moves ahead. And since theoretically a man can think an infinite number of moves ahead he should always win, whether at checkers or at other things : : : the trouble is he doesn't.

In this business of investing there is no "George" into which you can put a set of facts and get back infallible answers. It doesn't work that way.

Here at Ames we haven't any "Georges" : : : just people. People who don't profess to be able to think an infinite number of moves ahead, but people with the experience and the training to note signs of strength here or weakness there. People who can draw up "personalized" investment programmes. People who can listen sympathetically and help you plan intelligently : : : the kind of people we believe you'll like to do business with.

32nd Convention Held By CWL Diocesan Council

All-day convention of the Peterborough Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League of Canada took place in St. Paul's Parish, Lakefield, on Wednesday, commencing with mass celebrated at 10 a.m. by Very Rev. V. J. Corkery, VC.

Convention sermon was preached by the Rev. F. Coughlin CSSR, who had been associated with the late Archbishop McNeil who worked with the League in its early days. He urged upholding of the ideals, "For God and Canada".

The priest said a penitential atmosphere in the home is desirable but should not mean sackcloth and ashes. "Rebellious human nature should always be guided by conscience. Seek always to help others."

Speaker at the dinner, served at the South Beach Hotel on Clear Lake, was Monsignor P. P. Butler of Peterborough. In view of a new Bishop coming to the diocese this month Monsignor Butler chose to tell about the first bishop of Peterborough, Bishop Francis Jamot from Navarre, France, who arrived here in 1858.

There has been a bishop in the city continuously since that time. Bishop Jamot's ideals and his work here were outlined by the speaker.

DELEGATES WELCOMED

An address of welcome was given by the hostess priest, Rev. Dr. J. V. Masterson, and Mrs. D. J. Kennedy, president of the hostess subdivision, extended greetings to the dinner guests.

Greetings from the Ontario Provincial Council were extended by vice-president Mrs. H. T. Donihee of Cornwall, who attended the convention throughout and installed the new executive.

Special welcome was given Miss Mollie Baker of Lindsay, honorary life member and eldest member present, who has attended almost all of the 32 annual conventions.

There were 210 women delegates present for the dinner and 15 members of the clergy. Floral decorations on the tables were carried out in yellow and blue, the colors of the League.

INADEQUATE REPORTS

Business sessions were held in the Memorial Hall, Lakefield, with president Mrs. Joseph Smith of Campbellford presiding.

Mrs. Smith was not entirely complimentary in her remarks to the parish representatives. She deplored the inadequacy of some convener's reports and lateness of others. Also laxity in the subdivisions. Out of 27 subdivisions, only 15 were reported.

The success of the regional meetings was mentioned by Mrs. Smith, and she urged that they be continued. She advised that there are now 100,000 CWL members in Canada, in 1,100 subdivisions.

Diocesan treasurer Miss Agnes Grant said $24,545.90 was spent in the parishes. The outstanding report was by Mrs. Angus Twomey on social action.

Other diocesan conveners reports were: education, Miss A. Sullivan; Girl Guides. Mrs. L. Martyn; immigration, Mrs. J. Powers; legislation, Miss M. R. Baker; organization, Mrs. F. J. Lynch, press, Miss M. Grady; resolutions, Mrs. D. J. Kennedy; spiritual, Mrs. A. Richardson.

GREATER DEVOTIONS

All were afterward discussed by Mrs. Donihee. She spoke also on Our Lady of Good Council, patron of the CWL, and urged greater devotions.

Her main topic was Our Lady's Missionaries, the only English-speaking missionary Sisters in Canada, who have their novitiate in Alexandria, Ontario. Mrs. Donihee asked for a special effort to help during Marian Year.

Elected president for the coming year was Miss Anne Sullivan of Ennismore subdivision. First vice president is Mrs. Gus Torpey of Immaculate Conception; second vice president. Mrs. Jos. Smith of Campbellford; third vice president, Mrs. Thos. Fox of Lindsay; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. J. Kennedy of Lakefield; recording secretary, Mrs. T. V. O'Toole, Assumption subdivision, Otonabee; treasurer, Miss Agnes Grant, St. Peter's subdivision.

Mrs. William Fell

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. William Fell, the former Cora Eliza Jewison, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Greer, of Bailieboro.

Born 81 years ago near Bailieboro, she was a daughter of the late David Jewison and Catherine Fry. She lived all her life in the nearby district except for a few years in Peterborough. She was a member of Bailieboro United church.

Her husband, a son, Lt.-Col. Victor R. Fell, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Chambers (Verna), predeceased her.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Roy Greer (Jacobena), a brother, Norman Jewison, and four grandsons, M. Ralph Greer, Bailieboro, John Greer, St. Catharines, Robert Greer, Bailieboro, John B. Fell, Burks Falls; and four great-grandsons, Gary Greer, Brian Greer and Jerry Greer, of Bailieboro, and David Fell, of Burks Falls.

Service Opens New Store To Sell Religious Books

Gospel Text Publishers held a dedication service at their store, 372A Water St., with ministers and laymen of local churches assisting.

President Enos Brubacher took charge of the service. He outlined a short history of the work, which began in December, 1946. The Gospel Text Publishers Incorporated is a non-profit, evangelical, interdenominational organization, which operates under the laws of Ontario, to propagate God's Holy Word. He stressed the value of Christian book stores in conjunction with gospel highway signs and texts placed in buses. These signs may be seen from some of Ontario's main highways, and also in Jamaica. Plans have just been completed to erect gospel signs in India. "Letters are on file," said Mr. Brubacher, "which record conversions resulting from this unique work."

Christian book stores are located at Chatham, Huntsville, Elmira, Peterborough and Jamaica.

The Rev. Gordon Monk of Bethel Baptist church offered the opening prayer. The Rev. Maurice Poole, president of Peterborough Ministerial Association and rector of All Saints' Anglican church, read the scripture lesson. The Rev. Jack L. Hockney offered the dedicatory prayer. Claude Loney led the singing, accompanied by Lieutenant Norman Wood of the Salvation Army corps, Byersville. The president introduced the executive and other members of the staff. Rev. B. G. Evans of Elim Tabernacle closed with prayer of benediction.

Nasty Words

People's views change and so do fashions in expressing them. It is no longer polite to talk in society about the "belly", but "legs" are acceptable instead of the Victorian euphemism "limbs". It is bad to use the word "Depression"; "recession" is preferable, though still not good. "Capitalism" and "capitalist" used to be odious terms but they are coming back into favour again, instead of circumlocutions like "free enterprise". One of the really bad words in western democratic society is "Communist"—which is only slightly less damnable than "Communist sympathizer". Yet both labels were worn openly and with some pride twenty years ago by men of considerable distinction in Canada, the United States and Britain.

* * *

Coming on the heels of the most recent revulsion from the word "Communist" is a whole host of nasty epithets: Red, Socialist, Liberal, and so on. Judging from what one hears on American radio and TV, to profess liberalism is to be unwashed, wrong-headed, a long-haired stinker, sinister, subversive in tendency if not in deed. As we remarked at the beginning, fashions change. To be a liberal twenty years ago was highly respectable—it was the least one could be without being jeered at as undemocratic and an enemy of the people. But eighty years ago in this country the label "liberal" automatically classified one as a radical, and even a democrat, which was worse.

* * *

Another term which has become unpopular is "disarmament". A person today who argues for disarmament is clearly in the pay of Communists, Reds, Socialists, liberals and other underminers of the State. Yet in 1921 the noted American William G. McAdoo produced the famous slogan "Disarm or Bust", and in the same year Viscount Grey said: "I prefer the chance of Utopia to the certainty of destruction". (He was supporting a movement towards naval disarmament.) Today it is popularly felt that western democratic nations would write their own death-warrants if they approved of disarmament, and the sure sign of decency and national virility is their rate of re-arming.

* * *

As we have noted, views change. That is a chief reason for terms falling into or out of favour. In 1920, thirty-one nations put their signatures to this statement: "The members of the League (of Nations) recognize that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations". Now the maintenance of peace is believed possible only through "a preponderance of force on the side of democracy". In other words, pile on the armaments and you will keep the peace. As a matter of blunt opinion, the attitude to peace itself is changing, and the word is taking on a slightly evil connotation, on this side of the Atlantic, anyway. "Peace Pledge", "Peace Congress", "Peace Prize", they are all off-colour, and "peace monger" is positively lurid . . . The term "Prince of Peace" has not yet become disreputable.

Picnics On The Past

Ontario has so few tangible or visible records of its past that when items of really old times are brought to light they should be examined and hoarded as a miser does gold. So, for instance, the Serpent Mound relics of prehistoric Rice Lake days and the rock carvings of Burleigh (recently discovered) should be regarded as treasures until proved otherwise, or until they are properly safeguarded from pillage.

The first think to do is to establish their worth. By that we mean their historical value, their importance as a record, their significance as chronological links. In neither instance has this been done.

There is reason for not yet having the full story about the petroglyphs of Burleigh; they were found only a few weeks ago. The existence of the Serpent Mounds as prehistoric Indian workings has been known in local tradition for a century; several years ago an archaeological party from the Royal Ontario Museum made other findings. Yet no report has been issued. There is no authoritative word on their historical value and whether they should be safeguarded from wayfaring feet. Have archaeologists found out all they want or can from them, so that the public may feel free to browse around without destroying important historical evidence? A tentative report on the Mounds themselves was made at the turn of the century; there has been no published report on the recent diggings below them. Why the delay?

The site of the Mounds happens to be attractive; there are lovely vistas by and over Rice Lake. The public should not needlessly be denied the enjoyment of the property, if the leasers of the property so wish—the Hiawatha Indians. It would be a good picnic ground, for in addition to the attractive views there would be the pleasure of physical contact with history. Even if Indian stone arrowheads are not to be found, there is romance in being on the spot where ancients of days fought, dreamed in the sun or found final resting places. In both France and England the ruins of old Roman villas are open freely to ramblers. The point is that, before the general public has its picnics on the sites, either the articles of historical worth have been removed and the place studied by competent scholars, or the treasures of the place are wired off from tramping feet and prying fingers. So it should be at Serpent Mounds.

We repeat what we said in our Saturday comment on the subject: Why encourage picnickers to destroy what evidence there is?. Why encourage tourists before archaeologists have fully investigated? To do so may be folly and result in an irreparable loss of history. That is our whole point; investigate and know what there is before casual visitors unwittingly make investigation fruitless and information impossible to trace. The authorities in Toronto should speed their report so that the public may with easy conscience see that there is and enjoy the beauties of the site. Perhaps the threat to establish picnic grounds there—a prospect we view with uneasiness in the present state of knowledge of the Mounds—may spur the Toronto people into action. As Alderman Gordon Powell has said, speaking of its scenery, "it is a wonderful place." Its prehistoric wonders are there, too; let them be determined so that the public may enjoy both kinds, physical and historical.

Who Suffered Less?

In the mock air attacks made on Canadian centres on Monday to exercise defensive tactics against atomic bombing, the supposed casualties were 214,559 dead and 256,785 injured. This is a high rate of damage to Canadian human life. Should one therefore feel alarm and despondency about the state of preparedness that exists to meet a real attack? Perhaps the lesson is that known defensive tactics against atomic attack are inadequate, rather than that the defences are poor.

On the same day in the United States similar exercises were staged. The supposed casualties there were, in major centres, more than 5,000,000 "killed" and 2,500,000 "injured". Were the American defences better or worse than the Canadian? For a comparison, multiply the Canadian casualties by 10, since the population of the States is more than ten times greater than Canada's population. Result: 2,145,590 "killed", 2,567,850 "injured". Thus, comparatively, about the same percentage of the Canadian population was "injured", but less than half as many "killed" as Americans.

We therefore deduce that (a) Canadian defences were better than American, or (b) the "enemy" attacks on the American centres were better and more numerous, or (c) the Canadian computers of the supposed casualties were more conservative in their estimates than were the American. All of which leaves us exactly where we were when we entered this arithmetical computation: alive, reasonably contented pottering around with the usual day's chores, and not certain that the best defence against atomic attack is to find a hole in the ground six feet long and go to it, absolutely breathless.

German Anniversary

Today is "Unity Day" in Germany—a solemn national holiday declared on the anniversary of the bloody, calamitous yet courageous uprising of East German workmen against their Communist overlords and the Communist system in East Germany. It was a courage of desperation, those two terrible days last June 16th and 17th. The rebellion was put down ruthlessly, but some temporary concessions were made to the physical needs of the people, to assuage their discontent. Also, bloody reprisals were taken. In memory of the courage and the sacrifice, West Germany has instituted this holiday.

The Socialist Unity Party which is in office in East Germany is preserving silence on the anniversary, hoping that there will be no revival of rebellion. Its state police have taken precautions to put it down ruthlessly, if there should be a popular rising. And to pretend that East Germans are free, they are being allowed to vote on a referendum, whether or not they choose the Communist-German, Russian way, or the way of West Germany. Here is how the ballot papers are formulated: "Are you (a) In favour of a peace treaty and the withdrawal of the occupation troops? or (b) In favour of E.D.C., the Bonn Conventions and the maintaining of the occupation troops for 50 years?" If ever there was a loaded ballot paper, that is it.

JUDO WRESTLING

Gentle Ways In Pyjamas

By JOHN GALE

LAST night, in the dignified cave of the Albert Hall, gentlemen in off-white pyjamas grappled and flipped each other through the air. When they landed they made a rather unsettling smack.

The Budokwai ("The Way of Knighthood Society") was giving its thirty-seventh annual display of Judo ("The Way of Gentleness"). Despite the smacking sounds, Judo really is gentle. The falls are noisy because the wrestlers are taught to fall freely with the whole of the body — if they stiffened and attempted to check their fall with an arm, they might, for instance, break a wrist. The stout pyjama-like clothing is the traditional Judo garment, and an essential part of the business.

* * *

THE BUDOKWAI was founded in 1918 by Mr. G. Koizumi, who first came to England from Japan in 1906 and has been living there continuously since 1910. Now retired, he was formerly a lacquer expert and an advisor to the Victoria and Albert Museum. The Budokwai has about 500 members, and is the oldest of the 300 clubs belonging to the British Judo Association.

* * *

A FEW days ago, Mr. Koizumi arrived for a practice in the Budokwai's Dojo (training hall), in a calm residential district of London, S.W.1. wearing a smart blue double-breasted jacket and a black bow tie. The moustache on his wide, brown face was crisp, even faintly military, his manner courteous and gentle; he had a dry, butterfly handshake. A notice in intricate script read: "Please observe Silence in the Dojo."

* * *

CHANGING into his Judo clothes, Mr. Koizumi looked ascetic and fine-boned, like a small owl that had evolved beyond feathers. When he got his hands on you it was amazing; you felt ineffectual, drugged; although he barely touched you, you were powerless. "Maximum efficiency, minimum effort," said Mr. Koizumi. "You should never use force." He sways backwards or forwards, depending upon whether you push him or pull him; he never loses balance, but you do. You feel pretty inferior.

* * *

A GOOD JUDO wrestler will plan his strategy several moves ahead like a chess player. Roughly speaking, the art is to make your victim react as though he has trodden on soap.

By leverage, tripping, throwing, clever placing of the feet and clothes' grips, a girl may flick a 14-stone man about like a ping-pong ball — indeed, at the practice, a slim Belgian girl at a London finishing school was doing this to someone after six months of once-weekly lessons.

"Clothes," said an expert fondly, "can be used to cut off the flow of blood to the head." When he feels uncomfortable, the victim indicates surrender by slapping his thigh. "As in chess, you stop just short of taking the king." You beat an opponent by knocking him out with a throw or by getting one of his limbs in such a position that he cannot continue.

* * *

MR KOIZUMI, who is officially 69 (friends say his years go pretty slowly—he is almost certainly well over 70), has gained his seventh Dan, which is a mark of considerable genius. It may take a man as much as four or five years to get his first Dan—whereupon he can wear a distinctive black belt around his "pyjamas." The tenth Dan is the highest grading, and there are only two Japanese alive who have attained this; they are both about 80 years old. A tenth Dan must have studied for years, and he must have made some original contribution to the theory of Judo.

* * *

A TEMPORARY instructor at the Budokwai is Mr. Teizo Kawamura (sixth Dan), who was a member of the Tokyo team that won the All-Japan Ten Districts Championships in 1947. Mr. Kawamura is 31, six feet tall, and at his peak — although, as a result of English food, he weighs only 13 stone; when really fit he likes to wrestle at 15 stone.

He is an assistant professor of physical education at Tokyo University, and is in England to study physical training and sportsmanship — "also gentlemanship, but no ladyship."

A 'Fiery' Artist

(Edmonton Journal)

Belize, the capital of British Honduras, is short one artist this week, but it is unlikely that he will be missed. A local painter was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment for starting a million-dollar blaze. He did it, he told the court, because he needed a model for painting a "magnificent fire."

This is curiously reminiscent of the case of the emperor Nero, whose talents ran to poetry and music rather than painting. According to tradition, he set fire to the city of Rome in order to provide a proper background while he was reciting his new epic on the burning of Troy. Like the court in Honduras, the Roman senate and people took a very dim view of these proceedings; they liked neither the conflagration nor the poem. Eventually Nero was forced to fall upon his own sword, murmuring to an unappreciative world "What an artist dies!"

Whether it breaks out in Rome or in Belize, artistic temperament automatically increases the fire insurance premiums.

Pictures Of A Fire

(U.S. Forestry Digest)

New eyes in Louisiana's forest fire detection system look out from plexiglass domes atop the fire towers. The eyes are those of television cameras which continually scan the surrounding area and transmit the picture to a receiver in a central control station 50 miles away.

An operator at the control station sees the fire appear on the picture tube together with an azimuth reading picked up by the camera from markings on the dome. By noting the azimuth reading of the same fire pictured from another tower a cross cut can be obtained, giving the exact location of the fire.

While only preliminary tests of the "detecto-vision" system have been made, State Forester James E. Mixon sees possibilities for it in the very near future. Another application of the system would be to spot woods arsonists in the act of setting fires. "Many woods burners would be awfully uneasy right now if they knew how well we can focus a clear picture on a man miles away", said Mixon.

An American Opinion: HOME WORK

A Mess Of Maupygernoun

(LONDON TIMES)

IT is difficult to condemn the chairman of the Kitchener Committee for hestitating to place maupygernoun on the menu of the House of Commons—though he is misinformed in thinking that the rare and (perhaps) refreshing delicacy has not been cooked at Westminster since Charles II declined his helping. It continued to appear at every subsequent coronation banquet, and on the last occasion it was no less a dignitary than Archbishop Manners-Sutton who proved his privilege of serving it to King George IV. At the same time it is improbable that in the palmiest days of wassail one could call for a mess of maupygernoun at the Tabard as casually as one ordered a surfeit of lampreys, with the usual trimmings, twice. A certain pomp and circumstance are appropriate to so recherche a dish. In Westminster Hall it was given the place of honour at the end of the Lord Steward's mounted Procession of the First Course, The Gentlemen Pensioners, two and two, preceding it with the more commonplace viands, and the trumpets sounding from the gallery as its bearer reached Their Majesties' table.

Nor is maupygernoun everybody's cup of sack. Presumably William the Conqueror had tasted it, and knew what he was about when he pensioned off Tezelin his cook with the Manor of Addington, to be held by the serjeanty of providing a mess of maupygernoun, not for him, but for each of his successors on his coronation day. Outside Addington the exact composition of the dish seems open to debate; the recipe of hogs' kidneys and more adventurous ingredients understandably described by the chairman as "grim," may have required the collaboration of that other serjeant who held Bures by the service of scalding the King's hogs. But the eighteenth century antiquary Daniel Lysons found a recipe for a pottage called Bardolf, which was also the surname of William, the first tenant of Addington, whose petition to the Court of Claims actually survives! And this, he argued, may well be the true and original maupygernoun. Its basis is almond mylk, with checkyns parboyled and chopped; flavoured with sugar, clove, maces, pynes and ginger, mynced; it looks a good deal more savoury than the rival version (to which the alternative name of dillegrout, branded as an illiteracy by the erudite scorn of the great Dr. Round, has sometimes been attached).

Either way, Sir Robert Perkins, if he wishes to pursue his epicurean quest, may be advised to move with caution. In 1897 the lordship of the Manor of Addington, carrying the secret of maupygernoun with it, was transferred by the Archbishop of Canterbury to the Addington Golf Club—all the members severally and collectively; and who knows what so many modern cooks may not make of the mediaeval broth?

Grumbling About Canal Costs

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

MAINTENANCE of the Rideau Canal last year cost $468,886, Transport Minister Chevrier told the Commons last week. The minister admitted that in dollars and cents the canal is not a paying proposition, but said it has a tourist value and brings in some revenue. He made it clear that he intends to keep the canal as it is and has no intention of recommending that it be filled in, as suggested by some MP's and others.

Built a century and a quarter ago, the Rideau Canal was a defence construction project planned, together with the canal on the Ottawa river from Carillon to Grenville, to afford safe passage to shipping between Montreal and Kingston and to avoid what then was the menace of United States attack in narrow sections of the St. Lawrence. Apart from its military purpose, it served to open up the country between Ottawa and Kingston and established navigation on the Rideau river, Rideau Lakes and the Cataraqui river.

For many years it was an active and useful route for both passenger and freight movement. In the early years of this century chief passenger vessels were the "Rideau King" and the "Rideau Queen," and in addition small river freighters and lumber barges used the waterway constanly. It even had a port in the form of the Old Canal Basin at the foot of Albert and Slater streets, Ottawa was, as it is today, chief beneficiary of the canal project, first from a commercial standpoint and later as the basis for the first Driveway.

Almost every year members from east and west use the Rideau Canal and the Trent Valley canal as a minor political springboard. Western members say they should get something in the way of federal works comparable to these eastern canals, and MP's from the Maritimes use it as a basis for the demand that the Government cut a canal across the Chignecto Isthmus.

Even those who grumble at the high cost of maintenance of the Rideau Canal probably prefer to see it remain as it is. A politician with nothing to grumble about is an evil case indeed.

FARES PLEASE

"One whole and one half-ticket, please," said a woman passenger.

The conductor stared at the boy, sitting at her side. "You must pay full fare for that lad. He must be over fourteen."

"How can he be fourteen when I've been married only twelve years?" the passenger demanded, angrily.

"Madam," replied the conductor, icily, "I'm here to collect fares, not confessions."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away. And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone.

But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary. And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea. And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying. It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear.

But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water. And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

But when he saw the wind boisterous he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me. And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt? And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased. (Matt 14:22-32.)

Letter To The Editor

THE LIGHTS OF LONDON STREET

Sir: Well! they've done it again—What have they done again? as if anything could surprise an editor: Well this is no world shattering event, only that the little devils have stoned out the last remaining glass globe east of the London street bridge on the cinder path: After me advocating a use for the death ray if and when. I was very much surprised to see them replaced and felt very much like the little boy, or girl, who gazed upon Humpty-Dumpty during his world famous predicament. And now for the dreadful part of the story: The globes lasted almost a month. Regarding the gentleman with the ladder — Is he a cynic who makes side bets with his mates or one that is possessed with a bitter sense of humour as so many people are these days? A strange aspect of the human mind. On Hazlitt street where the lights are under house supervision the lights are naked . . . Vintage 1910.

Abolish Those Good Declarations

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Certain kinds of food are still rationed in Great Britain, and people in Canada are still sending food parcels to relatives and friends. There is no duty collectible on them, and senders feel it is time that the nuisance of filling up a declaration form and sticking it on the package should be abolished.

St. Lawrence Cost Then

(St. Thomas' Times-Journal)

The last legal obstacle to the St. Lawrence hydro plan has been removed and the hydro and navigation schemes can go ahead. It is interesting to note that if they had been proceeded with before the war the cost to the people of Ontario would have been about $95 a head. Now is will be around $618. The difference is due to obstacles put up by United States interests.

Gallant But Not Logical

(Brantford Expositor)

A charge of speeding against an Oakville woman with a 37-year clean driving record has been dismissed because, said the magistrate, "I don't want to be the first to convict you." This reason may be gallant, but it's neither law nor logic.

Local Ball School Opens July 5 PCVS Crowd Told

Field instructions in the Peterborough Baseball School for minor and prospective minor ball players commences July 5 at one p.m. in Riverside Park. It will run then five afternoons and one evening a week till early in September when schools re-open after the summer holidays. This information was given out by Bill Sisler, ball school instructor, to a big turnout of boys—and some parents—in the Collegiate auditorium last night.

Bill Sisler, former major league pitcher and presently a scout and minor ball instructor for the Phillies, has been here for some weeks and will remain all summer. His salary has been made possible through donations of industry, commerce, service clubs and some individuals. Several hundred dollars are still required to put the school over properly, including provision of sufficient equipment.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Ken Robinson was master of ceremonies for the evening at PCVSV, the recreation director introducing several speakers. These included Bill Bennett of the recreation commission and a ball school official; Dr. Fred Pitz (school co-chairman with Hugh Campbell); George (Red) Sullivan, who will aid Mr. Sisler; George Ludgate, sports announcer; and Bill Sisler. Al Chapman of Toronto Leafs was unable to bring a player along for the occasion.

Outlining the ball school program, Bill Sisler explained how the age groups would train, starting July 5, as follows: Nine to 10 years of age on Mondays, 11-12 Tuesdays, 13-14 Wednesdays, 15-16 Thursdays and 17-18 Fridays. Also, boys up to 18 who are working will get training on Tuesday evenings. Classes commence at one p.m. each day under the instructor, and only those classes may take the field. All equipment is supplied except gloves, and these may be bought at a 20 per cent reduction if school forms (which were handed out) are filled out.

TEACH EACH BOY

Complete fundamentals of the game will be taught each boy in each class, with more advanced training as the season progresses. Further films will be shown, and some trips may be arranged to see professional players in action in Toronto. These matters will be worked out during the summer holidays. Mr. Sisler promised to give all boys a thorough training in baseball. Other speakers urged more fathers to take more interest in their boys as far as baseball is concerned, and help to coach, manage and umpire the lads.

Four interesting diamond films were shown before the evening program concluded. These USA films included two on Little League baseball, major league pitching, and how major leaguers play the infield. Top stars of the majors today were shown in action, fast and in slow motion, with proper commentary by experts.

St. John's Earn Peewee Title In Church Loop

St. John's captured the peewee championship of the Church Softball League at Morrow Park when they took the second straight of a best-of-three final playoff series over Park St. 19-18. Merv Williamson presented the championship trophy to the victors right after the close victory.

It was a hard-fought fray all the way with Park St. managing to hold a lead till the last frame when St. John's rallied to yank out the tight decision. Some good ball was served up by both sides in a wide-open and exciting playoff contest. Teams:

St. John's—J. Welsh (captain), R. Parker, T. Lewis, J. Sedgewick, D. Muir, B. McDonald, G. Gunn, F. Willison, J. Vallins.

Park St.—R. James (captain), M. McGrath, J. Steen, K. VanAllen, B. Cullen, B. McIvor, A. Keating, G. Patterson, W. Castleman, A. Vilneff.

Umpire, Don Boulter.

Lindsay Takes The Trophy In Tournament

The honor of winning the beautiful O'Keefe Trophy in the men's open trebles tournament, sponsored by the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, Wednesday afternoon and evening, went to A. Jeffreis' rink of Lindsay. This rink had the possible score of three wins and 63 points. The other three game winners were J. Morrison, Oshawa; D. Caster, Bowmanville and H. C. Burwash, Agincourt.

And so completely did the visitors dominate play that only one prize of the seven stayed at home. This is something new for this club as they usually walked away with the majority of the prizes.

With entries from Lindsay, Agincourt, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Brighton and Peterborough, the tournament was another successful event.

PRESENTS TROPHY

In presenting the O'Kee Trophy to the Peterborough Club for annual competition, Harley R. Carr, local representative for O'Keefe's, said that his firm greatly appreciated the support given to this tournament, not only from the visiting clubs but from the local club.

President L. Bearne accepted the trophy on behalf of the Peterborough Club, and in a neat speech thanked all who had come to this tournament. He said the weather might have been a little better, but could have been a lot worse.

The committee in charge of the tournament were R. Knox, A. Black, J. D. Fitzpatrick and H. Freeman.

It was concluded around 11 p.m.

TOOK THE PRIZE

Down at Port Hope on the half-holiday and playing in the ladies' open trebles tournament, Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. F. Staunton and Mrs. J. Cullen won the prize for high two-game winners.

Millbrook Victors Against Janetville

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The Millbrook Lions made their season's first league effort a winning one when they took a 4-1 twilight fixture from Janetville before a small shivering crowd.

Under the influence of Ginn, their hustling coach, they turned in a nice, not-too-exciting game, taking a one-run lead in the first inning and adding singles in the second, third and fifth. Walker picked up Jaetville's marker in the third to spoil Wright's bid for a shutout. The pitching chores for Janetville were shared by Walker, McNeil and Burn, with McNeil demonstrating in his short term on the mound that he can still fool them without too much apparent exertion.

In the first inning with Ginn parked on third base, Janetville made the tactical error of trying a nip-off play at second. Lions' speedy backstop took advantage of the lapse to scamper across the plate with the initial marker. In the second, Carr led off with a two-bagger and Kent singled him in to make it 2-0. Janetville then scored its lone tally on Walker's double and a sacrifice by Burn. In the bottom of the third Carr got his second run with another double and a single by Lowery. Kent wound up the scoring when he beat out an infield roller, stole second and scored on Edmunds' hit. The newcomers to Millbrook's ranks, Ruth, Argue, Kent and Carr, all showed up well in this contest while Jackson and the Brown brothers turned in some nice defensive work for Janetville.

Janetville—N. Brown, Walker, G. McGill, Burn, E. Brown, Jackson, Smith, Appelby, Castle.

Millbrook—Ginn, Wright, Handley, Carr, Edmunds, Argue, Lowery, Ruth, Kent.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Though the pro grapplers have skirted Peterborough the past two months — and won't be back till late autumn — they're active summers in centres as close as Oshawa and Belleville. And we note where one Gorgeous George is back in Ontario. Marcelled, perfumed and wearing very expensive robes, he is a hated matman wherever he shows. He was highly disliked here last year, though the guy can really wrestle, and he draws down some $125,000 a year! Doug Vaughan tells of how in Texas one night he handed out orchids to ladies before a bout and had a special one for for the oldest lady present. An 80-year-old soul hobbled up and George dropped the orchid, crushed it under his heel and sneered at the old lady. Police had to escort him out lest he be mobbed by the angry crowd. Quite a card, eh?

Hamilton's Jim McNulty took over the OLA senior scoring leadership by one point o'er Petes' Rusty Slater the other night, but Russ hopes to regain it again against Mimico here Friday. Of course, the Tigers are in St. Kitts the same night, and the same squads clash again next day in Hamilton, so McNulty can improve his mark, too. The Mounties beat Hamilton the other night and came mighty close to downing the Petes in their last two meetings. Don McPhail & Co. have a lot of good lacrossers in the lineup, and might well push the champs to the limit in the Friday fray at Miller Bowl

Jerry To Stick Around

An item from St. Catharines on a former player, who has worn local livery in the OLA for serveral years: "Jerry Fitzgerald has given up his plans, at least temporarily, to travel to the west coast to study for a degree in medicine at the University of British Columbia. Jerry had been considering offers to play lacrosse in Victoria, then football in the autumn for the British Columbia Lions, under Annis Stukus. However, he will finish the lacrosse season with Peterborough and teach at least one more year in Toronto." No doubt, Nip O'Hearn sought to have Jerry team up on defence with him out there with the Vics, as Fitz is just about the best lacrosse defenceman in the country.

Next VOBL number up this way has Oshawa Transporters playing the Petes at 8:30 Saturday night in Riverside. Fans will recall that Petes beat the Motor Citizens here last start behind Frizzelle's two-hit hurling chore. Some info on local plans in the prelim round to name a Baseball Queen for Toronto Leafs. Petes will run their own show with the winner going into the finals in Toronto in September. Each entry gets a prize and each preliminary winner gets a couple more. Three prizes in the finals, first one including a mink stole, diamond dinner ring, and a chance to compete in the USA "Miss Baseball of 1954" competition. More on it again.

Goodly Gallery On Deck

Four fine films on big and little league baseball as played in the States were shown at the baseball school rally in the Collegiate auditorium, and some 500 boys and a number of parents enjoyed it all. 'Twas the official start of Bill Sisler's local summer-long school for minor diamondeers, though he's been lecturing at public and separate schools the past couple of weeks. Actual field training commences July 5 and runs five afternoons and one evening each week till early September. Age-limit groups and their class times are listed elsewhere tonight, and the boys need supply only their gloves. Those speaking at the rally last eve were Sisler, Ken Robinson, Bill Bennett, Dr. Fred Pitz, Red Sullivan and George Ludgate.

* * * * * *

The prospective pupils for the ball school were given forms to fill out and return, these entitling the lads to 20 per cent off price of gloves at local sports stores. The form also contains a questionnaire as to name, age ,etc.; a general information section; and a liability release so that the school isn't responsible for injuries. Each boy is assured of a full afternoon's instruction with his class each week in the fundamentals of baseball, advanced training following as the season progresses. Enrolment takes places at Riverside on June 30 and July 2. Classes go in two-year groups from the age of nine to 18, working boys getting their chance on Tuesday evenings weekly. Whole setup sounds good to us, and we believe Bill Sisler will do a thorough job.

Brazil Team Stars In Soccer Match

BERN (AP)—The world soccer championships opened in Switzerland Wednesday—and Brazil soon showed why they are rated a top proposition for the Jules Rimet Cup.

The brilliant Brazilian forwards, led by Oswaldo (Balthazar) da Silva, slammed in five goals against Mexico in the day's biggest win. Mexico did not score.

Austria beat the Scots team 1-0 in a hard fought match that kept the referee busy.

Army And Payne Take Wins In Civic Games

Two spicy Civic League softball games were played Wednesday night at East City Bowl, as Jim Healy's crack police squad (now known as Herb Payne's Transpopris) outscored Tom Moore's Peterborough Canoe (Watercraft) 11-7, in the curtain-raiser; and Herb Cardwell's Army lads from the Ack Ack squad, edged an 8-7 margin over Fairview Presbyterians, in a stirring nightcap.

Art Phillips twirled for the boys in blue, turned in a steady chore, as usual, in the opener, and, aided by some excellent support afield, with heavy stickwork when ducks swam on the pond, came through for the Coppers' fourth victory of the campaign against three defeats. They are now alone in third place.

GOOD FIELDING

Slater fielded well in the centre-garden, to earn special praise; but every man gave his best. Roy Moore toiled for Watercraft, and the Canoemen looked like possible winners till late, when the Healymen put over three insurance markers.

The nightcap proved a hard-fought thriller, with both teams pressing hard for victory to the finish. Army finally emerged victorious, partly aided by some Fairview fielding lapses; but detracting not a whit from their winning effort as opportunists. Jack Smith was the winner. Glen Fowler and Humphries twirled for Fairviews.

Springfield Granted Franchise In AHL

NEW YORK (CP)—Springfield, Mass., Wednesday was granted a franchise in the American Hockey League after AHL owners cancelled the Syracuse, N.Y., franchise because of an inadequate schedule for next season.

Springfield Indians, now a member of the Quebec Hockey League, have made an application to the QHL for withdrawal.

The AHL owners were reported working on a playing schedule for the 1954-55 season that they hope will be ready today.

Flanagan Winner Over Allie Gronik

DETROIT (AP) — Dapper Del Flanagan, second-ranking welterweight contender from St. Paul, easily protected his rating Wednesday night with a unanimous 10-round decision over crude Allie Gronik of Detroit. Gronik weighed 149½ and Flanagan 148¼.

A clever, hit-and-run fancy Dan, Flanagan had little trouble in winning his ninth straight fight against the willing but wild Gronik. It kept the St. Paul Irishman in line for a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown.

Benroman Captures Clarendon Plate

TORONTO (CP) — Benroman, purchased as a yearling for $10,600 repaid part of the investment to owner B. R. Steen Wednesday when he won the 26th running of the Clarendon Plate.

Benroman sped the five furlongs in 1:00 flat as he scored fairly handily from the long-priced Buntmore and Wishmaker at Woodbine Park.

Chief thrill of the afternoon was provided by Queen's Own in winning the $5,000 Toronto Cup. Only last Saturday he had lost a photo finish to Collisteo in the Queen's Plate.

WINS IN CUP

ASCOT, England (AP)—Chivalry a 33-to-1 outsider won Ascot's Royal Hunt Cup Wednesday in a photo finish with King of the Tudors.

The winner, owned by Baron P. Hatvany, was ridden by apprentice jockey Dominic Forte. Desert Way, winne rof the Newbury Spring Cup in April, finished third.

BIG BOY—Here's Jim Jerome, 225 tackle signed by the Montreal Alouettes. He hails from Cornell University, where he had an outstanding grid record. He's the ninth import to be signed by the "Als" so far this season.

Millbrook Damsels Beat Harwood, 11-5

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Millbrook girls' softball team won a league encounter from Harwood on Tuesday evening by an 11-5 score. A keen student of the game wouldn't have rated it too highly as it drew most of its drama from a series of weird and and wonderful plays, but intermingled with these was a noteworthy feature or two. Topping these was the play of Marlene Richards who beat out four bunts for a 1.000 batting average and a catch made by Margaret Guthrie. Tripping, while going back after a looping fly, the third-sacker was prone on the ground when the ball made a precision landing in her glove.

In the weird and wonderful department was the spectacle of a player after legally occupying third base deciding to go back to second—for some undisclosed reason, but possibly through listening to the crowd which seemed to take a fiendish delight in confusing the issue. Another unusual play was that of a batter using the technique of a golfer blasting out of a sand trap which seemed to pose a bit of a problem to the umpire. Just to round out the evening the scorekeepers, failed to agree on the number of outs in one inning. All in all it was quite an evening.

Millbrook: Marlene, Lenore, Mary, Eileen, Laureen, Mary, Doreen, Dorothy, Lena Marie.

Cleveland Clips Washington With 5-1 Victory

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Rarely has the future looked so rosy for the Cleveland Indians.

The cripples are coming back with a bang. The club has a three-game hold on first place. And the next eight games are against second-division teams.

The Indians ran their current winning streak to seven Wednesday night with a 5-1 victory over Washington that marked the return to partial action of Bobby Avila the league's leading hitter.

Al Rosen made his first appearance in almost two weeks the night before. He's last year's most valuable player in the American League and is running second to Avila in hitting.

ONE CHANCE, ONE HIT

Avila, on the bench with a chipped thumb, came in as a runner and stayed around to bat once. He delivered a two-run single.

Rosen drove in three runs as a pinch hitter Tuesday night and singled once in two tries Wednesday night.

The other two teams in the three-team American League race also won Wednesday. Second-place Chicago beat Philadelphia 11-6 and the New York Yankees edged Baltimore 2-0. Last-place Boston broke an eight-game losing streak with a 3-2 victory at Detroit.

The New York Giants stayed atop the National League with a 4-0 verdict over Cincinnati. Brooklyn remained a game behind the Giants by whipping Milwaukee 8-4. St. Louis at Philadelphia and Chicago at Pittsburgh were rained out.

HOMER HELP

Home runs by Lou Limmer and Bill Renna helped the Athletics build a 6-4 lead in Chicago but the White Sox wiped it out with a seven-run seventh as Ferris Fain hit an inside-the-park home run with the bases loaded.

The Dodgers beat the Braves into submission with home runs. They hit five, equalling the club's all - time high for one game. Homers were by Duke Snider, Gil Hodges, Don Hoak, Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella.

Wings Check Buffalo 6-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If St. Louis Cardinals are searching for pitching help they won't need to look far. Righthander Larry Jackson of the International League Rochester Red Wings appears to be their man.

The 24-year-old rookie brought up from Houston of the Texas League three weeks ago gained his fifth victory Wednesday night as the Red Wings checked Buffalo Bisons 6-1.

Toronto's league-leading Maple Leafs nipped Syracuse Chiefs for the third straight time, 3-2. In the only other game played, Montreal Royals rebounded from a double loss Tuesday night, downing Ottawa Athletics 6-3 and 7-5.

Steel Talks Will Shape Labor Relations

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whatever happens in the current steel industry negotiation is likely to shape labor relations in the United States for many months to come.

Steel is a traditional pattern maker. Its labor contract terms considerably influence other industries. So do its prices.

The steel wage settlement in 1946, for instance, and subsequent steel price increases, touched off an era of post-war inflation. The same thing happened to a lesser extent as an aftermath of the big 1952 steel strike.

STEEL TO TOP

So, in assessing potential 1954 labor trouble spots, steel must go to the top of the list. This is not to say there will be another two-month strike like that in 1952.

In fact, three is every prospect for a peaceful settlement. The big steel firms get along better with the present CIO steelworkers union president, David J. McDonald, than they did with his predecessor, Philip Murray. McDonald recently made a goodwill tour of U. S. Steel plants with board chairman Benjamin Fairless.

But McDonald's union has just pitched a fat set of new contract demands at Fairless and other large steel employers, including requests for a "substantial" pay boost, higher pensions and a guaranteed annual wage.

VANCOUVER'S MAYOR—Fred Hume is serving his second consecutive two-year term as mayor of Vancouver. He was first elected in 1950 and donates his $7,500 yearly salary to charity. Mayor Hume, previously served as mayor of New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League.—(CP Photo).

MP Renews Request For Awards Of Honor

OTTAWA (CP) — A Maritime Progressive Conservative Wednesday night renewed his request for resumption of awards of honor to Canadian civilians for service to their country.

George Nowlan (PC—Digby-Annapolis-Kings) told the Commons he is sorry there are no longer any awards which the government can give for such service.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver Kingsway) disagreed. Awards added nothing to the distinction of those who received them.

Rejects Proposal

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickersgill Wednesday night rejected a proposal that a special bureau should be placed in charge of the publicity of government departments. The proposal was made in the Commons by Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops).

Churchill Opening

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday in the Commons that this year's shipping season at Churchill, Man., will open July 26 and close about Oct. 10. In the 1953 season 31 ships called at the port.

Hydrogen Bomb Has Revised Opinions On Civil Defence

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The hydrogen bomb has forced civil defence authorities to study the possibilities of dispersal of populations of whole cities in event of threat or attack.

That is all it is at present, a study of possibilities, which hasn't gone very far.

The hydrogen bomb has increased emphasis, too, on the development of mutual support areas fanning out 50 miles and more from the likely centre of attack, and large enough that if one part is hit other parts may come to its help. In a broader way, mutual aid extends to a national and international scale.

PROBLEM MUCH BIGGER

Civil defence planning, although it had an eye on the developing hydrogen bomb, dealt until recently in terms of atomic bombs of the Hiroshima type.

Such bombs envisaged destruction of part of a city and tens of thousands of deaths, but with the greater part of a large city left in operating shape, and the greater part of its population alive.

The hydrogen bomb envisages the virtual knock-out of cities the size of Toronto and Montreal, and deaths ranging above 500,000 plus as many more injured.

There were many arguments against population dispersal in discussion of defence against atomic attack.

One was that the home front now is a front line and people must discipline themselves to hold it in the face of attack, in the same manner in which an army is expected to hold a front.

MANY DIFFICULTIES

If dispersal were a policy, it was argued, an enemy could keep a country in disruption, and thus defeat it, simply by sending out planes and keeping up a constant alarm, without dropping bombs. One official commented: "We must not become a nation of people running into funk holes."

Traffic tie-ups, or panic among a fleeing population, were regarded as likely to defeat attempts to reach safety. People might die unprotected in traffic jams who might have lived had they ducked under the nearest desk.

Capping those arguments was the expectation that there would be only 15 minutes to a half-hour warning of a strike—too short a time to allow people to escape.

These arguments are still strongly advanced, but the destructive power of the hydrogen bomb has thrown doubt on their validity. Possibility of death to perhaps more than 1,000,000 in one blast, as in New York and Chicago, has forced examination of dispersal.

Fortunately, along with announcements of hydrogen developments, came word that extension of warning systems may within a year give reasonable hope of 4wo hours or more warning.

NEEDS MUCH PLANNING

Some authorities threw up their hands at first suggestions of dispersal. Said one: "Look at city traffic jams between 5 and 6 p.m. Imagine that multiplied under possible panic conditions of impending attack"

Another replied: "Yes, but the whole downtown population is cleared out in an hour. What might be done under well-planned dispersal, with all roads leading out and no traffic allowed in; with all facilities — buses, trains, ships, trucks — operating from planned dispersal points located, perhaps, two miles from city centre and reachable on foot?"

To the argument that production would be lost uselessly if the attack did not come, comes the reply:

"We must be prepared and stockpiled to face loss of production for short periods. If we lose machines we lose machines, but if we lose the worker who operates them we lose all. If we save them they can go to work at other machines."

It is further argued that retaliation against an attacking country would be so swif that threat of mass attacks might soon end.

To 'argument and counter-argument, it can be said that at present no one knows what could or could not be done under proper organization and education. But hardly anyone thinks, so far as I know, that virtual evacuation could be carried out today, under actual bomb threat, without great risk of panic and chaos.

MUST EDUCATE PUBLIC

Sir John Hodsoll, head of British civil defence, told me in Ottawa: "It might be done with a people more regimented than we are—but not in the present state of public awareness."

First examination of the possibilities in Canada may be made by Vancouver, Victoria and Windsor, Ont. Probably the best Montreal and Toronto could manage at present would be a thinning out of population.

Winnipeg has had more experience in the matter, having evacuated 100,000 persons in its 1950 floods.

Human problems would be heartrending.

Do you say to a husband and father at work: "You go by this route. Never mind your wife and children, they will go another way."

Do you say to a mother: "You go this way. Never mind your children at school, their teachers will look after them."

Do you say to a key man in an industrial plant: "The rest of us are leaving, but you must remain because the plant must be maintained in case the attack doesn't come?"

Any civil defence worker will tell you such situations have the makings of a first class panic unless people are educated, both to a stern sense of duty and to belief that obedience to planned measures gives the best chance for both themselves and their loved ones.

In the coming months, if no immediate attack comes, people will have opportunity to think about these things.

Victoria Rifle Team Captures Trophy

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of sharpshooters of No. 89 squadron, Victoria, has captured the Dominion challenge trophy awarded annually to Canada's top Air Cadet rifle team, it was announced Wednesday.

The Victoria team's average score of 97.134 edged out last year's winner, No. 287 squadron, Lamont, Alta., by one-half a percentage point. Third place went to No. 84 squadron, Port Arthur, with a combined score of 95.25 per cent.

Alexander Urges Help For Asia

LONDON (Reuters) — Defence Minister Earl Alexander said Wednesday "we owe it to our Asian friends no less than to ourselves to do all we can to help them, by any means acceptable to them all, to maintain the integrity of South-east Asia.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Press Association, the former governor-general of Canada also urged that West Germany be brought into the European Army without delay.

The defence minister said the Berlin and Geneva conferences have produced "very little indication" of any change in the Communists' basic objectives. They were still seeking to extend their world-wide influence by any means short of world war.

12,000 See Latest Methods Of Production In Dairy Industry On Farm Near Lindsay

Estimated attendance of 12,000 people, mostly rural, at the second annual Ontario Dairy Day Wednesday at the farm of Wm. Murphy, Lindsay, was a general indication of its appeal and success.

That approximate figure was based on the count of automobiles by the directing Ontario Provincial Police, close to 3,500 cars in the parking areas.

The purpose of this day of demonstrations in the interest of Ontario agriculture is to promote efficiency, economy and quality in the production of dairy foods, essentially milk, and thereby reaches out to the diet of the great public of consumers.

Probably the main demonstration was an inter-county competition in milking methods by Junior Farmers from nine counties. It began around 10 a.m. and ended at 4.20 in the afternoon.

HALTON WINNERS

The winners were the Halton team of Miss Barbara Cunningham, Georgetown RR 2, and John Picket, Hornby, RR1, who were awarded the laurels respectively of Dairy Maid and Dairy Man, with cheques of $25 each, travelling bags and honorary certificates.

In the second place was the Peel county team of two girls, Miss Mary McKinney, Brampton, RR 2, and Miss Blythe Meek, Erin RR 1. The third prizes went to two young men from Waterloo county: Bruce Witmer, Preston RR 2, and John Gillespie, Galt RR 5.

The other county groups were from, Brant, Prince Edward, Hastings, South Simcoe, Ontario and Victoria.

The Hastings team were—Ross Moorecroft, Frankford RR2, and R. Burkitt, Frankford, RR 2; and Victoria, Mrs. Mary Weeks, Dunsford and James Moore, Lindsay RR 1.

This competition took place in a big tent with a staging representing latest milking conditions. The spectators seats were filled all day. Obviously, the arrangements were an idealization of the milking chore of the dairy industry. The Junior Farmers, five girls and 13 young men, dressed in immaculate white, just about on par with the professional garb of doctors and dentists, were provided for the day with the convenient facilities of a milking parlor. They performed the methods of milking, with the sanitary details of before and after, and were required to explain the what and why of their work, the importance of which was stressed by A. E. (Sandy) Innes of Brantford in announcing the results of the competition. The two other judges were: Peter Connon of Gormley and Harry Smallfield of Guelph.

FORAGE CROPS

Forage crop demonstrations extended through eight or ten fields with information pertaining to pasture mixtures and fertilization, use of electric fences in alloting grazing areas to the cattle, forage harvester operations, the spraying of chemical fertilizers, and various other phases of that broad branch of farming.

The big barn at Murco Farms attracted thousands for the display of the new De Laval system of delivering milk from cow to cooler through overhead pyrex piping.

The "tented town", of a wide variety of exhibits relating to dairying, was measured at a full mile in length.

The Junior Farmers competition was sponsored and supervised by representatives of the Ontario Milk Distributors, as their chief contribution to Dairy Day, with James Baker of the dairy branch of the Ontario Department in charge of their feature.

Official opening of the day was declared by Lindsay's first citizen, Premier Leslie M. Frost, introduced by the acting minister of agriculture, Hon. George Doucett.

Charles E. Lackner of the dairy branch was chairman and others in the program of short speeches were C. D. Graham, deputy minister of agriculture; W. J. Murphy host; Reeve Robert Brant of Verulam township, this year's Warden of Victoria; Mayor A. E. Hick of Lindsay; Reeve Sherman Moore of Ops, and George Clemons, Brantford, secretary-manager of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association.

Daniel Murphy, now in his 90th year, father of the proprietor of Murco Farms, was introduced to the afternoon crowd.

PREMIER FROST

Premier Frost said that Dairy Day was a partnership project of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Ontario Agricultural College and the Veterinary College.

"It was conceived with the idea of helping to develop efficiency in our basic industry of agriculture," Mr. Frost said, "to be better farmers and better citizens. I feel that we should never be satisfied that what we are doing is the best. We should be critical of ourselves in a constructive way, aiming at improved economy in farming, and at better ways of production."

"In the dairying industry we have a very important part of agriculture. We are living today in a competitive world. I think we all realize that we are now in a buyer's market, that more competition is coming from countries which have been regarded as under-developed and under privileged. We see gradual developments in the East, as in India, and we are feeling competition from European countries that are becoming re-established."

SHOWN ABILITY

Premier Frost said that Ontario farmers had long demonstrated their abilities and efficiency, but in facing competition from new quarters "we have to give our best to maintain our way of life in this world of tomorrow." He complimented the Ontario Civil Service not only in agriculture, but in all the other branches of the provincial administration.

Of Mr. Murphy, Mr. Frost spoke as a fellow townsman whose interest in the dairy industry for many years had culminated in his offering his farm to bring Dairy Day to the eastern section of Ontario. He expressed his pleasure in the fact that this invitation had brought the big event to the outskirts of Lindsay, and congratulated Mr. Murphy on the splendid arrangements which had grown out of his invitation.

Charles Heath, Belleville, secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, presented Mr. Frost with a whole Cheddar cheese.

"I'm proud of Lest Frost," Mr. Murphy said in his acknowledgment of the tributes of appreciation expressed to him. "I think I'm prouder of his wife, because Mrs. Frost was born here. She is of the Carew family, who like the Murphys, were original settlers. I am happy to have a part in welcoming the Premier of the province and all the other visitors to our farm. On behalf of my wife, our staff and our neighbors who did a lot to help in getting ready for this day, I would just like to say that we are glad to have you with us. This is a great day for our dairy industry, and I hope you'll come back again."

SIAMESE TWINS SEPARATED—Siamese twins, Folkje and Tsitske de Vries, joined from the chest to the stomach by a four-inch bridge of skin, are shown just after they were separated by surgery at Leeuwarden, The Netherlands. The operation took 92 minutes and the girls are said to be in excellent condition.

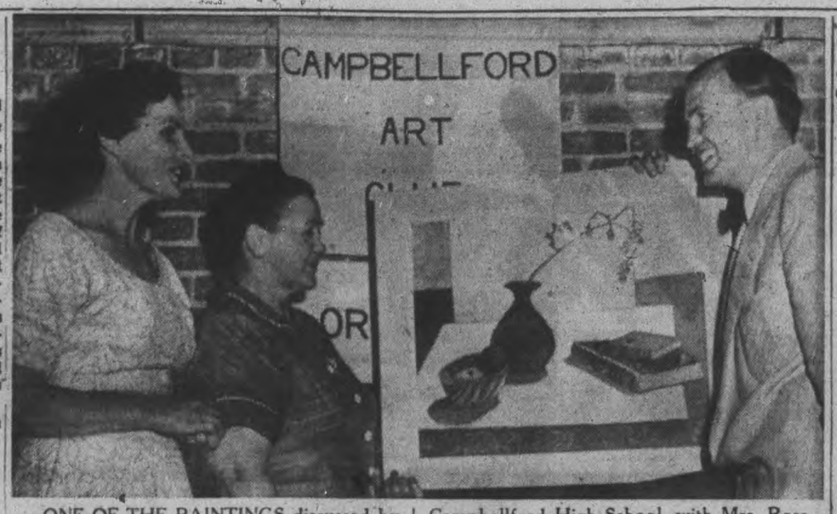
New Arts Clubs Display Paintings

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—An exhibition of oil paintings, by the Campbellford Art Club and the Warkworth Art Club, was held in the gymnasium of the Campbellford High School Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

The response of the public in attending the first showing of the clubs was gratifying to the artists, with continuous large groups of viewers present during the exhibition.



The work displayed was a tribute to the teacher, Mr. Paavo Airola, and although the Warkworth Art Club was formed only a year ago, and the Campbellford club only last January, the paintings showed a great deal of artistic ability and individual technique. The knowledge of color which Mr. Airola has passed on to his pupils was evident in their work, and the exhibition as a whole was a credit to the two communities taking part.

Paavo Airola came to Canada from Europe two years ago, and after a time in Toronto, decided to settle on a small farm near the village of Castleton, where he could pursue his interest in art in a more tranquil atmosphere. He is well known in Canadian art circles, as he was president of the Art and Color Form Society of Hart House in Toronto. Several of his paintings hang in Hart House today. He has also exhibited in Sweden, London, England; and Montreal. His pupils are making the most of the opportunity of acquiring some of his knowledge of art, as evidenced by the excellent exhibition of his teachings.

About 100 paintings were on display during the exhibition.

Empress For Sale

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters) The burned-out liner Empress of Canada has been offered for sale as scrap iron by the Mersey docks board here. Letters putting the 20,000-ton hulk on sale went out to scrap dealers Wednesday. The big Canadian Pacific vessel caught fire last January while it was being overhauled here and now is lying aground at Liverpool docks.

Bonner Watches Birth Of Daughter On TV

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia Wednesday watched the birth of his daughter, Elizabeth.

He sat among 900 doctors, including some of Canada's leading obstetricians, at the Canadian Medical Association convention to watch delivery of the baby by caesarean operation.

They watched the delivery over a giant colored TV screen. The delivery was at the Vancouver General Hospital two miles away. Actual delivery of the baby took 10 minutes.

Murder Charge

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Bilbor (Bill) Rajic, 37-year-old Yugoslav immigrant charged with the June 10 knife slaying of Mrs. Ernest Boyd, Wednesday was remanded to June 23. Crown attorney A. C. Whaley told the court he would probably be prepared to begin preliminary hearing about June 28 or 29.

Outsize Sow

Just To See Falls

TORONTO (CP) — A group of seven Russian psychologists is visiting Toronto before returning home from the World International Congress of Psychology at Montreal. Said leader Professor Alexander Leontiev: "We want to see Niagara Falls. We don't want to comment on international matters."

Ex-Colleague Harold Horwood Attacked By Premier Smallwood

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood Wednesday attacked in the Newfoundland legislature a former colleague who now is a columnist-reporter for a St. John's newspaper.

The premier accused Harold Horwood of "slanted" reporting and called him a "scavenger" and a "rat."

Referring to two recent articles by Mr. Horwood in The Evening Telegram, Premier Smallwood said one was "slanted" to indicate that members of the Liberal government derived income from a new industry of which they were directors and the other was misrepresentation of house proceedings.

The premier said:

"This whole thing was written by this dastardly clown, this loathesome literary scavenger, this cutthroat, this rat, who has been using the columns of The Telegram to carry on his own personal vendetta against this government. He hates me like the devil hates holy water."

WALKS OUT

Mr. Horwood walked out of the press gallery following the premier's speech and said he will not cover any more sessions this year. He added:

"I am tired of the campaign of hatred and vindictiveness that has been heaped upon my head after I exposed the method by which Liberals succeeded in deriving portions of their income from retail liquor sales without appearing to have connections with public bars and beer parlors."

Youth Pleads Guilty To Attempted Robbery

QUEBEC (CP)—Gaston Morin, 20, of Montreal, Wednesday pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted robbery June 3 at nearby Bienville.

An alleged accomplice, 19-year-old Maurice Fradette of Montreal, was shot and killed in a struggle with Jean-Paul Samson, Caisse Populaire (credit union) teller during the attempted holdup.

Hint McCarthy Has New Bolt For Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator McCarthy appeared today to be priming fresh ammunition to fire at Democrats in what may be the final hours of the televised chapter of his turbulent dispute with army officials.

The Wisconsin Republican was due to return to the witness stand for what was billed as the last public session of the Senate investigations sub-committee's inquiry into the controversy.

Joseph N. Welch, the usually soft-spoken army special counsel who clashed angrily with McCarthy Wednesday, said he might be able to end his cross-examination today. Senatorial questions appeared about exhausted, barring some new flare-up.

Acting chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) said he will call the sub-committee into a closed session Friday to sound out members on the possibility of agreeing on a single report on the charges aired in the public hearings which opened eight weeks ago today.

While Mundt held out some hope for an agreement, McCarthy told the sub-committee Wednesday he thought there was "no doubt in anyone's mind about the fact that my three Democrat friends here will have a report — I could write that report for them . . . right now."

"I know what they are going to say. I think they decided that before the hearing started."

ON HER WAY — Wearing a short hairdo and a white gown, Mieko Kondo, newly chosen Miss Japan of 1954, poses in Tokyo. Mieko is looking forward to her trip to Long Beach, Calif., where she'll compete for the "Miss Universe" title.

Ban Against Hiring Women For Jobs

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) said Wednesday night that the civil service commission discriminates against Canadian women in hiring employees for the federal government.

She made the charge in the Commons as she urged the government to appoint a woman to the three-member commission as soon as there is a vacancy.

State Secretary Pickersgill said he is sympathetic to the appointment of a woman to the commission. There were plenty of Canadian women who would be as competent commissioners as men.

Hurrah for Home-Made Jams and Jellies!

For Sure Success in jam and jelly making use Certo

Gives you up to 50% more from your fruit. Takes only ⅓ the time

CERTO RECIPES END GUESSWORK—SAVE TIME AND ENERGY—GIVE BETTER RESULTS

IT'S NATURE'S OWN HELPER — Certo is fruit pectin — the natural jellying substance in fruit — extracted and refined to help you make better-tasting jams and jellies quickly and easily.

SAVES TIME AND WORK — Once your fruit is prepared it takes only 15 minutes to make a whole batch. That's about ⅓ the time needed for old-fashioned, long-boil recipes.

A ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil—that's all you need with Certo. No long, tedious boiling and stirring over a hot stove. What a relief!

50% MORE JAM OR JELLY — NATURAL TASTE AND COLOR — As no long boiling-down is needed hardly any juice wastes away in steam. You actually average 50% more jam or jelly from the same quantity of fruit.

And since the boil is too short to spoil the fresh-fruit taste or dull the fresh-fruit color, jams and jellies taste delicious — look bright and sparkling.

SURE RESULTS—NO GUESSWORK —Success is sure if you follow carefully the recipes that come with Certo. There's one for each kind of fruit. Don't change a thing.

Recipe Booklet under the label of every bottle and in every package. Each type has special recipes that must be followed. They are not interchangeable.

A Product of General Foods

Take your Pick—LIQUID or CRYSTALS

Certo in either form gives equally good results

Elderly People Enjoy Outing

More than 100 elderly residents of Peterborough were picked up at the Anson House, House of Providence, nursing homes and private homes on Wednesday and taken to the Y's Men's Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake for an outing.

They all enjoyed boat trips up the lakes to Juniper Island and Viamede on Stony Lake, some played games of horseshoes on the lawn, others checkers on the verandah, and some just sat around and talked, breathing deeply of the fresh lake air.

After a picnic supper of sandwiches and cakes, ice cream and tea, there was an enjoyable period of music. Major H. G. Roberts of the Salvation Army led in group singing and a lieutenant of the band played musical selections.

Arrangements for this outing were carried out by ladies of the Soroptimist Club and Local Council of Women, with assistance from Rotary Club in supplying transportation, Y's Men's club in supplying the camp, and the Salvation Army supplying entertainment.

Boat owners, who supplied their craft and their time to make this event so very pleasant for the guests, were W. J. Hamilton, Max Rishor, James Matthews, Ernie Ferguson and H. L. Garner.

Plans for this outing originated at a meeting called by health convener of the Local Council, Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, to discuss with representatives of various services whether anything could be done to have the amount of the old age pension increased.

In the conversation it was mentioned that the Salvation Army used to arrange outings to entertain the elderly, and Council women and Soroptimists thought it a good idea to revive. They expect to promote other affairs in the future.

399 Children Get Health Checks

Pre-school health examinations were given to 399 children by the school medical officer in May. Of these, 387 were given with the parents present.

These examinations are to bring the parents' attention to existing defects in the child which may be corrected before he enters school for the first time in September. It also advises the parents about smallpox vaccinations and booster treatments to prevent diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

In a written report submitted to the Board of Health, Wednesday, Miss Mary E. MacIlveen, supervisor of public health nurses, said, "A child entering school in good sound health adjusts more easily to the school routine, feels happier and makes greater progress.

"Therefore, parents are asked to take their children to their physician and dentist for care of ailments or defects before school opens."

Miss MacIlveen noted, in evaluating the pre-school examinations, that many dental defects were found.

"Early regular dental supervision and less 'sweets' in the diet of this age group would contribute greatly to decreasing the number of cavities. Also, it would ensure healthier second or permanent teeth," she said.

Other defects noted were infected tonsil, defective nasal breathing, speech, eye, ear and orthopaedic. Two cases of heart disturbances and two cases of hernia were recorded.

$11,000 In Grants Received By MOH

Dr. J. P. Wells, the medical officer of health, reported at the Board of Health meeting, Wednesday, that his department had received a health grant of $11,000 from the federal government for the fiscal year 53-54.

Approval of grants for over $17,000 applicable to the current fiscal year 54-55 were also received, he said. Dr. Wells made an additional application for $4,000 covering the same period and it is expected that total grants would exceed $21,000.

Raw Milk Shows Improvement

The quality of raw milk coming into Peterborough is getting better said public health veterinarian Dr. F. J. Harnden, in his written report to the Board of Health, Wednesday.

During May, over 86 per cent of milk received from dairy farmers was satisfactory, while last year for the same month only 65 per cent was satisfactory, reported Dr. Harnden.

"Our campaign to ensure adequate cooling of fluid milk on the farm is progressing very well, with many producers already having installed mechanical coolers," he said.

His report went on to say that other producers have ordered coolers and are awaiting delivery. Some have found it necessary to overhaul their present cooling systems in order to maintain their milk at the proper temperature, which is below 50 degrees.

"The co-operation of the producers in regard to cooling has been extremely encouraging and will have a great effect on the quality of the milk produced.

"We are considering awarding a 'Certificate of Quality' to those producers who will have been successful in producing grade one milk through 1954," Dr. Harnden's report said.

Since the coming of the warm weather, Dr. Harnden takes pasteurized milk samples twice a month. A total of 68 samples were taken during May and in several cases the bacteria counts were unsatisfactory. However, there was no evidence of underpasteurization in any of the samples taken.

550 Casting Rods Stolen In Raid On Tackle Plant

Thieves who must really take fishing seriously made a big haul early Wednesday in Havelock.

They broke into the Canada Fishing Tackle and Sports Ltd. on Ottawa St. and stole 550 casting rods valued at $1,425. Then—showing they were out for more than just good clean sport—they rifled a desk and took off with $43.75 from petty cash.

The fishing tackle business is located across from the CPR station. Police report the thieves got in early Wednesday, ransacked the inside, and stole the casting rods and cash.

Inculded in the haul were Viking and Havelock steel rods and Imperial Prince glass rods.

The breakin was discovered Wednesday by Gilbert Crook who, with his father, runs the business.

Investigating are Chief R. W. Hall, OPP Cpl. Joseph Hanson and Constable Emmett Crough of Peterborough.

City Spends Within Budget During First Four Months

Civic spending in Peterborough during the first four months of this year, excluding payments on debt charges, was running slightly below the budgeted appropriations.

With one-third of the year gone, total expenditures were $919,007.86, or not quite a third of the total 1954 appropriation of $2,811,707.84, leaving a total of $1,892,699.98 for the remaining two-thirds of the year, according to the statement of revenue and expenses submitted to city council by city treasurer A. S. Couper.

While most spending bodies were well within their budgets, total expenditures were increased considerably by board of education spending which, at $370,000, was still running well over a third of the 1954 appropriation of $829,020.88. With no teachers' salaries to be paid during July and August, however, the ratio of board spending should level out by September.

WELFARE AHEAD

The only item included under special rates which was running ahead of its appropriations was welfare, on which $16,778.60 was spent of a total appropriation of $46,000.

With an appropriation of $1,495,961.02, spending under general rates was only $405,108.41 during the first four months, leaving $1,090,852.61 for the rest of the year.

With an appropriation of $96,592.64 for the year, garbage collections, which also are paid out of a special rate, cost only $30,413.54, leaving $66,179.10 for the remainder of the year.

Payments to Civic Hospital totalled $53,128.47 of an appropriation of $214,010, leaving an unused appropriation of $160,881.53.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD

The separate school board spent $43,578.84 of a total appropriation of $130,123.30, leaving $86,544.46 for the remainder of the year.

Although revenues from sources other than taxes, at $107,863.07, were well below a third of the estimate of $389,116.35 for the year, there were no receipts of unconditional provincial grants, estimated at $95,680, an estimated grant of $7,300 for children's aid, border transit franchise ($12,500), poll tax ($3,700) or from the Liquor Control Board ($8,500).

There was $12,942.26 in the Memorial Centre bank account, $232,597.81 in the Memorial Centre investment account, and $78,860.41 in the board of works depreciation account.

Thief Gets $365 Cash, Cigarettes

By the deft use of a screwdriver a thief broke into the rear of Ray's restaurant in Bewdley early today and made off with cash and cigarettes, valued in all at more than $365.

While the proprietor of the restaurant, Jung Len, napped between 2 a.m. and 8 a.m. in an adjoining building, the thief crept to the rear of the restaurant through an alcove and unscrewed the screen door lock.

Once inside, he scooped up loose cigarettes on the counter and cartons on the shelves behind. Len estimated their total value at between $200 and $300.

Altogether $115 in silver and bills was also stolen. Some of the money was taken from the till; $70 from a small drawer, and an estimated $15 from a tin box in an old soft drink cooler.

Everything was in order when he closed the restaurant at 2 a.m., Len told the investigating officer, OPP Constable William Warner of Cobourg. When he returned to open up, six hours later, the breakin had taken place.

John F. Johnson Appointed Inspector

A native of Peterborough, John F. Johnston, BA, of the staff of Chatham Collegiate Institute, was recently notified of his appointment as an elementary school inspector.

A son of Mrs. Albert Middleton, 660 Reid St., he is a graduate of St. Peter's High School, Queen's University, Kingston, Peterborough Normal School and the Ontario College of Education, Toronto.

Mr. Johnston has been assigned as inspector to Separate School Division 3, with residence in Windsor. The inspectorate consists of some schools in the city of Windsor, as well as some in the surrounding district.

Lock Foils Attempt To Burglar Garage

A solid hasp and lock, which refused to yield, stopped a would-be burglar at Stan Cann's service station, Lansdowne St. east, sometime Wednesday night.

The proprietor discovered today that the wire screen covering a back window had been torn open and a small window pane broken. The burglar had managed to undo two latches on the window, but a third latch and padlock had failed to give.

Detective sergeant John Stevenson and detective Dennis Traynor investigated the attempted breakin this morning.

NIGHT ON RICE LAKE

Two women and a man from Liverpool, Ohio, spent an uncomfortable night on Rice lake. They set out for a boat trip from Bewdley, 2 p.m. Wednesday, and somewhat more than a mile from shore their engine stalled when they tried to come back in. Early today they were sighted from shore by somebody with binoculars and Don Sidey went out to bring the stranded trio in.

Gov't Says Airport A Possibility For Peterborough

Federal Transport Minister Chevrier said in the House of Commons in Ottawa Wednesday there is a possibility of developing an airport in the Peterborough area, but the government requires firm offers of local financial assistance if one is to be built.

He was replying to a question by Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough) during the Commons study of transport department estimates. Mr. Fraser said the department had been making surveys in the Peterborough area.

Mr. Chevrier later said that TCA would like to inaugurate a cross-country run between Windsor and Montreal with stops at Cornwall, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Toronto and London.

Mr. Fraser suggested that Peterborough should be one of the points on the run.

MAYBE FOR CPA

"I do not think Peterborough is in that line of operation," Mr. Chevier said. "Perhaps we should reserve that for CPA."

However, it appeared unlikely that the new run would be put in operation in the near future. Mr. Chevrier said the government must concentrate in the immediate future on the development of Canada's major airports.

Plans for expenditures this year at the London, Ont., airport were dropped because of this policy.

"We have to give attention to the major transcontinental airports," Mr. Chevrier said. "I know that TCA would like to have a cross-country run between Montreal and Windsor, with stops at Cornwall, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Toronto and London."

In reply to Mr. Fraser's earlier question, Mr. Chevrier said there were no present plans for an airport in the Peterborough area. Government policy was that there should be a financial contribution by either the city or some other organization.

SURVEY MADE

The transport department's survey of land in North Monaghan township some months ago aroused considerable speculation locally as to whether or not an airport was planned in that area. It also revived interest among local firms who had previously offered to support such a project.

Clarence Neal, president and general-manager of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. Ltd., said today his company was still willing to make some financial contribution to the establishment of a local airport, provided other firms did the same. He believed that others were also interested.

"But it's entirely too early to do any guessing," Mr. Neal said. "There's no point in getting the people excited about it at least until the report of the survey is complette."

LITTLE ENTHUSIASM

City officials were equally reticent to display any enthusiasm. It was pointed out that a wartime survey had indicated district terrain was unsuitably rolling for a sizeable airport.

From the point of view of its strategic location for the RCAF and its relation to TCA routes, Peterborough seemed an unlikely prospect for sizeable help from the federal government for a municipal airport.

But reactions to the transport m[illegible]er's statements in the House of [illegible]mmons Wednesday indicated the airport is not a dead issue yet.

Ask For Report On Health Of Cart Vendors

A letter from the city council, requesting the medical officer of health to report on the state of health of push-cart confection vendors, was received by the Board of Health.

At the board meting Wednesday in city hall, Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH, said: "Licenses were issued to vendors without reference to the health department, which was presumably in accordance with the existing bylaws.

"However it is still possible for me under the Public Health Act to have such examination made and I will do so."

At the same time the board considered a letter from the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association, which requested compulsory examinations of all food handlers in hotels and restaurants and offered their assistance in chest x-rays for these people.

Dr. Wells pointed out that the board had already instructed him to submit proposed revisions of bylaws of interest to his department.

He moved that the board advise the association that consideration will be given to the compulsory examinations of food handlers including chest x-rays, when the proposed revision of bylaws are prepared.

Many Changes Seen In City's Department Of Health

One of Peterborough's fastest-growing branches of civic administration, the department of health is observing its 20th anniversary this week with the prospect of further expansion.

Actually, the department of health was not established until July 1, 1934, but two weeks before, on June 13, city council passed a bylaw appointing Dr. G. Murray Fraser the city's first permanent medical officer of health.

The original staff consisted of three persons. Besides Dr. Fraser, there were sanitary inspector C S. Stapleton and the secretary of the department, Miss Alma Blanchard.

Today there are 16 on the staff headed by Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH. Openings exist for four more.

Of the original staff of three, Miss Blanchard has remained with the department throughout its 20 years of existence and is now supervisory clerk of the office staff.

Prior to Dr. Fraser's appointment the duties of medical officer of health were carried out on a part-time basis by city physicians, who used their own offices as headquarters. All official records were kept in the city clerk's office.

Mr. Stapleton had served as sanitary inspector long before the department came into existence. He had a desk in the city engineer's office.

VOLUNTARY GROUP

Public nursing was provided by the Peterborough Health Association, a voluntary organization financed by an annual grant of $1,000 from the city and by public subscription. One nurse was employed by the association to conduct bedside nursing. With the establishment of the Victorian Order of Nurses in 1941, the association's nursing service was discontinued.

In 1934 the board of health decided that public health services in the city should be combined. The bylaw authorizing Dr. Fraser's appointment was passed June 13 and took effect July 1. On September 10, the tiny department took over offices in the Simcoe St. city hall.

At the beginning of the Second World War, Dr. Fraser enlisted. While his position was held open for him, the city was served by three acting medical officers of health, Dr. L. A. Clarke, appointed in 1940, Dr. D. Avison, in 1941, and Dr. R. A. Kelly in 1943.

Dr. Kelly received his permanent appointment in 1946 and was succeeded in October, 1952, by Dr. Wells.

OFFICE CREATED

The office of supervisor of public health nurses was created in 1940 when two nurses were employed by the department.

Dr. Harold Worton became the city's first food and dairy inspector in 1943. Previously this work had been the responsibility of the sanitary inspector. Dr. Worton had been employed as assistant to Mr. MacPherson, who was sanitary inspector from 1944 to 1948.

Meanwhile, the department had outgrown its quarters in the city hall and had been given space in the old Turner house. In October, 1951, it moved into the new city hall.

A year later, when Dr. Wells was appointed MOH, there were 10 on the staff. There are now 16.

The part-time office of food and dairy inspector was done away with and Dr. Fred J. Harnden was last year appointed full-time public health veterinarian.

K. G. Spencer is sanitary inspector. The provincial department of public health recommends one sanitary inspector for every 20,000 population, so the appointment of another inspector is expected.

SCHOOLS INCLUDED

Last September the school health services were incorporated into the department's program to establish a city-wide standard of services. As a result, the department now employs eight public health nurses, with Miss M. E. McIlveen as supervisor. The appointment of a secondary school nurse is being considered.

The clerical staff has grown to four under Miss Blanchard's supervision. Occasional help is also hired for clerical work.

Last year, Dr. H. Wright was appointed assistant to the medical officer of health but was forced to retire because of ill health. A successor is to be appointed.

The department is rounded out by plumbing inspector A. G. Metheral.

While the growth of the city and the incorporation of the school health services have led to the expansion of the health department, the added cost to the city has been minimized by the new federal grants in aid administered by the province.

These grants cover the cost of occasional part-time physicians' services, the public health veterinarian and the prospective assistant sanitary inspector. They also provide for one of the staff nurses, the prospective secondary school nurse, two junior clerks and the occasional clerks.

Thus, if the contemplated additions to the staff of the department are made, the department will have doubled in size what it was less than two years ago, from 10 to 20. Of the 10 additional employees, the cost of six will be covered by federal grants in aid.

Ailing Golfers Try For Title

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—The 54th national golf championship—the "aching back Open"—tees off today with the big finger pointing at a pair of ailing old pros.

Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, both 42, are firm co-favorites in the blue ribbon field of 162 which starts rolling over Baltusrol's fairways at 8 a.m. EDT.

Hogan, seeking to become the first man to win five U.S. Opens, is fighting the after-effects of a virus attack which bedded him two weeks ago. He's still under a doctor's care.

Snead, whose previous Opens have been marked by near-misses and frustration, is troubled with a sore muscle in his neck which hampers his swing.

"Wolf Pack Boys"

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Four youths, one only 14 years old, were jailed today for life for what the prosecution called a "wolf pack" rape in a Sdyney park of a pregnant 19-year-old girl. The 14-year-old denied the charge. The three other boys—two 17 and one 18—claimed she consented to their advances.

Lindsay Defeated On One-Hit Effort

LINDSAY (ENS)—Lorne Schell of Stouffville Red Sox pitched a near perfect game against Lindsay Walkwoods in the Tri-County League last night, registering a 6-0 one-hit triumph and losing his no-hitter with two out in the final inning.

Schell pitched to only two batters over the limit in the masterpiece. In the first six and two-thirds innings he walked two, one of them being forced at second in an attempted steal, and had the Lindsay hitters hitting to the infield off his slow stuff. Then with two out in the seventh Walkwood manager Jack Deboit blooped a hit to short left field that dropped in for a single to spoil the effort. Debois was promptly wiped out trying to steal to end the game.

Offensively the Red Sox got top efforts from Ken Schell with two doubles and a single, Al Adger and Lorne Schell with two hits each. They shelled starter Hal Williams from the mound in the fourth after scoring five of their runs and added one off reliefer Orv Billinger in the sixth. Only three balls were hit to the Sox outfield off Schell's slants through the seven innings.

Alan Young Tries Hand At TV Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Saturday night Alan Young launches yet another chapter in his amazing up-and-down career in show business.

The bright, youthful Canadian comic will be the guest star on NBC - TV's Saturday Night Review, and he'll appear eight times on the show this summer. He'll be doing what he does best—sprightly sketches of a well-meaning man caught in the web of circumstance.

This fall he may be back with a regular show, for which NBC has high hopes. It's tentatively called "That's Life," and the former comedian plays a bumbling Mr. Fixit. He also has plans for his own show, in which he and a stock company would play comedy sketches.

And so his star is again in the ascendancy. He has been in Hollywood exactly 10 years this month and now can view his hectic career with some candor.

"I've never been out of work since 1938," he reflected, "but my career has certainly had its highs and lows."

Born in England, he started out in show business as a monologuist in Canada when he was 13. He became a top radio comedian on the Canadian network, then was lured by offers from the United States.

AMERICANS LIKED HIM

"I came to New York and nobody knew me," he recalled. "I remember sitting at a little orange juice stand and listening to a broken-down radio while Eddie Cantor announced that next week the great Canadian comedian, Alan Young, would be on the show."

Young caught on with American radio audiences and came to Hollywood. He landed a contract with 20th Century-Fox and scored a success in "Margie." But after a couple of so-so films he was dropped by the studio. He also went off the air.

"So I worked up an act to play theatres," he said. "That was fine, except that I played four and that's all there were. I was very discouraged when I was playing Detroit, and I went up to Canada to scout the possibilities of going back there. I had decided to return when I got a call from my agent that CBS was interested in having me for a TV show. He talked me out of going back to Canada."

Slightly Erroneous

BENARES, India (Reuters)—Frightened citizens besieged newspaper offices today demanding more details of "the greatest tragedy in history" after reading banner headlines that 500,000 people had been killed by an atom bomb explosion in Canada. Editors explained they had misunderstood a radio report on the mock atomic raid test carried out this week in the United States and Canada.

HAMILTON LEADS

MONTREAL (CP) — The Royal Hamilton Yacht Club stayed out front Wednesday in the Royal regatta at nearby Pointe Claire, but Norman Marcus' Royal Kennebacasis crew from Saint John, N.B., sailed into second place as a result of the day's races.

The Royal Kennebacasis Yacht Club moved from seventh to a fourth place tie when they sailed the Royal yacht Bluebottle across the line first in the fourth race in the morning and again led in the fifth race in the afternoon to take over the No. 2 spot.

IMATRA, Finland (AP) — John Landy, Australia's ace miler, Wednesday won a 2,000-metre race in five minutes, 12.6 seconds. Landy's time was far off the world standard of 5:07 held by Gaston Reiff of Belgium.

SCOTS SCORE

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Scotland opened up strongly against Pakistan in an international cricket match here Wednesday, scoring 284 for five wickets by the close of play. The day's top scorer was Nichol, still playing with 70 runs to his credit. He teamed up with Aitchison to get 80 points in a fast hour shortly towards the end of the day.

DENIES REPORT

DETROIT (CP)—Nick Barway, general manager of Detroit Lions of the National Football League, Wednesday denied reports that Lorne (Boom Boom) Benson, 23-year-old Winnipeg Blue Bomber fullback may play this year with the Lions. Benson, six-foot, 190-pound product of Winnipeg junior football, tied a Canadian record last year with six touchdowns in one game.

SETTLEMENT DEFERRED

OTTAWA (CP)—A deadlock in the Big Four Football Union over permitting Ottawa and Montreal to use an extra Canadianized import player apparently won't be settled until July 17.

D. Wes Brown, Big Four secretary, said in an interview Wednesday night he has received word from Toronto that past Big Four president Cec McFaddin is too ill in hospital there to cast the tie-breaking vote. He said a meeting of the league is tentatively set for July 17 in Toronto to rule on the issue.

SIGN 2 IMPORTS

HAMILTON (CP) — Signing of two more United States football players was announced Wednesday night by coach Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Al Varner, tackle from Florida A and M, and William Brashier, halfback from North Texas Teachers' College, raised the Big Four club's import total to 16.

NEW YORK (AP) — Governors of the National Hockey League voted Wednesday to hold the annual all-star game in Detroit, home of the Stanley Cup champions, early in October.

Picking the site was the only announced accomplishment at the annual schedule - making meeting Wednesday.

Australians Miss Training

MELBOURNE, (Reuters)—Members of the Australian team to compete in the British Empire Games in Vancouver in July and August have spent so much time attending functions to raise funds for their expenses that they have had to neglect their training.

In spite of this, the Australians hope to win at least 17 events and possibly 20, and feel they have a good chance of becoming the unofficial champions of the Empire games for the third time in succession.

Sufficient money now has been raised to send a team of 53, while a further 19 have been selected if they can raise their own expenses.

No concerted training schedule has been drawn up for any section of the Australian team. For most members it is the off-season and training is difficult in the cold, wintry conditions. For athletes and swimmers, suitable training facilities are not available.

Protest Deferment Of Grant Amendment

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mayor Allan Rush, recently-elected president of the Ontario Mayors' and Reeves' Association, Wednesday sent a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent protesting deferment of the Municipal Grants Act amendment.

The telegram read:

"Since the Municipal Grants Act amendment in the speech from the throne, the municipalities affected have definitely planned their borrowing and major outlays in the next few months on this basis. Greatly disturbed at press statements that you are deferring this legislation. Urge enactment before Parliament prorogues."

Government Approves $54,500 To CNIB

TORONTO (CP) — Payment of $54,500 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind as a contribution to three service centres in Ontario, has been approved by the Ontario government.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow said Wednesday the government is making the following payments to the institute: $22,000 as final payment on a total bed capacity of 43 at the London and district residence and service centres; $16,000, representing 50 per cent of an amount calculated on a total bed capacity of 52 at the Kingston and district service centre and $16,500, based on a 33-bed capacity, to the Port Arthur and district service centre.

Charles Bucks Marciano Power

NEW YORK (AP) — Ezzard Charles bucks the explosive power of heavyweight king Rocky Marciano and a 54-year-old tradition of the ring tonight in a final try to become the first ex-champion to regain boxing's most prized crown. The odds are 5 to 18 that he fails.

The forecast is for fair and warmer although an earlier prediction by the weatherman called for a threat of late evening thundershowers. But possible postponement which could force a week's setback of the 15-round title fight in Yankee Stadium was uppermost in the minds of the principals and promoters as they anxiously peered at the sky. A canopy was placed above the ring to keep the canvas dry.

After months of hard training, the gladiators were ready for boxing's biggest and most dramatic show. A rainstorm and a delay until next Thursday meant losing that razor edge they've drilled for so long. It could put a big dent in the receipts, too. Postponements bring cancellations.

There will be no home television of the undefeated Marciano's third title defense. The bout will start at 10:30 p. EDT.

Defer Decision On Reopening Moulton College

OTTAWA (CP)—After heated discussion the annual assembly of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec Wednesday deferred decision until next year on a motion to raise $750,000 to reopen Moulton College in Toronto.

Rev. Emlyn Davis of Toronto moved that the convention authorize a campaign at once, but an amendment to defer it proposed by Rev. Harold Stibbard of Welland, Ont., was carried. In the interim the executive of the convention is to investigate the possibilities for such a drive.

Walter Sbell of Selkirk, Ont., said the convention should keep a sense of proportion and not be swept off its feet by sentiment. The school had only served a small number of girls.

Board members elected during the session included: board of evangelism and social service Rev. Ian G. Hind, Brockville; Arthur Smith, St. Catharines; and Rev. Cyril Squires, Brantford; board of religious education, Rev. Harold J. Balsdon, Kitchener; Miss Donna Robinson, Oshawa, and Miss Gwenyth Shaw, New Liskeard, Ont.

CROPS IN DANGER—The Weekes district of northern Saskatchewan has its worst flooding in 25 years. Heavy rain raised the level of swollen streams and covered sections of recently-seeded crops. Says Deep-Sea Shipping Fairly Good

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday Canada's position in deep-sea shipping is good by comparison with other countries.

Canada, despite the fact it has only 21 deep-sea dry cargo vessels sailing under the Canadian flag, could count on sharing in a shipping pool set up under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The pool includes about 100 Canadian-owned ships transferred to British registry a few years ago. Ownership remains in Canada.

Mr. Chevrier replied in the Commons to Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) who described the reduction in Canada's merchant navy as one of the greatest tragedies of the post-war years.

FURTHER REDUCED

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's dwindling ocean-going merchant fleet was reduced Wednesday as two more ships, the Sunwhit and Sunjewel, were reported transferred to British registry.

Charge RCAF Doing Civilian Flying Jobs

OTTAWA (CP)— Howard Green (PC — Vancouver-Quadra) said Wednesday the RCAF is doing too many civilian flying jobs, thus interfering with the development of commercial aviation.

He said in the Commons the air transport board should be careful in the future in granting the RCAF permission to undertake flying normally performed by civilian companies.

Transport Minister Chevrier said he agrees with Mr. Green, adding that the board now is trying by every means to encourage civilian aviation.

Heavy Rains New Problem To Western Wheat Men

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons has completed a debate on wheat marketing problems but western wheat growers face a new problem in the form of rain-sodden fields.

Repeated heavy rains have hit the Prairies this spring and Wednesday the bureau of statistics reported that new storms last week swept through northwest Manitoba northeast Saskatchewan and west and north-central Alberta.

The report said wheat acreage will decline in affected areas because of the delay in seeding. Experts say the rains may have trimmed intended wheat planting by more than 1,000,000 acres.

The bureau estimated last month that farmers intended to cut wheat plantings this year by almost 1,000,000 acres to 24,587,100, lowest in six years.

NORMAL CROP

Canada has produced three successive bumper crops in the last three years. Officials now guess this year will see no more than a normal crop of about 350,000,000 bushels.

The bureau's report Wednesday was released at about the same time that the Commons was defeating two opposition motions of non - confidence in government wheat marketing policies.

A Progressive Conservative motion saying the government has "failed to deal effectively with the problem of marketing Canada's wheat surplus" was defeated 137 to 58.

A CCF proposal for a floor price on wheat of at least $1.82½ was defeated 168 to 26. The price was the level prior to a recent 10-cent-a-bushel cut in export prices.

All three opposition parties supported the PC motion, but Conservatives sided with Liberals on the CCF price-floor motion. Liberals also were supported in voting against both motions by two independent members, Raoul Poulin, Beauce, and Fernand Girard, Lapointe.

Chevrier Receives Advance Applause

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier received advance congratulations Wednesday in the Commons just in case he's appointed head of the St. Lawrence seaway authority.

Mr. Chevrier's appointment to the authority, which will direct the role Canada will play in the $300,000,000 seaway project, has been rumored here for some time.

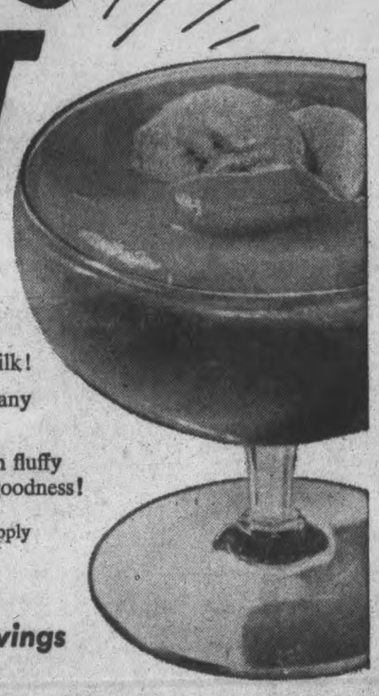
Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) said he wanted to express good wishes to Mr. Chevrier "just in case he is not back next session."

Ammonia, household cleanser and refrigerant, has more than 2,000 commercial uses.

DISOBEDIENT—Parking restrictions don't bother this swarm of bees invading downtown Allentown, Pa. Police couldn't do a thing with the "lawbreakers," but a beekeeper solved the situation by rounding them up.

Dropped Plan Extend Runways

OTTAWA (CP) — Government plans to extend runways at Crumlin airport near London, Ont., were dropped because of needs at other airfields, Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday.



Robert W. Mitchell (PC—London) said in the Commons that he understood last year the runways would be extended to provide for larger aircraft and asked why transport department estimates did not include money for the project.

Mr. Chevrier replied that a planned expenditure for the London airport was dropped from the original spending plans of his department because of requirements at major airports in Canada. However, it might be possible to provide money for the London field later.

Defends Plane

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's chief of air staff Wednesday hit back at critics of the RCAF's CF-100 jet fighter and said the plane is a world-beater. Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, here on a western tour, said at a press conference "there is no better all-weather fighter in operation in the world today than the CF-100 used by RCAF squadrons."

Heads Showing On Winter Wheat

Equivalent of the sundial of the season is the report from some of the counties that—winter wheat is heading out. And the sun halts next week at its northern boundary and turns south again.

Haldimand and Elgin are two spots on the provincial map where many fields of hay are disappointingly short—North Simcoe, Elgin, Haldimand and so on.

Otherwise the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture finds, as in Grey: crop prospects are excellent; corn planting is completed in western Ontario; many farmers have been putting up grass silage.

And in Lincoln: hay harvesting by the conventional methods has begun. In Oxford the infestation with yellow rocket is very severe, but "fall wheat gives every indication of a better than average crop".

STRAWBERRIES

Early strawberries are on the market in the Welland area; and Durham says there has been a substantial increase in the acreage of soybeans. "One cash crop farmer has 55 acres and another 35."

Ed Summer also comments: "Some of our farmers who used a special grass and clover seed machine mounted between the rollers of the packer in 1953 have an excellent stand with only using about 60 per cent of the usual amount of seed."

"Rye will be in head shortly" in Northumberland; "early wheat is just coming in head; tomato plants look bad, and a great deal of resetting has been necessary."

Planting of grain corn and soybeans in Victoria, Frontenac and Hastings is about finished. The last of the season's planting job is ended in Lanark.

Approve Plan For Alberta Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for municipalities and other bodies Wednesday expressed approval of a proposed $300,000,000 pipeline to carry Alberta natural gas to the East by an all-Canadian route.

Their views were placed before the board of transport commissioners as it continued hearings on an application by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., for a permit to build the 2,200-mile line, which would be the world's longest.

Mr. Justice J. D. Kearney, chief commissioner, also observed the board is anxious to see the project go forward "if it is at all feasible."

However, he indicated any permit would be issued in stages, rather than granted outright now. The board might give authority for successive preliminary stages of the massive undertaking as full information on various phases was developed before it.

MUST MAKE SURE

"We must make sure no premature permit is granted," he said, "and that all the necessary information is put before us. . . It's a gigantic thing, and we are going to look carefully into all aspects."

Mayors of the twin Lakehead communities of Fort William and Port Arthur went before the board Wednesday and declared the all-Canadian line vital for the full development of northwestern Ontario. It is to skirt the northern shore of Lake Superior.

However, Mayors Fred C. Robinson of Port Arthur and Gordon Carson of Fort William expressed doubts about a concurrent proposal for Trans-Canada to drop gas down into the U.S. market south of Winnipeg.

Mayor Robinson said the line to the U.S. should not be allowed until the cross-Canada section has been completed. The U.S. diversion, he said, could conceivably delay the construction of the main line.

Asks Ottawa Right Japanese Injustices

OTTAWA (CP) Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver Kingsway) said Wednesday night the government should right "injustices" done to Japanese Canadians in their forced evacuation to other parts of Canada from the west coast in 1942.

He said hundreds of expropriated properties were sold without proper recompense. The government should allow an appeal of their cases to the Exchequer Court.

State Secretary Pickersgill said the cabinet had decided against a review of all cases and he concurs with the cabinet decision.

Criticize CNR Hotel Request

OTTAWA (CP)—Criticism was levelled Wednesday in the Senate at a request by Canadian National Railways for $5,000,000 to start work on a $20,000,000 hotel in Montreal.

A Liberal senator said the railway has no reason to be in the hotel business and the Opposition leader urged that work on the hotel be postponed for five years in view of the uncertain economic outlook.

Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) opposed construction of the hotel. Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Upper Chamber, urged postponement of the work on it.

Vote $1,000,000 For Airport Property

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Wednesday voted $1,000,000 for the purchase of property in the vicinity of main Canadian airports and Transport Minister Chevrier said the expenditure is just a beginning.

The money will be used by the transport department to acquire land to control properties in the vicinity of main terminal airports. Federal ownership of the property would prevent the erection of hazards to flying and allow future expansion.

Mr. Chevrier said bulk of the money will be spent purchasing land around the airports at Malton, Ont., Dorval, Que., and Vancouver.

Sign Magnani

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Hal Wallis Wednesday signed Anna Magnani, famed Italian actress, for her first American picture. She will co-star with Burt Lancaster in "Rose Tattoo," the film version of Tennessee Williams' Broadway hit.

May Give Up Range

Candidate Withdraws

WINNIPEG (CP)—Louis Moroshick, Winnipeg lawyer, has withdrawn from the leadership race of the Manitoba Progressive Conservative party, leaving three candidates in the running. His withdrawal leaves three candidates: present leader Errick Willis; Duff Roblin; and Lt.-Col. J. Arthur Ross.

John L. Lewis Making Fight To Boss Waterfront

TORONTO (CP)—A fight to control Toronto's waterfront appears in the making between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America (CCL) and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC).

A. A. McKay, UMW representative, said Wednesday all organized Toronto stevedores have resigned from the Brotherhood and joined the Mine Workers.

The UMW has applied to the Ontario labor relations board for certification to represent the longshoremen, employed by the Eastern Stevedoring Company.

The working force, numbering about 120 men, had been represented by the Brotherhood since 1951.

Entry of the Mine Workers into the Toronto waterfront came as a surprise to local labor observers. They speculated it might be the start of a campaign by Lewis to control lake ports because of the growth in business anticipated when the St. Lawrence seaway opens.

House Enjoys Battle Of Verbal Barbs

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons was treated to about 30 minutes of laughter and noise Wednesday night when three members engaged in a running battle of verbal barbs.

The exchange was mostly between two British Columbians, Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) and Fisheries Minister Sinclair. State Secretary Pickersgill, whose estimates were under consideration at the time, also interjected a remark or two.

Kibitzers here and there added to the difficulties of Edward T. Applewhaite, deputy chairman of the Committee of the Whole House, in restoring order.

At one point, Mr. Fulton quoted at length from a newspaper interview Mr. Pickersgill gave the Kamloops Sentinel last April.

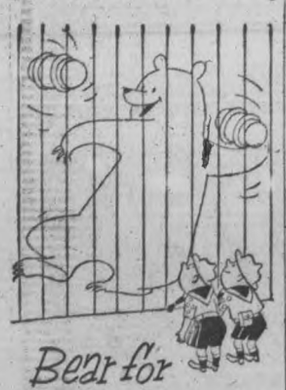
QUOTES PHRASE

A phrase in the story—"Mr. Pickersgill must be a cartoonist's delight"—led Mr. Fulton to observe:

"Of course, that reminds us of the cartoons during the last federal election in which the gentleman (Mr. Pickersgill) was portrayed as claiming the origin and beneficence of having introduced the family allowance program."

Mr. Sinclair: "The Tory party always objected to family allowances."

Mr. Fulton: "That was a parentage which was strongly disputed by the minister of national health and welfare." (Hon. Paul Martin)



Mr. Sinclair: "The Tory party obstructed the marriage. Family allowances were a political pariah, according to the Tories. They had no share in it."

HOPE LAST TIME

Mr. Applewhaite: ". . . I hope this will be the last time the member will oblige me to insist upon asking him to restrain his remarks to the item before the committee. He knows as well as I do that he is unrestricted in his criticism of the department of the secretary of state, and I think he will be willing to remain within the limits of the rule."

Mr. Sinclair: "I hope so."

Mr. Fulton: ". . . I wish to say that the Tory party has never yet stood in the way of an honest marriage. And if the secretary of state wishes to make an honest woman of the Liberal party, and come back to the ranks we shall not stand in the way of that union. . . ."

Bear for Punishment

ALASKA'S GIANT Kodiac bear plays rough. But the people who run the Bronx Zoo have found the perfect toy for him. It's an aluminum beer barrel, which in his playful moments he can bang, bounce and generally maltreat without serious damage. Having seen barrels (filled) being tossed around trucks, we can understand why breweries have turned to these rugged, attractive containers. Another reason, of course, is that aluminum is an excellent protector for food and drink, preserving their purity and flavour indefinitely. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Allow Disabled Have 2 Allowances

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's Disabled Persons' Allowances Act has been amended so that those also receiving an allowance under the Workmen's Compensation Act will not have their pensions reduced, Welfare Minister Goodfellow said Wednesday.

As a result of the amendment, disabled persons will continue to draw the full pension of $40 monthly and anything they receive as compensation will be considered as income.

Vice-Chief of Staff

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlap, 46, of Sydney Mines, N.S., has been appointed vice-chief of the air staff, the RCAF announced Wednesday.

He succeeds Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller, named last week as chief of staff to Gen. Lauris Norstad at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe.

HEADS NEGOTIATORS—Frank Hall of Montreal is chairman of the negotiating committee of the non-operating railway union seeking a new contract with Canada's railways at meetings in Montreal. Some 145,000 workers, those who do not actually operate trains, are asking for "fringe" benefits in the new contract.—(CP Photo).

30 U.S. Editors Visit Fort Henry

KINGSTON (CP)—Thirty United States newspaper editors lived for an afternoon Wednesday in the stirring times of 1860 when they visited historic old Fort Henry here on the ninth day of their annual Ontario - government sponsored tour.

The visitors arrived by bus from Cornwall and had luncheon in the fortress. Later the group left for Cobourg.

Bomb Inventor Would Feel Safer If Oppenheimer Knew Less

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man credited by many scientists with unlocking the door to the hydrogen bomb says he would feel safer if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer did not hold custody of vital atomic secrets.

The scientist is Dr. Edward Teller, 46-year-old University of California professor, said by Oppenheimer himself to have been the "principal inventor" of the fearful H-bomb.

Even as Dr. Teller expressed some reservations about Oppenheimer, father of the atomic bomb, many of the key men who worked shoulder - to - shoulder with him in top-secret projects rallied to Oppenheimer's defence, calling him a man of complete loyalty, integrity and devotion to his country.

On the other side of the picture, William L. Bordon, former executive secretary of the congressional atomic committee, described Oppenheimer as "more probably than not an agent of the Soviet Union."

OTHER HANDS

Teller said he regarded Oppenheimer as loyal, but said "I would like to see the vital interests of this country in hands which I understand better, and therefore trust more."

All this conflicting testimony—and a backstage account of the momentous, tortuous development of the H-bomb—was disclosed Tuesday in the release of the transcipt of hearings before a special security board of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The most revealing new testimony was the inside version from Garden Dean former AEC chairman and other scientists and officials of the pulling and hauling in secret over whether to launch a big H-bomb effort after the Russians exploded an atomic bomb in 1949, and what happened to that effort.

Even after former president Truman ordered the H-bomb project in January, 1950, for more than a year the program was stalled and prospects were dismal.

"We never saw anything that really had a chance" of producing a workable bomb, Dean testified.

Dr. J. W. Alvarez, University of California scientist, said Oppenheimer had said almost a year after the Truman directive that the H-bomb project "will die a natural death" after Pacific tests planned for 1951 "fail."

WAS "THRILLED"

Then, dramatically, in the spring of 1951, Dr. Teller made what was described as a "brilliant discovery" and brought this idea to the desperate June meeting.

After two days, Dean said, everybody was convinced that the project at last was on the right track and Oppenheimer himself was "enthusiastic . . . almost thrilled."

IT PAYS TO DO BUSINESS WHERE BUSINESS IS BEING DONE

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Beef Should Be Hung 14 To 17 Days

LETTER:. . .other folks' problems seem to have been mine also and I have greatly benefitted by your replies to them. . .today a trivial problem came up. ... in making an orange ice the recipe called for 1 quart of water and when measured proved to be FIVE AND ONE-QUARTER cups of water instead of the FOUR CUPS supposedly to 1 quart (I used a milk bottle for measuring). . . . it is necesary to use 1 tablespoon gelatin in ices and sherbets? whipped cream. . .if the time ever comes when you have no readers with problems to solve would you please write a page about cooking and freezing meats? I made the mushroom meat? I made (simply delicious—destroyed all ofter after trying this) and used the method of freezing described . . .should hamburg patties be just shaped or may I add an egg and seasonings first. . .I just wish you could drop in and have a cup of coffee and a slice of sunshine cake . . .I love hearing about your family. . . Helen P.

ANSWER: I hated to shorten such a kind and precious letter. . . I have left out all too many of the warm parts.

Now to get down to this freezing of meat.

First—do not salt or add seasoning to your ground meat patties. Do not cook them, but wrap them in single layers of double freezer paper so they may be readily unwrapped.

Two things that I have discovered that inexperienced freezer-owners might do are: 1) freeze beef that has not been hung for at least 10 days—but preferably 14 to 17 days. 2) freeze meat with bones in—DO NOT DO THIS— for the bones take up precious freezer space.

PACKAGING

Roasts should be boned and rolled (after the carcass has been well-hung and packed individually in freezer paper or bags. If ground meat is frozen it should be packaged in amounts suitable for a meat loaf or enough to make meat patties for the family. Steaks, chops or ground meat patties could be packaged together in freeze wrappings but when you come to cook it the pieces will be more easily separated if a double layer of moisture-vapour-proof material is placed between each one.

LABELLING

After the meat is packaged, labelit. Use heavy marking pencil and give type of meat, weight, number of possible servings — in other words all data that will help you to locate exactly what will suit your purpose weeks or even months later.

Then fast freeze at once. BUT IF readers who do not have home freezers have to take their wrapped meat to lockers, the wrapped meat should be kept in the refrigerator until all is ready to be delivered—the same day of course, and as early as possible.

The freezing of cooked meats and of seasoned meats is a controversial subject and I must not advise one way or another here—except to say the safe way—freezing your meat raw and unseasoned, has been found successful—some of the other methods have not.

Wrapping and packaging is the same for all meat, expect that it is recommended that cuts of

Gifts, Messages Shower L. Brownscombe

Highest esteem and deepest respect for Miss Leta Brownscombe were expressed in the attendance of more than 200 at a reception in her honor Wednesday evening.

It was significant that the crowd included those who have been most closely associated with her in the work of YWCA the past 35 years.

Miss Brownscombe heard many compliments of her work as she shook hands with each guest. She was wearing a beautiful corsage of four white gardenias, a gift from her brother, sister-in-law, nieces and nephews who came from Toronto to attend the reception.

A framed address embodying the sentiments of her friends, signed by the president and secretary of the board of directors, of the Y, was presented to Miss Brownscombe by president Mrs. H. T. Rehill.

Then came a shower of gifts, and messages that hoped for supreme contentment in her retirement.

A portable radio and a travelling case were from the association members and were presented by Miss Annie Williams, president of the members' council. The case was chosen to match the train case previously presented to Miss Brownscombe by the Y staff.

Bonds were presented on behalf of the board by Miss Laura Davidson and a gift of money is also coming from the association.

A sheaf of red roses was the gift from the board of the YMCA, presented by Mr. G. A. Gillespie. There was also a written message, signed by YMCA secretary James McClenaghan, which thanked Miss Brownscombe for the willing co-operation given by her in any joint efforts of the two Y's.

Telegrams were sent by Mrs. A. Moir and Mrs. H. C. Turner, former board members now living in Toronto who were unable to be present.

Prince of Wales Home and School Association held the annual teachers' tea in the school Wednesday afternoon. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. J. Bolton, principal's wife, and refreshments served by the executive from a candle-lit table, tastefully laid with green damask and centrepiece of lupins.

Principal Bolton addressed the assembled guests and rendered a message of congratulations and good wishes to seven teachers leaving the staff at the end of this term, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Miss M. Brown, Miss E. Jenkins, Miss M. Hamilton, Mrs. G. Smillie, Miss M. Sharpe and Mr. H. Hempstead.

Pakistan Women Continue To Hide Faces Behind Veils

By EUGENE LEVIN

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—At first glance, Karachi looks like a man's world. The streets are crowded with men. The few women who can be seen hide their faces behind veils or "burkahs," hoods with eye slits.

Purdah—the seclusion of women practised by many Moslems—still is alive in Pakistan despite the growing influence of modern ideas.

Young Pakistanis are anxious to modernize their customs, to bring women out into the open and to give them a place in business and society. But the new ideas are taking hold slowly.

Although the concept of Purdah is not backed by any specific authority in the Koran, tradition and customs over hundreds of years have given the practice a sanctioned place in most Moslem communities on the sub-continent.

AFFECTS MODERN WOMEN

The custom is a hard one to change, even for a modern young Moslem girl like Zohra Hamid.

Zohra (that is not her real name since she asked to remain unidentified) attended school in the United States and now is one of the few women working in the government offices here.

"Few women, no matter how modern they might be in outlook, are ready to accept work," she says. "Even if they wanted to work, their husbands or families might object.

"When I marry I fully expect to have to quit work. Most young men probably would object to my being in Purdah, but they still would want me to stay home as much as possible.

"Here in Karachi I never go shopping alone, or to a restaurant or movie alone. The men just wouldn't understand it. They would point at me, perhaps question my morals and possibly insult me."

SPECIAL TICKET WINDOWS

The clinging to the past keeps Moslem women from working in stores and offices, from appearing in large numbers in restaurants and from shopping in droves.

Each theatre has a special ticket window marked "women." The managers explain the special window means unescorted women do not stand in line with men and risk being insulted.

Purdah has at least one benefit for the woman.

"Husbands are afraid their wives will be abused and trampled in the bazaars and market places," says Zohra. "Therefore, they rarely let their wives shop. In Karachi it's the men that hunt the bargains and buy the groceries."

For a good foot exercise, try this. Put a pencil down on the floor, and then pick it up with your toes. Do this 20 to 40 times with each foot.

Guild's June Tea Successful Event

The June Tea held by the afternoon Guild of St. George's Anglican church on Wednesday was pleasingly successful. The crowd was as large as expected and the sale articles went well.

President Mrs. Fred Dorrell was assisted in receiving by two honorary members, Mrs. L. Warren and Mrs. E. Cook. Guild treasurer Mrs. S. H. Perks took the tickets.

The tea room was made most attractive with flowers of the season. Small tables featured bouquets of roses, pansies, cornflowers and snapdragons and the central tea table, covered in lace, was lovely with large peonies and roses in a silver basket complemented by pink candles.

Mrs. F. G. Ongley, wife of the rector at St. John's church, made her first official appearance at St. George's as a tea pourer. Pouring with her was Mrs. H. J. Scuse, wife of St. George's rector. They were relieved by Mrs. E. Mitchell and Mrs. W. McWilliams.

Serving was in charge of Mrs. J. Drynan and Mrs. M. Holden, Mrs. W. Warren, Mrs. W. Dawson, Mrs. J. Abraham and Miss Geraldine Perks assisted. The little plates of sandwiches and small cakes were prepared under convenership of Mrs. S. Robertson and Mrs. S. Parkes, with Mrs. F. Hinds, Mrs. J. McDonald and Mrs. S. Field also helping in the kitchen.

Aprons, tea cloths and towels and dolls in pretty paper dresses were being sold by Mrs. C. Robinson. The home baking was in charge of Mrs. A. Howarth and Mrs. R. Stroud. The parcel post table was attended by Mrs. J. Paquette.

Rain Holds Off For OES Garden Tea on Wednesday

Want to be sure it doesn't rain on your garden party?

Just get the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star on your side. When they "cross their fingers" the weather can only stand and threaten.

Or so it would seem after Wednesday afternoon when the OES Rose Arbor Tea was carried through without a splash under dark skies. The very large crowd attending must also have believed in their power over the elements for they dressed in light summer gowns and wore lacy straw hats just as though the sun were shining.

The tea was on the lawn back of Mrs. Archie Townsend's home at 691 Ross Street.

Miniature rose arbors, of fine white latice work, entwined with tiny roses were enchanting to the guests as centrepieces for each small table. Roses also climbed on white lattice fencing in the garden and colorful sun umbrellas completed the scene. From one of these were hung the "white elephant" gifts.

Mrs. Harry Green and Mrs. Deb Hillier convened this event. They added to the usual attractions tea cup reading, by Mrs. David Leckie and Mrs. L. R. Groombridge.

To match the pink roses there were pink and white doilies and serviettes on each table. Serving the guests were Mrs. B. Holloway, Mrs. W. Braden, of Keene, Mrs. N. McQuaig, of Keene, Mrs. H. Manley, of Keene, Mrs. G. Graham, of Lakefield, Mrs. G. E. Renwick, of Lakefield, Mrs. P. Cooper, Mrs. F. Darwin, Mrs. H. Bromley, Mrs. L. McQuade, of Omemee, Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. G. Webb, Mrs. R. Russell, Mrs. R. Goodfellow, Mrs. J. Weir, Mrs. M. McCourt, Mrs. O. H. Culver, Mrs. Wm. Beggs, Mrs. A. Rightmyer, Mrs. A. Munro, Mrs. C. Campbell, Mrs. H. Doxsee and Mrs. G. Bennett, with plates prepared by Mrs. P. Windrim, Mrs. A. Newton, Mrs. R. Hutton, Mrs. C. Ferguson and Mrs. G. Ireland, and the tea made by Mrs. P. Moore.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Townsend were Worthy Matron Mrs. Keith Armstrong and Associate Matron Mrs. Victor Smith. The tickets were taken by Mrs. S. Ward and Mrs. J. H. Miles.

As Mrs. Smith's home is next door, and she also has a lawn, it was used as a nursery. The young fry had much pleasure on swings and playing with a small auto and other toys. They were looked after by Mrs. Ed. Downing and Mrs. O. Brealey.

Draw tickets on a handsome hand-made quilt, which will not be drawn for till the last day of Peterborough Exhibition, August 14th, were sold at the tea by Mrs. Wm. Saunders and Mrs. C. Watson.

Lucky draw of the day was for a crocheted doilie and it was won by Mrs. George Graham, of Lakefield, who was a server. Tickets were sold by Mrs. J. Keating and Mrs. L. Hardy.

Busy helpers at the home baking table were Mrs. P. Butler, Mrs. E. Johnston and Mrs. Wm. Jewell. At the candy table were Mrs. H. Pomeroy and Mrs. A. Watkins. Those selling the aprons and other fancy goods were Mrs. Wm. Beggs and Mrs. H. Hall. The "white elephant" umbrella was in charge of Mrs. Robert Merrett.

DOROTHY DIX:

Wife Longs To Return To Native Town

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are 27, have been married 4 years and have three children. After our marriage we lived for a time in my home state, then came to a city about a thousand miles away. Both our families are established here, yet I am so homesick and miserable I can't eat, sleep, or take any interest in my home. We were happy before we moved, and I want to go back home. We had lots of friends there; I have very few here. My husband makes more money than he did at home, but living expenses are higher, so we gain nothing. How can I convince my husband that I am so miserable?

Fay.

✧ ✧ ✧

LONGING FOR AN IDEA

ANSWER: Suppose you try diverting your thinking into other channels? Apparently your only thoughts are concerned with your homesickness. Your situation isn't really as hopeless or hapless as you are making it. Since your families, your husband and children are near you, you are actually homesick for an idea—a place. We all hold a deep abiding love for the home of our youth, yet every year thousands and thousands of people migrate for one reason or another. They continue to think lovingly of home, to look forward to a temporary or perhaps permanent return, but they don't make themselves sick over the transition.

Regard your present situation as a challenge. You're in a city and among people new to you. Instead of being crushed by the thought, determine to make the most out of the circumstances to see that your children learn something from their new surroundings and that your husband has every opportunity, including serene domestic life, to improve his job. Keep looking forward to the day when you can go back to your home town. Take a vacation there when you can, but do stop thinking of it as the only possible place in the world to live.

In your present brooding, you are building up a dream of what the home town was like, and one day you'll be quite surprised to realize that reality is quite different from the vision. Put some of your energy into making new friends, becoming associated with church and social activities; in brief, developing yourself as an integral part of the community. Read some interesting travel books; by enlarging your mental horizons, you'll see the home town in better perspective.

✧ ✧ ✧

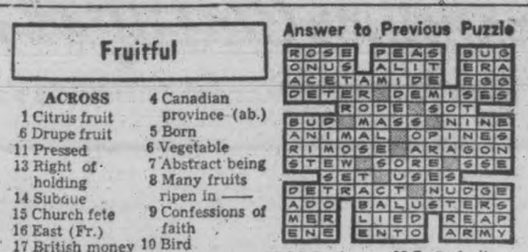
DEAR MISS DIX: I knew a man for 11 months, and though he often asked me to marry him in that time, I couldn't make up my mind and kept putting him off. Then he met another girl, and in a short time they were married. Now I feel as if I had been robbed of the one man in my life; I know in time I would have agreed to marry him. Do you think he could really have forgotten me in so short a time?

F.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You tried to be a coquette just a bit too long. It is difficult to know when to stop playing "hard to get" and to become responsive. However, that's in the past, so far as you're concerned, and there is absolutely nothing for you to do but forget the man and find a new beau.

✧ ✧ ✧



DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of two children and happily married — except for one thing. My husband has a habit of carrying girls' addresses around with him. He never uses them, I know, since he's with me every moment he's not working. He seems to get a bang out of letting me know about them. Some addresses are strange to me, others are of women we know quite well. Am I right to let this disturb me?

M. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's always foolish to be disturbed about this matter, unless it takes a serious turn. Your husband actually gets the "bang" out of seeing you get angry. He's a practical joker and you rise to the bait whenever he flings it out. Learn to be indifferent to the situation and the addresses will be forgotten.

School Bus Upsets 10 Children Hurt

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—Ten children were injured today when their school bus overturned after the bus and a dump truck collided just east of here, state police reported. Twenty-two children on the bus apparently escaped injury.

Police said an unidentified woman halted her car to make a turn, and a truck, travelling behind her, attempted to stop suddenly. The truck skidded and hit the school bus, which turned on its side in a ditch.

Rash Of Thefts Result In Court Cases

LINDSAY (ENS)— A rash of tire thefts and petty thefts in the Lindsay district resulted Wednesday in a group of youths and juveniles appearing in magistrate's and juvenile court here following investigation by town and provincial police in Lindsay.

In magistrate's court Wednesday morning a 17-year old Lindsay youth and a 23-year old Little Britain man, Kevin Power, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of two tires, tubes and wheels from a garage on the outskirts of Lindsay.

Provincial police laid the charges and both accused were remanded until Friday for sentence.

In juvenile court the same 17-year old with a Lindsay juvenile pleaded guilty to another charge of theft of a tire and wheel from a truck in Lindsay and siphoning gasoline from parked cars. They were remanded on these charges in custody until Friday also.

Another group of youths and juveniles were charged with various petty thefts in Lindsay in past weeks by local police. After hearing the evidence in the cases Magistrate R. I. Moore sent seven to the county jail pending payment of fines, sent one juvenile to the Bowmanville training school and two others to their homes on probation.

Chief Hunter of the Lindsay police laid the charges which followed a series of complaints and investigations in town and promised the same action on any further disturbances of the kind.

Pesticides Here To Stay Have To Live With Them

KINGSTON (CP) — Pesticides such as DDT are here to stay and the problem now is to learn how to live with them, W. L. Ball, industrial toxicologist with the health department, said today.

Noting that the yearly sale of pest eliminating substances in Canada amounts to $50,000,000, he said the agriculture department estimates that a turn of $10 in increased crops is realized for each dollar spent on pesticides.

"They are here to stay and it is our task as health officials to learn how to live with them," he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the 20th anniversary conference of the Canadian Institute of Sanitary Inspectors.

The main pesticide problem was to determine the effect on humans and find antidotes to them. This was done largely through experiments on rats and rabbits.

Through experiments with DDT on rats, the laboratory had found that it was the best antidote for a nerve gas. The DDT, however, to be effective against the nerve gas, had to be administered first.

Private TV Stations Find Going Costly

Finds Syntona Gives Best Help For Stomach Trouble

"Only Thing That Seems To Help Me," Says This Man

MR. ELMER PEARSON

"For quite a number of years I have been troubled with stomach disorders and I find that nothing ever helped me as much as Syntona," said Mr. Elmer Pearson, 19 Lincoln Street, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"In fact, I don't know how I would ever have got along without this medicine as it has certainly proved the most effective remedy I've ever had for gas distress, sick, upset stomach and indigestion. If there is any headache or nervousness upset along with this it, too, goes away and in a very short time I'm feeling O.K. again.

"I always feel better after taking Syntona a while; have more energy, sleep better and don't get tired-out as I otherwise might. In my case Syntona has proved its worth many times over and I am always ready to recommend it."

HOW IT ACTS!

Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's herbs and roots, which act on the stomach, liver and bowels. It aids in the elimination of excess acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy. Thus, it has a tonic effect on the entire system.

At the same time Syntona acts as a gentle diuretic to the kidneys helping to flush out impurities, relieving backache, rheumatic pains and similar symptoms arising from this cause.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott Drug Store. (Advt.)

QUEEN ESCAPES RACE TRACK ACCIDENT

U.K. Rejects Request Search Ships

Promises To Police British Vessels Sailing High Seas

LONDON (CP)—Britain disclosed today she has rejected an American request for powers to search British vessels which may be carrying arms to Guatemala.

But she promised at the same time to undertake police action on the high seas herself to stop any British ships bound with arms to Guatemalan ports.

British naval vessels in the West Indies have received orders to take "appropriate action" if British ships are suspected of carrying arms to Guatemala, the foreign office said.

WON'T MOLEST OTHERS

The action will be taken under a section of Britain's defence regulations permitting the seizure of British ships and their contents in cases where the shipment is considered likely to endanger peace or security.

But the foreign office spokesman said Britain does not intend to search the ships of any other nation and does not recognize the right of any foreign navy to stop and search British vessels on the high seas in time of peace.

He said this decision had been conveyed to the U.S. government.

HAVE NO REQUEST

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has received no request from the U.S. government for the right to search Canadian ships for cargoes of arms, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

He was commenting in the Commons on a Washington report that the U.S. has asked shipping nations to agree under certain conditions to make their vessels subject to search and seizure, by U.S. warships, of any arms bound for Guatemala.

RESIGNING THIS MONTH as director of nursing service and principal of the nursing school at the Civic Hospital, Miss Evelyn M. Robson will assume similar positions with Victoria Hospital, London. Thursday night Miss Robson (centre, above, receiving best wishes from board chairman, M. J. Swanston, left, and superintendent, John Hornal) received a parting gift, a cheque from the board, and a floral tribute from Mayor and Mrs. Norman Graham. The presentations were made at a general meeting and banquet at the South Beach hotel, Young's Point.

Exiles Poised To Begin Quick Revolt

Recruits Reported Pouring Across Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Armed Guatemalan exiles were reported massing today along their jittery homeland's frontier with Honduras amid indications that this may be D-day for a revolt against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's regime.

The belief stemmed in part from Guatemalan ambassador Amadeo Chinchilla, who said he had received reports that resistance forces would launch a rebellion today against Arbenz.

Reports from censorship-blanketed Guatemala said authorities there were preparing a massive public demonstration today. Observers here interpreted it as a possible move to mobilize pro-Arbenz forces for action in case of a revolt.

Here in the Honduran capital, armed khaki-clad men, apparently recruits for the exile resistance movement directed from here by Carlos Castillo Armas, continued to leave the city, presumably for the border.

MEN AIRLIFTED

A two-engined transport plane with drawn curtains airlifted a dozen men out of Tegucigalpa Thursday night. The group carried side-arms and lugged a radio and several wooden crates aboard.

Earlier reports said an armed boat pulled out of the Honduran port of La Ceiba and headed for Guatemala. Informants said it was moving into position for a strike against the major Guatemalan port of Puerto Barrios.

Col. Rodolfo Mendoza, former chief of the Guatemalan Air Force who fled here last week to take part in Castillo Armas' movement, was interviewed over the exiles' secret radio Thursday night. This indicated he might already be near the border.

Castillo Armas, however, was stil at his headquarters in Tegucigalpa Thursday night. In a rallying call from there, he said his forces "will not cease our victorious fight until we eradicate communism and expell Arbenz and his followers from the sacred soil of Guatemala."

Reports spread that Nicaragua has been aiding the resistance movement, but Castillo Armas said the operation "is directed exclusively by patriotic Guatemalans."

There is no accurate estimate of the number under Castillo Armas' command.

NEXT CHIEF JUSTICE?—Authoritative sources hint that Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock may become Canada's next chief justice, succeeding the Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret.

See Kellock Canada's Next Chief Justice

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice Roy L. Kellock may become Canada's next chief justice.

Sources close to the cabinet say Prime Minister St. Laurent is considering the 60-year-old Supreme Court justice as successor to Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret. The chief justice retires Monday on reaching the age of 75.

The $25,000-a-year job usually goes to the next senior Supreme Court member. Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin, 64, is senior to Mr. Justice Kellock by nine years.

However, the sources say it would be difficult to overlook Mr. Justice Kellock's achievement. In addition, appointment of Mr. Justice Kerwin might mean a break with tradition. He is a Roman Catholic, like the present chief justice, and governments don't normally appoint two chief justices of the same religion in a row. Mr. Justice Kellock, native of Perth, Ont., is a Baptist.

LEAVES OPENING

Retirement of Chief Justice Rinfret will leave an opening for a junior justice on the nine-member bench. The post carries a $20,000-a-year salary. Traditionally the bench holds three French-language members from Quebec. Besides the present chief justice the others are Hon. Gerald Fauteaux and Hon. Robert Taschereau.

Among those rumored for the vacancy is Gustave Monette, 67, a native of St. Philippe de Laprairie, Que., and a distinguished Montreal lawyer. A Conservative in politics, he was defeated as a candidate in

Sees Duke Duck Follows Suit, Misses Low Wire

ASCOT, England (AP)—Queen Elizabeth, riding a swiftly galloping horse on the Ascot race track, just missed becoming involved in an accident this morning when she ducked at the last moment to avoid a low-hanging wire.

A telephone wire across the track had blown down to head level but was unnoticed when the Queen and other members of her party went for a ride before the start of today's races at Ascot.

The Duke of Edinburgh, riding ahead, saw the wire just in time and shouted to the Queen.

She said later she saw the duke duck and did the same, drawing in her horse's reins and dropping low to pass safely under the wire.

"We were nearly all decapitated," the Queen laughed.

DUKE CONCERNED

The duke, more concerned about his wife, asked her:

"Did you hear me shout when I saw that wire?"

She smiled and said, "I saw you duck and did the same."

The wire was a cable connecting a starting gate with a telephone van. It had sagged overnight.

The Queen laughed and made light of the incident.

Lord Porchester, riding behind the Queen, was quoted as saying: "What a tangle that could have been."

The riding party included the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort. They were guests of the Queen at Windsor Castle.

WORKMEN WATCHED

Only a few workmen saw the Queen's close call.

F. D. Perkins, who was working on the tote board, gave this version of the incident:

"When the party was cantering back after the first gallop someone said 'good morning' and smiled up to us and we suddenly realized it was the Queen.

Experts Deny No-Passing Marks Confusing

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto safety experts today took issue with Guelph groups that proposed reconsideration of Ontario's system of marking "no passing" areas on the highways.

A joint meeting of the Guelph and Wellington county traffic safety committees called the system "confusing" and decided to ask the Ontario legislature's committee on traffic safety for a complete new study.

Prof. W. Arch Bryce of the University of Toronto said the system needs only "a little more publicity" to function properly. It has been used effectively in the United States, he said.

"It's the only proper system of marking."

Sgt. H. T. Smith of the Toronto police traffic department said he cannot understand why the double markings would confuse anyone.

"The lines are only put in areas where it is considered dangerous for passing," he said.

The Toronto experts supported a Guelph recommendation for a more thorough examination of driving licence applicants but reserved judgment on a proposal that points be charged against a driver for traffic infractions.

Ald. John Kucherepa of Toronto told a meeting of the civic traffic committee Thursday that every driver who has had three convictions for major traffic violations should be given a complete psychological and driving ability test.

The Toronto committee endorsed a Woodstock city council resolution that stricter tests should be provided by persons seeking drivers' licences.

BULLETIN

NORTH BAY (CP) — Hon. Welland S. Gemmell, 43, Ontario's minister of lands and forests for the last two years, collapsed and died today. He was here to address a regional conference of the Canadian Institute of Forestry. He took over the lands and forestry portfolio June 3, 1952, after serving for three years as the province's minister of mines. After his speech to the conference early this afternoon, Mr. Gemmell complained of feeling unwell. He went to lie down, asked for some pills from his pocket and died.

London Boy, 13 Charged With Arson

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A 13-year-old London boy today was charged with arson in the June 10 fire that gutted an apartment business block, forcing 15 persons to vacate their living quarters on downtown Richmond St.

The boy has also bee charged with breaking and entering.

Police allege that he broke into the Avon beauty salon and started a blaze with matches and paper.

Target Date July 13 For Power Plan

TORONTO (CP)—Experts from Ontario Hydro and the New York state power authority Thursday set July 13 as the date for agreement on what should be done to relocate and compensate residents of nine Ontario communities that will be flooded by the St. Lawrence Seaway power project.

The target date was set at a conference here on general rehabilitation problems and engineering details of the project. Following agreement Ontario Hydro plans to meet with civic leaders and planning consultants from the communities involved.

The American engineers were headed by Col. William S. Chapin, chief engineer of the New York utility. They conferred with Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders and other officials.

First tenders for the $600,000,000 power phase of the development are expected to be called Monday. Major construction work is expected to be called Monday. Major construction work is expected to start within a few weeks.

Disclose Atomic Reactor Costs Extra $10,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe disclosed Thursday that Canada's new NRU atomic energy reactor at Chalk River, Ont., will cost from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 more than the original estimate of $30,000,000.

He also said in the Commons that the reactor won't be in operation until early in 1956. Officials of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., which operates the Chalk River project, had estimated previously that it would be completed by the middle of 1955.

Mr. Howe did not elaborate on the reasons why the expected cost of the reactor would be between $35,00,000 and $40,000,000. However, officials here said it was due to rising costs of materials and changes in the design of the reactor resulting from new advances in the atomic energy field.

SIMILAR TO NRX

NRU will be similar in design to the NRX reactor which went back into operation early this year after being damaged late in 1952, but will be more powerful. It will be used for many types of atomic experiments, including those associated with harnessing the atom for production of electrical energy.

The new reactor will be housed in a huge building immediately adjacent to the NRX reactor and the "Zeep" experimental reactor. Work on the building itself now is nearing completion.

Mr. Howe said that NRU is designed to produce plutonium, used in the manufacture of atomic bombs and various types of isotopes. The most important isotope produced by Canada is Cobalt 60, the energy source of the cobalt bomb therapy unit used in the treatment of cancer.

POWER LATER

Mr. Howe said that any reactor to produce electrical energy would not be built until some time after NRU went into operation. No power pile would be built until scientists were satisfied they had designed a reactor which would produce electricity at an economical cost.

Mr. Howe also said a bill now before the United States Congress may result in an easier exchange of atomic information between the U.S. and Canada.

Russia Vetoes Peace Patrol

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Russia today vetoed Thailand's proposal for an Indo-China peace patrol. It was the Russians' 59th veto in the Security Council.

The proposal was supported by Britain, the United States, France, and six other council members. Lebanon abstained.

Russia's single "no" vote was sufficient to kill action in the council. But it opened the way for a move for a special session of the General Assembly to deal with the question. There is no veto in the assembly.

Diplomatic sources said a special assembly meeting was not likely before late July.

The Thailand proposal calls for a peace observation sub-commission to go to Thailand to check on any spillover from Indo-China that would threaten Thailand.

Had Plane 4 Months Pilot Dies In Crash

CHATHAM (CP)—Richard Lorne Ogletree, 25, was killed Thursday night and his passenger was injured when a light Piper Cub aircraft he bought four months ago crashed into a field near here.

William Burrell, 26, the passenger, suffered a fractured wrist and other undetermined injuries. Hospital officials said he was in fair condition.

Ogletree had been visiting the Burrell farm and was taking Burrell for a flight over the district when the craft crashed. Gordon Burrell, 21, a brother of William, said the craft had just taken off when residents of the farm house heard the crash.

The pilot was found pinned in his seat. Burrell was thrown from the craft.

Lester Dudley, supervisor of the RCAF ground observor corps at Alvinston, said the department of transport will investigate the crash.

New Premier Organizes Gov't

France today set about organizing a new French government to deliver the Indo-China peace he has promised within a month. But his cabinet apparently will not include Foreign Minister Bidault, France's negotiator at the Geneva conference.

The National Assembly approved Mendes-France as premier early today after the 47-year-old Radical Socialist (moderate) outlined a three-point program, including a promise that he will reach an Indo-China settlement before July 20 or resign. The vote was 419 to 47, with 154 deputies abstaining.

The new premier offered his program as a three-stage project, leading off with the Indo - China peace. With that achieved, he said, he would:

1. Submit a "coherent and detailed program for economic recovery."

2. Attempt to reconcile the divisions within France on the European Defence Community treaty to rearm West Germans in a European army. Of the six countries involved, France and Italy still must ratify it.

Bidault's absence from the new government appeared certain after his party, Mouvement Republican Populaire, announced it would not take part in Mendes-France's cabinet. The MRP has held the foreign ministry almost continuously since the war. Robert Schuman, like Bidault a sparkplug of the fight to get EDC ratified, has alternated as foreign minister.

Order Inquiry Into Quebec Riot

MONTREAL (CP) — A spokesman for Quebec hydro electricity board said today an investigation has been ordered into a reported disturbance a week ago in the St. Lawrence north shore town of Labrieville.

Reports Thursday night from Quebec said 800 workers employed on a huge Bersimis river power development rioted at Labrieville in protest against the 11 p. m. closing of a cafeteria where night men bought shacks.

The Quebec hydro official said reports reaching the board indicate only three or four men were involved in a disturbance following the arrest of a worker for molesting a cafeteria waitress.

Shots Fired, 50 Youths In General Riot As Police Break Up Drunken Beach Parties

WINDSOR (CP) — Shots were fired and some 50 youths engaged in a general riot with provincial police early this morning before two "orgies of drunkenness and general misconduct" were broken up at St. Clair beach and Emery beach, Ontario provincial police disclosed today.

A number of youths, teenagers and juveniles, were arrested while a large number got away. Police estimate that over a hundred boys and girls celebrating the close of school were in the two parties.

Five have been charged with illegal consumption of liquor and one youth with assaulting an officer and wilful damage.

One youngster was arrested at Emeryville after a tussle in which about 50 youths joined. After being placed under arrest, the youngster kicked a window out of the police cart and fought the two arresting officers all the way into Windsor, biting, scratching and gouging whenever he got a chance.

Police reported finding girls of 14 to 16 in various stages of intoxication, some of them hardly able to walk.

For every person apprehended, dozens got away.

New Yorkers Mob Brethren

NEW YORK (AP)—It is no trouble at all to give away money on New York streets.

Five members of a California religious sect touched off a Times Square uproar Thursday when they began handing out $1 bills.

Accompanying the bills was a biblical reminder that "the love of money is the root of all evil."

Even so, the white-robed brethren found out, New Yorkers still love the moola—and will even fight to get it if necessary.

Hardly had master Krishna Venta slipped the first greenback to a startled passerby than he was besieged by a shouting, shoving horde of several hundred money-lovers.

"The people behaved like animals," said the master with a shudder after he had been rescued by police.

Fire Releases Deadly Gas

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—Deadly gas released in a fire which levelled a chemical factory here today left at least nine firemen seriously ill, one in critical condition and may have affected many persons.

The gas is parathion, used in fumigating citrus orchards. It was released in the fire and explosions which destroyed the Charles E. Duggan Co. plant, with an estimated loss of $100,000.

...ays, Union Hold 2-Hour Parley

MONTREAL (CP) — A two-hour conference of railway officials and representatives of 135,000 non-operating railway employees ended Thursday night but neither side would comment on the state of the talks.

It was the first confernce between officials of the 14 unions, representing the workers and the companies since the unions called for a strike ballot last month to back up demands for "fringe" benefits. Negotiations will be continued Tuesday.

Meanwhile officials of the union said plans to hold the strike vote across the country are being continued. The vote will be taken June 21.

Half Million Damage In Stockyards Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Fire whipped through a five-storey brick plant in Chicago's big stockyards today. Anthony Mullaney, assistant fire commissioner, estimated damage at "more than half a million dollars."

The flames broke out in an Armour and Co. animal food plant on the west side of the yards area. An Armour spokesman said shortly before 10 a. m. EDT that the fire "seems pretty well under control."

No deaths or injuries were reported.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The Newfoundland Supreme Court today fined the newspaper Western Star of Corner Brook $100 and columnist Ed Finn, Jr., $250 and costs for contempt of court.

Fears World Citizenship Could Lead To Destruction

WINNIPEG (CP)—The concept of global loyalty embodied in such phrases as "world citizenship" could lead to widespread misunderstanding and destruction, A. W. Trueman, chairman of the National Film Board, told the biennial conference of the Association of Canadian Clubs here today.

Mr. Trueman, who is honorary president of the association, said "local loyalties" are the true basis for international understanding.

"When anyone asks me to slough off those relations with my country which are summed up in the term 'citizenship,' and to substitute for them global associations which will make me a citizen of the world, I suspect that something is being proposed that is dangerous."

"If a man finds it childish to love his country above all other countries; if he finds loyalty to his friends and fellow citizens an unreasonable demand, is it likely that, freed from these claims, he will effectively clasp to his emancipated bosom the entire globe? This is surely a sorry piece of reasoning."

DEMANDS NARROW LOYALTY

The spiritual vandalism of the Communist idea, said Mr. Trueman, was not so much that it has some faint relation to the economic theories of Karl Marx, but "because it demands of its adherents that they deny their humanity . . . that they cast off the claims of ancient friendship and common heritage and give their loyalty to those whom they do not know and cannot love and who do not know and will not love them."

"There can be nothing inconsistent between loving one's own country and being loyal to one's own kind on the one hand and the creation of peace and security for all nations on the other."

Believe Reds Kidnap 5 U.S. Technicians

SAIGON (CP)—The Communist Vietminh rebels are believed to have kidnapped five American air force technicians in Indo-China, the United States embassy announced here today.

Gen. John O'Daniels, chief of the U. S. military aid mission to Indo-China, flew to Tourane in central Viet Nam today to investigate the men's disappearance.

The U. S. embassy said a Viet Namese peasant had reported seeing five Americans among a group of 20 Senegalese war prisoners 10 miles south of Tourane.

Admit Invasion

GENEVA (Reuters) Communist China today admitted for the first time that Communist-led Vietminh troops had invaded Laos and Cambodia, the two smaller Indo-China states.

Conference sources said that Chou En-lai, Communist Chinese prime minister and foreign minister, said at today's secret session of the Indo-China conference that during the war foreign troops had been introduced by both sides.

Canadian Officials Go To London

Seek Further Cuts In U.K. Import Bans

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of Canadian officials will leave for London next week to seek further reductions in United Kingdom import restrictions as a means of boosting lagging Canadian exports.

Heading the group will be W.F. Bull, deputy minister of trade. The Canadians will meet with British authorities June 21 at a scheduled conference of the Anglo-Canadian continuing trade committee. Norman Robertson, Canada's high commissioner to London, will preside.

Britain, once the target for a lot of North American criticism because of her trade barriers, has taken what authorities here considered to be "giant steps" in removing import curbs during the last two years.

But the restriction slashes dealt mostly with raw materials, the primary products of mines, forests and farms. The Canadians now feel that Britain has regained sufficient economic strength to go all the way—removing import curbs on manufactured goods as well.

URGE FURTHER STEPS

Canadians also feel—and this likely will be emphasized at the conference—that Britain can well afford to take further steps in freeing the pound, to make it convertible with dollars as another trade-expanding move.

This renewed interest in British trade follows setbacks in getting the United States to assume world leadership in the non-Communist trading community, by opening her doors to more imports.

President Eisenhower has agreed not to press Congress to enact his tariff-reducing proposals this year. The president's move has led Minister Howe to express disappointment openly.

"We in Canada have been disappointed in certain developments in the U.S. policy, partly because there has been some movement in the wrong direction and, even more, because our American friends have shown hesitancy for the moment and ceased to move forward as rapidly as before in the elimination of barriers to world trade," Mr. Howe said.

He made this statement earlier this week while speaking before a meeting of Commonwealth chambers of commerce in Montreal. He lauded Britain's steps to reduce curbs and spoke of the possibility that Britain again has assumed a role of leadership in world trade.

But he pointed up what is considered here to be the heart of Britain's problem now. In reducing controls she now has hit a "protectionist core" of manufacturers who thrive in "sheltered markets."

U.K. Interested Onlooker At Wheat Council

LONDON (CP)—Britain, largest wheat buyer in the world, is a vitally interested onlooker as the international wheat council grapples with problems of surpluses and future prices.

The council today continued discussion on a "general review" of the world wheat picture and a spokesman hinted that the talks may run into next week instead of concluding at the week-end as anticipated earlier.

CANADA HEARD

The spokesman said Canada, Australia and the United States—the three main exporting countries of the International Wheat Agreement and the members most concerned with the wheat problems of surpluses and future prices—had presented their views Thursday. No indication was given of what had been said at the closed session.

As a world trader, Britain is deeply conscious of the effect a wheat recession could have on her exports to Canada and Australia. As a big wheat user—she purchased more than 120,500,000 bushels from Canada alone last year—she is also concerned about cheap wheat, even though sliding world prices would increase costs of the deficiency payments scheme with which she buttresses her domestic wheat producers.

Last year, she quit the 47-country International Wheat Agreement, parent body of the wheat council, because she thought that the maximum price of $2.05 a bushel was unrealistic. In the light of developments, she tends to be regarded either as the villain who precipitated the recent Canadian-United States price reductions or as an astute wheat seer who saw the writing on the granary wall.

There is a strong feeling in Britain that her refusal to renew the wheat agreement didn't make much difference one way or another; that the world price structure was too unbalanced to remain steady.

GET FREE HAND

With her departure, Britain gave her private traders, who took over the grain buying job from the government, the task of picking up the country's wheat needs where and at what prices they could.

The private trade turned to some extent to Argentina and other non-IWA countries like Russia, but buying has never been brisk for three reasons.

Traders feared being caught in a sudden price reduction—and few were hurt by the U.S.-Canadian cut. There was also a record domestic yield last year. Most important, the government had on hand large stocks of wheat, much of it purchased from Canada, which clogged the market.

Observers here point out a major mitigating fact for Canada. That is Canada's hard wheat, a British milling must for mixing with softer domestic or overseas varieties. Normal market conditions, which presuppose in part an orderly Canadian price program, would make renewed British purchases mandatory. Observers also say that Britain purchases more Canadian flour than she used to, which has decreased the amount of Canadian wheat she needs.

Roblin Captures Party Leadership

WINNIPEG (CP) — Automobile dealer Dufferin Roblin Thursday ended Errick Willis' 18-year reign as leader of the Manitoba Progressive Conservative party.

Mr. Roblin celebrated his 37th birthday by winning the leadership on the second ballot in one of the stormiest political conventions in Manitoba history.

The final vote was Roblin 160, Willis 123.

Board Approves Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—The $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline from the West to eastern Canada is approved in principle by the board of transport commissioners, but a permit will not be issued until the board gets more information.

Mr. Justice J. D. Kearney, chief commissioner, informed the company of this attitude today as the board concluded hearings on Trans-Canada's application for permission to build the 2,200-mile line from the Alberta border to Ontario and Quebec.

After getting fuller information on some points, Mr. Justice Kearney said, the board will consider issuing an interim permit in a matter of weeks. This would enable the company to go ahead with getting contracts for the supply of gas in the West and for its sale along the route.

$10,000,000 Road Building Program Outlined By Frost

TORONTO (CP)—A highway building program of between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 including a new Burlington bridge was announced Thursday by Premier Frost and Highways Minister Doucett.

It is estimated the Burlington bridge will cost $16,000,000 altogether, but the province will pay only part of that amount. Work is expected to start by fall.

The causeway approaches will be close to three miles in length. The approaches, on both sides of the canal, will be built before steel and concrete work can be undertaken on the bridge itself. It is estimated that these approaches will cost $3,000,000.

SEDGWICK RETURNS

Arthur Sedgwick, former chief bridge engineer to the department, now retired, is returning as a consultant and will devote his time exclusively to the Burlington project.

The highways minister reported that highways construction now under way or about to start totals $69,600,000, roughly about $3,000,000 more than at the same time in 1953.

A total of $33,000,000 represents work carried over from contracts awarded in 1953; $16,600,000 for contracts already awarded this year and $10,000,000 is earmarked for new construction work.

In addition, $35,000,000 worth of contracts will be put out for maintenance work.

GIVES DETAILS

The report shows the department undertaking construction of 57 new bridges, 106 miles of clearing, 201 miles of grading and culver twork, 191 of new surfacing, 205 of re-surfacing, 130 mulch surfacing, 448 of surface treatment and 1,221 of dust-laying.

The minister announced that work is going ahead to complete the building of the by-pass from Highway 27 in metropolitan Toronto to the Rouge river.

A by-pass will be laid between Trenton and Belleville running north of both communities. At Kingston the department is going to build a high level road bridge over the Cataraqui river.

CALL TENDERS

Tenders will be called for the repaving of 24 miles of Highway 401, a four-lane highway from near Tilbury to just south of Windsor city limits.

From highway 4, north of St. Thomas to Eastwood, east of Woodstock, they will build a 32-mile long by-pass section of the same highway. This work will involve the construction of two river bridges in that area.

It is planned to continue Highway 401 from Highway 27, which runs north from Toronto, so that it will extend and run between Kitchener and Galt. This will eventually link in with the highway at London and Woodstock.

The Orillia by-pass is expected to open on July 1.

Both Sides Guilty, Senator Believes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shorn of its television trimmings, the Senate investigations sub-committee today starts in private what promises to become a bristling argument over who lied in the McCarthy-army controversy.

Senator Charles Potter (Rep. Mich.) put other members on edge by asserting that both sides had convicted the other of "pressure" and "blackmail" charges and declaring that a perjury case might be made against some of the 30 witnesses heard in the 36 days of public hearings.

He did not name anyone, but proposed that some of the "employees who have played major roles on both sides" be dismissed from their jobs. His use of the word "employees" indicated he was willing to shift the blame below the rank of Senator McCarthy and probably Army Secretary Robert Stevens.

Other members of the sub-committee declined to comment on the statement, which overshadowed the traditional amenities uttered at the wind-up of the hearings late Thursday. "Absolutely no comment," said McCarthy, the Wisconsin Republican senator who repeatedly defended his two staff aides directly involved.

STEVENS CONFIDENT

Stevens, looking back on the long and bitter days of the dispute, voiced confidence that "the integrity of the army no longer is at stake," and made it plain he intends to reject an invitation to an after-the-hearings cocktail party to be given Monday by Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) for participants on both sides. And he expects no army personnel will attend.

Stevens also told reporters:

1. "I am absolutely confident that there will be no abuse of army personnel, in or out of uniform," who appear from now on before McCarthy's Communist-hunting sub-committee. One of the background issues in the row with the senator was Stevens' contention that a general who appeared before McCarthy had been abused.

2. He has no intention "whatsoever" of resigning, but proposes to serve as long as he is of "service to the country."

3. "I feel that the integrity of the army was at stake. We've been through that now. It must be abundantly clear to everyone that the army is just as interested and active in ridding itself of subversives as anyone else in the United States."

Plan Organizing Choral Society

Aubrey Bland, organist and choirmaster at St. Paul's Presbyterian church is leading a move to form a Peterborough choral society. For about two years the city has been without such a society and already many people have shown an enthusiastic interest in the proposal.

A meeting of all interested persons is to be held in the Sunday school rooms at St. Paul's on Wednesday, June 23, at 8 p.m. All those who would like to take an active part in such a society are invited to attend the meeting which will discuss preliminary arrangements.

UP TO PUBLIC

The size of such a group and its ultimate success will depend almost entirely on the response the project receives from the public and intending participants with an emphasis on basses and tenors.

Mr. Bland is certain that Peterborough holds much talent that can be put to a satisfying and good use.

It is expected that Mr. Bland who directed the prize-winning New Liskeared ladies' choir, will also direct this proposed choral group in the city. He has also a very wide experience of choral work in England, prior to coming to Canada in 1951.

BRITISH ACTRESS Simone Silva, who caused many stretched necks when she stripped to the waist to pose with Robert Mitchum on the French Riviera, has been ordered to leave the U.S. within 60 days. Immigration officials say though she came here on a pleasure visa, Simone signed a Hollywood contract, and was receiving a salary, which is illegal.

Paper Angry At U.S. Request

LONDON (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian today "rubbed its eyes" at reports that the United States has asked permission to search foreign vessels suspected of carrying Communist arms to Guatemala.

"This is carrying things too far," said the Guardian, adding that the reported proposal would amount to giving the U. S. "police powers over the Atlantic."

"Here is the United States, the great apostle of freedom of the seas, asking Britain and the Western maritime nations to allow American warships to stop their ships on the high seas."

"The British answer should be in no doubt. The British government should be polite to Mr. (statt secretary) Dulles but tell him that we do not trust his judgment as to whether a state is untouchable or not and that we cannot allow either the Atlantic or the Caribbean to become his private preserve."

"We raised our hats and said good morning and watched.

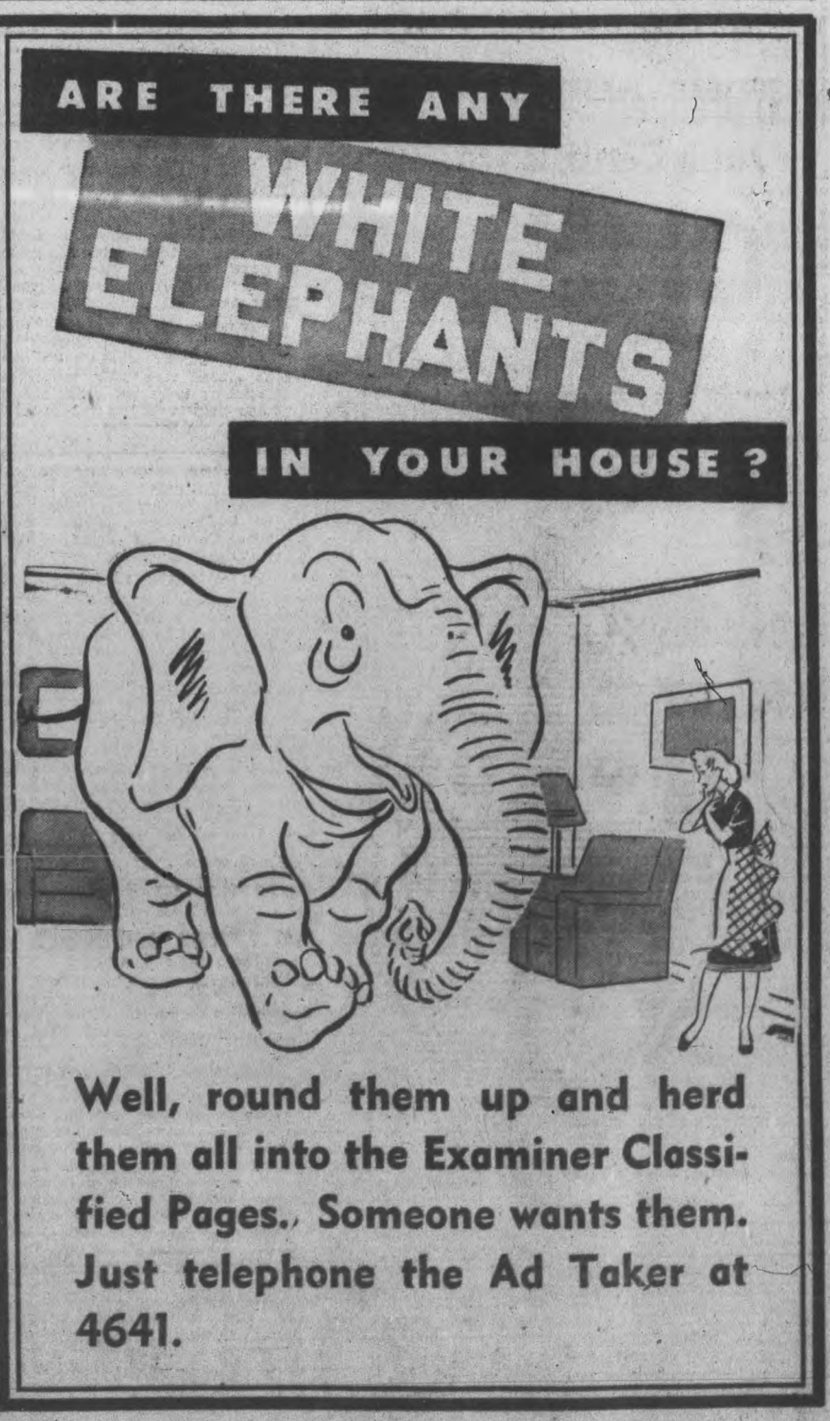
"As the party was galloping past us a second time the duke suddenly ducked, shouted and looked back to the Queen.

"The Queen went flat on her horse as did the other riders who were galloping.

WIRE VERY LOW

"Had the duke not shouted his warning there might have been a serious accident, because when the Duke of Gloucester, who was only trotting, came along he had to raise the wire with his hand to ride under it."

The Queen gaily dressed in a yellow silk scarf and tweed riding jacket and wearing fawn jodhpurs took the whole thing as a joke.



The cable had been blown down during the night and was not detected before the royal riding party set out for their morning gallop.

WATCHES HORSE WIN

A few hours later the Queen was in the royal box to cheer her colt Landau to an easy win in the Rous memorial stakes.

Sir Gordon Richards rode Landau to the first victory for Queen's stable in the Royal Ascot week.

The Queen, wearing a frock of cream silk with a small matching hat, went down to the enclosure afterwards to congratulate her trainer, Noel Murless, and exclaimed excitedly "that was very nice."

Approve Wider World Trade But Don't Think Methods Right

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

MONTREAL (CP) — The congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire today gave its blessing to wider world trade, but expressed doubts about the manner in which present arrangements are working out.

It affirmed its belief in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, which includes most free-world countries, as expressed in the preamble to the agreement.

However, based on experience and operation of the last seven years, it expressed concern "with the tendency to take undue advantage of escape clauses," an apparent reference, at least in part, to protectionist actions by the United States.

The October meeting of GATT contracting parties was urged to make more adequate provision for early consideration of adjustments, extensions and revisions.

While approving the principles of GATT, the congress said that so far as Commonwealth and Empire trade is concerned there should be no weakening of existing Empire preferences.

TWO-WAY ACTIVITY

International trade is a two-way activity, says the congress, using virtually the wording of a submission by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and the flow of exports and imports are mutually dependent.

Of international payments, raised for discussion by Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, the congress said that while admitting present defects, it felt steady progress is being made.

Convertibility, or freedom to exchange one currency for another, was the best solution. It approved the "practical course now being taken by the sterling area, led by the United Kingdom, of removing restraints and controls step by step."

Action on a wide list of subjects, presented by member chambers, was taken by a full congress meeting after hearing reports of committees which had considered the various matters since Monday. Adoption of the reports ended the five-day meeting.

Most submissions from Canadian member bodies were approved, at least in principle.

EFFECTS SAID HARMFUL

In regard to agricultural surpluses, introduced for discussion by the Regina Chamber of Commerce, the congress said inability to dispose of such surpluses has detrimental effects, not only on the countries immediately concerned, but on other Commonwealth countries.

However, the problem was inextricably interwoven with policies of countries outside the commonwealth, and all agencies concerned were urged to seek solutions through the following measures:

Co-operation with all nations having inter-related problems in disposal of agricultural surplusses; research to find new uses for surplus products and production of alternate crops for which there is demand; increased Commonwealth trade in all commodities, to provide importing countries with buying power; improvement of marketing agencies to accomplish the most effective movements into consumption and the opening of new markets; increased over-all productivity to raise the standard of living, particularly in under-developed countries.

Supporting a South African submission, the Congress said a rise in the price of gold is over-due and would result in stimulating its production and contributing towards closing the dollar gap.

ENCOURAGE INVESTMENT

Capital investment to develop resources of Commonwealth and Empire should be encouraged in every possible way, said the congress, and main reliance should be on private funds.

Congress advised study of the question of trade between Free World and Communist countries, and recommended that member chambers advise the federation of the results of such studies for dissemination to all members.

Relaxation as soon as possible of present monetary restrictions on travel, throughout the Commonwealth and Empire, was recommended.

Congress felt a Canadian suggestion for setting up study committees on the subject might not be entirely practicable, but asked members to review conditions in their respective countries and report to the federation.

Denounces CNR In Oshawa Strike

TORONTO (CP)—James Robertson, an international vice-president of the Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America union (AFL-TLC), said Thursday it is "a disgrace to Canada that a federally-owned company should be allowed to act as the Canadian National Railways is doing in the strike at Oshawa."

Addressing a meeting of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council, he referred to the strike which has left Oshawa without public transportation and has tied up freight handling since May 28.

"The findings of a federally-constituted conciliation board should be recognized by a government-owned company like the CNR," he said.

The strike started after the CNR refused to accept a conciliation report giving employees eight paid statutory holidays a year, three weeks' vacation after 15 years and three cents an hour toward a sick benefit fund.

29 U.S. Editors Visit Cobourg

COBOURG (ENS)—Members of the U. S. Editor's Goodwill Tour were given a warm welcome here when they stopped off on the last lap of their tour of the province. From Cobourg they went to Toronto and to-day wind up their 11 days stay at Niagara Falls.

The 29 editors come from many parts of the United States. Those from the deep south particularly appreciated the southern fried chicken served the touring group at Cobourg pavilion where they were guests of the town of Cobourg. They were greeted by Mayor John D. Burnet and a group consisting of the town council, public utilities commission, parks board, school board chairman, service club heads, local newspapermen, Warden Reg. McCann of Northumberland and Durham counties and others.

GROUP WELCOMED

Everything was guite informal. The newsmen were welcomed on behalf of the local press by Foster Russell, publisher of the Sentinel Star. Letter Carriers Vote To Leave Federation

OTTAWA (CP) — The Federal Association of Letter Carriers has voted to take its 3,400 members out of the Civil Service Federation.

The vote was cast in the final session of the association's annual convention here Wednesday. It was learned that the main reason for the move was an increase in per capita tax levied by the federation.

R. A. Johnston of Saint John, N. B., was re-elected president.

The Fate Of France

Perhaps it is unreasonable to worry about France. It has been teetering on the brink of political chaos for a century and a half, and a dozen times in that period has fallen right into the pit. Witness the fact that it has been two empires, two monarchies and four republics from the days of Napoleon, and has had more Directorates, Estates-General, Chambers, Assemblies and Premiers than Picardy has roses. In between there have been revolutions, national humiliations, national triumphs and great wars. Yet the French are one of the most intelligent, cultivated and strongly-rooted people in the world and despite some Anglo-Saxon distrust of Gallic wit, the French tongue and Paris clip-joints, the country has pith, wealth, substance and very good wines.

* * *

If, then, France is a good country and the French are good people, what is the matter? The matter is, first, the French individualism which, multiplied by every Frenchman alive, makes for a certain lack of political cohesion; and secondly, the economic and geographical position of France, which has been the temptation of other countries from the days the Romans craved it, through the centuries when the English monarchs called themselves kings of France until our own times when twice within a generation the Germans lusted for it and blooded it.

* * *

Uneven though the flow of France's history has been, the world which is her friend and ally cannot look with dispassion or ease upon the present crisis in her affairs: a war in Indo-China which has drained her wealth and force and left her defeated; a government at home which can neither govern nor stay in office. Nor can this world tolerate the decline into ineffectiveness of the great French nation and people, because the home of liberalism and democratic principles must not be allowed to crumble into Communist rubble or fascist flint. We have had in the last ten years the sorry example of Czechoslovakia, which, although one of the newest nations in central Europe, was one of the most enlightened, most liberal. Now what is Czechoslovakia?

* * *

The emergency in France, both parliamentary and military, the goings and comings of generals and officers of state, the tensions, the sense of defeat, the unrest of the populace amounting to despondency; all these are sadly reminiscent of May and June in 1940. Now there is no open invasion of enemy troops on the homeland or strafing from the skies, but there are political and social underground forces which can be equally devastating and disruptive. Be it remembered that France fell in 1940 not because of military defeat but because subversion, ineptness, fear, political confusion, and treachery to the true spirit of France pervading the country from top to bottom made defeat possible.

Against Bad Smells

When dogs and cats—and pigs and other animals which are not vegetarians—are out of sorts they eat grass. Whether they feel better or not, they smell better in the nose of humans nearby. It follows, therefore, that grass taken through the mouth is a deodorant. And since grass is rich in chlorophyll, chlorophyll is effective against bad smells.

There are some logical gaps in the proposition, but scientists meeting recently in Kansas City have proved to their own satisfaction that the green plant-pigment is useful in suppressing bad smells. They, as members of the American Chemical Society, spent a whole day of their conference on "Sales Claims for Chlorophyll and their validity". Experts read eight papers and they were all in favour of chlorophyll. It has, in fact, made good as a deodorant. Nature's proof: cats and dogs munching grass. The American Medical Association has established in practice in treating ill-smelling wounds that dressings containing chlorophyll help to control the unpleasant smells and to promote healing.

So we can fill the steak-drenched kitchen with chlorophyll and rid it of the smell. We can put paste containing the green stuff on our tooth brushes and remove odours due to food particles in the mouth (but not necessarily bad breath due to internal congestion). So we can take a green tablet and expect not to be offensive. The experts do not really know why chlorophyll does what it does, but it seems to have a specific action against sulphides and mercaptans, two classes of chemical compounds which cause many bad smells, among them the smell of rotten eggs and bodily excretions.

In view of the proven effectiveness of chlorophyll we are happy to be able to report that the price of the stuff is falling from the current level of $45 a pound. It is expensive, but a pound goes a long way, in the air or the digestive tract.

How far would a pound go towards eliminating the bad smells near the Peterborough sewage disposal plant, which are putting the noses and tempers of South End residents up in the air?

Before Sunrise Or After Sunset?

A Chicago physicist named Moon, speaking to a religious group at Caux, Switzerland, is reported to have described the present age as "the twilight of mankind where man's story, written by man alone, is near its end". He was appealing for a religious rather than intellectual emphasis on life so his view is not, perhaps, as drear as the excerpt from his speech makes it seem. Nevertheless, what joy are we to have in a man's faith who calls this age "the twilight of mankind"? Let us remind ourself—and Mr. Moon whose eye is on the setting sun—that twilight occurs before dawn as well as after sunset. Man's greatest story could be at its beginning, rather than "near its end".

This is not a time to cringe before the infinite, or to groan about man's capacity to touch, with his own mind, upon cosmic things. Who is to be preferred, who believed: the fearful physicist or the visionary poet in these ultimate matters? Mr. Moon talks of "the twilight of mankind". John Dryden magnifies the glory of man and his cosmos:

As from the power of sacred lays
The spheres began to move,
And sung the great Creator's praise
To all the blest above;
So when the last and dreadful hour
This crumbling pageant shall devour,
The trumpet shall be heard on high,
The dead shall live, the living die,
And music shall untune the sky!

We prefer Dryden's "last and dreadful hour" to Mr. Moon's sorry twilight. And if this is a twilight age, may it not be because the trumpets of the dawn are sounding?

Teheran And Toronto

Now that Canada has two cities with populations in excess of a million, this country is getting into the big league. How big is the league? This fact may be discomfiting to the feeling of grandeur Torontonians and Montrealers have and some other Canadian places may aim to have. Teheran (Greater) has a thousand more people than Toronto (Greater), and Saigon-Cholon a hundred thousand more. Hyderabad is bigger than Toronto, too. So is Istanbul. Jakarta is twice as populous. The city of Kyoto is only a few thousand short of Toronto's 1,108,532 people (1951 census). Wuhan is bigger than Ontario's prize city is ever likely to become. Karachi, Manila, Nagoya, Soeul, Tientsin are all bigger or nearly as big, so as to leave no pride of place to Toronto. The big league in which Toronto has now placed itself by act of the Ontario Legislature has many features which do not recommend it to us here in Peterborough. Who wants to be in the same class as Wuhan, for instance; or for that matter, as Birmingham? The 42,000 class looks quite respectable to us in this city; a good, big, common class, without pretentions to hot and dusty grandeur.

IGOR STRAVINSKY, 72

His Music Reflects His Time

An Appreciation of the Noted Composer by a Special Contributor

MANY ARTISTS and composers live to a ripe old age and keep on working. Some start as terrible children and survive to be grand old men, repeating themselves for twenty or thirty years after early middle-age without, apparently, boring themselves to distraction. But it is the rarest thing in the world for a man to grip his own contemporaries in youth and not only retain this grip for nearly half a century but also go on to dominate successive generations of the up and coming.

* * *

IGOR STRAVINSKY who is 72 today, has done precisely this, and it is the most remarkable aspect of a very remarkable career. He has been constantly in the news and constantly surprising and stimulating his contemporaries for forty-four years, since Diaghilev introduced The Firebird to an enchanted Paris in the second season of his Ballets Russes. During all that time he has done this not by filling the lean years between bursts of real creative fury by fooling about with superficial nonsense, which has been Picasso's way, but by ceaselessly striving to put down roots. Time and time again he has infuriated some and saddened others by changing his attack. He has been accused of changing his style as a woman changes her hats. His habit of digging into the past and turning up with treasure trove has often caused people to complain of lapses into pastiche. Constant Lambert spoke acidly of his "renowned impersonations of music." But as the years have passed it has become ever more clear that Stravinsky's antiquarian expeditions have nothing to do with pastiche. They represent the striving of an artist torn out of time and place to put out roots and to relate himself to history. The operative word is "himself." There is a hard core Stravinsky which persists through all changes of environment spiritual and physical. He has influenced successive generations in a variety of ways; but in the end he has proved impossible to imitate. Apollo Musagetes is as unmistakably Stravinsky as Le Sacre du Printemps. His first posed at seventy, is as unexpected and fresh full-scale opera The Rake's Progress, comas The Firebird, composed at twenty-eight.

* * *

IGOR STRAVINSKY, more than any other composer, has reflected the spirit of the time, not only in his work but also in his life. There has been a strong parallelism between his personal life and his development as a musician. Born in 1882 into a well-to-do land-owning family, he spent his childhood between St. Petersburg and Oranienbaum on the Gulf of Finland. He first studied under Rimsky Korsakov, and might have settled down to being a Russian master, excellent in subtlety and richness of orchestral tone and elaboration of rhythmic dynamics. But Rimsky Korsakov died in 1908 when the young Stravinsky was already getting a little out of hand—and there was Diaghilev all ready to pick him up and turn him into a cosmopolitan.

* * *

HIS FIRST great triumph was in Paris in 1910 when Karsavina danced the Princess in The Firebird, making her own name as well as Stravinsky's, after it had been refused by Pavlova, already broken with Diaghilev, who thought the music was nonsensical. There followed a period which set up the sort of rhythm which was to persist through Stravinsky's life: periods of intense activity and high life in Europe, followed by periods of retirement.

At first Stravinsky's European headquarters were on Lake Geneva, where he lived the life of a well-to-do Russian cosmopolite, clinging always, however, to an entirely Russian wife and to the Orthodox faith. But Paris drew him increasingly, the Paris of Cocteau and Picasso. And when the war caught him out of Russia and the revolution, with which, after the first exhilaration, he had no sympathy at all, forbade him to return, he became virtually a Parisian. It was not until 1934 that he took out French naturalisation papers, however; and then he had only a few years as a Frenchman. Soon after the outbreak of the next war he decided to stay in the United States, where he had been lecturing at Harvard.

* * *

IT MIGHT have been the end. But the uprooted Parisan, at sixty, proved as tough and adaptable as the uprooted Russian at thirty. His wife, long an invalid, and his strongest link with sanity, had just died, and many believed that in the United States Stravinsky would turn into an uneasy, nostalgic alien, much as Sergei Rachmaninov. Nothing could have been more wrong. Although it is unlikely that he will ever be thoroughly assimilated to the American scene, he has adapted himself to it with consummate virtuosity. With his second wife, Verz Sudeikin, a friend from the Diaghilev days, he lives in a small, smart house on the fashionable outskirts of Hollywood, a fully fledged American citizen since 1945, and gets on with his work.

* * *

HIS OLD dualism, which allows him to appear on occasion in the very thick of the fashionable world of money and culture, and then to slip away and excogitate new thoughts—symbolised by his dual existence in Russia and Geneva half a century ago—has remained within him. He likes American life, but he is not of it. He likes American films, but he has never composed for them, in spite of tremendous offers; just as he likes the theatre but has never let it dominate him, though at times it may have sapped him.

* * *

THIS is not because he has high and mighty ideas about the sanctity of art and the ivory tower. It is simply because, although immensely adaptable, he knows what he thinks he can do and will do nothing else. He can do so many things that at times he looks infinitely adaptable. But he cannot, in his heart, see himself as a composer for the films—though no doubt wishing he could. Just as he could not, in his heart, allow Diaghilev to regulate his days, though he was eager in the extreme.

* * *

NO COMPOSER has ever more naturally mingled with the crowd in the marketplace. He has composed, and successfully, to live, and rejects exalted talk about inspiration and the artist's high destiny. No composer has ever devoted himself more completely to the needs of his collaborators. When composing music for a new ballet he times his movements to the second, and bears constantly in mind the needs of the choreographer. No composer has ever more happily adapted himself to specific occasions, limiting his needs accordingly. The whole conception and attack of L'Histoire d'un Soldat was not a product of a new theory of theatrical art; it arose because in Switzerland, just after the war, cut off from his old collaborators, with no possibility of obtaining a theatre, he, with the Swiss writer Ramuz, conceived an entertainment that could be played in a small hall without singers and with no more elaborate scenery than a trestle table. He could be seen, on the face of it, as a sort of super journeyman Musikant. And yet behind all this is a high seriousness, an absolute refusal to compromise or to work when his mind is not alight, which would put to shame some of the more distinguished denizens of the Ivory Tower.

* * *

HE COULD have gone on writing in the glittering "national" vein of The Firebird and Petrouchka. He could have gone on shattering the nerves of his listeners with further applications of the barbaric dynamism of Le Sacre du Printemps which, in 1913 at the Theatre des Champs Elysees, produced the biggest succes de scandale since Hernani, nearly a century earlier. There was nothing to stop him. There was no end to what he could not do with his polychromatic invention, his almost incredibly fine and subtle ear, and a sense of timing that enables him to make rings round the masters of jazz.

His staggering use of silences in the coda of Les Noces is equalled, decades later, in the coda of Apollo Musagetes, which was the despair of so many of his earlier devotes because of its monochromatic and austere limitations. But he turned his back on the glitter and on popular success and plunged himself into polyphonic neo-classicism not to irritate the bourgeois—whatever he himself may on occasion have said—but because he knew he was up a blind alley and sought rebirth. It is a process—the rejection of romanticism run riot—that has been characteristic of the aesthetic development of this age; but few besides Stravinsky have made anything of it.

* * *

THE APPEARANCE of the man much closer to his own reality than the images evoked by the fabulous verve of his earlier work—small, precise (he uses different coloured inks in scoring, compact, painstaking, fathomlessly earnest. It is all concentration. Facility is absent. Les Noces, which sounds like the proliferation of a single melodic line slammed down at white heat, was ten years in the making. So that he could collaborate adequately with Cocteau in the monumental Oedipus Rex, he went to school again to read Latin. No composer in history has been more exigent in the markings of his score (he detests conductors as a class and would like to replace them with a machine).

Stravinsky has reflected through the decades most accurately his age. His place in the history of music is assured and indestructible. Whether it will be found that the has also transcended his age and will thus become a part of the living music of the future, only the future can tell.

Letter To The Editor

DISTURBING RUMOURS

Sir: There are two disturbing rumours about the city of Peterborough which have been drawn to my attention recently, and I am most anxious to learn whether they are founded on fact, or whether they are just rumours. I have heard that it is impossible for coloured people to obtain overnight accommodation in this city, and although I find it difficult to believe that there could be such a narrow-minded attitude in a Canadian city, particularly one with such wide tourist appeal, the almost total absence of Negroes among our residents make me wonder if this couldn't be true. The other disturbing factor is that Jews are not allowed to join the golf clubs in Peterborough, and possibly aren't able to play on the courses.

I would certainly like to get accurate information about these alleged restrictions, and would appreciate hearing from someone who knows.

Yours truly,
(MRS.) M. OLIVER

New Canada Firsters

(Ottawa Citizen)

Recently, the Communists in Canada, who style themselves the Labour-Progressive Party, have been inserting an advertisement in various Canadian newspapers under the heading "Keep Seaway Canadian." What is chiefly interesting about this exhortation, written in familiar violent and abusive language, is the closing appeal to "Put Canada First." Canada was never the country a Communist would put first of course, but this small point does not interfere with his literary efforts.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy. And I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and joy in my people: and the voice of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying . . .

And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer: and while they are yet speaking, I will hear. The wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullock: and dust shall be the serpent's meat. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain, saith the Lord. (Isa. 65:17-19, 24, 25.)

* * *

For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name remain. And it shall come to pass, that from one new moon to another, and from one sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord. (Isa 66:22, 23.)

On The River Front

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

When all the doubts, uncertainties and regrets are tossed together, there still emerges from them one bright fact: This is a time of great opportunity for Cornwall and the waterfront west of it.

There are exciting prospects for community planning, for the development of a beautiful waterfront area that will undo all the mistakes of the past. There is "bait" for industrial development that only needs planning and hard work to make it come true.

It is an opportuntiy that has seldom come before to a Canadian community. Now that the obstacles are gone, we can look forward to the answer to many questions that have tended to enlarge the doubts and fears in everyone's minds, and can make the full scope of the opportunities stand forth clearly.

Juke Boxes To the Sea

(New York Herald Tribune)

As an interesting sidelight on the St. Lawrence Seaway project comes word that completion of the undertaking would give a great impetus to, among other things, the export of juke-boxes by the United States.

The city of Buffalo, it appears, is a great juke-box manufacturing centre and the producers believe that overseas shipment of these musical torture-chambers will be facilitated by the Seaway.

News that there is a juke-box market in Europe is something of a surprise. Presumably a large number of those being exported are bound for American Army bases, but there is the possibility that Europeans have decided it is better to listen to a juke-box than to talk about the hydrogen bomb.

At any rate, if swift completion of the Seaway will help get the juke-box out of the tavern around the corner, many an American will be only too willing to grab a shovel and help in the digging.

A BRITISH OPINION

ONE UP, ONE DOWN—There's still plenty of action at the sites of Peterborough's worst fires of 1954. The Loblaw George St. store, gutted early this year, is rapidly taking shape (top photo) as steelworkers, bricklayers and carpenters hurry the rebuilding. Meanwhile other workers begin to clear away debris (lower photo) caused when the Hobbs glass warehouse and office burned more than a month ago. The company will also rebuild.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Sunday Schools Hold Convention

WARSAW (ENS)—Miss Daly, girls work secretary of Toronto, was guest speaker at the Dummer township Sunday school convention held Tuesday in the Warsaw United church.

The theme of her speech was "Builders for Eternity." She remarked that it is quite different from building a house, there is a secret force behind, in building for eternity and we are part of that plan.

The Warsaw Sunday school took the worship service. Miss Donna Payne read the scripture and Mrs. H. Payne gave the prayer. Mrs. Sherwood Payne gave a reading.

The theme story "For of Such Is the Kingdom of Heaven" was told by the Rev. George Dyson.

Miss Caroline Hamilton gave two solos.

Ralph Hamilton was acting president in the absence of J. Hawthorne and was in charge of the business.

Each Sunday school gave their yearly reports. Next year's convention will be held at Cottesloe. During the election of officers all officers were returned except the missionary ofifcer. Mrs. Oswald Little was elected to succeed Miss Nevilles.

The officers were installed by Mr. Dyson.

Miss Georgina Moore gave several accordion selections.

A pleasant half hour was spent during which tea and cookies were served by Warsaw Sunday School.

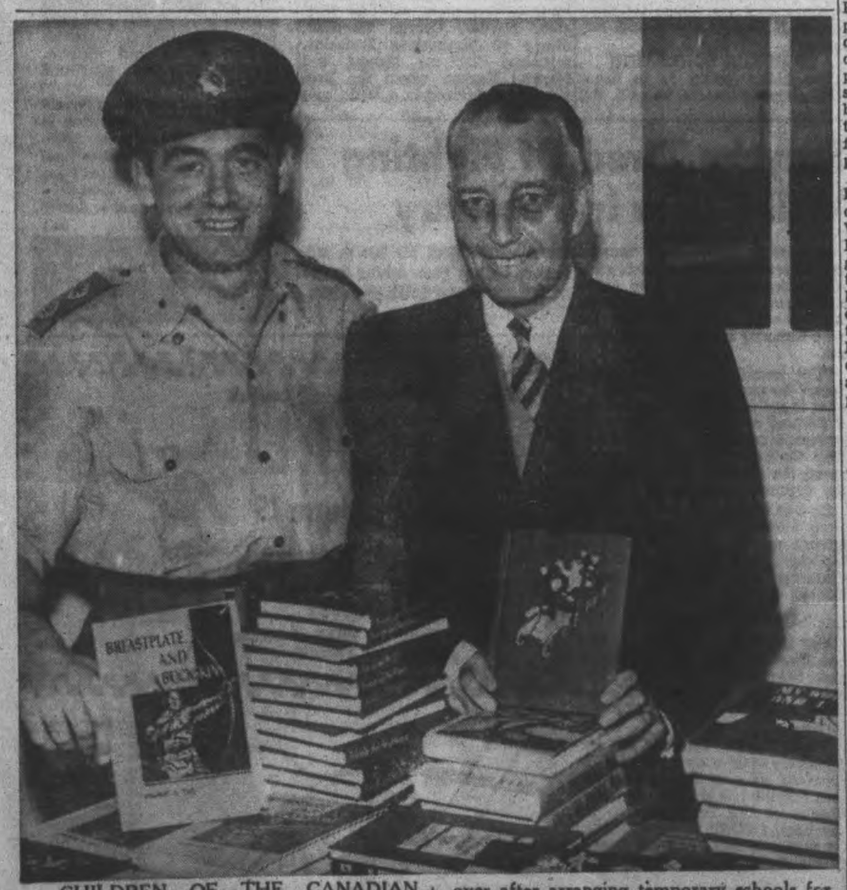
Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tate and son spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tate.

At the meeting of Bailieboro Women's Association plans were made for the annual salad and strawberry festival being held July 1.

Marmora WA Sponsor Cemetery Bee

MARMORA (ENS)—The Women's Association of Zion United church held their monthly pot-luck dinner Wednesday afternoon.



After the dinner, the men, who traditionally attend the June meeting, took part in a cemetery bee, which included cutting the grass, and general clean-up of the cemetery adjacent to the church.

While the hum of three power driven lawn mowers was heard, the WA met in the church under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Fox.

Mrs. K. J. Crawford read the scripture followed by a prayer said Mrs. Burness Johnson.

The study book was taken by Mrs. Gordon Moffatt. Mrs. Burness Johnson, sick committee convener reported the sending out of five cards during the past month. A poem read by Mrs. Ed Post. Under general business, plans were made for the holding of a strawberry festival on the church grounds June 30. The packing of bale for Korea was started. The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Tompkins. Mrs. K. J. Crawford closed the meeting with prayer.

Where Zion cemZetery is now located once was the property of the pioneer Thomas Wiley. While the church bears the tablet of its erection in 1884, a gravestone in the cemetery shows that Thomas Wiley died December 18, 1867, seventeen years earlier, at the age of 40. At that time many of the local farms in Marmora Township where pioneers settled a century or more ago, had their private burying places.

CHILDREN OF THE CANADIAN ARMY men serving with 1st Canadian Brigade in Westphalia, Germany, will soon be reading the kind of school books they are used to at home. Murdock MacDonald, of Toronto, the adviser to the command on educational matters, had the books shipped over after arranging temporary schools for the 1,200 children of Canadians in Germany. Some 120 Canadian teachers are going to Germany to staff the classrooms. Mr. MacDonald looks over the books with Lt. Ralph Potter, RCASC traffic officer.

A DEFENSIVE REASON—There's a good reason why the Trailermen have fewer goals scored against them this season than any other OLA senior team, and that's the defensive system they use. Besides good back-checking forwards, the locals boast Canada's best goaltender in Moon Wootton, left; and they have three first-class defencemen in front of the goalie, Harry Wipper (second from left), Jerry Fitzgerald next to him, and Lou Nickle, at right. Usually, the club plays with three defencemen, instead of the usual four, and thus can use an extra forward.

Seabrooke Squad And Lakefield Get Men's Frays

Seabrooke Motors blasted out their sixth win of the men's senior city league softball season Thursday night, at the East City Bowl by defeating UEW 11-2, in the curtain-raiser of the regular bi-weekly twin bill. Lakefield Kingdon Lumber Kings pulled an unusual surprise in the nightcap, by making their first victory of the season a most convincing triumph over the powerful TP Transporters. A steady drizzle dampened the first struggle throughout; while chilly winds and threatening skies reduced the crowd to a minimum in both games.

Lefty Jack Doris toed the slab for Bill Sullivan's men in the opener, and displayed his best form of the season, scattering four hits. Aside from the second inning, when Jimmy Thick homered and Robson scored on an out, he was never in difficulty. Lefty fanned two and walked four. Ray Allan started on the hill for U.E.W. and lasted until the sixth, when Ken Hall took over with a 9-2 deficit. The curfew ended it at seven innings.

FIVE IN FIRST

Seabrooke's scored five in the first two, as the bats of Neil Thompson, Red Sullivan and Speed Curry proved their potency; again in the fifth, a double by Sullivan, Tony Kotowski's long homer, a walk to Donoghue, McGillis' sacrifice, Heffernan's hit and an error, accounted for four more, to virtually seal the fate of the Union lads, who fought hard nevertheless, to the end.

Red Sullivan hit four for four, two doubles, and drove in three; Mark Donoghue hit two for three, and caught well; while Neil Thompson hit safely twice in four and the entire team fielded faultlessly. For the losers, Jim Thick had two for four, one a homer, and fielded well to lead his team; while Jack White's catch of Kotowski's drive in the sixth was a fielding gem.

GOOD PITCHING

Red Wasson answered brother Cam's call to mound duty in the afterpiece; and the big correl-top came through to twirl a remarkable game allowing but six scattered hits; he fanned two and passed three. The inspirational work afield by Kingdon's proved a big factor in victory, despite three minor miscues, as led by Neil Wasson, Gord Henry and Perc Elmhirst, the Lakefield boys supported their hurler as seldom before.

Kingdon's took kindly to the veteran Ken Guilfoyle in the early stages and led by Cam and Red Wasson, Perc Elmhirst, Jerry Bryans and Johnny Richlark, the homesters took a 9-0 lead at the end of three innings of play. Haddy Eakins took over the Transporters' mound duties with two away in the third, stemmed the tide somewhat, but not entirely, and thus, by dint of steady plugging, Kingdon's yanked out a well merited triumph. Cam and Red Wasson had three RBI's apiece, the former hitting his second homer of the campaign; Bryans hit two for three; Richlark one bingle and two RBI's, to lead the winners. Jack Donlevy homered in the eighth to drive in two for TPT's; but the team as a whole, suffered an off-night both offensively and defensively.

Further to a report that Wren Blair is shifting puck allegiance from Oshawa to Chatham comes this Motor City item: "Chatham Community Centre commission has signed Wren Blair to a two-year contract as manager-coach of Chatham Maroons, OHA senior 'A' entry. They have already released Black Jack Stewart from his contract, which expires next year. Wally Brabin, also with the victorious senior 'B' Truckmen last winter, is named as assistant manager. Blair's contract calls for him to get 65 per cent of the home gate receipts for the first $2,000, and 50 per cent after that. We imagine that means each game. In addition to some as yet unnamed players, Harry Sinden and goalie Les Colvin are named as two of the Truckmen manager Blair expects to have with his Chatham Maroons."

The fact that Russ Slater is leading the Petes' OLA scorers now and is second high by two points in the loop to Hamilton's Jim McNulty isn't so surprising, as the sharp-shooting winger for Trailermen is a really consistent lacrosse sniper. Last year he was third highest in the senior group with 97 points, of which 66 were goals. Only Doug Smith of St. Kitts and Ross Powless topped him. Rusty may well go back atop the heap here tonight, weather permitting, when Mimico Mounties and Trailermen tangle at Miller Bowl. He'll be trying, anyway. Mounties have given the locals some tough tilts so far this season, and no doubt will be hard enough to beat again.

Rough On Old Rivals

Oshawa Transporters may be tied on top of the VOBL standing with Toronto Dependables at present, but the Motor Citizens have found their old Central League rivals rough enough. They lost here to Petes last start, and they dropped a decision a few nights back to Batas in Belleville. Latter now occupy second slot, with Petes and Hoskings tied for third, ahead of Oakville. The Saturday night offering in Riverside has Oshawa playing the Petes, and that sounds like a keen contest. Belleville comes here Monday night, and Joe Lowery's squad travel to Toronto the next evening to tackle the Dependables. Another busy weekend for them, if rain doesn't postpone any more fixtures.

A delegation from the senior ball club here — probably consisting of Hugh Campbell, Max Swanston, Ed Alberico and Johnny Russelle — plans to wait upon the city council in the near future and ask for aid in erecting a covered grandstand in Riverside Park. The aid asked will be the lumber, as the club itself would supply the labour under proper supervision in order that one main stand, behind home plate, be put up. A covered stand to replace the present open bleachers which are no good in case of a blazing sun or rain pouring down on people. Bleachers would be continued in use flanking the main stand on each side until some future season when covered stands might be added to the main unit. Practically all cities this size have covered in their ball parks, and Peterborough definitely needs one if ball is to carry on.

Hitting Those Homers

At the eastern Bowl last gloaming, Lefty Doris pitched four-hit ball to give Seabrooke's a convincing 11-2 win o'er UEW in men's city softball. Jim Thick hit safely twice, one a homer, Tony Kotowski belted a four-ply clout, and Red Sullivan hit safely in four times at bat. The nightcap saw Lakefield pull an upset to defeat the TPT-ers as Red Wasson scattered six hits and had grand support afield from his buddies. Cam Wasson and Jack Donlevy each poled out a four base blow, some hard hitting being seen in the city circuit this semester. Standing is in tonight. Next Tuesday's tilts: UEW vs. Lakefield, and Marines vs. Seabrooke's.

Quite a fight the champ and challenger put up in Yankee Stadium last night before some 50,000 customers. Rocky Marciano having to finish strong to gain the decision over Ezzard Charles. Latter outboxed the champion and frequently stung him with hard rights, but gradually wilted under the heavy bombardment thrown his way by the Rock. Still the latter couldn't deck him once, leading many to believe that his kayo punch has been over-rated considerably. Dempsey or Louis would have tucked Charles to sleep had they as many shots at his chin as Rocky had. Still, 'twas a good fight and both were in excellent condition, so neither suffered any real injury in the slugfest. They'll do okay financially on the deal, and probably have a rematch.

Says Ezzard Charles Courageous Fighter

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano, still the undefeated heavyweight champion of the world, calls Ezzard Charles "the most courageous fighter I ever met."

Rocky had a one-inch cut over his left eye, and a mouse beneath it, but he sat in his dressing room Thursday night chewing on an orange and grinning for all the world like a kid watching a sideshow.

"He kinda hindered me at times" he said. "It was a very good fight. Yep, he hit me some good punches."

The eye bothered him from the fourth round on, sometimes gushing blood so much he could not see from it.

"When it did that, I just jabbed and circled around."

Marciano said frankly Charles hurt him in three different rounds —"with straight rights."

"But he didn't hit me as hard as Jersey Joe Walcott did."

"A couple of times I couldn't hear the bell," said Rocky, in explaining the wild swings that occurred after the end of a few early rounds.

Merchants Fall To UEW In Soccer Play

UEW trimmed the local Merchants 11-1 in a soccer fixture here last evening, the winners showing fine form all-around to dominate play throughout. The Merchants tried hard but found the classy UEW crew probably the toughest team they will meet this year. It will take a very powerful squad to stop UE as the later are playing now.

After 10 minutes of play, Strong passed to Hoyle who opened scoring. Croll hit the bar from the halfway line and Hoyle banged in the rebound. Ryan added another with a cross shot from near the touch line. Merchants defended desperately and blocked four or five before Biddle scored. The same player swung around on one foot and booted in another, and he took fire then to slam home two more, one a rebound off the post. Ryan scored No. 8 and Dunn kicked in another. Davies of Merchants finally tallied for his side and the halftime score was 9-1.

Despite the one-sided count, Merchants battled hard in the second half and turned in a fine effort, though outclassed. Hoyle and Dunn added goals for the UEW side in the later stages to make the count read 11-1 for them at the finish.

Athletics Decide Play Outdoors

TORONTO (CP)—Chuck Rowan, secretary of the Ontario Lacrosse Association said Thursday he has been informed by the St. Catharines Athletics that they will play their remaining home games in the OLA Senior A League outdoors in Haig Bowl Stadium.

The A's have been playing home games indoors in St. Catharines Arena. The shift is being made in the hopes of bolstering attendance.

St. Catharines played outdoors in 1952 but moved into the arena last year. The first game outdoors is scheduled for tonight when Hamilton Tigers meet the Athletics.

Rowan also said three 20-minute periods will be tried in the Hamilton-St. Catharines game instead of the usual four 15-minute sessions. He said the 20-minute periods will also be tried in Hamilton, Peterborough and Mimico to test the reactions of players and fans.

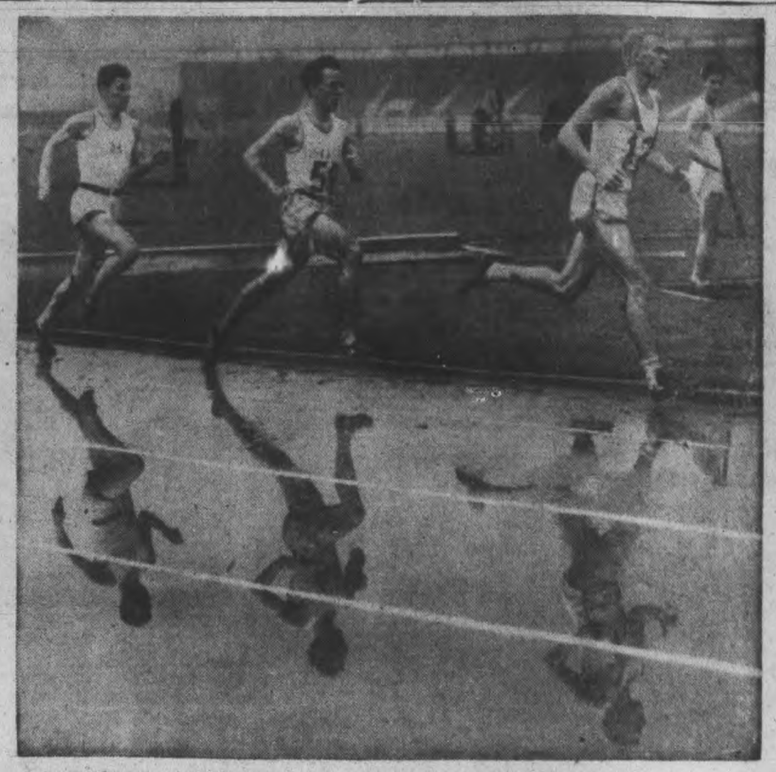
Lions "Surprised" At Tampering Charge

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions expressed incredulity Thursday at Toronto coach Frank Clair's charge they were "tampering" with Howard McCants, former Washington State football star.

"Why," said Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Lion world champions, "we've already signed McCants—yesterday."

Kerbawy, indicating exasperation, said he couldn't understand Clair's "reasoning."

Kerbawy said McCants, an end, agreed informally to Detroit's terms last March but that the Lions would not sign him until he had completed all his college athletic eligibility. He still had the track season to go, Kerbawy said.



Minor Lacrosse

Orillia blanked Brampton 3-0 in minor lacrosse action here last start for the tadpoles and peewees, who use team names of such centres as senior clubs, the action being for boys eight years and under. Hopcroft scored twice and Marino once.

Petes and St. Kitts tied 5-5, Anthony getting three for Petes, Sedgewick one and an assist, while Sutherland had a marker, aided by Clarke and Horris. For St. Kitts, Milburn notched two, Clarke, Bailey and Baldry each getting one. An assist apiece went to Clarke and Goalie Cummings.

Mimico took Hamilton 8-6 with Davis scoring five for the victors, Bob Jamieson, McDonald and Rishea each being good for one. Hutchison led Hamilton with five, White tallying one and aiding on three, and Drimmie, Jones and Clair earning an assist apiece.

Peewe play for Angus Bradley's loop this week, starting at nine has Hamilton vs. St. Kitts, and Mimico vs. Petes, with a tadpole game between Orillia and Brampton.

LOOK WHAT WE FOUND — Are the above three runners concentrating on winning, or are they wondering why they're bothering to spend an afternoon racing through the rain at White City Stadium? These English and American athletes, perfectly mirrored in the lake-like track, competed in a three-mile race.

Clair Warns Detroit To Keep Hands Off

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Clair, coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, Thursday warned Detroit Lions of the National Football League they are looking for trouble if they try to prevent Howard N. McCants, six-foot-nine former end of Washington State College, from playing with Argonauts.

Clair said McCants, fourth draft choice of the Lions, signed with Argos "more than 10 days ago" and indicated he wouldn't hesitate to grab one of the Lions' top stars already under contract if the NFL club "tampered" with McCants.

A few hours after Clair's announcement, Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Lions, claimed at Detroit that the 240-pound end signed with the Detroit club Wednesday.

DISPUTES CLAIM

Clair, commenting on Kerbawy's statement, said: "McCants is not the property of the Lions whatever. Their contract has no value. He signed more than 10 days ago with us and we expect him to uphold his contract which is in my office right now."

Earlier Clair told a luncheon of newspaper men, radio and television sportscasters that he had heard the Lions were "tampering" with his new player. He said that although McCants was drafted in the NFL draft last February the player is under no obligation to sign with Detroit.

Clair said that the Big Four club would consider legal action against the Lions or offer enough money to obtain one of the Lions' top-flight players if they interfered with McCants.

TO HONOR CONTRACTS

The club's policy is to honor NFL player contracts, he said. But in the case of McCants he was not signed by Detroit when he accepted Argonauts' terms and any "tampering" with him would lead to reconsideration of the policy.

Joe Wright, Argonauts' vice-president, disclosed that two Canadian football officials met with Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, in Philadelphia last Monday to discuss the possibility of reaching agreement on honoring player contracts.

The Canadians were Syd Halter of Winnipeg, Western Interprovincial Football Union commissioner, and Roy Robertson of Montreal, president of the Big Four League.

Wright said he did not know the result of the conference.

CONFIRMS MEETING

In Montreal, Robertson confirmed that a meeting took place.

He said that ideas were discussed for an agreement honoring player contracts, but added "there is nothing on paper yet, and there won't be for a while."

Robertson said, "as far as I'm concerned, I see no need for such an agreement, because either the players' contracts are good or they're not."

Referring to Frank Clair's statement earlier Thursday, Robertson said "it is not the duty nor the prerogative of a coach to make such a statement. Coaches don't run the club; that's the job of the executive."

McCants is the second player Argonauts have signed that has led to a disagreement with an NFL club. Earlier, George Marshall, owner of Washington Redskins, criticized Clair for signing end Norbert Hecker, whom the Redskins had obtained in a trade with Los Angeles Rams. Hecker objected to the trade and agreed to play with Argos.

Clair said Thursday Hecker was signed because he didn't want to play for the Redskins. Argonauts considered him a free agent when he was traded.

Smythe Tired Of Fighting Will Retire In February

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe said Thursday he's tired of fighting with referees and plans to retire as general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs midway through the next National Hockey League season.

"I'm coming out of the front lines," he said in an interview. "I want to get away from the business of fighting referees and sometimes newspapermen. I'm getting away from the turmoil and I'm going to spend the majority of my time at the organizational level."

He told league officials at a New York meeting Wednesday that he intends to step down on his 60th birthday, next Feb. 1, and that Clarence (Hap) Day will succeed him as general manager.

DAY HAS ASSISTED

For the last four seasons, Day has been assistant general manager. Previously, as coach, Day led the Leafs to an unprecedented three successive Stanley Cup victories.

When Day—a former Leaf defenceman—takes over, it will be the first time in almost 30 years that Smythe has not been in actual charge of the Leafs, except for the Second World War years when he was overseas with his Sportsmen's Battalion and Frank Selke was acting general manager.

Smythe is known to have been contemplating the move for two or three years. With his health suffering, he has been taking longer and longer winter holidays in Florida.

No bowling last evening. Those showers were a little too heavy. Tomorrow night it's the Family Hour tournament.

Cleveland Outlasts Washington With 6-4 Triumph

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Chicago White Sox intend to be pennant contenders the next time the New York Yankees come to visit, they better figure some way to beat the champs in the four-game set starting tonight.

The Yanks won't be back in Chicago until July 27 and by that time it may be too late. In fact, the way Cleveland has been going, it just might be too late for either the Yankees or the White Sox.

This is especially true since the Indians figure to fatten up on the hapless Boston Red Sox while Chicago and New York are tangling with each other.

All three of the contenders won Thursday. Cleveland ran its winning streak to eight games with a 6-4 triumph over Washington. The White Sox outlasted Philadelphia 6-4 and New York breezed over Baltimore 9-2. Boston lost its ninth game in its last 10 starts, 2-1 to Detroit.

GIANTS IN FRONT

In the National League the New York Giants pulled two games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers by shading Cincinnati 2-1. Brooklyn lost to Milwaukee 6-4. Philadelphia and St. Louis played the longest game of the season—15 innings—before the Phils won 3-2 with Robin Roberts going all the way. Chicago was rained out at Pittsburgh.

Cleveland jumped away to a three-run lead in the first inning against the Senators as Frank Shea walked two men and hit one. Vic Wertz doubled and Wally Westlake singled. The Washington runs came in the seventh when Early Wynn walked the bases loaded and in the ninth on Mickey Vernon's two-run homer.

Gus Zernial, who has been feuding with manager Eddie Joost of the Athletics, came off the bench to deliver a three-run pinch hit homer at Chicago. His blast followed a bases-empty homer by Bill Wilson. But the A's were trailing by six runs by the time they found the range and they couldn't catch up.

FELL APART

Baltimore's defence fell apart as the Orioles lost their third straight to the Yankees. New York wrapped it up with five runs in the sixth inning with the help of Baltimore's errors in fielding and judgment. Three of the runs scored on a short single into center field by Mickey Mantle.

Jim Wilson of the Braves, a no-hit winner his last time out, ran his string of hitless innings to 10 and scoreless innings to 24 before the Dodgers broke into the scoring column.

Jackie Robinson tied a modern National League record for long hits with two home runs and two doubles. Duke Snider hit a two-run homer. For Milwaukee Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Danny O'Connell hit home runs off Johnny Podres.

Roberts scored the winning run in the marathon at Philadelphia. He opened the 15th by walking, moved to second on a sacrifice, to third on an infield grounder and scored on a single by Del Ennis. The Philadelphia righthander didn't walk a man in the 15 innings. He struck out seven and gave up 10 hits.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Marciano Retains Crown Charles Makes Game Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Ezzard Charles has joined the impressive list of those former heavyweight champions who tried to win back the title and found the burden too great, but none who watched the Cincinnati Negro take the terrible beating he did from Rocky Marciano Thursday night will forget the stout-hearted display he gave.

In defeat, Charles probably knew his greatest hour. Never again will anyone in his right mind suggest that he has no stomach for fighting. There were a half-dozen points at which he might have conceded, might have withered under the barrage of blows that Rocky poured into him over the final nine rounds, but at the end Ezzard still was on his tired legs and trying to fight back.

Marciano, who has a burning ambition to be accepted as a great champion, probably made some progress toward that goal. He didn't win by a knockout, but he might have done something even more impressive in demonstrating that he could give a beating to a man of Charles' skill over the full 15 rounds.

UNDER HANDICAP

If Rocky isn't great, he is a wonderful competitor. For the last 11 rounds he fought under the handicap of a cut over his left eye that streamed blood off and on and soaked both gladiators with gore.

He took everything a game adversary could throw back at him and never wavered. He came from behind and pounded out his victory as a champion should. There is no man in sight now to stand against him.

On our score card the final tally was nine rounds for Marciano, four for Charles and two so even that we couldn't split them apart. This was slightly longer in Rocky's favor than the consensus of the three officials, who were, however, unanimous in the opinion that the title had not changed hands.

There can be little question of which man took the greater punishment. Charles did, by far. Though Marciano shed the more blood, he never once gave any evidence of being hurt. Charles teed off on the solid Rock perhaps 50 times, flush on the button, yet not once did the champion flinch or back up or do anything except keep slogging forward to throw his bludgeoning left hooks and his looping right.

APPEARED LUCKY

Charles, on the other hand, appeared very lucky to finish three or four rounds after Rocky first tagged him in the sixth with a left hook to the button and changed the entire aspect of the battle. Up to that time the duel had been practically a one-way street for Ezzard.

Then Rocky exploded his first really good one on Ezzard's whiskers. It shook the man right down to his feet. The thought ran around the ringside that the end was at hand.

TRIED TO PUT AWAY

Rocky stalked his man, wasted few punches and tried to put him away. He nearly tore Ez's head off with long rights that he threw like a catapult. He raked him with lefts.

Yet Charles stayed up, and, to the electrification of the great crowd of 47,585 of which paid $543,092 in Yankee Stadium, now and then shook his head like a bull tormented by the toreador and fought back.

As the rounds wore on, the trunks of both fighters became soaked with blood. Charles' face gradually swelled until, in the closing rounds, his features became grotesque.

When the last bell sounded, the man from Cincinnati had enough left to tap Rocky on his chest and smile a warped smile through his battered lips.

It was a fine ending to a great fight.

Dark Horse Takes Lead In Tournament

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Whoever said tournament golf needed some new faces didn't reckon with the squarish, smiling face of William J. Patton—who prefers to be called Billy Joe—or those of Bob Toski, Gene Littler or Al Mengert.

These four, hardly more than numbers on the program to most of the huge opening day crowd at Baltusrol, were right up at the top of the list as the 54th national Open golf championship went into its second day. The faces that drew the crowds—Ben Hogan and Sam Snead—had to be content with more or less secondary roles.

Patton, the 32-year-old Morganton, N.C., lumberman who probably gets more fun out of golf than any other tournament player, breathed new life into an already-tense tournament when he fired an opening round of 32-37—69 Thursday.

ONLY PAR BEATER

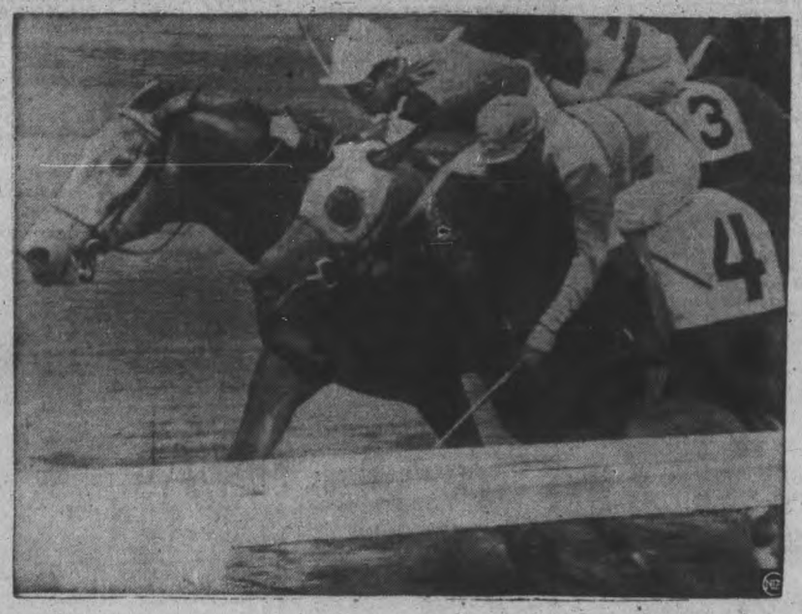
That was the only time tough old Baltusrol's tournament par of 34-36—70 was beaten Thursday and Billy Joe had the time of his life doing it as he slugged and scrambled his way around the 7,027-yard lower course.

It was virtually a duplication of Patton's performance in the Masters last April, when he scared the daylights out of the top pros and delighted the crowds with his care-free attitude and his tremendous wallops.

One stroke behind Patton came Littler, the 1953 amateur champion who won't be 24—nor eligible to win money in PGA tournaments until July; Toski, 27, the leading money winner of the pro circuit; the 34-year-old Ted Kroll, No. 4 on the money list.

THREE TIED

Defending champion Hogan and Ed Furgol, an experienced tournament player, were tied at 71 with 25-year-old Mengert, a pro less than two years.



Snead, still suffering from a painful stiff neck and hitting some of his long shots badly, wound up in the 72 bracket with a flock of others, including former champions, Lew Worsham, Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff.

Blase Bandit

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Police today sought a bandit who leisurely consumed a meal and several drinks before whipping out a pistol and robbing restaurant proprietor of more than $3,000 Thursday. Samuel Levy, 40, proprietor of the restaurant, told police the bandit stuffed the cash into a briefcase he was carrying and fled.

HISTORIC RESERVES

Reserves were set aside for the Indians at New Brunswick as early as 1780.

PAKISTAN RECOVERS

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Determined batting by Waqar Hassan carried Pakistan to partial recovery Thursday after three wickets had fallen for 64 in the second day of a three-day cricket match against Scotland. At the close the tourists, with 179 for five, were still 714 behind Scotland's first-innings total of 353 for seven declared.

TIED FOR FIRST

MONTREAL (CP) — The Royal Hamilton Yacht Club and the Royal Naval Sailing Association tied for first place at the end of sailing Thursday in the Royal regatta at nearby Pointe Claire, as poor showings by Maritime crews left Saint John and Halifax entries floating far behind.

✦ ✦ ✦

WINS TOURNAMENT

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal Whitlock Thursday won the 23rd Seigniory Club ladies golf tournament combining an 82 and a 93 for a 36-hole total of 175. Afield of 44 contested the two-day competition.

✦ ✦ ✦

SIGN WITH RIDERS

OTTAWA (CP)—Dick Kercher, 190-pound halfback from Tulsa University, has signed with Ottawa Rough Riders, an official of the Big Four team announced Thursday. Eddie Yablonski, 25-year-old star with the Riders last year, has signed his contract again.

✦ ✦ ✦

HONOR CLOCKER

TORONTO (CP)—The directors of the Ontario Jockey Club Thursday honored Thomas J. Bird, the dean of Canada's clockers, who is celebrating his 60th yaer at Woodbine Park.

It was a surprise party for Bird, who was summoned to the winner's enclosure ostensilby to present a piece of plate to the owner of the winner of the feature race, named "The Thomas J. Bird."

Bird, in turn received a handsomely engraved tray from Allen Case, vice-president of the OJC and one of the timer's oldest friends.

✦ ✦ ✦

ACES IN OPEN

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Johnny Weitzel of Hershey, Pa., gave the U.S. National Open golf tournament gallery a thrill on the opening round Thursday when he sank a hole-in-one.

Weitzel, shooting with a two-iron, fired the ace on the par-three, 190-yard 12th hole.

It was a high shot that soared straight down the fairway, dropped 14 feet away from the cup and rolled in.

The ace was the first in Weitzel's career.

Ready To Give Charles Return Fight

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"He gave me a helluva fight. He deserves a return fight if he wants it."

Thus spoke heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano following his thrilling come - from - behind 15-round decision over game, undaunted Ezzard Charles in the savage scrap in Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

"I want him again," snarled the battered, unfazed 32 - year - old Charles. "I thought I won. I think I came closer to knocking him out than he did me. The next time it will be different."

The lean Cincinnati Cobra, who failed for the second time in an attempt to become the first ex-champion to regain the prized heavyweight crown, may get his chance in September.

ENTITLED TO IT

"Charles is entitled to the return," said Al Weill, manager of the all - conquering Brockton bruiser. "It was a great show and a great fight. If Rocky's cut comes out okay, I'd say a September fight with Charles in New York is a great possibility.

"If not Charles, maybe that Englishman Don Cockell—or maybe the winner of the Hurricane Jackson-Nino Valdes fight (they meet in Madison Square Garden July 14) if they put on an exciting fight. Say, wasn't that a great scrap?"

It was that, and more. Practically every one of the 47,575 paying customers who contributed to a gross gate of $543,092 left the ball park raving about the slam-bang brawl, one of the outstanding heavyweight tussles in years.

MAYBE TOUGHER

"It was as tough as my first fight with (Jersey Joe) Walcott, maybe tougher," said the 29-year-old unbeaten Marciano, who went 15 rounds for the first time in his career. It was only the sixth time Rocky had to win by votes of the officials and one of the few in which he failed to floor his opponent. He swept his other 40 by knockouts.

It was an outstanding show financially, too. Rocky's purse, not counting the movies which may prove to be a bonanza, came to about $275,961. Charles collected approximately $137,980.

Royals Batter Rochester 11-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Lasorda, No. 1 lefthander for Montreal Royals, doesn't usually need many runs to win his games, and when his club goes out and piles up a big score for him, he is doubly tough.

The Royals massaged three Rochester pitchers Thursday night for an 11-4 victory while Lasorda coasted to his sixth win of the season. Bob Wilson hit two home runs and Rocky Nelson smashed one to make Lasorda's job easy.

Toronto Maple Leafs, 3½ games out front in the International League, whipped Ottawa A's 7-5 on Sam Jethroe's two-out single in the 10th inning. Ray Shore was the winner in relief to run his record to 3-0.

Cuban Sugar Kings won a doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs, 8-5 and 2-1, in the other action. The Havana entry iced the first game with seven runs in the first two innings. In the nightcap, Saul Rogovin gave up only five hits.

Buffalo and Richmond were not scheduled.

Rookie Matador Dies

MADRID (Reuters) — Rafael Carbonel, a young matador, was killed by a bull Thursday in the bull ring of his home town of Huelva in southern Spain. Carbonell, 24, had been fighting for three years but had not become a full-fledged matador.

THE PILOT'S JOB is to be able to knock planes of an enemy attacker out of the sky, so when he sees a newcomer in his field perhaps he thinks of it as a competitor. This pilot of an F-86 Sabre jet at Selfridge Field, Detroit, gazes at a guided missile which can travel much faster than a jet plane to meet its high-speed target.

Charles Wants To Fight Marciano Again

NEW YORK (AP)—His right eye bloodshot and half closed, his left cheekbone lumpy and lopsided, Ezzard Charles Thursday night snarled defiance at Rocky Marciano and challenged his conqueror to another fight, "the sooner the better."

"Marciano is not the best fighter I ever fought," Charles muttered through bloody and battered lips in his dressing room. "In fact, I don't think he beat me. I think I won the fight."

"He's strong and throws a lot of punches," the beaten heavyweight challenger added, "but he didn't give me as tough a fight as Walcott (former heavyweight champion Joe Walcott) did. In fact, all (four) of my fights with Walcott were tougher. He didn't hurt me near as much as Walcott did."

DOOR CLOSED

Although Charles insisted he wasn't hurt, the door to his dressing room was closed to reporters for 40 minutes after the fight.

"He can't talk," explained Tom Tannas, Charles' co-manager, "Marciano hit him in the adam's apple and it did something to his vocal cords."

Charles shook his head in agreement but finally, after much prodding, managed to whisper:

"I was doing all right until he hit me in the throat. I think it was in the ninth round."

Take No Action In Employees Entering Scheme

The Civic hospital board has decided to take no immediate action towards including its employees in the national unemployment scheme.

At a meeting Thursday night the board received a letter from the local joint labor council asking that it consider having some of the hospital staff included in the unemployment insurance act. The council said that it considered the measure of importance to the workers and also their privilege.

NO GREAT BENEFIT

Board superintendant John Hornal said that he did not feel that hospital employees would benefit to any great degree from the suggestion, because they were all in regular employment.

Besides being an extra expenditure for the hospital, unemployment insurance would also be a cost to employees. However, it would not help hospital workers very much, but it would help employees of other firms.

NO REQUEST

Mr. Hornal also told the board that the hospital workers had not asked recently to be included in the scheme.

T. J. Carley was of the opinion that all workers everywhere had to join in the insurance scheme.

Chairman Max Swanston replied that, at present, hospital workers were not required to join, seeing that the cost would actually prove an extra expense for patients. The present arrangement was a contribution from the State.

Mr. Carley: "Well then I don't think we should do anything about it, until our employees make the suggestion."

Mr. Swanston: "You are probably correct. However, unemployment insurance has proved a boon to many people over the last few months."

The board decided that the letter be received.

Frost Promises Woman Parole Officer

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario told a delegation from the Penal Reform for Women Joint Committee Thursday that "we will do our best to accelerate" a policy of reform and rehabilitation of women prisoners.

The group was promised appointment of a woman parole officer to look after paroles from the Mercer reformatory here and the reorganization of that institution's facilities "as soon as possible."

Reforms Minister Foote said a new institution for women will soon be erected outside the city. It would include a court so that women prisoners could be sent there directly for trial.

PRESENT BRIEF

Mrs. Robert Dale-Harris and Mrs. C. L. Dubin, co-chairmen of the committee, presented a brief supported by 143 Ontario women's organizations representing more than 250,000 members.

The brief also recommended the appointment of women probation officers at Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, London and Ottawa.

One of the delegates, Elsie MacGill, said the committee had encountered several Ontario magistrates who "do not believe in probation for women."

Premier Frost said that is not the government's policy and that "we should advise them (the magistrates) that if they have any such ideas they should get rid of them very quickly."

Annual Sunset Service Held By Mission Circle

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The Golden Links Mission Circle held their annual sunset service Tuesday evening on the lawn at the home of Mesdames Fred and Lawrence Winslow. Preceding the meeting was a buffet supper, which also took place on the lawn. There were 32 present.

In the absence of president Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, first vice-president Miss Jean Burnham was in the chair.

Speaker was Mrs. W. E. Ball, honorary president, recently returned from spending the winter in Florida.

She described some of the places she had visited and some of the speakers she had heard. Among these were two missionaries to China. One had spent two and the other three years in a Communist prison camp.

In spite of terrible sufferings and deprivations, one said he had never before had such a clear sense of the presence of God. They said those who had a definite Christian faith to support them were able to stand up under "brainwashing" for a much longer time than those who did not.

The worship service was taken by Mrs. Johnston Rowland, who told of the World Council of Churches to be held in Evanston, Ill., in August. The scripture was read by Miss Marjorie Skitch. Mrs. Arnold Fallis gave the Christian stewardship report.

A letter was read from Mrs. Young, of Peterborough, presbyterial circle secretary, asking for representatives to attend a meeting on June 22 in George Street church to plan for the circle rally next fall in Millbrook. Miss Burnham and four others were appointed.

Jets Alarm City

TORONTO (CP)—A formation of fast-flying RCAF Sabre jets and T-33 jet trainers gave Toronto an air raid scare Thursday. The planes went over the city in low altitude formation en route to their Bagotville, Que., base from a cancelled air show at London, Ont., and their roar caused a flood of calls to newspaper offices. RCAF officials said the jets were at the 2,000 feet regulation height.

Drug Makes Adults Feel They've Shrunk

LONDON (Reuters)—An "Alice in Wonderland" drug which makes adults feel they have shrunk back to child-size has been tested on patients at a British mental hospital, it was revealed today.

The weird drug also can snatch an adult back through time to relive childhood events "with extraordinary clarity," the British Journal of Mental Science says.

The drug, an extract of the ergot fungus which attacks grain, is expected to prove valuable in the diagnosis and relief of mental illnesses, which often have their origin in forgotten childhood experiences.

FELT SHE'D SHRUNK

A married woman who was given the drug said she felt as if she had been shut up like a telescope.

"I wondered if I had gone small and was not the least surprised to see my arm and hand quite little, the size of that of a child of seven or eight," she said. "I don't remember feeling a different size, but when I looked I had shrunk."

Another woman, 29, felt she had become a child of a few years old after taking the drug. Her clothes seemed huge and draped loosely about her. The doctor's hand seemed adult-size—as it would appear to a child.

Canadian Airman Mastermind Building Giant Alarm System

FONTAINEBLEU, France (CP) A square-jawed Canadian airman from Saskatchewan has helped mastermind the building of a giant alarm system to protect Western Europe against aggression.

He's 40-year-old Sqdn. Ldr. R.C. (Cliff) Staple of Sceptre, Sask., and his job has been the planning of a $9,000,000 mobile radio system fanning over most of central Europe.

The recently-completed microwave network, spanning about 660 miles without wires or poles, is destined to play a big part in the air defence of free Europe. Its nerve centre is here in the headquarters of NATO's mightiest air arm, Allied Air Forces, Central Europe (AIRCENT), and its perimeter lies along the ring of radar units watching the Iron Curtain.

EAST DEFENCE GROUPS

AIRCENT's strength is concentrated in two groups, the Fourth Allied Tactical Air Force, comprising United States, French and Canadian units, and the Second Allied Tactical Air Force, made up of British, Belgian and Dutch wings.

Most of the aircraft in these two groups are either jet interceptors—such as the RCAF's F-86 Sabres—or fighter bombers. Their job is mainly a defensive one: to cut off enemy aircraft before they can attack.

The task set to Staple and his colleagues in the radio-telecommunications division was to provide a safe, dependable communications system capable of split-second relay of radar information across Europe.

The answer was the microwave network, which provides both telephone and teletype hookups.

"Substituted for the wires of a conventional telephone system," Staple explained, "are sharply-beamed radio signals transmitted across line-of-sight distances to the next relay point.

"Since microwaves travel through the air, technicians are freed of the job of line maintenance. Another good feature from the military point of view is that the system is almost impervious to weather. You can't blow down a radio beam and ice won't form on it."

Also, because the signal is beamed precisely from point to point by bowl-shaped antennae, the system offers security. Messages can be intercepted only along the path of the narrow beam and any interference or jamming must be accurately directed to do any damage.

But there was another problem: How to make the system safe against attacking forces which might overrun and capture relay stations.

The solution was to make moving stations. All relay points have been designed to operate out of trucks, complete with towers and antennae, cables, receiving and transmitting equipment, generators and personnel.

"Four men can set up or dismantle a station in less than five hours," Staple said, "so, should any ground prove untenable, or should redeployment be required, the networks can be shifted at short notice, leaving no equipment behind."

In addition, the system provides multiple transmission from single radio circuits. Each terminal point has 24 channels and each channel can carry a telephone conversation or 16 two-way teletype circuits. Both types of communication can be operated simultaneously.

Staple's biggest job prior to the NATO assignment was as ground signals officer with the army's "Exercise Muskox" in the Canadian Arctic. On that operation, he supervised communication installations at Churchill, Man., and at Yellowknife and Norman Wells in the Northwest Territories.

In Europe with him are his wife, the former Margery Andrews of Edmonton, his small son, Stanley, and an adopted year-old daughter, Patricia.

PLANS DEFENCE—Sqdn. Ldr. R. S. (Cliff) Staple, 40, of Sceptre, Sask., of the RCAF has helped mastermind the building of a giant alarm system to protect Western Europe. Attached to Allied Air Forces Central Europe at Fontainbleau, France, his job has been the planning of a $9,000,000 mobile radio system fanning over most of Central Europe.

UNBELIEVEABLE AS IT LOOKS, all 75 passengers and three crewmen escaped injury by scampering to safety before the plane burned, leaving this charred and broken wreckage. The plane was en route from New York to Los Angeles when the pilot was forced to make a crash landing near Gage, Okla.

Textile Making In Ontario Rich Heritage

WESTWOOD (ENS)—The Women's Institute met in the community hall with 14 members and guests present.

Miss Vera Clark, assistant in the textile department of the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto, was guest speaker.

Ontario had a rich heritage of textile making going back to the earliest settlers, she said. Yet the story of Ontario's textiles could not be told.

Too many of the facts had been mislaid in the passing years and too many of the details had been forgotten. Perhaps it was not too late to piece this story together. It was only through the co-operation of many people throughout Ontario that this work could be undertaken and accomplished.

SAMPLES SHOWN

Many samples of pioneer fabrics were examined, relating to fibres, spinning, dying, weaving and knitting. Of the various articles displayed by the members, some old quilt-block patters and a piece of colorful blanket were gratefully accepted by Miss Clarke for the museum.

Articles such as plates, an old wooden butterprint in use more than 115 years ago and some rare coins were exhibited. A contest on Canadian towns and cities was won by Mrs. Redmond Walsh.

Lunch was provided by hostesses Mrs. T. Cardwell, Mrs. F. Faun and Mrs. E. Sargent.

Community Honors Two Young Couples

SELWYN (ENS) — More than 100 friends gathered in Bridgenorth hall Friday to honor two recently married couples of this district, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Sweeting and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Preston.

Addresses were read by Ivan Davis and Arnold Fitzgerald, and a rocking chair was presented to each couple by Harold Preston and Sherman Sweeting. Both Allan and Elwood made a suitable reply.

The evening was spent in dancing to music provided by Tony Scidel and Mrs. E. Telford.

Refreshments were served following the presentation. The evening was arranged by Arnold Fitzgerald, Harold Preston, Sherman Sweeting and Ivan Davis.

12,000 Finns Hear Graham

HELSINKI (Reuters) — More than 12,000 Finns, quiet and reserved, Wednesday heard evangelist Billy Graham ask them to accept Christ as their saviour.

Graham's staff announced after the meeting that he won 378 converts.

This was Graham's first sermon on the continent since his highly acclaimed tour of Britain.

Some 7,000 persons crowded into the main section of the Helsinki Exhibition Hall, while another 2,000 filled another part of the building where they heard the program over a loudspeaker system. An additional 3,000 stood in the streets outside or sat on a nearby hillside to hear his message, also over loudspeakers.

The only car in the world to drive 10,000 miles without stopping ... even for gas!

Mobile "service station" was specially built for non-stop test. When car entered mobile station both vehicles synchronized their speeds. Workmen fueled and serviced test car while crew changed.

10,148.3 miles, to be exact! . . . and every mile a gruelling test of endurance. The Morris Minor covered this distance at an average speed of 45.3 miles per hour, and at no time did the wheels stop turning or the engine fail. An ingenious mobile "service station" refueled, re-tired and re-crewed the ever-moving Morris.

During the nine days and eight hours of continuous running on a circular track, the Minor averaged 43 miles per gallon; an amazing feat since the perpetual turning was equivalent to climbing to a height of 66 miles on a road 10,000 miles long. But for this turning stroke, gas consumption would have averaged 7 miles more to the gallon.

The car was powered with the new high compression OHV (overhead valve) engine. This engine is now standard equipment in all Minors at no sacrifice to gas economy or increase in price.

Takes Three Days Pick Miss Timmins

TIMMINS (CP) — After three days of indecision, local beauty contest judges Thursday night finally picked "Miss Timmins, 1954" —Arlene Dunbar, a 17-year-old dress shop model.

Eliminations among the 11 beautiful entrants were to take place the first day but the three judges just couldn't make up their minds.

Marita Kohtala, 18, and Eleanor Jacques, 17, were named runners-up. The judges said they experienced great difficulty in marking scores and selecting "the doll-like Arlene as Miss Timmins."

Swimmer Florence Chadwick Tries Hand At Diving

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What can you do with a girl determined to try her luck as a deep sea diver?

Chances are, if the lady is Florence Chadwick who licked the English Channel and shattered Gertrude Ederle's record, you'd do just what the U.S. Navy did: loan Miss Chadwick your snappiest diving suit and tell her to go to it.

There's no need to ask how the Navy's Deep Sea Diving School has managed to remain a "he-man only" kind of outfit — with Miss Chadwick as the only exception to date.

Over heavy gray woolen "long-johns" she donned a rubber canvas dress weighing 18 pounds. Next a belt at 83 pounds; shoes at 17 pounds and the crowning glory — 54 pounds of hat.

A Navy chief twirled a T-wrench to fasten Miss Chadwick into the finished costume which now added up to a chic 190 pounds. A twist of the wing nuts and the brunette swimmer was ready to go.

Florence had only about 15 minutes of briefing. Sometimes after several days of classroom work, male beginners get all dressed, and then freeze on the ladder of the 15-foot "practice tank."

Others get as far as Washington's pitch-black Anacostia River and then drop out. Navy Doctor Richard Dobbins explains that claustrophobia and diving don't mix.

SWIMMER FLORENCE CHADWICK looks as happy as a baby in a bathinet after emerging from Navy test diving tank.

Once inside the practice tank with water bearing the weight of her gear. Miss Chadwick seemed as happy as a baby in a bathinette.

"I wish I were around. I'd join your unit," she radioed through the telephone in her helmet as she moved about on the floor of the tank.

After 20 minutes under water, Florence emerged smiling, and observed, "I'm glad I didn't have any mascara on. It would be in my eyes."

"She did better than some male students," said Lt. Comdr. W. Kenneth Wilson, officer in charge of the Diving School.

The excited swimming star had the answer. "All my life I've been dying to try this," she explained.

Next big event coming up for Florence, who's already conquered the Straits of Gibralter, the Bosporus and the Dardanelles, is a swim from Canada to the U.S. on Aug. 8. It will be from Victoria, B.C., to Port Angelus, Wash.

Watching a lady in a diving tank is hardly routine operation at the Navy's Deep Sea Diving School, the only one where they turn out First Class divers — the men who dive on a mixture of helium and oxygen at depths below 300 feet.

The six-months course graduates men equipped for submarine rescue work as well as salvage work at great depths.

As in submarines or underwater demolition work, Navy men who go down to the sea in diving suits must volunteer for the service.

Denies Smoking Main Cause Of Lung Cancer

By JOHN TRACY

HONEY HARBOR, Ont. (CP)—A United States scientist said Thursday there is no basis for any claim that cigaret smoking is the main cause of lung cancer. He linked the increasing frequency of the disease with air pollution.

Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute at Bethesda, Md., said the "pattern exhibited by lung cancers for different regions and population groups conforms more closely with that shown by industrial development than with one which might be expected as the result of carcinogenic (cancer-causing) action of a single environmental factor, such as cigaret smoking."

"TOTAL EVIDENCE"

He delivered a paper on environmental aspects of lung cancer at the Canadian Cancer Research Conference. During a discussion period he said:

"I think the evidence about cigaret smoking and lung cancer does not exclude the possibility of a relation between smoking and lung cancer. But, if you take the total evidence, I don't think there is any basis for the claim that cigaret smoking is the main cause of lung cancer. That would be stretching the evidence to the breaking point."

Dr. A. J. Phillips of Toronto, statistician with the National Cancer Institute of Canada, said his data indicated a definite increase in male deaths due to lung cancer in Canada.

He said deaths among both sexes was .2 per cent of all deaths in 1931. For 1952 the figure had risen to 1.2 per cent.

CANCER IN NUNS

A quebec gynaecologist, Dr. L.F. Gagnon, said he found the incidence of lung cancer among nuns, "who definitely don't smoke," was about the same as for the lay population. In 20 years of research he had noted 221 cases of cancer among nuns and eight of these involved lung cancer.

Dr. Hueper said there was evidence that some metals and metal compounds when inhaled as dust, fumes or mist are capable of producing respiratory cancers. He mentioned industries involving nickel chromates, asbestos, arsenic and petroleum.

No unusual frequency of respiratory cancers had been observed, however, among workers at the Sudbury nickel-ore mines or smelters in Canada. Nor was there any evidence of excessive lung cancer incidence among coal miners.

Representatives Of 17 Sunday Schools Attend OCCE Convention At Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS)—"Of Such is the Kingdom" was the theme of the Ontario Council of Christian Education convention in Havelock United church Wednesday, comprising Sunday school teachers and workers with young people's groups in Seymour, Percy and Belmont townships.

J. Atkinson of Dartford, district president, presided. Mrs. Alex Stephens of Campbellford officiated as secretary-treasurer.

The afternoon session opened with James Watson, superintendent of Havelock United church Sunday school, conducting the worship service and welcoming the visitors. Prayer was offered by Fred A. Rogers. The Rev. R. G. Newman officiated at the organ.

Mr. Atkinson introduced the Rev. R. J. Scott of Whitby who was OCCE representative at the convention. Mr. Scott gave a preview of the day's program, followed by the theme story by Mrs. Grant Allen of Warkworth, a story of Christian work among children in the slums of London, England.

The convention was then divided into three "think together" groups, as follows: "That all may worship", led by Mrs. A. C. Newman of Campbellford; "So you are a teacher", by Captain S. Mutton of the Salvation Army, Campbellford; "Securing allegiance to Christ" by Mrs. C. E. Meiklejohn of Warkworth.

The Rev. R. J. Scott gave a talk on "Know your council". The OCCE, he said, was an agency of the Protestant church whose main work was assisting in Christian education at all age levels. It is represented in the Canadian Council of Churches, which is affiliated with the World Council of Churches.

The OCCE is mainly financed by contributions from Sunday schools throughout the province. Other groups, such as Trail Rangers and CGIT, also make contributions.

The question box and general discussion were conducted by Mr. Scott.

Mrs. J. Corneil, of Havelock, sang two solos, for which she played her own accompniment on an autoharp.

OUTLINES PROGRAMS

Dr. D. M. Smith, of Campbellford, was in charge of the denominational period, outlining the programs that are being emphasized by the various denominations, the emphasis being mainly in connection with the Sunday school, young people and leadership.

The Rev. Gordon J. A. Whitehorne, of Campbellford, presented the nominating committee's report, which was adopted by the meeting.

Officers are: past president, V. Spencer, Campbellford; president, J. Atkinson, Dartford; vice-president, Kenneth Harnden, Warkworth; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Alex Stephens, Campbellford; superintendent of children's work, Mrs. C. E. Newman, Campbellford; superintendent of girls' work, Mrs. R. G. Newman, Havelock; superintendent of boys' work, the Rev. G. Whitehorne, Campbellford; superintendent of young people's work, Mrs. Grant Allen, Warkworth; superintendent of teachers' training, Mrs. W. W. J. Hicks, Campbellford; superintendent of temperance work, Earl Pollock, Rush Point; superintendent of missionary work, Fred A. Rogers, Havelock.

The installation ceremony was conducted by the Rev. R. J. Scott.

Dartford Sunday school was in charge of the worship service, led by J. Atkinson. A duet was sung by Ida and Clarice Honey, the former playing the piano accompaniment and also accompanying a solo by John Coggins.

REPORTS

The Rev. J. Whitehorne presided for the presentations of reports by departmental groups.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson, of Knox Prebyterian church spoke on the work of the Scouts and Cubs. The question bothering leaders of the church, he said, is how to keep teen-age boys in the church and have them stay with their Bible classes.

Mr. Duncanson said we need men of vision, who see the boy, not as he is on the street, but as he might be if touched by the hand of God. The same thing applied to girls' organizations. If we as a church do not answer their needs, they will simply go elsewhere, he said.

Mr. Duncanson advocated forming a new group for boys, known as Sigma-C, with a program for teen-age boys which is church-centred, Christ-centred, family-linked, has built-in leadership training, discipline that comes from inside, is permeated in every part by the evangel.

Miss Mildred Heagle, of Stephens United church, Seymour, gave a report of the work done in the Mission Band of her church of which she is leader. She also was accompanist for a solo by Miss Muriel Heagle.

Mrs. R. G. Newman, of Havelock, gave a report of the local CGIT, organized in May of last year, and the only group in the convention district. Five members have joined the church and a number are members of the choir.

The report on young people's work was written by superintendent Mrs. Grant Allen and presented by Miss Barbara Smith of Campbellford. It showed that one Y.P. Fireside had been organized in Campbellford and the program had proved very attractive. The offerings from the firesides go to the Young People's committee of the department of Christian education of the Canadian Council of Churches.

Dr. D. M. Smith reported on the Young Adult's club in St. John's church, Campbellford.

Dr. Smith also presented the following resolution, which was adopted: Where as there is a need for leadership in our churches in this district, be it resolved that leadership training classes be started this fall.

An invitation was accepted to hold the 1955 convention at Tabernacle United church, English Line circuit.

The Rev. R. J. Scott, gave a brief address, to close the session, on Builders for Eternity.

Benediction cloed the meeting.

The following churches were represented: Warkworth United; St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Warkworth; Free Methodist, Warkworth; Dartford United; Salvation Army, Campbellford; St. John's United Campbellford; Burnbrae Presbyterian, Campbellford Anglican; Trent River United; Rush Point United; Free Methodist, Campbellford; Zion United; Stephens United; Tabernacle United; Knox Presbyterian, Havelock; Havelock United; St. John's Anglican, Havelock; Free Methodist, Havelock.

Indo-China Talks Resume In Private

By STANLEY PRIDDLE

GENEVA (Reuters)—Indo-China peace talks resumed in private here today with hopes of success boosted by the election of a new French government.

The parliamentary vote in Paris Thursday night installing Pierre Mendes-France followed apparent concessions here by Communist China.

Georges Bidault, French foreign minister who flew back here for urgent talks when it appeared the Western powers might seek to suspend the conference, now is likely to quit the Geneva scene.

Many observers here believe Mendes-France himself will come here as his own foreign minister.

French quarters today were more optimistic than at any time since the conference opened. But the American and British groups point out the need for finding out whether the hints of concessions given by Chou En-lai Chinese Communist prime minister, really imply any definite offers.

Documentary Films Banned By Yugoslavia

By JOHN EARLE

BELGRADE (Reuters)—A Yugoslav ban on two British documentary films dealing with Commonwealth affairs has spotlighted the distaste felt by Yugoslavia for the western powers' "colonial" policies.

The Yugoslav film censorship board rejected applications in May by the British embassy to show to Yugoslav audiences the film "Burma Victory," about the liberation of Burma from the Japanese by British and Indian troops, and the film "Challenge in Nigeria," describing British attempts to develop Nigeria toward nationhood.

Although no official reasons were given for the ban, Yugoslav officials let it be known that they were rejected because their picture of the two colonies (Burma had not, at the time of making the film, gained independence) differed from the official Yugoslav attitude.

THEORY OF OPPRESSION

The Yugoslav attitude is based on the Marxist view that a colonial power keeps its colonies under oppressive, if not terrorist, subjugation and thwarts any attempt at progress or raising the standard of living.

This does not prevent Yugoslavia from collaborating with the western powers over European affairs or from giving a friendly welcome to visiting delegations.

But it does result in British, French and Americans being regarded with suspicion in all matters relating to Africa, Asia or the Pacific.

The Yugoslav press, which is all pro-government, frequently publishes attacks on the western powers over "colonialism."

India Increases Production Rice And Wheat

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW [illegible] (Reuters)—India at last is free from the spectre of recurrent famine.

Rice production has risen by 22 per cent since last year. Wheat production is up by eight per cent. Stocks of wheat in the country total 350,000 tons, considered sufficient to meet any immediate emergency, and wheat imports this year will be the lowest since India became independent.

Rationing of rice and wheat has been abolished. Self-sufficiency in food no longer is a dream but a practical possibility despite the growing population problem which means feeding 4,000,000 extra mouths each year.

Wheat imports have been steadily decreasing since the peak year of famine in 1951 when 3,000,000 tons of wheat had to be imported. So far, only nominal quantities of wheat have been received from abroad this year, totalling about 9,250 tons.

MAN BEHIND IMPROVEMENT

Although India has ratified the second International Wheat Agreement, which came into force for three years on Aug. 1, 1953, she may not purchase any large quantities unless prices reach the minimum stipulated in the agreement, in view of her improved internal supply position.

The improved food position in India is due to a number of factors.

The heavy wheat and rice imports during the famine of 1951 left the government with a substantial reserve in hand, which helped to lower prices and bring out hoarded stocks.

At the same time, local production has been increased by the reclamation of land, by improved irrigation, and by the use of intensified cultivation, particularly the Japanese method of growing rice.

The Japanese method involves careful selection of plants and individual attention to their growth. In 1953-54, the area put under this system was nearly 200,000 acres. It now is proposed to intensify the campaign and raise the acreage ten-fold so as to reach the figure of 2,000,000 acres under the Japanese system this year.

MANBEHIND IMPROVEMENT

The man behind this improvement in India's food situation is the food minister, Rafi Ahmed Kidwai, one of the two Moslem ministers in Prime Minister Nehru's cabinet.

A silent man, with a passion for organization and detail, the 59-year-old food minister has brought a prosperous horizon to the Indian food scene by a series of drastic measures which roused loud opposition at the time.

Taking over the portfolio shortly after the famine of 1951, he began by abolishing rationing in Madras state and surprised critics by thereby bringing down rice prices and forcing into the open hoarded stocks of food. Since then he has progressively abolished rationing and control of grains all over the country.

Girls Live In Constant Fear Of Kidnapping

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP)—See a gal that strikes your fancy?

Well, don't go wastin' time a-courtin' and asking her consent. Just gallop out and carry her off.

If you need help, because she isn't alone, just whistle up a pack of your buddies.

That's the way the hill-[illegible] the Soviet Union (down thar in the Caucasus mountains) have been doin' it for generations.

But the Communist press in Moscow says it's got to stop—the gals should be courted right and given a chance to say yes or no.

KIDNAPPED SCHOOL MARM

Now take the case of Tamara, reports the newspaper Komsomol Pravda. Tamara was a teacher in the mountain village of Malka, in the Kabardinski Autonomous Republic. And a fine lookin' school marm she was, too.

So fine looking, in fact, that one of three "brave and bold" brothers of the village fancied her for a wife. So he called a family council at which it was decided his was a wise choice.

When Tamara took a walk along a mountain path with her sister, the brothers—with two pals—rode out in a coach and carried her off.

All this information came to Komsomol Pravda from Tamara's sister, who was left on the trail. Indignantly she wrote the paper, which prodded the local prosecutor's office until he sent a representative to find what was up.

INVESTIGATOR'S REPORT

According to this investigator, says Komsomol Pravda, Tamara's reply to his inquiries was: "Well, after I was kidnapped I agreed to marry him." The prosecutor decided to take her at her word.

But here's what really happened, the paper quotes the un-kidnapped sister: "After Tamara was kidnapped she became afraid for the future and agreed to marry him."

The paper cites the case of two other recently kidnapped brides, and says: "The girls in the mountai nareas live in constant fear of being kidnapped. And once they are thus forced to marry the man their life is ruined."

Of the brothers who kidnapped Tamara, it says they committed "a hooligan deed typical of the feudal mode of life of pre-revolutionary Kabardinski."

Work Of WMS Outlined At Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mrs. R. D. Duncanson gave an address, "What Does the Women's Missionary Society Mean to You," to Knox W.M.S. Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the church.

Mrs. Duncanson outlined the organization and object of the society, how the allocations were set and divided among the churches across Canada. She explained about funds for special purposes, some of which were to buy medicine for Europe, homes for missionaries on furlough, allocations for old people's and orphans' homes.

She told of work in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta, where the outlying homes are reached by vans carrying Christian literature and medicine. Two nurses paid by the W.M.S. travel with each van.

The allocation for each auxiliary, Mrs. Duncanson said, was based on membership. She advised keeping the membership roll to date by putting on new members and taking off those who have moved away.

NO AGE LIMIT

It was a mistake to think the WMS was only for grandmothers, because there is no age limit. The young need the experience of the old and the young are needed for their talents. The older ones, she said, had more time, while the group in between may have larger incomes.

Each woman, Mrs. Duncanson said, when she becomes a member of the church, promises to help and support the church. She can do that well through the WMS.

The speaker enumerated many talents, music, kindliness, organization ability, wealth and others, which could be used in the missionary work of the church.

Mrs. P. Colquhoun, thanked Mrs. Duncanson and expressed regret that she was leaving the locality. Mrs. R. Bonney also voiced her appreciation and said she knew the Rev. and Mrs. Duncanson were going to do a lot of good in British Guiana.

The study period took the form of a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that it is worthwhile to educate the Indian young people in residential schools, under the direction of the church", Mrs. F. McTavish presented the affirmative side, with Mrs. W. Copp on the negative.

President Mrs. Norman Rosebush presided. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. Hunter. Mrs. Carman McMillan gave a reading.

A duet was sung by Mrs. Dick Nicholas and Miss Dorothy Graham to organ accompaniment by Mrs. Colquhoun. A reading was given by Mrs. W. Martin.

The treasurer was authorized to forward the allocation for the half year to the presbyterial treasurer.

Refreshments were served.

The Rev. L. R. Pocock, rector of the parish of Cavan had charge of the service.

The choir of St. John's for the fifth time in its history appeared fully robed and led in the hymn singing. Guest soloist was Mrs. Allen Spicer, Millbrook.

The choir sang an anthem in which Roxy Rusk of Cavan took the solo.

The favorable weather brought friends from near and far to decorate the graves in this historic old church yard. The church was filled to capacity and many had to remain in the church yard where seats were arranged through the use of a loud speaker they were able to join in the service.

Bethany WI Hear Talk On Mental Health

BETHANY (ENS) — The Women's Institute meeting Monday evening, heard an address from John D. Parks, one of the executive directors of The Canadian Mental Health Association in Toronto.

Explaining assaciotion's work, Mr. Parks said "at least 10 per cent of the Canadian population is suffering from some degress of emotional or mental disability. These people need our most sympathetic understanding."

Emotionally disturbed people are really ill . . . their sickness brought on by worry and fear which they have not been able to combat. Trained psychiatrists are qualified to help, but the general public must learn to change their attitude. We must have more psychiatric wards in general hospitals instead of asylums, he said.

The Canadian Mental Health Association has assisted universities in training mental health personel and in mental health research. They have established institutes of child study in Toronto and Montreal. As a result, nursery schools were organized and parent education courses started. They have organized special intensive training in mental hygiene for school teachers. CHMA established the first Bureau of Vocational Guidance in Canada; organized the first Child Guidance Clinic in Canada and introduced intelligence testing and human relations classes into Canadian schools. They have collaborated with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in introducing radio programs illustrating mental health principles in home and community life, he continued.

"We have sincerely appreciated the help given by the Women's Institute our health programs and your contributions to "Penny-Round-Up" which helped pay expenses," he said.

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Mrs. H. F. Rayson, who is group leader for home economics and health.

Mrs. T. Jennings presided at the opening exercises.

Visitors from the Cavan branch of the Women's Institute were welcomed by the president. Mrs. Armitage expressed the group's pleasure in being guests at the meeting.

...ly Magistrate Into Bush To Try Case

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate Marcel Leger was flown into bushland in a helicopter by lands and forests officials to try Noel Zesolnie and Pete Legaci, two Sault Ste. Marie prospectors on charges of failing to extinguish lighted matter in the bush.

With blackened land and charred stubbs as a grim backdrop, court was set up in a tent surrounded by 30 smoke stained and weary fire fighters.

Lands and forests tower men picked up and reported smoke from Minnipuka township many miles from road or rail. Fire fighters were flown into a nearby lake immediately where they said they found Zesolnie and Legaci who were at once drafted as extra fire fighters.

CREWS SAVED DAY

Hard on the heels of the crews came the Ontario provincial police flown in by helicopter and whilst the fire was still blazing an investigation was underway. The two men were charged. Within 24 hours Magistrate Leger was flown in.

After the hearing the judge remanded the two men until they could obtain counsel. The case will be continued at Hornepayne June 25.

Lands and forests officials told the court that only the efficient work of the crews working all through the night held the fire down to about 200 acres but because of the location and timber types it could have assumed catastrophic proportions.

Evidence Given Of 2 Weddings InBigamyCharge

Thursday, June 17, was the tenth wedding anniversary of Albert Harvey Young and his wife, Alene. It also marked the beginning of a hearing of bigamy against Young who is also known as Burton Harvey Young and as Burton Harvey Emmerson.

The Crown has established Young's age as being 28, which would make him about 18 when he married a Dartford woman, Alene Rita Convey, on June 17, 1944.

In testimony Thursday, Alene Young said that she had been under the impression that Albert Young was 21 when she married him. That was the age he had given her prior to the marriage by Father Ferguson at St. Jerome's church, Warkworth.

Mrs. Young said that there had been six children from the marriage, the last being born in May, 1953. She told the court that Young had left her and the children on March 27, 1951. He had returned for a short perior in August, 1952. She said that they had not been legally separated.

IDENTIFIES SIGNATURE

Mrs. Young identified her signature on a marriage license produced as evidence by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw. Witnesses to the marriage, James O'Reilly and Madeline Gibson, also identified their signatures on the marriage documents.

The second Mrs. Young, previously known as Violet Lillian Willshaw, told Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, that she had gone through a form of marriage with Young at Peterborough on October 3, 1953. The ceremony had been performed by Major H. G. Roberts of the Salvation Army. This was also established by Major Roberts and two witnesses to the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drummond.

Violet Young said that Young had left her on March 1, 1954. She had given birth to a child 30 days after his disappearance, and a month later Young had returned, this time wearing an army uniform.

In reply to questions by defence counsel James E. Lillico, the witness said that Young had given her no explanation of where he had been and why he had not sent her any money. She knew her husband as Burton Harvey Young.

At the time of his return, Young had mentioned something about getting an army allowance, continued Violet Young. He had also said that it would be better if she adopted the married name of Emerson. However, to her knowledge Young had never applied for the allowance and she had certainly received no money.

Detective Doug Farthing told the court that Young had been arrested by Constable W. G. Scott on May 20, 1953, while AWL from his army unit. Among Young's personal affects an army paybook, bearing the name Roderick Daniel Emerson, had been found.

The hearing was adjourned to June 24.

Gave Tots Liquor

TORONTO (CP) — Convicted Tuesday of supplying liquor to a three-year-old boy, Terence Groom 26, Thursday was convicted of two similar charges involving the boy's 22-month-old brother and five-year-old sister. He was sentenced to nine months, three terms of three months each. He was arrested May 31 at the children's home. Police said they found the children's mother drinking with four other men.

Aid To Ulcers

VANCOUVER (CP) — A prominent radiologist Thursday advised the Canadian Medical Association that heavy smoking and skipping meals is an encouragement to ulcers. Dr. G. I. Norton of Vancouver told the annual CMA convention that many persons are under the erroneous impression that smoking relaxes them and thereby reduces the chances of getting ulcers.

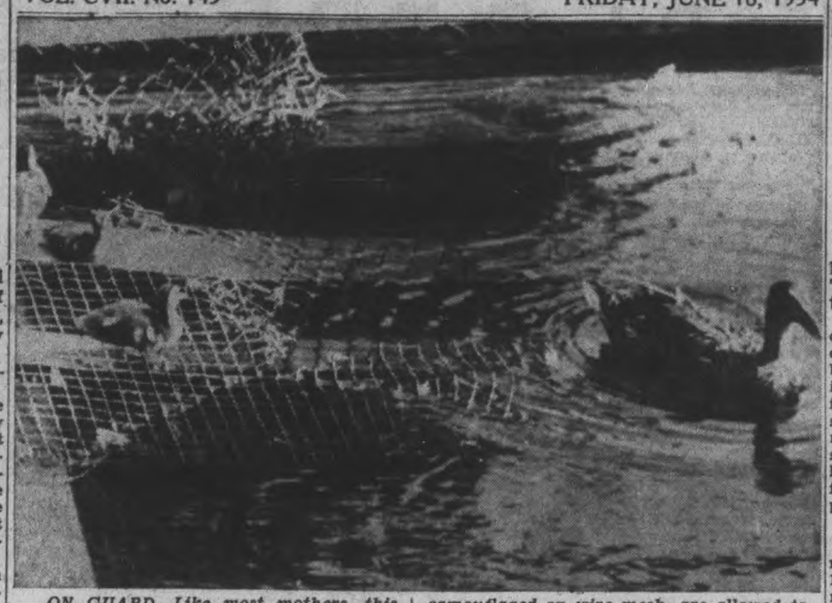
Hardy Construction Firm Awarded Contract To Build New Reformatory

250 Hard-To-Manage Prisoners Be Housed In $2,500,000 Reformatory To Be Built West of Millbrook Village

Contract for construction of the new $2,500,000 provincial reformatory at Millbrook was let to George Hardy Ltd. of Toronto, it was announced today by the Hon. John Foote, VC, minister of reform institutions. Construction will probably get under way in a couple of weeks.



The public works department, who called for tenders on the building at the beginning of May, awarded the contract to the Toronto firm on Thursday, Major Foote said.

HOUSE 250 PRISONERS

The building will have a capacity for 250 hard-to-manage prisoners. Major Foote told an audience in Millbrook on March 26 that plans for such an institution had been discussed for two years. Riots of August, 1952, in the Guelph reformatory had shown the need for some place to accommodate less tractable prisoners.

The new reformatory would be operated on a maximum security risk basis, Major Foote said at that time. Although some occupational activities were to be developed among the prisoners, the entire 50 acres of ground would be walled in to provide the greatest possible security for district residents.

No announcement has been made by the public works department regarding tenders on plumbing, drainage and water supply, heating, ventilating and refrigeration or electrical work.

Civic Hospital Workers Make Compromise Offer By Reducing Wage Demands

A compromise offer was made today by the Civic Hospital workers in an attempt to settle their contract dispute with the board of governors.

During an hour-long meeting that broke up at 10 a.m., Local 19 reduced their demands from 18 cents an hour to seven cents on hour. But they wanted this incorporated into a two-year contract that would give them another five cents next January.

The board of governors are having a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight to consider the latest union proposals.

They have accepted in principle the majority report of a government-appointed conciliation board that recommended no wage increase for the 106 workers; a form of union security falling short of the modified Rand formula wanted by the union; an off-shift differential of five cents an hour; and special consideration for the difficult transportation problem to and from the hospital.

REJECTED REPORT

At an orderly meeting Thursday night some 75 members of Local 19 voted to reject the majority report of the conciliation board. The minority report, signed by Henry Rhodes, recommended the modified Rand formula and a seven and a half cents an hour increase.

The executive of the union have already been given power to act; but at Thursday night's meeting it was proposed to delay any action until after the talks with the board of governors at 9 a.m. today.

COMPROMISE OFFER

After preliminary skirmishes at the morning session the union withdrew and came up with the compromise offer during the short break. Specifically, they asked:

1. Terms of their compromise proposals to be considered only as part of a two-year contract. A one-year contract is now in force.
2. A modified Rand formula, which requires all employees under contract to pay union dues whether union members or not.
3. A general wage increase retroactive to March 1, 1954.
4. A further increase of five cents an hour on Jan. 1, 1955, for the second year of the two-year contract.

Union spokesman said they agreed with the majority report proposal for a five-cent an-hour off-shift differential.

Max Swanston, chairman of the board of governors, said they would consider the compromise proposals at the board meeting tonight. Meantime the board's negotiating committee gave no commitments.

Other governors present were Dr. G. S. Cameron and T. T. Rodger. James Hornal, superintendant of the hospital, was also present.

Appearing for Local 19 were Frank Kitchen, NUPSE representative; George Linsdell, president; William Yates, vice-president; and four other union members — Bob Morris, Florence Coombs, Ron Leal and Arlene Jackson.

The majority report was written by the chairman of the conciliation board, Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville and C. B. C. Scott, board of governors' nominee. Mr. Rhodes who filled the minority report was the union's nominee.

WAGES MAIN ISSUE

With a few qualifications the board of governors are prepared to accept the majority report. The two parties are apart on union security and wages — with wages being the main issue.

Referring to the Peterborough Civic Hospital workers the majority report said: "As their rates are amongst the highest in the province and the per capita taxes on the citizens of Peterborough to support the hospital are amongst the highest, your board recommends no increase in salary rates for the term of the new contract."

DISCOUNTED POINT

Mr. Rhodes, in his minority report, discounted this point:

"I am not prepared to give much weight to the fact that . . . Civic . . . appears to be paying the

Appoint Provision Board For YM-YW In South End

Five men and five women will form the nucleus of a new combined YMCA-YWCA in the south end of the city. The provisional directorate hopes to begin operations this fall, possibly on the second floor of the Ross Food Market store at Park and Braidwood Sts.

Activities for the nine to 14 age group will be stressed at the new YM-YW, designed to serve the more than 13,000 Peterborough citizens who live south of Lansdowne St. Tentative plans for programming were laid at a Thursday night public meeting, co-chaired by Stanley G. Payne, YMCA board chairman, and Mrs. Harold Rehill, his counterpart on the YWCA.

Named to the provisional executive, to make a survey of children's needs in the south end, were Mrs. Howard Powell, Mrs. Clarence Porter, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Keith Pilkington, Mrs. Donald Wood, James Bell, Roy Shouldice, Len Thibaudeau, William Gerow and Jack Quirk.

PERSONAL SURVEY

Every house in the south should be approached personally to get a complete picture of area needs, said Mrs. Pilkington. She felt that whatever good intentions the provisional board might have, "people will not come out and parents will not send children unless we go out and talk to them first."

Talking is fine, said Melvin Leal, president of the South End Ratepayers' Association, but "you can get into an awful mess with a lot of general conversations." He suggested those who call have clear ideas as to what the new YM-YW can and will do for the south end.

A pragmatic approach to programming was favored by Clarence Corbett, personnel manager of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., and a member of the board of education. He felt the new YM-YW should "create a service." New services, he said, can be added as needed.

Mrs. W. H. Clarke wondered what the embryonic group would use for money. She felt some financial help might be needed from the uptown Ys or the national council.

Mrs. Paige Rowell, a YWCA board member and a member of the national council of the YWCA on YM-YW extension, said that money is not a serious problem in early stages of the program. Later, she said, the south end group might get something from the community fund campaign.

Children who attend the south-end Y will be able to use the pool and gym facilities of the uptown branches. A fee of $6 was tentatively set, half of this to pay for uptown services.

OVERHAUL FEES

Discussing fee arrangements at the two uptown branches, YMCA general secretary James C. McClenaghan said that fees are presently being overhauled and will be levied on a group basis.

(The YWCA operates on what Mr. McClenaghan described as an "a la carte basis" with girls paying for the specific programs in which they are interested. Both organizations, however, stress that they never turn away a child for lack of money. Many citizens buy Y memberships they don't use to pay for the activities of such children.)

Both the YMCA and the YWCA are willing to provide free professional leadership one day a week, said Mr. McClenaghan. But he agreed with one citizen who described professional leadership as "icing" in the south-end program. "The push, drive and stimulus should come from your own group."

MAKE IT A CORNERSTONE

Christian guidance should be the cornerstone of YMCA or YWCA leadership, said Mr. McClenaghan. He felt it was premature to talk of a self-contained Y building and hoped that people would get over the notion that "the Y is just a place to come and have a bath."

Roy Shouldice, elected to the provisional board, suggested that the first aim of the new group should be to train a corps of leaders. Leaders should be familiarized with YMCA and YWCA techniques and programming, he said, before any children are invited to take part. He thought it possible that the new organization could then operate on a daily basis.

But until cohesion of this sort is achieved, Mr. Shouldice felt, thought of renting a building might be premature. If space is rented full time and used only two days a week, fees "might be prohibitive."

There was some disagreement on the question of which age groups should receive the most attention from the new YM-YW. Applause greeted a comment from the floor that there "are an awful lot of little tots who won't be getting anything at all out of this."

EIGHT-YEAR MINIMUM

Miss Leta Brownscombe, retiring executive director of the YWCA, pointed out that the international approach of the YMCA and the YWCA is to provide activities for children at least eight years old.

Mrs. Harold Rehill recalled that there had been a Y-sponsored

H. Powell Heads Kinsmen

W. Howard Powell, general manager of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, was elected president of the Kinsmen club Thursday night at the Kawartha club. He succeeds Arthur Black.

Also named to take office in September were vice-presidents Robert Hamilton and Bud Laplante; secretary, John Harris; treasurer, Norman Kelly and registrar, George Schwindt. New directors are Don Lawrie, John Corkery, Jack Gamsby, Garnet Towns and George Stone. An editor of the club bulletin is yet to be appointed.

Six candidates ran for the offices of president, first vice-president, and second vice-president. The candidate with the most votes, Mr. Powell, became president with Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Laplante running second and third, winning the other two offices.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

Plans were made for the annual Kin Golf tournament July 23 and for the group's annual carnival at Riverside Park June 25 and 26. A midnight buffet dinner will be served at the Kawartha club after the carnival.

Four delegates, with their wives, were named to the district Kin convention at Cleveland House. Delegates from Peterborough will be Ald. and Mrs. G. T. Farquharson, Mr. and Mrs. William Godson, Mr. and Mrs. William Roach and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell. Arthur Black will attend the national Kin convention in Saskatoon in August.

Instead of the usual sing song, a one minute silence was observed for Henry S. Rennie, who had only recently been inducted into the Kinsmen club.

The years' activities will close at a joint meeting of the old and new executives at Arthur Black's cottage on Chemong lake, June 29.

Board Increases Public Liability

Public liability and property damage insurance coverage is to be increased at the Civic Hospital. The decision followed a suggestion by T. J. Carley, QC.

At present the coverage limit is $5,000 for one person and $10,000 for one occurrence. The three-year premium is $505.57. This is to be increased to $20,000 and $40,000 with an increase in premium of $166.83.

The property damage coverage will be increased from $1,000 to $3,000 with an increase in premium of $30.30.

The board also decided on the purchase of a new basal metabolism apparatus at a cost of $750. The old apparatus has been in use at the hospital for 12 years, but is now in need of repairs costing $200. An allowance of $150 is to be given on the old machine.

A basal metabolism apparatus measures the amount of energy a person uses in the course of living and working.

Cobourg Man Buys Duffus Summer Home

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Nicholls of Cobourg have bought the summer home of Senator J. J. Duffus at Chemong lake. They recently sold their summer resort, Clearstone Lodge, Rice Lake, to H. R. Wagner who, as succeeding proprietor, resigned from the management of the Lansdowne St. branch of the Royal Bank.

Mr. Nicholls was for years in the restaurant business in Toronto, and in retirement he and Mrs. Nicholls have the prospect of spending their summers at Chemong and winters in the south. The Senator Duffus cottage has been one of the most attractive summer places at the west end of Chemong lake. Jacob Low arranged the details of the transfer.

Civic Hospital Board Honors Principal School Of Nursing

Miss Evelyn M. Robson, director of nursing service and principal of the school of nursing at the Civic Hospital, has announced her resignation from the hospital staff. She is leaving at the end of June to fill a similar executive position at Victoria Hospital, London. Miss Robson has been at the Civic Hospital since August, 1951.

At a dinner meeting held at South Beach hotel Thursday night, members of the board of governors paid a tribute to Miss Robson.

TRIBUTE FROM CHAIRMAN

Board chairman Max Swanston spoke in glowing terms of the service she had rendered to the hospital, and especially to the nursing staff, during her three-years stay. It was with deep regret that the board accepted her resignation.

"Miss Robson has done much for the hospital and I don't know of anyone who has done more to create happy relations between the public and the hospital," he said.

On behalf of the board, treasurer T. T. Rodger presented Miss Robson with a cheque and best wishes for her future.

Dr. G. S. Cameron, chairman of the school of nursing committee, expressed thanks to Miss Robson for her unselfish service to the staff and to the hospital.

"She has distinguished herself by the work she has done," he said.

Hospital superintendent John Hornal, medical staff representative Dr. Russell Morgan, also paid tribute for the work accomplished by Miss Robson. They both credited her with being a great leader among the nurses and with contributing much of value to the hospital. Sincere regrets from all sides were being felt at her resignation.

Miss Robson also received a floral tribute from Mayor and Mrs. Norman Graham, who were unable to be presnt, but who sent their thanks for the service given by the nursing director.

Her appointment at Victoria hospital will be the second such position to be held by Miss Robson.

GRADUATED IN 1929

Graduating from the Toronto general hospital school of nursing in 1929. Miss Robson served for a time on the staff there before going to Columbia University, N.Y. where she took a course in administration and guidance in schools of nursing. Later she graduated from the university with a bachelor of science degree.

For some time she served as assistant hospital superintendant at St. Catharines and during 1948-49 was an inspector of training schools with the division of nursing, Ontario department of health.

Miss Robson also spent some time in training at Wayne university, Detroit, before returning again to Columbia during 1950-51. From there she joined the staff of the Civic hospital.

At its meeting Thursday night the board of governors decided that Miss C. Wilson, present assistant director, will temporarily fill the position left vacant by Miss Robson.

Dr. Clifford McKee Heads Dental Society

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough and District Dental society recently held at the Kawartha club, the following officers for 1954-55 were elected: President, Dr. E. C. McKee; vice-president, Dr. Allan F. McDougall; secretary-treasurer, Dr. R. H. Campbell, Lakefield.

It is expected that a seminar on children's denistry will be held on October 8 and 9 during Dental Health Week with outstanding clinicians presiding.

STEAL SCHOOL RADIO

A mantel radio, valued at $35, was stolen early Thursday from the Rifle Range school in Otonabee township. The thief jimmied the lock on the school and left, taking only the radio which had been donated by the Home and School Association. OPP Constable Ken Barber investigated.

Clearing Houses To Make Way For Parking Lot

New houses for old.

That's the plan of George Martin, 775 Monaghan Rd., whose tender the city has accepted for demolition of houses to make way for a parking lot between King and Sherbrooke streets, a block west of George St. His crew began Thursday to tear down the barn at the rear of 218 Sherbrooke St.

BUILDING NEW HOMES

Simultaneously, Mr. Martin is erecting a group of new houses on 10 acres of land he bought from Archie Patterson on the 11th concession of North Monaghan township. Some of the material in the new houses will come from the buildings he is tearing down for the city.

As yet, Mr. Martin doesn't know how much of the old material he can use in the new houses. So far, he has started to demolish only the barn. The Sherbrooke St. house and the terraces on King St., opposite the Colonial Coach Lines terminal, will come under the crowbar later.

Hardwood flooring and subfloors in the Sherbrooke St. house appear to be in good shape. Mr. Martin plans to use some of the doors from the Sherbrooke St. house, and the windows from the King St. terraces will probably be transferred to the new houses.

The plumbing appears to be in good shape but the condition of the electrical fixtures will have to be approved by an electrician. The bricks from the Sherbrooke St. house will probably be salvaged.

HIGHEST TENDER

Mr. Martin paid the city $700 for the privilege of tearing down the buildings. He submitted the highest tender.

No novice at the demolition business, Mr. Martin is sure he has made a good deal. (He has demolished other buildings, including a two-storey school building in Victoria county.)

He pointed to a 23-inch panel of solid pine on a door taken from the barn.

"You don't see boards like that any more," he said.

PURCHASED BOARD

Always on cue when there's a bargain around, the photographer purchased the board. He plans to make it into a coffee table.

Mr. Martin then drew attention to the rafters in the barn. They were spaced four feet apart.

"That barn must be a hundred years old," he said. "They don't make rafters that big any more and they don't space them that far apart."

They didn't need parking lots a hundred years ago, either.

CHURCHILL HONORED — Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill (centre) wears plumed hat and other traditional ceremonial garb as he proceeds to St. George's Chapel in London to receive the Order of the Garter, awarded him by Queen Elizabeth. Yellowknife Plans Barbecue To Introduce Duke To Town

By GRAHAM TROTTER

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) The Duke of Edinburgh will end strenuous three-day aerial tour (Canada's far north by visiting mine, attending a barbecue an watching the pouring of a gol brick in this semi-Arctic land o the midnight sun.

A busy itinerary awaits the duke when he arrives aboard an amphibious Canso aircraft from Coppermine, on the Arctic coast 370 miles to the north, about mid-day on Aug. 10.

But an unscheduled part of the program may turn out to be a highlight for the duke. Tour officials have indicated an amateur radio pickup may be attempted about 10:15 p.m., at which time it is hoped the duke might speak over the air waves to Queen Elizabeth in London. But this part of the program is "only a possibility."

PROSPEROUS COMMUNITY

This settlement on the north shore of Great Slave lake, 600 miles north of Edmonton, is a gold town, but not one of the rip-roaring type associated with such frontier country. Yellowknife boomed with the discovery of gold in 1935 and the start of production three years later.

But there aren't many "boom" residents still around. Most have followed the gravy trail elsewhere, to such points as Uranium City, Sask. Yellowknife, with a population of 2,800, now is a payroll town living on gold, fishing and tourist industries.

Three major gold mines employ some 600 persons. Fishing for whitefish, lake trout and other fish on Great Slave lake is a $1,750,000 annual business employing 500 licensed commercial fishermen. Their catch is marketed as far away as New York.

Fishing on the hundreds of lakes surrounding Yellowknife attracts most of the tourists. Lake trout range to 40 pounds and anglers invariably throw back anything under 20. At Talthelie narrows 120 miles southeast, a Wyoming man operates a summer lodge accommodating 70 or 80 tourists at a weekly charge of $500.

Except for its high cost of living and the fact that this distributing point for the central Arctic is one of the most isolated centres in Canada, Yellowknife is much like any other Canadian town. Air travel however is practically the only passenger access to Yellowknife.

PICTURESQUE PLACE

Situated on a bay, it has distinct "old" and "new" communities separated by a one-miles, sloping asphalt road.

The "old town" with its pioneer shanties nestles around and on top of craggy rock outcroppings at the lake edge. It is not uncommon in winter to see Indians mushing dog teams alongside the paved highway. They live in a shack and nt settlement five miles west of wn and hunt caribou within 15 iles of Yellowknife.

The orderly "new town" with its id street plan was established ore than 10 years ago on a ndy plain west of the original ttlement, to permit installation modern water and sewage disosal systems. Most of the popuation and the business heart of he community are there.

INFORMAL PROGRAM

Upon his arrival, the duke will eview the town army cadets beore going to his quarters in the ngraham hotel, in the "new own."

The itinerary then calls for a motor tour of the new and old sections, ending with trips to mines of Giant Yellowknife Gold Mines Ltd., and the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. The former, Canada's No. 4 gold producer with an annual production value of $4,500,000, is three miles north of town.

The duke will see a brick-pouring ceremony at the Con mine, one mile south of town. Gold bricks, a little larger than ordinary house bricks, weight about 50 pounds and are poured once weekkly. They are shipped out by registered airmail to the government mint in Ottawa. Both the Giant and Con mines poured their 1,000th bricks last summer.

A smaller gold mine, Discovery, 120 miles north of Yellowknife, mines the richest gold ore in Canada. Underground workings at the mines range from 1,000 to 2,000 feet.

BIG BARBECUE

After visiting the two mines, and going down the shaft of one, the duke will mingle with town children assembled at Petitot Park. Then he will go to a barbecue at McNiven beach one mile from town, where he is to meet pioneers and citizens generally. After taking in the proposed ham radio pickop with world points the duke's day will end with an informal reception in the armories.

If the duke happens to tune in on Yellowknife's radio station, CFYK, the "voice of the golden north," he is in for a surprise. This 500-watt station, opened Feb. 19, 1950, is staffed by volunteer announcers — everyone from fishermen to school children, whoever has the time to spin a recording or ad lib on almost any subject to fellow townsfolk.

House To Keep Control Of Commission Salaries

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Macdonald Thursday said Parliament still will have control of the salaries paid the 14-member Canadian pensions commission after a change in the method of setting them.

The government leader in the Upper Chamber was replying in the Senate to criticism from government and Opposition ranks to a government proposal that the cabinet be allowed to set commission salaries by order-in-council.

At present, the Pensions Act specifies that the annual salaries be $12,000 for the commission chairman, $10,000 for the deputy chairman and $9,000 for the 12 commissioners.

Objections to changing this were expressed by Senators G. P. Burchill (L—New Brunswick), Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia), A.W. Roebuck (L—Ontario) and John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader.

GIVES OPINION

Senator Macdonald said that he does not think the government should delay appointment of additional commissioners until it obtains an appropriation from Parliament. Additions might be necessary for short period to handle large numbers of applications. Salaries set under the proposed new method must be approved by Parliament.

Senator Burchill said that Senator Macdonald's explanations do not quite satisfy him that greater efficiency will result or that the change is necessary.

The bill was given second reading—approval in principle—and referred to the committee on banking and commerce for further study. In other business, the Senate also approved $40-a-month pensions for disabled persons and a bill to place veterans who enlisted prior to July 5, 1950 on the same footing regarding veterans benefits as those who enlisted afterwards to participate in the Korean War.

Commons Begins Drive End Business

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday started a back-breaking drive to complete the business of the present session of parliament by next Wednesday or Thursday.

The House sat for an extra hour Thursday night, increasing the daily session to 8½ hours, and will continue to do so until the session ends. It also will sit for the same length of time Saturday.

There is only one item of government legislation remaining on the order paper, a bill providing salaries for an additional judge of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia and for another judge for the trial division of the Supreme Court of Alberta. However, the House still must approve the spending programs of a number of government departments.

Discuss Appointment Of Home Manager

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow siad Thursday he expects to meet with representatives of Grey county council and Owen Sound city council concerning appointment of a manager and matron for the Grey county home for the aged.

Earlier this week Owen Sound city council authorized Mayor Percy England and clerk-comptroller Alan S. Stewart to seek an interview with the welfare minister and Health Minister Phillips on affairs at the home.

Mayor England said then the appointment of a manager and matron should be made by the home's board of management and approved by the two councils.

However, county council last week appointed Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lindsay of Thornbury as manager and matron and then called a meeting of the board of management to approve the appointment, he said.

Mr. Goodfellow said he felt the proper way to make a new appointment would have been for the board to recommend the best applicant to both councils, the recommendation then to be acted on by them.

Tourist Check-up Described As Farce

OTTAWA (CP) — The system used by the bureau of statistics to determine tourist expenditures by Americans in Canada and by Canadians in the United States was described today as a farce.

Frank Lennard (PC — Wentworth) said in the Commons the system irritates tourists and does not produce accurate information. However, Trade Minister Howe said the bureau feels that the figures are reasonably accurate.

Mr. Lennard said U. S. tourists leaving Canada are asked to fill in a slip showing how much they spent in this country. Canadians returning home from the U. S. were asked to make a similar declaration.

ALUMINUM CABLE from Canada was used in a Peruvian high-voltage power line, installed at altitudes of from 13,000 to 15,000 feet—the world's highest. Canada supplied not only the cable but also the technical assistance required on this record job. We imagine that aluminum's light weight was particularly appreciated by the llamas or whatever other beasts of burden were used to get the cable to the top.

The corporation acts as disposal agent for government departments and most crown companies, boards and agencies. It also disposes of United States government surpluses in Canada.

The corporation's annual report tabled Thursday in the Commons said sales for the year amounted to $4,330,310, an increase of $19,071 over the previous fiscal year.

The report said the corporation since its inception in 1944 has sold surplus government materials valued at $502,669,024. The net recovery after meeting charges and administration expenses amounts to $418,009,315.

ST. JOHN'S PACK

A very successful cub camp was held by St. John's pack at Nassau on June 11-13 week-end. The 22 cubs were divided into three tribes —the Iroquois, Hurons and Sioux. Cups were awarded for winning games, morning inspections, washing and cleaning teeth, handicraft and tying knots. Prizes were awarded, at various times, to the tribes with the most cups.

The Mothers' Auxiliary, under President Mrs. B. Baker, assisted by Mrs. F. Ford, Mrs. E. Pinn and Mrs. A. Barber, stayed in camp and provided very excellent meals.

On Saturday evening, despite the heavy rains, many of the parents attended the council fire, which was conducted by Group Secretary E. Trdeman. The tricks, stunts, acts and singing were much enjoyed by all.

On Sunday morning Skipper G. Groombridge conducted a Cub's Own during which the pack renewed their promise to Akela.

DC Ed. Cotton and ADC Earl Westman attended the service.

Group Committeeman Ed. Pinn was in charge of Scouts R. Legget, A. Sherk and T. Gunn, who did a good job of keeping the camp running smoothly.

The leaders wish to thank the parents who provided transportation and pastries.

KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUT CREW

On Wednesday evening, June 2, the crew visited a group of American explorer scouts from Cleveland, Ohio. These lads had come to the Kawarthas to get some fish. The evening was spent in discussing each other's badges, tests, programs, etc., eating marshmallows and drinking pop. Explorer scouts are a little younger than rover scouts. Their age limit is from 14 to 18, whereas ours is from 16 to 25. Unlike rovers, the explorers can earn and wear boy scout badges.

Last Monday, June 7, Mel Kingan, became a member of the crew. Squire Danny Barclay was previously the only squire in the crew. It was decided at this meeting that the crew would spend the next two meetings on working on the Apple Day boxes. This job, which is partly completed, should be finished in two nights.

THE FOURTH PETERBOROUGH

Two more new chums were invested into Scouting as members of the 4th Peterborough Wolf Cub Pack. These two cubs are John McCallum and Peter Coughlin. At the same meeting Sixer Billy Harrington was presented with his cub collector badge.

Miss Patricia Hunt (Baloo) was invested as a scouter, and became an assistant in the 4th Peterborough Cub Pack.

Committee Likes Dakota Road Methods

By WALTER GRAY

BISMARCK, N.D. (CP)—North Dakota's sufficiency rating of highways, a method which eliminates pressure groups seeking priority construction or repair of roads, Thursday interested the Ontario legislature's highway investigation committee.

C. J. Crawford, state manager of highways, said the rating is a "tool" to be used by the legislature in determining work of first importance.

The rating is established by a roads inspector who makes a tour of state highways each spring and judges the priority on physical conditions, safety and service.

The system was introduced two years ago.

CHECKED ON SPOT

Chief engineer M. P. Wynkoop, in discussing contract changes, said any alterations over $1,500 are checked on the spot by the division engineer and central office before final authority is given.

Duncan Gordon of J. D. Woods and Gordon, Toronto management consultants, who is travelling with the committee, said this system may not be adaptable in Ontario owing to the larger organization and distances to be covered.

"We have to delegate a certain amount of authority to the district engineers," he said.

Following a two-hour morning session at the state Capitol, the committee left on a 400-mile bus hop to Bemidji, Minn., where it stayed overnight before re-entering Canada at Rainy River today.

Army Death Rate In Korea Lowest Of Any War—Officer

By KEN METHERAL

VANCOUVER (CP) — The mortality rate among Canadian soldiers in the recent Korean fighting was the lowest of any war, Brig. K. A. Hunter of Ottawa said here today.

The number of deaths from both wounds and disease was almost 50 per cent lower than those suffered by Canada's soldiers during the Second World War. He credited the reduction to advanced medical treatment and use of helicopters in transporting casualties.

His address was one of three on medical services in the armed forces prepared for delivery before the final day's sessions of the 87th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association. Also speaking on the services were Air Marshall Sir Phillip Livingston of Duncan, B.C., and Dr. J. A. MacFarlane of Toronto.

Thursday the 1,500 delegates representing all 10 provinces heard Canada's deputy minister of health Dr. G. D. W. Cameron of Ottawa, outline preliminary findings of the national sickness survey and attended inauguration ceremonies of a college for the country's 8,000 family doctors.

In addition to the papers on the armed forces medical services, today's final convention program included 12 technical papers on a variety of clinical topics.

GIVES FIGURES

Brig. Hunter said that in the First World War 114 soldiers out of every 1,000 died from their wounds.

"This figure was cut to 66 during the Second World War and was further reduced in Korea to 34 deaths for every 1,000 wounded."

Deaths due to diseases had dropped from six in every 1,000 experienced in the First World War to about one in every 1,500 in Korea.

Reviewing the work of the Royal Canadian Medical Corps in Korea, the army medical expert said the fighting demonstrated the value of the helicopter as a means of transporting casualties.

"Serious cases were able to be quickly and smoothly transported to forward surgical units or special centres."

"Venereal disease has a high incidence in the Far East," he continued. "And one must admit our Canadian rates have been high also." The cases, however, were mainly confined to the less serious types of the disease and few soldiers required hospital treatment.

He warned that the Korean conflict was essentially a small-scale war for which abundant services and supplies could be provided.

Air Marshall Livingstone said disaster areas will be created in Canada if the system of defence is pierced "even temporarily" in another war. This necessitated an effective medical organization which would be ready to meet the situation.

Dr. McFarlane, dean of the University of Toronto medics' school, outlined plans for the future training of doctors for the armed forces, which the Canadian government, in conjunction with Canadian universities, is preparing.

Nautical Air Provided For Children

It will be "anchors aweigh" when the Holiday Reading Club begins its cruise, Saturday at 10:30 a.m., June 26, in the boys' and girls' department of the public library.

Miss Lillian Wesley, head of the department, advised children to "sail away" this summer with books, by joining the reading club. On registration day a film will be shown following the sailing theme.

The children's room will have a nautical air when Miss Wesley and her staff introduce a blue and white color scheme with sailors, anchors, ships' wheels, life preservers and even a light house. A colorful sailing mural drawn by Miss Fran Gibson will be an attraction for the children.

ELIGIBLE FOR CLUB

Children from grades four to eight are eligible to join the summer reading club. A graded book list, a guide to enjoyable reading, will be distributed to every club member, however only one book has to be read from the list.

The librarians have chosen books which would be light and interesting reading to children.

As Miss Wesley said, "We certainly don't want to force the children to read the books on the list, but we do want to give them an incentive to read better books."

For example on the grade four and five lists are: Five Chinese Brothers, by Bishop; Arab, Slobodkins; Timothy's Shoes, Ewing; and Silk and Satin Lane, Wood.

The grades five and six list incluets Krisle's Tree, Dunham; Homer Price, McClosky; Five Children and It, Nesbit; and Little Wooden Doll, Bianco.

Secret Waters, Ransome; Adventure North, Pinkerton; Hudson Bay Express, Davis; and Black Banner Players, Trease; are on the grades seven and eight lists.

KEEP RECORDS

The reading progress of the members will be marked on their lists. At the same time a record will be kept in the ship's log, posted on the wall.

When five books have been read, the child will receive a red star beside his name in the log, a silver star for 10 books, a gold star for 15 books and a small sail boat will be pasted for 20 books. Certificates of achievement will be awarded to the club members at the annual library party in September.

Those children who have read 15 or more books during the summer will be invited to the party, and the outstanding readers will receive prizes. The branch library will follow the same theme.

The vacation plan allows children to take six books for six weeks out of the city, and allows children in the city to take out four books instead of three.

Looking after "Sail Away" will be Mrs. M. Stone and Miss M. McTeague. In the children's section of the branch library will be Mrs. J. R. Renderson and Mrs. George Green.

Restrictive Clause

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives foreign affairs committee recommended Thursday that France and Italy be denied any further foreign aid until they join the European Defence Community and help create an international defence force. Committee members voted 18 to 2 to write the restriction into the $3,500,000,000 foreign aid bill they have under consideration.

Little Chance Cottagers Will Lose Land To Mines

Generally speaking, owners of cottage lands in the Kawarthas have no worries about their properties being staked and developed by mining companies. Owners who have the soil rights also have mineral rights. This was the advice passed along to members of Peterborough Kiwanis Club on Thursday by Forbes MacFarland, chief of lands branch, Department of Mines for Ontario.

Pointing out that increased mining activity in eastern Ontario—more than 4,000 claims were staked and registered during the past year—there have been many landowners showing concern about these developments. Mr. MacFarland said that anyone who was in doubt about the status of his land had only to write to the department of mines, give a description of his property and he would be invariably assured of his status.

In speaking of general mining activity in this area Mr. MacFarland spoke of the progress made at Centre Lake, Croft and Faraday Uranium Mines in the Bancroft area. He thought if these properties continued their extensive programs of exploration that they might eventually become producers. The large number of properties staked did not indicate that there would be many mines developing from them.

"Uranium is not a rare mineral. It is very abundant but grades and sizes of deposits governed the interest of the Federal government who are the purchasers of concentrated ores," Mr. MacFarland said. "Nor will the government accept complex ores that could not be treated by existing extraction methods."

The speaker was introduced by Wilson Gemmell and thanked by Harold Rehill. The meeting was chaired by president Bob Bastable.

Financing Civil Defence Three-Way Responsibility

Editor's Note: Canada's civil defence preparations were studied by Forbes Rhude, Canadian Press business editor, during a cross-country tour. The problems of financing the civil defence program are discussed in this article.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Civil defence, as planned in Canada, is the responsibility of federal, provincial and municipal governments and of the individual citizen.

There is, however, major disagreement among the federal, Ontario and Quebec governments concerning cost.

The federal government takes responsibility for a wide range of matters and offers financial assistance. Ontario and Quebec disagree with the terms of assistance and its amount.

NATIONAL UNDERTAKING

They say civil defence is a national matter and that the central government should pay the full cost of all things which are for civil defence solely.

The federal government feels the cost must be shared by all.

Col. G. A. Welsh, Ontario's provincial secretary, told me:

"We have had wonderful co-operation from the federal government but we completely disagree with their financial proposals.

"Our municipalities are in a difficult position and haven't large sums of money available."

Ontario, he said, was spending considerable sums yearly on a hose-thread standardization program for the province's fire departments, and its civil defence estimates this year totalled $240,000, including $198,000 for the hose program.

QUEBEC VIEWPOINT

A spokesman for Quebec's civil defence authorities said:

"Quebec is ready to co-operate fully with the federal government providing the federal government is ready to shoulder its responsibilities in full.

"Under the present proposed arrangement the federal government would give the province $600,000 if uebec was ready to spend as much.

"The uebec government's view is that the province's hospitals, roads, police, fire services are already a contribution to civil defence worth millions of dollars.

"The province is willing to accept the $600,000 and organze cv defence as ong as the provnce in not required to spend a similar amount. A good system iould be set up that way."

GUIDING AGENCY

Paul Martin, minister of national health and welfare, the department under which civil defence comes, has expressed his government's view as follows:

"The federal role is primarily that of a guiding and co-ordinating agency. On a per capita basis our commitments exceed those of the United States.

"The very essence of civil defence is assurance of normal community services, and main operational responsibility must fall on the municipal agencies which carry on the day-to-day responsibilities of maintaining the normal amenities of life.

"It woold be an onwarranted intrusion of local rights and make only for inefficiency if the federal government were to take over operation of a community's fire, police or public health service.

"The only way to build adequate civil defence is at the local level. No government, not even the federal government, can do this job alone."

Ontario and Quebec feel that because of the large number of their populous municipalities they are in a different position from other provinces and liable to much larger expenditures of money under federal proposals.

PATRIOTIC DUTY

Other provinces are naturally interested in the disagreement.

C. E. Gerhart, Alberta's minister of municipal affairs, who described civil defence as a "patriotic duty of citizenship," said in Edmonton:

"We are co-operating while other provinces are holding back. If the federal government pays a higher proportion of costs in other provinces, then Alberta is being discriminated against because we co-operated."

The federal government in the fiscal year ended March 31 appropriated $6,500,000 for civil defence, and spent some $3,200,000, and plans a somewhat larger amount this year.

Of the total, $1,400,000 was available to provinces for dollar-for-dollar expenditures on approved projects.

The four western provinces, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia have accepted this aid.

In the west I heard only one major apprehension. Provincial and municipal governments, it was said, were prepared to carry on in civil defence's present phases, but would not have the financial resources to meet the demands of a disaster.

TO BE RE-EXAMINED

It was felt the federal government should declare a policy of financial responsibility in such an event. The federal government apparently hasn't wished to commit itself to date, but it is understood it has told the provinces the matter will be re-examined.

Non-acceptance by provinces of dollar-for-dollar aid has meant their municipalities could not share in it. Recently the federal government suggested a formula which would, in effect, afford direct aid to municipalities and increase it if the provinces came in. The proposal is not acceptable to Ontario and Quebec.

In the fiscal year ended March 31 the following sums were available to provinces under dollar-for-dollar aid:

British Columbia $132,000; Alberta $85,000; Saskatchewan $66,000; Manitoba $83,000; Ontario $492,000; Quebec $433,000; New Brunswick $46,000; Nova Scotia $65,000; Prince Edward Island $7,000; Newfoundland $33,000.

Of this, British Columbia took about $105,000 and Alberta $85,000; while Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland took among them a total of $210,000.

In addition to dollar-for-dollar aid, the federal government contributed to standardization of fire-equipment hose couplings, and Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia are taking contributions to such programs.

The federal government also is approaching the half-way mark in a $9,000,000 program for stockpiling medical supplies across Canada. This program is designed for 200,000 casualties.

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS

Other federal contributions include the Civil Defence College at Arnprior, near Ottawa, cost of courses there, including travelling and living expenses of those attending from across Canada and a variety of other things.

Sums spent on civil defence do not give the full picture of contributions by any government.

Federal headquarters in Ottawa, for instance, has a full-time staff of about 40, but Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal co-ordinator, can call for advice and assistance from other departments of government on their specialties. The same is true in varying degrees of provincial and municipal civil defence set-ups in regard to their governments.

RECONSTITUTED

Civil defence, organized in the Second World War, was reconstituted in 1948 and Gen. Worthington was appointed federal co-ordinator.

In 1951, the work was transferred from the department of national defence to national health and welfare.

In August, 1949, a civil defence co-ordinating committee was established to bring together on a continuing basis representatives of all federal departments and agencies concerned with it.

On Aug. 24, 1950, the first civil defence federal-provincial conference met in Ottawa and formed the federal - provincial advisory council.

On Feb. 21, 1951, Canada and the United States agreed that, as far as possible, civil defence activities in both countries be co-ordinated "as if there were no border."

Canada is also a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization civil defence co-ordinating committee.

Citizens' Band To Give Concert

Two Coronation films, "Canada at the Coronation" and "Royal Destiny" will be featured at the band concert at Nicholls Oval Sunday, June 20.

Under Bandmaster W. H. Parnell, the Peterborough Citizen's Band will present a varied program, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

After the 'Gypsyland' march and the Horizon overture, the band will swing into a popular mood with 'Embraceable You.' This will be followed by a trumpet trio, playing 'My Buddy.' Trumpeters are assistant bandmaster E. Johns and bandsmen N. Buzzell and G. Knox.

Other selections on Sunday's program are 'Pan American Promenade,' the 'Desert Song' waltz, 'The Blue Danube' in march time, 'Blue Tango,' 'Agnus Dei,' the 'La Grace' overture and the march 'On the Mall' will conclude the program.

Neighbors Honor Percy Family

HASTINGS — Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Coveney and daughter, Mrs. Mary Condon, were recent guests of honor at a farewell gathering at their home in Percy township, prior to their departure to take up residence in Hastings village.

Mr. James Lamey read an address expressing the best wishes of the community for their future health and happiness. The address was signed on behalf of the neighbors by Messrs. J. P. Butler, W. Thompson and James Lamey.

A walnut coffee table, smoker and table lamp were presented.

Cards and dancing were enjoyed and lunch was served.

Decoration Day At Warkworth

WARKWORTH (ENS)—A large crowd attended the Decoration Day parade and church service Sunday sponsored by the Legion in memory of those who had died in the two World Wars.

The parade formed at the Legion Hall, marched up main street for a short service at the cenotaph. It was led by the Warkworth Community Band under the leadership of Maurice Bell followed by veterans of World War I and II, Girl Guides and leader Miss John Carlaw, Brownies and leader Mrs. Wragg, the cubs and George Bound, leader.

At the cenotaph Arthur Page read the names of the dead and Wm. Johnston placed a wreath for the Legion.

The last post and the Reveille was played by trumpeter Billie Ward.

The parade marched to the cemetery for the decoration of war veterans' graves.

The procession returned to the Free Methodist church for service conducted by the pastor of the church, the Rev. G. W. Kemp.

Worth Remembering

England's longest-lived person, Thomas Parr, was born in 1483 and died in 1635 at the age of one hundred and fifty-two! He lived in three different centuries and during the reigns of ten English sovereigns!

An unusual fact worth remembering!
